(1) In the case of varieties of cheeses for which definitions and standards of identity require a period of aging, whether or not they are made from pasteurized milk, each such cheese shall bear on the cheese a legible mark showing the date at which the preliminary manufacturing process has been completed and at which date curing commences, and to each cheese, on its wrapper or immediate container, shall be affixed a removable tag bearing the statement "Uncured ---------- cheese for completion of curing and proper labeling," the blank being filled in with the applicable name of the variety of cheese. In the case of swiss cheese, the date at which the preliminary manufacturing process had been completed and at which date curing commences is the date on which the shaped curd is removed from immersion in saturated salt solution as provided in the definition and standard of identity for swiss cheese, and such cheese shall bear a removable tag reading, "To be cured and labeled as 'swiss cheese', but if eyes do not form to be labeled as 'swiss cheese for manufacturing.'"

(2) In the case of varieties of cheeses which when made from unpasteurized milk are required to be aged for not less than 60 days, each such cheese shall bear a legible mark on the cheese showing the date at which the preliminary manufacturing process has been completed and at which date curing commences, and to each such cheese or its wrapper or immediate container shall be affixed a removable tag reading, "---------- cheese made from unpasteurized milk. For completion of curing and proper labeling," the blank being filled in with the applicable name of the variety of cheese.

(3) In the case of cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, colby cheese, granular cheese, and brick cheese made from unpasteurized milk, each such cheese shall bear a legible mark on the cheese showing the date at which the preliminary manufacturing process has been completed and at which date curing commences, and to each such cheese or its wrapper or immediate container shall be affixed a removable tag reading "---------- cheese made from unpasteurized milk. For completion of curing and proper labeling, or for labeling as ----------cheese for manufacturing," the blank being filled in with the applicable name of the variety of cheese.

Notice and public proceedings are not necessary in the promulgation of this order, and I so find, for the reasons that the manner of dealing with interstate shipments of cheese less than 60 days old for the purpose of aging or curing, and labeling of such cheese, were considered at the public hearing in the matter of amending the definitions and standards of identity for certain cheeses and to establish definitions and standards of identity for other cheeses, processed cheeses, cheese foods, cheese spreads, and related foods, Docket No. FDC-46, and interested parties had an opportunity to and did express their views on these subjects in briefs, and exceptions to the proposed order in said matter.

This order shall become effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 19—CHEESES; PROCESSED CHEESES; CHEESE FOODS; CHEESE SPREADS, AND RELATED FOODS: DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

FINAL ORDER

In the matter of amending the definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, and colby cheese, and establishing definitions and standards of identity for other cheeses, processed cheeses, cheese foods, cheese spreads, and related foods:

By virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sections 401, 701; 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371), and upon the basis of substantial evidence received at the hearing duly held pursuant to the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 21, 1947 (12 F. R. 1192), and upon consideration of the exceptions filed to the tentative order which was issued by the Federal Security Administrator on April 15, 1949 (14 F. R. 1960), which exceptions are allowed in part and rejected in part, as appears from notations on the exceptions which are on file with the Hearing Clerk, Federal Security Agency, Room 5109, Federal Security Building, Fourth Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., and as is apparent from the detailed findings made below, the following order is promulgated:

Findings of fact.[1] 1. Definitions and standards of identity have heretofore been adopted for a number of varieties of cheese. There are in addition to these a large number of other varieties sold in the United States. Some varieties of cheese manufactured in the United States are also made in other parts of the world and imported into the United States. There are a few varieties of cheese obtained only by importation. Many varieties of cheese now manufactured in the United States originated in foreign countries and the methods of manufacture after introduction here were modified to suit domestic conditions. A particular variety of cheese, whether of domestic or foreign manufacture, is generally sold under the same designation. In many instances these designations are the names of the geographic areas where the variety of cheese originated. The significance of the geographic designation differs, and it may be that in some instances such significance has not been completely lost. (R. 322, 557, 709, 1365, 1475, 1499, 2994, 3411, 3414–3415, 3995, 3999–4000, 4258–4264, 4305, 4550, 4598, 5005, 5062, 5255, 5258, 5264, 5315; Ex. 25, 26, 94; 21 CFR, Part 19)

2. Many varieties of cheese are well known and widely distributed and used. Others have limited distribution and are known to relatively small numbers of consumers. It is impracticable to adopt a definition and standard of identity for every known variety of cheese, but it is practicable to adopt definitions and standards of identity for important varieties and to adopt class standards which will include most of the varieties for which no specific standards are adopted. (R. 322, 699–701, 719–720, 1292–1296, 1423, 2994, 4258; Ex. 26, 75B 94)

3. The basis for classifying cheeses differs according to the purpose of the classification. A reasonable and practical method of classifying cheeses for standardization purposes which is informative to consumers is one based on differences in the consistency of the finished cheese. Under such a classification there are five main classes:

a. Hard grating cheese.
b. Hard cheese.
c. Semisoft cheese.
d. Soft uncured cheese.

(R. 719–720, 1292–1296, 1315–1428, 2983, 2987, 2989, 3395, 3514–3515, 3517–3518, 3966)

4. Cheeses in each class may be made from whole milk or partly skimmed milk. Generally speaking, hard grating cheeses are made from partly skimmed milk, while cheeses in the other classes are generally made from whole milk. However, there are a number of varieties of cheese in the semisoft class which have been made from partly skimmed milk for many years. It is impracticable to adopt separate standards for all these, but it is reasonable to subdivide the semisoft cheeses into two classes, semisoft cheeses and semisoft part-skim cheeses. (R. 731, 1316, 1366, 1375–1376, 1460, 2917, 2973, 3421, 3529, 3901–3902, 3966–3967, 4134, 4155; Ex. 95)

5. There are a number of varieties of cheese which are rendered distinctive by spices added to them rather than by their consistency. Some varieties of spiced cheeses are made from whole milk, and other well-known varieties are made from partly skimmed milk. It is impracticable to adopt separate standards for all varieties of spiced cheeses, but it is reasonable to subdivide spiced cheeses into two classes, spiced cheeses and part-skim spiced cheeses. (R. 1087, 1094–1096, 1130–1131, 1139–1140, 1162, 1169–1170, 1683, 1687, 1705–1706, 3832, 4904–4905, 5014–5015, 5247, 5281)

6. In addition to foods that may be accurately classified as cheeses, there are a number of foods made largely from cheese whey that do not belong to any of the classes named in finding 3, although their names indicate that they are some kind of cheese. These foods may be classed as whey cheeses and are discussed in other findings. (R. 5243, 5249–5250, 5254, 5256, 5277, 5312, 5319)

7. In each class there are a number of varieties of cheese having different names. It is impracticable from the evidence of record to adopt definitions and standards of identity for each of these cheeses. It will be of advantage to consumers to adopt definitions and standards of identity for the more important varieties, leaving the varieties of lesser importance subject to regulation by the provisions of the definitions and standards of identity for the class. (R. 311, 1018–1019, 1102, 1111, 1292–1294, 1310–1311, 1322, 1374–1376, 3428–3429, 4512; Ex. 26)

8. If a variety of cheese which falls into one of the classes for which standards are adopted has a common or usual name that has become generally recognized, it is proper to use such name in addition to the class name in designating that variety of cheese. As new cheeses are developed which fall into the class standards there will be no common name generally recognized for such cheeses, and in such case a brand or fanciful name may be used (in addition to the class name) if it is not false or misleading. In order to insure that the purchaser will know that the cheese is a member of a class for which there is a standard, the class name should immediately precede or follow the brand or fanciful name. (R. 731, 1111, 1133–1134, 1322–1323, 1374, 1459, 1638, 3414, 3428–3429, 3440, 5006)

9. Definitions and standards of identity have heretofore been adopted for all the most important varieties of soft uncured cheeses, and no class standard is needed at the present time. (21 CFR 19.515–19.530)

10. The basic constituents of all varieties of cheese, except the so-called whey cheeses, are the coagulated proteins of milk, with more or less milk fat and water. The water holds in solution some of the soluble constituents present in milk, particularly milk sugar and mineral matter. In making most varieties a curd is prepared, drained, salted, and shaped. Usually the curd is aged or cured; some varieties are further treated to impart to the cheese the characteristics of the particular variety. The animal origin of the milk, its fat and moisture content, variations in the methods of preparing the curd, and the different treatments to which the curd is subjected are some of the factors which result in different physical and chemical properties in the cheese and give rise to the large number of varieties of cheese known to consumers. (R. 147, 1060, 1112, 1114, 1296–1297, 1366, 2915, 3288, 3370, 3395, 3583, 3924, 3961, 3963, 3981, 3983, 5351–5352; Ex. 26)

11. Basically, the starting point for all varieties of cheese is milk. Most varieties are made from cow's milk, but some are made from sheep's milk, some from goat's milk, and some from a mixture of one or both of these milks with cow's milk. The animal origin of the milk has some effect on the characteristics of the cheese, and when sheep's milk or goat's milk is used alone or in combination with cow's milk consumers are interested and should be informed of this fact. (R. 1320, 1324, 1552, 1611, 1661–1662, 1702, 2913, 2970, 2974, 3369–3370, 3583, 3961, 3963, 3981, 3983, 4015, 5063, 5334; Ex. 26)

12. In preparing milk for use in cheese making, it is customary to adjust the milk so that the ratio of milk fat to the nonfat milk solids will be at a desired and predetermined level. Such adjustment may be made by adding or removing part of the milk fat in the form of cream or by adding fresh skim milk. A few varieties of cheese are made from milk from which practically all the fat has been separated. In areas of the United States where no fresh skim milk is readily available, milk is adjusted for cheese making by adding nonfat dry milk solids and water, or concentrated skim milk and water. Milk so adjusted is suitable for cheese making, except that it is not suitable for making swiss cheese, swiss cheese for manufacturing, and gruyere cheese. (R. 329, 393, 448–450, 549, 612, 858–859, 881–882, 2658–2660, 2882–2883, 2887, .2896, 3102, 3507, 4345–4346, 5054; Ex. 64, 65, 67)

13. In preparing milk for cheese making, a process known as "clarification" is sometimes used. In the process the milk is centrifuged for the primary purpose of removing small particles naturally present in the milk and which might later have an adverse effect on the cheese. Clarification is widely used in preparing milk for making swiss cheese. Clarified milk is also suitable for making other cheeses. (R. 439–440, 447–448, 674–675, 952–953, 955)

14. In the manufacture of all types of cheese for which standards are now being considered, it is the general custom to bring about a coagulation of the casein of the milk with an enzyme known as rennin, which is obtained from the stomach of the calf. Commercially prepared preparations of this enzyme are commonly known as rennet. In the manufacture of a few varieties of cheese coagulation of the casein is accomplished by the use of rennet paste or an extract of rennet paste. Rennet paste is the ground stomach of a calf or kid. Extract of rennet paste is the water extract of either such material. In addition to the enzymes that coagulate the milk, commercial rennet and rennet paste also contain other enzymes which aid in curing some types of cheese. At times some milk is deficient in calcium content. This condition retards its coagulation with rennet. The addition of small amounts of calcium chloride often aids coagulation in such instances. If, through the use of calcium chloride, the amount of rennet is substantially reduced the curing of some types of cheeses may be retarded. In manufacturing cheeses from milk which is deficient in calcium, the advantages gained from using calcium chloride outweigh the possibility of undesirable results from reduced amounts of rennet. It is reasonable to require that when calcium chloride is used it be purified, and that no more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the milk be used. (R. 216, 225, 228, 332–333, 374–375, 742–743, 756, 1352, 1408, 1721–1723, 1746–1747, 1753, 1757, 3068–3071, 3759–3760, 4106, 4992, 5299; Ex. 14, 26)

15. One of the factors which serves, in part, to differentiate one variety of cheese from another is the moisture content of the cheese. The moisture comes from the water content of the milk, or adjusted milk, used, and sometimes from the water used in treating the curd. The amount of water in the finished cheese can be regulated to a great extent by the method of manufacture. Often a cheese otherwise similar to a normal cheese of a given variety is produced with excessive moisture. This excess moisture is worthless and as a makeweight tends to defraud the consumer. Wherever reasonably possible it is in the interest of the consumer to set a maximum limit on the moisture content of each variety or class of cheese. (R. 719, 1059–1060, 1114, 1293–1294, 1313, 1344, 1463, 1485, 1509)

16. Among the factors which determine the fat content of a cheese are the fat content of the milk used, the method of manufacture, and the moisture content of the cheese. It has become the custom to measure the fat content of most cheeses in terms of the percent of fat in the solids of the cheese. This is usually an accurate index of the fat content of the milk used. In the United States most cheeses are made from what is generally referred to as whole milk to distinguish it from skimmed milk or partly skimmed milk. The term "whole milk cheese" has come to mean in the United States a cheese of not less than 50 percent milk fat in the dry matter of the cheese. In other countries the milk used for cheese making is in general of the same composition as milk used in the United States, but it is customary in many countries to remove some cream before making cheese, and in some European countries a cheese is considered to have been made from whole milk if it contains not less than 45 percent of milk fat in the dry matter. Certain varieties of cheese have long been made only from skimmed milk or partly skimmed milk, and in adopting standards for such cheeses it is customary to prescribe a minimum of less than 50 percent fat in the dry matter. The actual minimum limit varies, depending on the variety. (R. 709, 828, 1028–1029, 1296–1297, 1317, 1333, 1344, 1428, 1460, 1485, 1493–1494, 1497, 1699, 3402, 3409, 3507, 3525, 4345–4346, 4374, 5004–5005, 5054, 5247, 5303–5304; Ex. 242)

17. The properties and characteristics which differentiate one variety of cheese from another are often difficult to define and measure objectively. They result from variations in raw materials and in methods of preparation. By prescribing the raw materials to be used and the method of manufacture which produces cheese of the variety desired, together with limits for the fat and moisture content of the finished cheese, a practicable and reasonable definition and standard of identity can be formulated. The critical points in the method of manufacture should be sufficiently definite for an experienced cheese maker to follow and, under normal conditions, to obtain a cheese of the variety defined. Variations from the prescribed method of manufacture should be permitted provided the physical and chemical properties of the finished cheese are the same as when the prescribed method of manufacture is used. (R. 27, 34–35, 144, 149, 562–563, 669–670, 692, 758, 850, 855, 1025, 1402, 1428, 1456–1457, 1497, 3395–3398, 3517, 3520; Ex. 26)

18. The characteristics of a particular variety of cheese depend to a great extent on the method of manufacture and conditions of curing and the length of curing time. Certain enzymes present in the milk or in the coagulating agent or developed by microorganisms during manufacture contribute to the development of flavor and texture. In addition, enzymes from other animal or plant sources may be useful. The use of such enzymes may facilitate and accelerate the curing and flavor development of some varieties of cheese and reduce the cost of manufacture. Although added enzymes are now known to be used only in a few varieties of cheese, they may prove to be useful in other varieties, and there appears to be no reason to refuse to permit the use of harmless enzymes in the manufacture of all types of cheese. It is impracticable at the present time to name the individual enzymes that may be useful. It is reasonable to permit harmless enzymes of animal or plant origin. The amount of enzymes that may be used should be limited, and it is reasonable to require that the solids content of the enzymes preparation should not exceed 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used. (R. 211, 218, 225, 227–228, 235, 240, 242, 246A, 564, 743–744, 756, 759, 1070, 1308, 1352, 1353, 1408, 1720, 1737, 3071–3072, 3395–3398, 3761, 4106)

19. Milk obtained from infected animals may and often does contain microorganisms capable of causing disease in humans. At present it is practically impossible to insure the use in cheese making of milk free from such microorganisms. Milk may also become contaminated with pathogenic microorganisms from persons handling it. Pasteurization of the milk destroys such microorganisms. Milk is pasteurized if it is held at a temperature of 143° F. for not less than 30 minutes, or for a time and at a temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Sufficiently high temperatures to destroy pathogenic microorganisms are not reached in cheese manufacturing, and any present in the milk are usually carried over into the cheese. Such cheese may transmit infections to consumers. Investigations in recent years have disclosed that cheese freshly made from unpasteurized milk was the source of infection in several outbreaks of disease. No outbreak has been reported from cheese held 60 days or more. (R. 171–172, 178, 180, 190, 196, 1312, 1349, 1408, 2035, 2111, 2116, 3352–3353; Ex. 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56)

20. Viable pathogenic microorganisms in cheese, even when present to such an extent as to be capable of causing disease in humans, tend to die when the cheese is held for some time at temperatures above 35° F. It is not known with certainty how long cheeses must be held before they become safe. Under certain conditions pathogenic organisms remain viable in cheese for several months, although they may not be present in sufficient numbers or be of such virulence as to cause disease. It would be unreasonable under the present state of knowledge to require that all cheeses be held for a period necessary to give absolute assurance that all pathogenic organisms would expire. If cheese made from unpasteurized milk is held for 60 days after its manufacture at temperatures of 35° F. or above, it is reasonable to expect that the cheese will be safe for human consumption. When cheese is made from pasteurized milk no holding period is considered necessary to insure its safety with respect to organisms derived from the milk. However, a holding period may be necessary to develop identity characteristics which result from curing the cheese. (R. 141, 143–146, 165, 180–181, 270–271, 275, 281–282, 292, 317, 372, 690, 1073–1074, 1103–1104, 1203, 1213, 1308–1309, 1408, 1409, 1413–1414, 1424, 2991, 3065, 3415–3416, 4550, 4991, 5023; Ex. 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56)

21. Consumers expect, and have a right to expect, that manufacturers of cheese shall take reasonable precautions to render the finished cheese safe for human consumption. Under present conditions reasonable caution on the part of manufacturers of cheese intended for human consumption without further processing requires that the milk used be pasteurized, or in the alternative that such cheese, after manufacturing, be held for a period whereby it can be reasonably expected that it will be safe for human consumption. It will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to include in the definitions and standards of identity of the different varieties and classes of cheese requirements that the milk used be pasteurized or that the cheese be held for a period whereby it may be reasonably expected that the cheese will be rendered safe. Based on the best evidence available now, it is reasonable to require that when the milk used in manufacturing cheese is not pasteurized the cheese be held after it is manufactured for not less than 60 days at temperatures of not less than 35° F. (R. 140–146, 159, 165–166, 180, 198, 270–271, 275, 1038, 1072A, 1167, 3521, 3415)

22. Milk contains an enzyme known as phosphatase which is destroyed when the milk is sufficiently heated. The extent of the destruction of phosphatase depends on the time and temperature of heating. When milk is pasteurized the destruction of phosphatase is practically complete. Cheeses made from properly pasteurized milk contain practically no phosphatase. Chemical tests for determining the amount of phosphatase in milk and in products made from milk have been devised. The method most suitable for testing for the presence of phosphatase in different classes and varieties of cheese is that devised by Sanders and Sager, and is as follows:

I. Reagents—1. Buffers: a. Barium borate-hydroxide buffer. Dissolve 25.0 gm. of C. P. barium hydroxide ($Ba(OH)_2 \cdot 8H_2O$, fresh, not deteriorated) in distilled water and dilute to 500 ml. Dissolve, in another flask or cylinder, 11.0 gm. of C. P. boric acid (H_3BO_3) and dilute to 500 ml. Warm each to 50° C. (122° F.), mix the two together, stir, cool to approximately 20° C. (68° F.), filter, and stopper the filtrate tightly (pH approximately 10.6). The buffer prepared thus is designated as the 25–11 buffer, the figures indicating the grams per liter of each of the respective reagents.

b. Color-development buffer. Dissolve 6.0 gm. of sodium metaborate ($NaBO_2$) and 20 gm. of sodium chloride in water and dilute to a liter with water (pH 9.8).

c. Color-dilution buffer. Dilute 100 ml. of color-development buffer 1–b to a liter with water.

d. Standard borax buffer, 0.01-molar, for checking pH meter, pH 9.18 at 25° C.[1] Dissolve 0.9544 gm. of pure borax (Bureau of Standards Sample 187) in distilled water (distilled recently or freshly boiled and cooled) and dilute to 250 ml. Keep stoppered tightly.

2. Buffer substrates: Specify phenol-free crystalline disodium phenyl phosphate.

a. For evaluating pasteurization. Dissolve 0.10 gm. of the phenyl phosphate in 100 ml. of the appropriate (table 1) barium borate-hydroxide buffer 1–a.

b. For quantitative results with raw-milk cheese. Dissolve 0.20 gm. of the phenyl phosphate in 100 ml. of the appropriate (table 1) barium borate-hydroxide buffer 1–a.

3. Protein precipitants: a. Zinc-copper precipitant for unripened cheese. Dissolve 6.0 gm. of zinc sulfate ($ZnSO_4 \cdot 7H_2O$) and 0.1 gm. of copper sulfate ($CuSO_4 \cdot 5H_2O$) in water and dilute to 100 ml. with water. The precipitant prepared thus is designated as the 6.0–0.1 precipitant.

b. Zinc precipitant for ripened cheese. Dissolve 6.0 gm. of zinc sulfate in water and dilute to 100 ml. with water. This precipitant is designated as the 6.0 precipitant.

4. BQC (2,6-dibromoquinone-chloroimine solution) (Gibbs' reagent): Dissolve 40 mg. of BQC powder in 10 ml. of absolute methyl alcohol and transfer to a dark-colored dropper bottle. This reagent remains stable for at least a month if kept in the ice tray of a refrigerator. Do not use it after it begins to turn brown.

5. Other reagents: a. Copper sulfate, 0.05 percent, for standards. Dissolve 0.05 gm. of copper sulfate in water and dilute to 100 ml.

b. Butyl alcohol. Specify n-butyl alcohol, boiling point 116°–118° C. To adjust the pH, mix 50 ml. of the color-development buffer 1–b with a liter of the butyl alcohol.

6. Phenol standards: a. Stock solution. Weigh accurately 1.0 gm of pure phenol, transfer to a liter volumetric flask, dilute to a liter with water, and mix. One ml. contains 1 mg. (0.001 gm.) of phenol. Use this stock solution to prepare standard solutions. It is stable for several months in the refrigerator.

b. Preparation of standards. Dilute 10.0 ml. of the stock solution 6–a to a liter with water, and mix. One ml. contains 10 micrograms (0.00001 gm., 10 gammas, or 10 units) of phenol. Use this standard solution to prepare more dilute standard solutions; e. g., dilute 5, 10, 30, and 50 ml. to 100 ml. with water to prepare standard solutions containing 0.5, 1.0, 3.0, and 5.0 gammas or units of phenol per milliliter, respectively. Keep standard solutions in the refrigerator.

In a similar manner, prepare from the stock solution such more concentrated standard solutions as may be needed, containing, for example, 20, 30, and 40 units per milliliter.

Measure appropriate quantities of the phenol standard solution into a series of tubes (preferably graduated at 5.0 and 10.0 ml.) to provide a suitable range of standards as needed, containing 0 (control, blank), 0.5, 1.0, 3.0, 5.0, 10.0, etc., to 30 or 40 units. To increase the brightness of the blue color and improve the stability of the standards, add 1.0 ml. of 0.05 percent copper sulfate solution 5–a to each.

Add 5.0 ml. of color dilution buffer 1–c and add water to bring the volume to 10.0 ml. Add 4 drops (0.08 ml.) of BQC 4, mix, and allow to develop for 30 minutes at room temperature. If the butyl alcohol extraction method is to be used in the test, extract the standards as described under III Conducting the Test.

Read the color intensities with a photometer, subtract the value of the blank from the value of each phenol standard, and prepare a standard curve (straight line). When the standards are to be used for visual comparisons, they should be stored in a refrigerator.

II. Sampling—1. Hard cheese: Take a sample from the interior with a clean Roquefort trier, place in a small tube, stopper the tube, and keep it in a refrigerator.

2. Soft and semisoft ripened cheese: Harden the cheese by chilling it in the freezing chamber of a refrigerator. Taking special precautions to avoid contaminating the sample with phosphatase that may be present on the surface, use either of the following methods for sampling:

a. Cut a portion from the end of the loaf or from the side of the cheese, extending in at least 2 inches if possible or to a point somewhat beyond the center in the case of a small cheese. Cut a slit ¼ to ½ inch deep at least halfway around the portion and midway between the top and bottom. Break the portion into two parts, pulling it apart so that it breaks on a line with the slit, being careful not to contaminate the freshly exposed, broken surface. Remove the sample from the freshly exposed surface at or near the center of the cheese.

b. Remove the surface of the area to be sampled—e. g., the end and the adjacent sides—with a clean knife or spatula, to a depth of ¼ inch. Clean the instrument and hands with hot water and phenol-free soap and wipe them dry. Remove the freshly exposed surface to a similar or greater depth, and repeat the cleaning. Then take the sample from the center of the freshly exposed area, preferably at or near the center of the cheese in the case of a small cheese.

3. Process cheese, spreads, etc.: Take the sample from beneath the surface with a clean knife or spatula.

Avoid the use of samples contaminated with mold.

4. Preservation: If a preservation is necessary, put 1 to 3 ml. of chloroform in the container, cover with a plug of cotton, insert sample and stopper container tightly. Label preserved samples, "Poison—Preservative added."

III. Conducting the test. 1. Weigh, on a clean balance pan or watch glass, a 0.50-gm. sample (preferably two samples in duplicate) and place in a culture tube 16 or 18 x 150 mm. Similarly, weigh another sample and place in a tube as a control or blank. If the cheese is sticky, weigh the sample on a piece of wax paper about 1 x 1 inch and insert the paper with the sample into the tube. Macerate the blank and the test with a glass rod about 8 x 180 mm.

2. Add to the blank 1.0 ml. of the appropriate (table 1) barium buffer 1–a (without substrate added), macerate with the rod, leave the rod in the tube, heat for about a minute to at least 85° C. (185° F.) in a beaker of boiling water with the beaker covered so that the entire tube becomes heated to approximately 85° C., cool to room temperature, and macerate again with the rod.

3. Add to the test 1.0 ml. of the appropriate (table 1) barium buffer substrate 2–a or 2–b, and macerate.

From this point, treat the blank and the test in a similar manner.

Add 9.0 ml. of the appropriate barium buffer substrate 2–a or 2–b (total, 10.0 ml. added), and mix. The rod may be left in the tube during incubation; or, if removing it at this point, cut a piece of filter paper approximately 1 x 1 inch, wrap and hold it tightly around the rod, rotate the rod while withdrawing it from within the tube so as to wipe the rod clean, insert the paper with the adhering fat into the tube, and stopper the tube.

4. Incubate in a water bath at 37°–38° C. (99°–100° F.) for 1 hour, mixing or shaking the contents occasionally.

5. Place in a beaker of boiling water for nearly a minute, heating to 85° C. (185° F.), and cool to room temperature.

6. Pipet in 1.0 ml. of the zinc precipitant 3–b for ripened cheese, or the zinc-copper precipitant 3–a for unripened cheese, and mix thoroughly (pH of mixture, 9.0–9.1).

7. Filter (5-cm. funnel, 9-cm. Whatman No. 42 or No. 2 paper recommended), and collect 5.0 ml. of filtrate in a tube, preferably graduated at 5.0 and 10.0 ml.

8. Add 5.0 ml. of color-development buffer 1–b (pH of mixture, 9.3–9.4).

9. Add 4 drops[2] of BQC 4, mix, and allow the color to develop for 30 minutes at room temperature.

10. Determine the amount of blue color by either of two methods:

a. With a photometer. Read the color intensity of the blank and that of the test, subtract the reading of the blank from that of the test, and convert the result into phenol equivalents by reference to the standard curve described under "Phenol standards." The butyl alcohol extraction method is ordinarily unnecessary when using a photometer.

b. With visual standards. For quantitative results in borderline instances, e. g., tests yielding 0.5 to 5 units of color, extract with butyl alcohol 5–b. Add 5.0 ml. of the alcohol and invert the tube slowly several times. Centrifuge if necessary to increase the clearness of the alcohol layer. Compare the blue color with the colors of standards in the alcohol.

With samples yielding more than 5 units, compare the colors in aqueous tests with those of aqueous standards.

11. Dilution method for quantitative results: In tests that are observed during color development to be strongly positive, e. g., 20 units or more, in which four drops of BQC may be much less than sufficient to combine with all of the phenol, pipet an appropriate proportion of the contents into another tube, make up to 10.0 ml. with color-dilution buffer 1–c, and add two drops more of BQC in the case of unripened cheese or four drops in the case of ripened cheese. With each test, dilute and treat the blank in the corresponding manner. Dilute each strongly positive test thus until the final color is within the range of the standards or photometer. Allow 30 minutes for color development after the last addition of BQC, and make the reading at the end of the 30-minute period. Multiply, for example, by 2 for a 5+5 dilution, 10 for a 1+9 dilution, and 50 for a 1+9 followed by a 2+8 dilution.

Alternatively, to reduce the amount of yellow off color, add two instead of four drops of BQC after each dilution, and allow the color to develop. Then test the completeness of color development by adding a third drop; repeat the dilution procedure until the addition of an extra drop does not cause any further increase in the amount of blue color.

12. Calculation and evaluation of results: When using 0.5 gm. of sample and adding a total of 11.0 ml. of liquid, multiply the value of the reading by 1.1 to convert it to units of color or phenol equivalents per 0.25 gm. of cheese. The result may, if desired, be converted to phenol equivalents per 1 gm. by multiplying by 4.4.

IV. Photometric determination. To read the color in aqueous solution, use a filter with maximum light transmission in the region of 610 $m\mu$ wave length.

To read the color in butyl alcohol, extract the color as described above. If necessary, centrifuge the sample for 5 minutes to break the emulsion and to remove the moisture suspended in the alcohol layer. A Babcock centrifuge can be adapted for this purpose by making special tube holders as follows: Slice a section ¼-inch thick from a rubber stopper of suitable diameter to fit in the bottom of the centrifuge cup. Glue together two cork stoppers of appropriate diameter, bore through the center a hole of proper size to hold the tube snugly, and insert the double-cork section into the cup. After centrifuging, remove nearly all of the butyl alcohol by means of a pipet with a rubber bulb on the top end. Filter the alcohol into the photometer cell and read with a filter with maximum light transmission in the region of 650 $m\mu$ wave length.

If more than approximately 4 ml. of butyl alcohol is required for the photometer used, conduct the test in a larger tube and extract the color, in both the test and the standards, with the necessary quantity of butyl alcohol rather than with 5 ml. specified above.

V. Precautions. The length of time that the crystalline disodium phenyl phosphate and the BQC powder will remain stable can be increased greatly by keeping them in the freezing chamber of a refrigerator, and by keeping them dry.

The glassware, stoppers, and sampling tools should be scrupulously clean and it is desirable to soak them in hot, running water after cleaning.

The solid barium hydroxide and the barium buffer must be kept stoppered tightly to prevent absorption of carbon dioxide.

Phenolic contamination from plastic closures on reagent bottles has been encountered, and therefore the use of plastic closures should be avoided. Rubber stoppers should not be used in flasks in which butyl alcohol is stored. Glass or cork stoppers should be used.

VI. Modifications for different cheeses. Different kinds of cheese and cheeses of different ages have different buffering capacities, and therefore some of them require modification of concentrations of the reagents. The modifications of the barium buffer needed to produce optimal pH conditions during incubation (9.85–10.20), and of the precipitant to yield uniformly clear filtrates and to minimize interference during color development under optimal pH conditions (9.3–9.4), are specified in table 1.

With some samples, especially those of unknown history, slight deviations from the optimal pH range may occur, but such deviations do not very materially affect the results. For example, pH values as low as 9.6 or as high as 10.35 during incubation have been found to result in an average decrease of not more than 20 percent below the maximum in the quantity of phenol liberated. The use of the 25–11 buffer substrate with samples for which the 27–11 buffer substrate is specified yields pH values not lower than 9.8.

In testing cheese of unknown history or age, information as to the percentage of solids, especially the nonfat solids, is useful as an indication of the correct buffer to use; cheese with a relatively high percentage of nonfat solids generally requires the use of a relatively concentrated buffer to adjust the pH of the mixture correctly.

For precise quantitative results on unknown samples, adjust the pH to 10.0–10.05 for the incubation.

Cottage cheese curd is heated in the presence of considerable acid during manufacture, and therefore its phosphatase values are comparatively low. Alternatively, to increase the sensitivity of the test on cottage cheese, apply the following modifications: Use a 1.0-gm. sample, 27–11 buffer substrate, 2-hour incubation, and 6.0–0.1 precipitant.

[1] All pH values reported herein were determined at 25° C. or corrected to that temperature.

[2] For merely detecting underpasteurization, in testing unripened cheese, two drops is sufficient, provided the visual standards are prepared likewise with two drops.

23. When cheese is examined by the method described in finding 22 and the phosphatase found is more than the amount equivalent to 3 micrograms of phenol per 0.25-gm. portion of cheese it can be definitely concluded, except with some ripened cheeses, that the heat treatment of the milk used was not sufficient for proper pasteurization. Some varieties of cheese are subjected to curing agents which produce phosphatase. In such cases it is necessary to make provision for distinguishing between the phosphatase derived from unpasteurized milk and the phosphatase produced by the curing agents. This is accomplished in most cases by the method of taking and preparing the sample of cheese to be tested, as described in the method outlined in finding 22. In some varieties of cheese the extent of the development of phosphatase during curing has not been established, and the standards for such cheeses do not provide for the use of the phosphatase test. (R. 95–111, 127, 129, 131–132, 133, 945, 1237, 2175–2207; Ex. 10, 11, 12, 13)

24. The amount of moisture and the amount of milk fat in each variety of cheese for which standards are now being considered can be accurately determined by the methods of analysis for cheese described in the publication entitled "Official and Tentative Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists," 6th edition, 1945. The method for the determination of moisture content appears under the heading "Moisture—Official," page 336, section 22.124, and the method for the determination of milk-fat content under the heading "Fat—Official," page 337, section 22.130. Such methods are accurate and widely used and are recognized by food chemists as reliable. The publication referred to is well known and readily available to food chemists. (R. 563, 1408)

25. Proposals were made concerning the enrichment of cheeses by the addition of vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin. In the manufacture of cheese some of the water-soluble vitamins present in milk are carried off in the whey. Thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin are such water-soluble vitamins. It was proposed that standards be established for enriched cheese, to which a sufficient amount of these vitamins would be added to give the finished cheese approximately the same amount of these vitamins as the milk from which it was made. The annual per capita consumption of cheese in the United States is relatively small. The evidence does not establish that those whose diets are deficient in the above vitamins consume cheese regularly or in such quantities that the consumption of enriched cheese would constitute any material contribution toward the correction of dietary deficiencies. The public generally is not informed as to the specific functions of the various vitamins. Advertising and labeling claims for a food which stress the presence of particular vitamins, even though such claims are literally true, may readily cause the public to attach an exaggerated importance to such food, and would be likely to confuse and mislead consumers. It would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to establish a separate definition and standard of identity for enriched cheese of any of the varieties or classes for which standards are already in existence or which are now being considered. (R. 808–814, 1807, 3621–3628, 3635, 5430–5431, 5453, 5479, 5431, 5487, 5535, 5538; Ex. 82, 246, 247)

26. Based on other findings, it is concluded that it will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to amend the definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese (§ 19.500), washed curd cheese (§ 19.505), and colby cheese (§ 19.510), to include provisions that the procedures now specified for their preparation may be varied, provided that the chemical and physical properties of the finished cheeses are the same as when the methods now prescribed in these standards are used, and to further amend to provide for the use of calcium chloride under the conditions described in finding 14 and to provide for the optional use of enzymes as described in finding 18. It will also promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of the consumer to require that where these cheeses are not made from pasteurized milk they be held for not less than 60 days at a temperature of not less than 35° F. and to provide for the use of the phosphatase test, under the conditions described in finding 22, as a means of determining when these cheeses have not been made from pasteurized milk.

27. A type of cheese known as granular cheese or stirred curd cheese is manufactured in substantial quantities in the United States. This cheese is similar in many respects to cheddar cheese and to colby cheese, but differs in some ways from each. The method of manufacturing granular cheese is essentially the same as that of cheddar cheese through the time that the coagulated mass is cut, stirred, and heated. After this, in the case of granular cheese, a part of the whey is drained off and the curd is alternately stirred and drained to prevent matting and to remove the whey from the curd. The curd is then salted, drained, and pressed into forms. Granular cheese differs from colby cheese in that the curd is not cooled by adding water. The moisture content of granular cheese is not more than 39 percent, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat. (R. 54–58, 339–341, 355, 369–370)

28. A considerable proportion of the cheddar, washed curd, colby, granular, swiss, and brick cheeses made in the United States are used for manufacturing into pasteurized process cheeses, pasteurized process cheese foods, and other foods in which the method of manufacture employed results in the application of heat to such cheeses for a time and at a temperature sufficient for the destruction of any pathogenic microorganisms which may be present in the original cheese ingredients used. To require that cheeses for manufacturing be made from pasteurized milk or be held 60 days before shipment is unnecessary to insure safety of the foods into which they are manufactured. It was proposed that all cheeses for manufacturing be coated with green-colored paraffin, to distinguish them from cheeses of the same variety suitable for all purposes for which such cheeses are used. Until experience shows that such a covering is needed, in addition to proper labeling, to identify cheeses for manufacturing, it appears unnecessary to require that they be coated with a green-colored paraffin or similar coating. (R. 270, 379, 402–403, 943–944, 1166–1168)

29. Cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese for manufacturing, colby cheese for manufacturing, granular cheese for manufacturing, and brick cheese for manufacturing comply with requirements for cheeses of those names, but are made from unpasteurized milk and are not cured for 60 days. (See finding 28.)

30. A variety of cheese commonly known as swiss cheese is manufactured in large quantities in the United States and in many foreign countries. In Switzerland where this variety of cheese originated, and where it is now extensively made, it is known as "emmentaler" cheese, and that designation has been used extensively in the United States. The name emmentaler cheese is a synonym for swiss cheese. This variety of cheese is characterized by holes, which are called "eyes," that develop throughout the body of the cheese during the curing. (R. 458, 532, 535–536, 541, 610, 681, 2139, 3372, 4129, 4262, 4274, 4508, 4589, 4976, 5050; Ex. 14)

31. Swiss cheese is made from cow's milk from which a small amount of cream usually is removed, and the fat content of the solids usually ranges from 43 to 47 percent. The moisture content of swiss cheese ranges from 39 to 43 percent and is usually not more than 41 percent. It is reasonable to require that the minimum fat content of the solids of swiss cheese be not less than 43 percent, and that the maximum moisture content be not more than 41 percent. (R. 342–343, 360–365, 459, 462, 465, 468, 475–476, 479, 486–531, 572, 575, 595–596, 598–599, 609, 612, 620–621, 631, 711, 750, 754, 831–832, 839, 857–858, 874–875, 881–883, 916–917, 920, 926, 2731, 5029; Ex. 14, 16, 17)

32. Wherever swiss cheese is made, the basic manufacturing process is essentially the same. A few variations in procedure have been noted, some of which are designed to take advantage of labor-saving devices. The basic procedure is as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto; harmless propionic-acid-producing bacteria may also be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into particles similar in size to wheat kernels. For about 30 minutes the particles are alternately stirred and allowed to settle. The temperature is raised to about 126° F. Stirring is continued until the curd becomes firm. The acidity of the whey at this point, calculated as lactic acid, does not exceed 0.13 percent. The curd is transferred to hoops or forms and pressed until the desired shape and firmness are obtained. The pressed curd is then salted by immersing it in a saturated salt solution for about 3 days. It is then held at a temperature of about 50° F. to 60° F. for a period of 5 to 10 days, after which it is held at a temperature of about 75° F. until it is approximately 30 days old or until the so-called eyes form. Salt, or a solution of salt in water, is added to the surface of the cheese at some time during the curing process. The cheese is then stored at a lower temperature for further curing. (R. 439–453, 537, 611–612, 623, 667–668, 670–671, 674–675, 849, 852, 855–856, 863, 868, 887–889, 951–955, 4275–4278, 4301–4303, 4312–4315, 4977–4981; Ex. 14)

33. Swiss cheese is generally cured for not less than 6 to 8 weeks and more often for as long as 10 or 12 weeks. It is reasonable to require that swiss cheese be held under proper curing conditions for not less than 60 days. Such a holding period will bring about sufficient curing; and it can be reasonably expected that the cheese will be safe for consumption. (R. 672, 681, 682, 693, 863)

34. At times the so-called eyes do not form in swiss cheese, and the resulting cheese is known as blind swiss. Such a cheese, if cured for 60 days, will have the flavor of swiss cheese, and it is suitable for manufacturing purposes but not for distribution for consumer consumption. The adoption of a definition and standard of identity for swiss cheese for manufacturing which requires that such cheese conform to the definition and standard of identity for swiss cheese, except that the eyes have not formed, will reasonably assure use of blind swiss for manufacturing purposes only. Since the lack of eyes will effectively distinguish swiss cheese for manufacturing from swiss cheese, no special colored coating is necessary for swiss cheese for manufacturing. (R. 613, 625, 629, 751–752, 859–861, 906)

35. The process of curing swiss cheese is best effected in warehouses having facilities for regulating the temperature and humidity. Many small swiss-cheese factories do not have such facilities and ordinarily ship partly cured swiss cheeses to especially equipped warehouses, for completion of the process. Often, interstate shipments of such partly cured swiss cheeses are made. Other varieties of cheese are often shipped from one State to another before curing is completed. Regulations under section 405, clause (2), of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act regulate such traffic. (R. 537, 903–904, 906; finding 31)

36. A type of cheese known as gruyere cheese is manufactured extensively in Switzerland and in France. It is not known to be made in the United States at the present time. Gruyere cheese is similar to swiss cheese, but there are some differences in flavor and texture. Gruyere cheese is characterized by a flavor resembling that of a very mild limburger cheese. This flavor comes from the growth of curing agents on the surface of the cheese. Gruyere cheese has a smoother and more buttery texture than swiss cheese and the eyes that develop are not as large as those that develop in swiss cheese. Gruyere cheese is used to some extent in Switzerland as a natural cheese, and it is widely used as an ingredient, together with swiss cheese, for making a process cheese commonly known as process gruyere cheese. The fat content of the solids of gruyere cheese is not less than 45 percent, and its moisture content does not exceed 39 percent. It is cured for not less than 90 days. (R. 536, 549, 552–557, 632, 683–685, 698, 2150, 2153–2154, 2275, 4263, 4277–4279, 4289, 4301, 4315, 4341–4342, 4360, 4372–4373; Ex. 45A)

37. Gruyere cheese is made from whole milk or partly skimmed milk. The usual method of manufacture is as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto; harmless propionic-acid-producing bacteria may also be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into particles similar in size to wheat kernels. For about 30 minutes the particles are alternately stirred and allowed to settle. The temperature is raised to about 126° F. Stirring is continued until the curd becomes firm. The curd is transferred to hoops or forms and pressed until the desired shape and firmness are obtained. The pressed curd is surface-salted while held at a temperature of 43° to 54° F. for a few days. It is soaked for 1 day in a saturated salt solution. It is then held for 3 weeks in a salting cellar and wiped every 2 days with "brine cloth" to insure growth of biological curing agents on the rind. It is then removed to a heating room and held at progressively higher temperatures, finally reaching 65° F., with a relative humidity of 85 to 90 percent, for several weeks, during which time small holes or so-called eyes form. The cheese is then stored at a lower temperature for further curing. (R. 549, 554, 558–560, 4263, 4274–4277, 4304–4305, 4315)

38. Brick cheese is the common or usual name of a type of cheese manufactured and sold in considerable quantities in the United States. It has a characteristic flavor somewhat similar to that of limburger cheese, but less pronounced. The flavor is due to the action of surface-curing organisms and the intensity of the flavor depends on the length of time the cheese is held under conditions favorable to the growth of these organisms. (R. 942–943, 948, 970, 1007–1008)

39. Brick cheese is manufactured from whole milk. The usual procedure for manufacturing it is as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, is brought to about 88° F. and subjected to the action of one or more harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into cubes with sides approximately ⅜ inch long and stirred and heated so that the temperature slowly rises to about 96° F. The stirring is continued until the curd is sufficiently firm. Part of the whey is then removed and the mixture diluted with water or salt brine to control the acidity. The curd is transferred to forms and drained. During drainage, it is pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is salted and the biological curing agents characteristic of brick cheese applied to the surface. The cheese is then cured to develop the characteristics of brick cheese. (R. 289, 306, 307, 931–937, 942, 945–946, 971, 1004–1006, 1008, 1010–1011, 1014–1015, 1057; Ex. 14)

40. Brick cheese is usually made in rectangular or loaf form and of such size that each cheese weighs between 4 and 6 pounds. Recent developments in the making of this cheese, however, have led to its successful manufacture in smaller units, and there is no reason to restrict brick cheese to specific sizes or shapes. (R. 936A; Ex. 14)

41. Due to the growth of surface-curing organisms, the phosphatase test to determine whether the milk used has been pasteurized must be applied to a portion of the cheese taken from beneath the surface and so as not to include any surface portion. It is reasonable to specify 5 micrograms instead of 3 as the limiting phenol equivalent in the case of brick cheese. (R. 942, 945, 1008)

42. The moisture content and the fat content of the solids of brick cheese are important factors in maintaining its identity. A reasonable maximum limit on moisture is 44 percent, and a reasonable limit on the percent of milk fat in its solids is 50 percent. (R. 937–938, 941, 948, 1058; Ex. 14)

43. Muenster cheese is the common or usual name of a type of cheese made from whole milk and sold in substantial quantities in the United States. This type of cheese is made by the same procedure as that used for brick cheese, but it is not treated so as to promote the growth on the surface of organisms which aid in the curing process and development of flavor. The surface of the cheese may be rubbed with vegetable oil. Muenster cheese is normally handled quickly after manufacture, and for this reason it is impracticable to store it 60 days to render it safe against the presence of pathogenic microorganisms. Most muenster cheese now made in the United States is made from pasteurized milk, and it is reasonable to require that muenster cheese be made from pasteurized milk. (R. 289, 306–307, 970, 3045–3046, 3051–3053, 3056, 3058, 3060; Ex. 14)

44. Muenster cheese is usually made in cylindrical forms weighing between 4 and 6 pounds. It is not necessary, however, to restrict this cheese solely to such size and shape. The moisture content of muenster cheese and the fat content of the solids are important factors in maintaining its identity. A reasonable maximum limit on moisture is 46 percent, and a reasonable minimum limit on the fat content of the solids is 50 percent. (R. 902, 1024, 2911, 3044, 3047, 3050)

45. A variety of cheese commonly known as edam cheese is manufactured in considerable quantities in the United States, and is also imported in substantial quantities from the Netherlands, where it originated, and from other countries. In some foreign countries this cheese is known by other names in addition to the name "edam." The common name of this variety of cheese in the United States is edam cheese, and to recognize other names as synonyms might lead to confusion. (R. 1397, 1500, 2912, 4130, 4890–4891, 4989, 4993–4995, 5030; Ex. 22)

46. Edam cheese is made in the United States from cow's milk from which a portion of the cream has been removed, and the minimum fat content of its solids is about 40 percent. The fat content of edam cheese made in foreign countries varies somewhat but is usually more than 40 percent of the solids. The moisture content of edam cheese varies to some extent in various countries. In the United States this cheese has not more than 45 percent moisture, and it is reasonable to require that edam cheese contain not more than 45 percent moisture. Edam cheese has for many years been coated with a red-colored paraffin or similar red coating. The red coating has come to be a characterizing factor used by consumers in selecting this type of cheese. It is made in ball or loaf shape. (R. 701, 1077–1080, 1092, 1098, 1101, 1118, 1129, 2612, 3003, 4897, 5283; Ex. 22)

47. The method by which edam cheese is manufactured is basically the same in whatever country made. The procedure is as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. After coagulation, the mass is divided into smaller portions (3/8-inch cubes). The mass is stirred and heated to about 90° F. and so handled by stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, and salting, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. When the desired curd is produced it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. During drainage the curd may be pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is usually salted, although salt may be applied at any time in the making or curing process. It is then cured under suitable conditions until ready for marketing. Curing for not less than 60 days is a reasonable precautionary measure for edam cheese made from raw milk. (R. 289, 306–307, 1081–1083, 1086–1087, 1090, 1103–1105, 1121–1122, 1127, 3520, 4894, 4898, 4912)

48. Gouda cheese, like edam cheese, originated in the Netherlands, and is now also made in other countries, considerable quantities being produced in the United States. Gouda cheese is similar to edam cheese in that the ingredients used in its manufacture, and the manufacturing procedure are the same, and when made from raw milk it should be aged not less than 60 days. Its fat content is higher than that of edam cheese, being not less than 46 percent of the dry matter. Its moisture content is not more than 45 percent. Gouda cheese is made in modified ellipsoidal shape, having two opposite flat sides, and in this respect differs from edam cheese. Gouda cheese is at times coated with yellow or red paraffin, but this is not an identifying characteristic as in the case of edam cheese. Gouda cheese is known in some parts of the world by other names, but its common name in the United States is gouda cheese, and the use of other names might be confusing. (R. 701, 1077–1080, 1086–1087, 1038, 1117–1120, 2913, 4900–4901, 5029; Ex. 23)

49. Limburger cheese is the common and usual name of a variety of semisoft cheese of characteristic aroma and taste. Limburger cheese was first made in Europe but now is manufactured in large quantities in the United States, particularly in Wisconsin. It is made from whole milk. This may be raw or pasteurized. When made from raw milk the usual procedure is as follows: Milk is brought to about 92° F. and subjected to the action of one or more types of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into cubes with sides approximately ½-inch long. After a few minutes the mass is stirred and heated, gradually raising the temperature to 96° F. to 98° F. The curd is then allowed to settle, most of the whey is drawn off, and the remaining curd and whey dipped into molds. During drainage the curd may be pressed. It is turned at regular intervals. After drainage is completed, the curd is cut into pieces of desired size and dry-salted at intervals for 24 to 48 hours. The cheese is then cured with frequent applications of a weak brine solution to the surface until the proper growth of surface-curing organisms is obtained. It is then wrapped and held in storage for development of as much additional flavor as is desired. When made from pasteurized milk slight changes are made in the procedure, as follows: The milk is adjusted to 89° F. to 90° F. after pasteurization and a culture of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria added. Calcium chloride may be added as to raw milk. The procedure then is the same as with raw milk, except that heating is to 94° F. and brine at a temperature of 66° F. to 70° F. is added so that the pH of the curd will be 4.8. The mixed curd, whey, and brine is dipped into molds and the same procedure followed as when raw milk is used. (R. 958–962, 972–977, 1009, 1014–1015, 1069; Ex. 14, 26)

50. The characteristic aroma and flavor of limburger cheese are due to the action of surface-curing organisms. The intensity of flavor depends on the extent to which surface curing has developed. It is possible to cure limburger cheese for 60 days and have a strong-flavored though still desirable cheese. Curing for not less than 60 days is a reasonable precautionary measure where limburger cheese is made from raw milk. (R. 289, 295, 973, 980–981, 985–986, 993, 995–996, 1009–1012)

51. Due to the extensive development of surface-curing organisms on some limburger cheese, there is production of phosphatase which may penetrate the cheese to such an extent that the phosphatase test may not be a reliable method for determining whether limburger cheese is made from pasteurized milk. (R. 104, 111, 128–130, 135, 1016–1017)

52. The moisture content and the fat content of the solids of limburger cheese are important factors in maintaining its identity. A reasonable maximum limit on moisture is 50 percent, and a reasonable minimum limit on the percent of milk fat in the solids is 50 percent. (R. 963–967, 980, 989, 1019; Ex. 21)

53. There are a number of different varieties of cheese made in the United States and in other countries of the world that are characterized by the growth throughout the cheese of blue or bluish-green molds of the penicillium group. Such cheeses are of the class generally known as blue-mold cheese. These cheeses may be made from the milk of cows, goats, or sheep. All such cheeses have a distinctive appearance, odor, and flavor. The growth of the mold throughout the cheese imparts the principal distinguishing characteristics to the cheeses in this class. The usual penicillium molds in such cheeses are Penicillium roqueforti and Penicillium glaucum. Most of the distinguishing flavor of this class of cheese results from enzymatic action on the fat of the cheese. (R. 1552–1556, 1560–1561, 1617, 1653–1654, 1658–1659, 1663, 1672, 1702, 1714, 1736, 1758, 1768, 1773, 1792, 2913–2914, 3368, 3400–3402, 3415, 3438–3439, 3527, 4660, 4709; Ex. 26, 138–152, 160–165)

54. The best known of the blue-mold cheeses is that made from sheep's milk in France and known as roquefort cheese, being named after a village near which are natural caves in which the cheese is cured. Other varieties of blue-mold cheese are made in foreign countries from cow's milk. Some of these varieties have common names in the country of origin but all are sold in the United States under the name of blue-mold cheese, except in the case of gorgonzola cheese. A blue-mold cheese made in France from cow's milk in accordance with French law is known as fromage bleu. This variety of cheese has been imported into the United States and sold under the name of blue cheese. (R. 1552–1553, 1560–1561, 1611, 1629, 1702, 1731, 1758, 1773, 2913–2914, 3253, 3266–3269, 3402, 3449, 3517, 3526, 3712, 4711, 4725, 4733, 4999, 5037, 5040–5041, 5044–5045, 5202; Ex. 80, 85, 86, 153, 155–157, 159, 164)

55. The principal variety of blue-mold cheese made in the United States is prepared from cow's milk and is known as blue cheese. At times it was called American roquefort cheese and roquefort-type cheese. Another important variety made from cow's milk, manufactured in the United States and imported from Italy and other countries, is known as gorgonzola cheese. Gorgonzola cheese differs from blue cheese in that it has a lower moisture content, is made in larger sizes, and is characterized by the growth of the mold known as Penicillium glaucum rather than the mold Penicillium roqueforti. Gorgonzola cheese may be made from cow's milk or goat's milk or mixtures of these. It is made in loaves weighing between 14 and 17 pounds, and is cured for not less than 90 days. (R. 1552–1533, 1560–1561, 1614, 1661, 1714, 1716, 1773, 1782, 1786, 1793, 3517, 3534, 3551–3552, 3556–3557, 3970, 4059–4062, 4660, 4710, 5175; Ex. 84, 88–93, 130–137, 199–214, 233–239)

56. The basic procedure for manufacturing blue-mold cheese is as follows: Cow's milk or sheep's milk, which may be pasteurized, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. Small amounts of calcium chloride may be added. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. The mass is cut into small portions and held in the whey for a time, then the mixed curd and whey is removed and placed in forms and further drained. At some time during preparation of the curd mold spores of Penicillium roqueforti or Penicillium glaucum are thoroughly mixed into it. The curd is salted by dipping in brine or dry-salting or both. The shaped curd is perforated in many places to facilitate the growth of mold, and is held at a temperature and humidity which favor the growth of the mold throughout the cheese. A temperature near 50° F. and a humidity of about 95 percent are commonly used. The curing is continued to develop flavor. In no case is it held less than 60 days. Due to the length of curing time it can reasonably be expected that blue-mold cheeses are safe for consumption when made from raw milk. (R. 1582, 1585–1586, 1624, 1650–1656, 1720, 1760, 1768–1773, 1780, 1782, 1786, 3254, 3268, 3273, 3281, 3459–3460, 3677–3684, 4999, 5046; Ex. 69)

57. When a blue-mold cheese is made from cow's milk in spring and summer, the carotene content of the milk, which is usually relatively higher than at other times, is carried over to the cheese and tends to give the curd a yellowish color. It is generally considered by dealers that blue-mold cheese with a white curd is of better appearance than a blue-mold cheese with a yellowish curd, and many consumers prefer blue-mold cheeses that have a white curd. In some European countries chlorophyll, a green color of plant origin, is added to the milk in small amounts for the purpose of obscuring the yellow color of the carotene. Chlorophyll is harmless and has no adverse effect on the nutritional properties of the cheese, and such use is not objectionable. In the United States some manufacturers have adopted the practice of separating the cream from the milk and treating the cream with benzoyl peroxide, an oxidizing agent, which is used in bleaching flour. The amount of benzoyl peroxide used does not exceed 0.002 percent by weight of the milk. As normally sold for bleaching flour, benzoyl peroxide is mixed with harmless carriers, magnesium carbonate, potassium alum, and calcium sulfate. The weight of which may be six times the weight of benzoyl peroxide. Oxygen released from the benzoyl peroxide oxidizes the carotene in the cream to colorless compounds. The bleached cream and skim milk are recombined and used in preparing blue-mold cheese. (R. 1582–1584, 1626–1628, 1719–1720, 1737–1738, 1757–1759, 1761–1764, 1789–1790, 3537–3540, 3600–3601, 3605, 3607–3609, 3611, 3669–3671, 4997, 4999, 5002, 5043)

58. Carotene is a precursor of vitamin A and is responsible for about one-half of the vitamin A potency of milk and of the cheese made therefrom. To the extent that the carotene is destroyed by oxidation in bleaching with benzoyl peroxide, the nutritional quality of cheese made with milk so bleached is lowered. The vitamin A potency can be restored to the cheese by the addition of colorless vitamin A from other sources. This is not now done, but a requirement that the vitamin A potency of blue-mold cheese made from bleached milk be restored by the addition of vitamin A would impose no unreasonable difficulty on cheese makers and would promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers of blue-mold cheese. Sheep's milk is naturally white and no color nor bleach is used in such milk when it is manufactured into a blue-mold cheese. (R. 1626, 1742–1743, 1758, 1763, 1765, 3612–3615)

59. Blue cheese contains not less than 50 percent fat in the solids and not more than 46 percent moisture. Gorgonzola cheese contains not less than 50 percent fat in the solids and not more than 42 percent moisture. (R. 1578–1579, 1718, 1756, 1774–1776, 1786, 5038, 5062)

60. For many years a variety of blue-mold cheese made of sheep's milk has been cured in natural caves in the area of Roquefort, France, and has been shipped extensively to all parts of the world. Such cheese has long been known as roquefort cheese. The use of sheep's milk is the most important factor that imparts the distinctive characteristics to this variety of blue-mold cheese. Storage in the caves is only for the purpose of obtaining proper temperature, humidity, and ventilation. A blue-mold cheese made in a similar manner of sheep's milk, which is cured elsewhere than in the caves near Roquefort, under properly controlled curing conditions, would undoubtedly result in a cheese indistinguishable from the blue-mold cheese made near Roquefort. No finding is made as to whether the name roquefort cheese has acquired and retains a secondary meaning so that its use should be restricted to designate the blue-mold cheese cured in the area of Roquefort. Accurate descriptive names for such cheeses are sheep's milk blue-mold cheese and blue-mold cheese from sheep's milk. This variety of cheese contains not less than 50 percent fat in the dry matter, and its moisture content is not more than 45 percent. It is cured for not less than 60 days. (R. 3336, 3370, 3398, 3406, 3445, 3447–3449, 3461–3462, 3467–3468, 3472, 3501–3502, 3568, 3582–3583, 3675–3676, 3686–3695, 3714–3716, 4708, 4858, 4862–4863; Ex. 71, 80, 166, 167, 169, 170, 171, 173, 174, 176, 185, 186)

61. Camembert cheese is a type of soft cured cheese made from cow's milk, which is characterized by the growth of a typical white mold on the surface. This type of cheese originated in France, and in the years before the second world war substantial amounts were shipped to the United States. In France a cheese known as carre de l'est is quite similar to camembert cheese, but is made by a process which differs in some respects from the traditional process for making camembert. In the United States a cheese has been made for many years by a process almost identical with that used in France for making carre de l'est and sold under the name of camembert cheese. The cheese known as camembert in France may be cured longer than camembert made in the United States. The former is characterized by the growth of surface microorganisms in addition to the white mold. These are in part yeasts which give the surface of the cheese a pink color. Camembert and similar cheeses are now made in many countries, but at present practically all cheese sold as camembert in the United States is of domestic manufacture. Under favorable conditions, cheese manufacturers in France and other foreign countries may wish to ship camembert cheese to the United States. (R. 316, 1184–1187, 1189–1193, 1196–1197, 1207, 1220–1227, 1229, 1233–1235, 3287, 3375–3378, 3381–3383, 3386–3388, 3394, 3422–3423, 3471, 3474, 3509, 3695; Ex. 72, 75)

62. In France a small amount of cream is removed from the milk to be used for making camembert cheese or carre de l'est, and the fat content in the solids is usually between 45 and 50 percent. In the United States camembert is made from whole milk, and the fat in the solids is not less than 50 percent. (R. 1189, 1193, 1396–1397, 1422, 3384–3388, 3421)

63. Camembert cheese is quite perishable, and when held for 60 days may not be acceptable to consumers. In France camembert cheese is usually made from raw milk and was so made in the United States until a few years ago. In recent years, due to regulations of some States requiring that cheese be made from pasteurized milk or aged for not less than 60 days, camembert cheese in the United States is now made from pasteurized milk. The manufacture of camembert cheese in France from pasteurized milk has not been thoroughly tried. There are some points of difference in the manufacturing procedure, depending on whether raw or pasteurized milk is used. (R. 282–283, 383, 1190–1192, 1202, 1233–1234, 3386–3387, 3417)

64. The differences in the finished products between camembert cheese and carre de l'est, as made in France, are not extensively treated in the record. Carre de l'est was said to be softer than camembert and to sell at a lower price. Insofar as consumers in the United States are concerned at the present time, there is no need for specific standards to distinguish between these cheeses and the camembert cheese made in the United States. Sufficient protection to consumers for the present will be afforded by the class standard for soft cured cheese. (R. 3386–3388, 3394, 3474, 3480, 3510–3512)

65. Monterey cheese is the common or usual name of a variety of semisoft cheese that originated in Monterey County, California, and is now made in a few areas of the United States, principally in California and adjoining States. It is made by the granular or stirred-curd process, similar to that described in finding 27. Monterey cheese differs from granular cheese, however, in that it has a higher moisture content and the body of the cheese is not as firm. It is uncolored and is molded under pressure into characteristic forms and shapes of less than 12 pounds in weight. Monterey cheese for table use is made from whole milk, and has not less than 50 percent fat in the solids. The moisture content does not exceed 44 percent. Some monterey cheese is made from partly skimmed milk, and is dried for grating purposes. Such cheese made for grating will be covered by the definition and standard of identity for the class known as grating cheese, and no separate standard is needed for it. (R. 1247–1253, 1265, 1269–1271, 1273–1274, 1277–1279, 1281, 2764, 2770, 2771; Ex. 25)

66. The method commonly used for manufacturing monterey cheese is as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Sufficient rennet is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. Part of the whey is drained off, and water or salt brine may be added. The curd is then placed in muslin or sheeting cloths and formed into a ball, and pressed. It may be placed in a cheese hoop and pressed. The cloths are removed the following day, and the cheese is placed on trucks or racks and turned frequently to prevent checking and to form a rind. The cheese may then be paraffined, or it may be dipped in vegetable oil and sprinkled with rice flour. (R. 1247–1248, 1284, 1286, 2765; Ex. 25)

67. Monterey cheese is usually made from pasteurized milk, and after its manufacture it is ordinarily sold as a fresh cheese. It is rarely held for more than 30 days, and if held for as long as 60 days it develops a flavor that would render it unacceptable to consumers. Since this cheese cannot, under normal conditions, be held for as long as 60 days, it is reasonable to require that it be made from pasteurized milk. (R. 1249, 1271–1972, 1284, 2767–2768; Ex. 25)

68. High-moisture jack cheese is a variety of semisoft cheese made by the same method from pasteurized milk as monterey cheese, and has similar physical and chemical properties, except that the moisture content is more than 44 percent, but less than 50 percent. (R. 1249–1250, 1273, 1290–1291; Ex. 25)

69. There are several varieties of cheese, now made in the United States by procedures which originated in Italy, that are commonly known by their Italian names. One of these varieties is provolone cheese, also known as pasta filata cheese. This variety of cheese has a stringy curd texture, and it is made in a number of different shapes and sizes which are customarily designated by words of Italian origin. The common size and shape designations used in this country are provoletti, provoloncini, provolontini, salamini, salami, boccini, mandarini, orancini, caciacavallo, monteche, scamorze, gravanese. Some shapes are encased in rope or twine before drying. (R. 3756–3757, 3758, 3780, 3783–3785, 3790)

70. The procedure for manufacturing provolone cheese is similar to that of cheddar cheese until the curd is matted and cut. In making provolone cheese, after the curd is matted and cut it is immersed in hot water and kneaded and stretched until it is smooth and free from lumps. This treatment results in a curd of stringy appearance which is characteristic of provolone cheese. The curd is then cut and molded into shapes of varying sizes. During this molding the curd is kept sufficiently warm so that it sticks together and forms a smooth surface. The molded curd is then firmed by immersing in cold water. The units are salted in brine, are often encased in twine, and are dried. Provolone cheese is usually smoked by the smoke from burning hardwood. Consumers expect it to be smoked, and should be informed when it is not smoked. The cheese is coated with paraffin or other similar wax and cured for varying lengths of time. (R. 3758, 3763, 3798–3799, 3824, 3951)

71. Provolone cheese may be made from either raw milk or pasteurized milk. Rennet paste or an extract of rennet paste is ordinarily used to coagulate the milk. However, rennet has been found to be satisfactory for this purpose when used together with certain enzymes. (R. 701, 3760–3762, 3765, 3845, 3900)

72. In the manufacture of provolone cheese considerable fat is lost in the whey, and some is also lost in the manipulation and handling of the curd. Provolone cheese contains not less than 45 percent milk fat in the solids, and the moisture content is not more than 45 percent. (R. 3758, 3793)

73. Some manufacturers of provolone cheese expressed a desire to bleach the milk from which it is made, using the method described in finding 57. Purchasers of provolone cheese have not been accustomed to purchasing such cheese having a uniformly white curd. No reasons for consumer preference for a white cheese are disclosed by the evidence nor does there appear in the evidence any basis for a finding that bleaching the milk used in making provolone cheese would promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers. (R. 3762, 3793, 3898)

74. A variety of cheese somewhat similar to provolone cheese is made in the United States and sold under the name caciocavallo siciliano. This variety of cheese has a somewhat lower fat content than provolone, and also has a lower moisture content. It is cured for not less than 90 days, and is not smoked. It contains not more than 40 percent moisture, and its solids contain not less than 42 percent milk fat. The method of manufacture is similar to that for provolone, except that the curd is soaked in hot whey, this whey is withdrawn, and the curd is allowed to mat, then it is cut into blocks and again treated with hot whey to obtain a certain amount of elasticity. The curd is then drained, pressed into oblong forms, dried, and salted with brine. This variety of cheese is sometimes made from sheep's milk or goat's milk or mixtures of two or all of these. When so made it is in the interest of consumers to have the label of the cheese show this fact. (R. 3773–3778, 3803–3804, 5208–5209, 5212, 5324)

75. A variety of hard cheese which originated in Italy is now manufactured in the United States, and is known as parmesan cheese or reggiano cheese. Whatever differences that may have existed between cheeses of these two names have disappeared. This variety of cheese has a hard and brittle rind, a granular texture, and a mellow and somewhat nutty flavor; it grates readily. It is made from cow's milk, from which part of the cream has been removed. The procedure for the manufacture of parmesan cheese is as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Rennet is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into pieces no larger than wheat kernels, heated, and stirred until the temperature reaches between 115° F. to 125° F. The curd is allowed to settle, and is then removed from the kettle or vat, drained for a short time, placed in hoops, and pressed. The pressed curd is removed and salted in brine or dry-salted. The cheese is cured in a cool, ventilated room. The rind of the cheese may be coated or colored. (R. 702, 3901–3904, 3723, 3728, 3739, 3757–3758, 3972, 3978, 5344–5345)

76. In order to obtain a cheese having the characteristics associated with parmesan cheese, it is necessary to cure the cheese for a long period of time. It is cured generally for at least 14 months and often for as long as two years. Testimony was introduced concerning a method of manufacturing parmesan cheese whereby the curing period could be reduced to 5 or 6 months. In this method the cream separated from the milk is homogenized and then recombined with the skim milk. An enzyme preparation containing a lipase is also added during the manufacturing process. Cheeses that have not been cured for 14 months do not have all the characteristics associated with parmesan cheese. It would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to permit hard grating cheese cured for less than 14 months to be included in the definition and standard of identity for parmesan cheese. Such a cheese should be given a new name. It would then come under the class standard for hard grating cheese. (R. 3718–3722, 3905–3906, 3919, 3939–3940, 4120–4121)

77. Parmesan cheese sold in the United States is principally of domestic and Italian manufacture. Italian regulation requires that parmesan cheese contain not less than 32 percent milk fat in the solids. The record does not show the range of fat content of such imported cheese. Some parmesan cheese manufactured in this country has an average fat content of 36 or 37 percent, but the range of the fat content was not shown. It is reasonable to require that parmesan cheese contain not less than 32 percent of milk fat in the solids. During the curing period the moisture content of the cheese is reduced, and the cheese when 14 months old contains not more than 32 percent of moisture. (R. 3724, 3902, 3926, 3940, 3954–3956, 3958–3960)

78. Romano cheese is the common or usual name of another variety of hard cheese which originated in Italy. In the past considerable quantities have been shipped from Italy to the United States. In recent years this type of cheese has also been manufactured in the United States. In Italy cheeses of this variety are also known by other names. Such names are usually descriptive of the locality of manufacture. In the United States this variety of cheese has been known to a limited extent as toscano cheese, sardo cheese, and incanestrato cheese. These names are not the common or usual names of this cheese, and to permit their use as synonyms for romano cheese might result in consumer confusion. (R. 2915–2916, 3769, 3802, 3961, 3965)

79. In Italy this variety of cheese was originally made from sheep's milk, and was called pecorino (from the Italian word pecora, meaning sheep) romano. Subsequently, the same type of cheese was also made from cow's milk, and was called vaccino (or vacchino) (from the Italian word vacca, meaning cow) romano. This variety of cheese is also sometimes made from goat's milk, and is called caprino (from the Italian word capra, meaning goat) romano. In the United States practically all this variety of cheese has been made from cow's milk and sold and distributed under the name romano cheese. No cheese of this variety is known to be made in the United States from sheep's milk, although it has been made to a limited extent in some western States from either goat's milk or a mixture of goat's milk and cow's milk. Romano cheese is the common name of the variety, whether made from cow's milk, sheep's milk, goats' milk, or mixtures of these. Consumers should be informed of the animal origin of the milk. (R. 1320, 1325–1326, 2915, 2971, 3961–3964, 3981–3983, 3990, 4012–4015, 5345–5346)

80. The procedure for making romano cheese, wherever made, is basically as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Rennet, rennet paste, or extract of rennet paste is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into pieces no larger than corn kernels, heated, and stirred until the temperature reaches about 120° F. The curd is allowed to settle, then removed from the kettle or vat, drained for a short time, placed in hoops, and pressed. The pressed curd is removed and salted by immersing in brine for about 24 hours and is then removed from the brine and the surface is allowed to dry. It is then alternately rubbed with salt and washed. It may be perforated with needles. It is dry-cured. During the curing it is turned and scraped. The surface may be rubbed with vegetable oil. (R. 3771, 3908, 3909)

81. Romano cheese is used principally as a grating cheese, but it is also used to some extent as a table cheese. It has a granular texture, a rather piquant flavor, and a hard, brittle rind. It is usually cured for 6 months or more, but some of the smaller sizes are cured for about 5 months. When made from cow's milk, some of the fat is removed. If too much fat is removed, however, there is not enough left for proper flavor development. A reasonable minimum limit for fat in the solids is 38 percent. During curing the moisture content of the cheese is reduced and a reasonable maximum limit for moisture content is 34 percent. (R. 703, 3769–3771, 3803, 5345)

82. Three related varieties of cheese are made in the United States from cow's milk, and are known as asiago fresh cheese (or asiago soft cheese), asiago medium cheese, and asiago old cheese, respectively. Asiago fresh cheese is used as a table cheese; asiago medium cheese is used both as a grating cheese and as a table cheese; and asiago old cheese is used as a grating cheese. The procedure for manufacturing these three varieties of cheese, which is basically the same except for the fat content of the milk and length of curing time, is as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity of not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Rennet is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut, stirred, and heated to promote lactic-acid development and regulate separation of the whey from the curd. The whey is drained. When the curd is sufficiently firm it is removed from the kettle or vat, further drained for a short time, packed into hoops, and pressed. The pressed curd is salted in brine, then cured in a well-ventilated room. During curing the surface of the cheese is occasionally rubbed with a vegetable oil. (R. 3819, 3821–3825, 3829, 3838)

83. Asiago fresh cheese is made from whole milk and has not less than 50 percent of fat in its solids. Consumers of this type of cheese desire a cheese that is relatively soft, and the moisture content is usually above 40 percent but not over 45 percent. This cheese is cured for not less than 60 days. (R. 3818–3821, 3826, 3909–3910)

84. Asiago medium cheese is usually made from milk from which some cream has been removed, and contains not less than 45 percent fat in the solids. This cheese is cured for not less than 6 months, and due to this long curing period the moisture content is not more than 35 percent. (R. 703, 3821–3823, 3829–3830)

85. Asiago old cheese is made from partly skimmed milk and is cured for not less than 12 months. Due to the longer curing period, there is a reduction in moisture content. This cheese contains not more than 32 percent moisture, and its solids contain not less than 42 percent milk fat. (R. 703, 3823–3825, 3831–3832, 3910–3911)

86. A type of hard cheese made from skim milk, to which is added a species of clover which has been dried and ground, is made in Switzerland and other parts of the world. It is made in the shape of a truncated cone and has a pale-green color, and is commonly known as sap sago cheese. The method of manufacturing sap sago cheese is essentially as follows: Soured skimmed cow's milk is heated to boiling temperature, with stirring. Cold buttermilk may be added. Sufficient sour whey is added to give the curd the desired consistency. The curd is spread out in boxes and is allowed to drain and ferment while being pressed. It is allowed to ripen and dry for not less than 5 weeks. The dried and ripened curd is ground, and salt and dried aromatic clover of the species Melilotus coerulea are added. The mixture is formed into the characteristic shape by forcing it into molds. It is cured for not less than 5 months. Due to the heating of the milk prior to precipitation of the curd and to the length of curing time of sap sago cheese, it can reasonably be expected that pathogenic organisms are destroyed and that it is safe for consumption. The moisture content of sap sago cheese is not more than 38 percent. The fat content is low, and there is no need to set a minimum requirement for fat. (R. 1298, 2283–2284, 2389–2390, 4258, 4637–4643, 4598–4599; Ex. 26, 63)

87. Cook cheese, sometimes called koch kaese, is a variety of soft cheese made from cottage cheese curd. This is cured, often with the addition of a white mold, then heated so that it melts, and is then poured into containers. To the melted cheese may be added cream, salt, caraway seed, or a mixture of two or more of these. The method of manufacturing cook cheese is essentially as follows: Skim milk is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. A culture of a harmless white mold may be added. Sufficient rennet, with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the milk, may be added to aid in setting the skim milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut and heated with continued stirring so as to promote and regulate the separation of the curd and whey. The whey is drained, and the curd is cured for 2 or 3 days. It is then heated to a temperature of not less than 180° F. until the hot curd drops from a ladle with a consistency similar to that of honey. Pasteurized cream, salt, or caraway seed or any mixture of two or more of these may be added. The hot cheese is filled into packages and cooled. (R. 3072–3074, 3081)

88. In place of all or part of the skim milk used in making cook cheese, a satisfactory product can be made by using concentrated skim milk, that is, skim milk from which a portion of the water has been removed by evaporation, or non-fat dry milk solids, or both, with water in a quantity not in excess of that sufficient to reconstitute such concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids which may be used. (R. 2658, 2660, 2666)

89. Due to the heating of the curd for the purpose of melting it, in the manufacture of cook cheese, it can reasonably be expected that pathogenic organisms and the enzyme phosphatase are destroyed. The moisture content of cook cheese is not more than 80 percent. The fat content is low, and there is no need to set a minimum requirement. (R. 3073, 3081)

90. A type of cheese prepared from the skim milk of cows is made in Norway and known as gammelost. This type of cheese is sometimes shipped to the United States and may be made at times in the United States. The procedure used is as follows: A starter, consisting of a culture of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, is added to skim milk, and the mix is allowed to stand until it has become quite acid. The mixture is heated to about 145° F. and maintained at this temperature for not less than ½ hour. During heating the curd is occasionally stirred. The whey is drained off, and the curd is filled into forms and pressed; the shaped curd is then placed in the whey and heated for 3 or 4 hours. It is removed and may again be pressed. It is then stored until sufficiently cured. Gammelost is a hard cheese and usually contains about 52 percent water. The fat content is low, and there is no need in a standard to set a limit on fat. (R. 5296–5299; Ex. 26)

91. Because of the many varieties of cheese that will be included in the different class standards, some of which may be made from sheep's milk or goat's milk, it is reasonable to provide that cheeses falling within the class standards may be made from the milk of cows, sheep, or goats, or mixtures of these (finding 11). It is reasonable to permit the adjustment of the milk by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids, or the corresponding products prepared from sheep's milk or goat's milk. It is reasonable to permit the use of calcium chloride, as described in finding 14, harmless enzymes, as described in finding 18, harmless flavor-producing microorganisms, and to permit curing under suitable conditions for the development of biological curing agents. For the reasons set forth in findings 19, 20, and 21, it is reasonable to require that such cheeses be made from pasteurized milk, or in the alternative, that they be held for not less than 60 days at a temperature of not less than 35° F. (R. 699–670, 709, 719–720, 731, 733–734, 1231, 1292–1295, 1313, 5062)

92. In order to prevent the substitution of skimmed milk or partly skimmed milk cheeses, for cheeses made in the United States from whole milk (finding 16), it is reasonable to require that cheeses known as hard, semisoft, and soft ripened, for which there is no specific definition and standard of identity, contain not less than 50 percent fat in the dry matter. Manufacturers of cheeses outside the United States can readily modify their manufacturing processes so that their cheeses will comply with standards based on American methods of manufacture, or in unusual cases may apply for a specially applicable standard. It would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers in the United States to lower the class standards to permit the general use of partly skimmed milk for making these cheeses. (R. 1019–1020, 1028–1029, 1103, 1340–1341, 1344, 1347, 1351–1352, 1359, 1447–1443, 1476, 1638–1642, 1646, 1700)

93. The amount of moisture in a cheese is one of the factors which determines into which class it falls. In the United States hard cheeses produced in the greatest quantity have not more than 39 percent moisture, and it is reasonable to set this limit for moisture in hard cheeses for which there is no specified definition and standard of identity. The moisture content of semisoft cheeses is necessarily higher, and a reasonable range of moisture for such cheese for which there is no specific definition and standard of identity is from 39 to 50 percent. In the case of soft ripened cheeses for which there is no specific definition and standard of identity, there are wide variations of moisture content, and it is impracticable to set a moisture limit for this class of cheese. (R. 302, 1016, 1019, 1056, 1060, 1111, 1292, 1294–1295, 1302–1304, 1322–1323, 1338, 1360, 1376, 1638, 1645, 4512–4513; Ex. 26)

94. The procedure for manufacturing all hard cheeses cannot be described in great detail owing to the variations practiced but it is essentially as follows: Milk, which may be pasteurized and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, with or without other harmless flavor-producing bacteria present in such milk or added thereto. Purified calcium chloride may be added in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such milk. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Rennet, or rennet paste, or extract of rennet paste, is added in sufficient quantity to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into small particles, stirred, and heated. The curd is separated from the whey, drained, shaped into forms, and may be pressed. The curd is salted at some stage of the manufacturing process. The shaped curd may be cured to develop flavor. The rind may be coated with paraffin, or rubbed with vegetable oil, or both. (R. 1294–1295, 1338, 1428; Ex. 26)

95. As is the case in hard cheeses, there are many variations practiced in the manufacture of semisoft cheeses, and it is impossible to describe in detail the manufacturing procedure for semisoft cheese. In general, the manufacturing procedure is similar to that used for making hard cheeses, except that the curd is not necessarily cut or heated. Semisoft cheeses may be cured under suitable conditions for the development of biological curing agents. Finding 41 is also applicable to semisoft cheeses. (R. 1016–1019, 1088, 1102, 1338, 1352–1359, 1428, 1638–1642)

96. The procedure for manufacturing soft ripened cheeses is similar to that used in making semisoft cheeses, except that heat may not be used, and the curd, after the whey has been separated from it, is cured under suitable conditions for the development of the biological curing agents that impart to the particular variety of cheese their distinctive characteristics. This is usually effected by the development of such curing agent on the surface of the cheese and conducting the process so that the cheese cures from the surface toward the center. Sufficient data on the phosphatase content of soft ripened cheeses are not available for use as a basis for incorporating a test for phosphatase in the definition and standard of identity for this class of cheese. (R. 318, 1230–1231, 1330–1331, 1428)

97. Definitions and standards of identity were proposed for some of the more important varieties of cheese intended primarily for grating purposes. In addition to such cheese there are other varieties of lesser importance made in the United States and elsewhere which are also intended primarily for grating purposes. It is impracticable to adopt specific definitions and standards of identity for each of such cheeses. (R. 685, 2917, 4050, 4155, 4260; findings 74, 80, 81; Ex. 26)

98. Hard grating cheeses are usually made from cow's milk, but at times they may be made from sheep's milk or goat's milk, or mixtures of these with cow's milk. In making such cheeses, a portion of the fat is generally removed from the milk. A minimum amount of fat is necessary for development of desirable flavor. In order to prevent the use of milk from which more fat has been removed than is customary in such cheeses, and to make sure that there is sufficient fat for proper flavor development, it is reasonable to require that hard grating cheeses contain at least 32 percent of milk fat in the solids. Hard grating cheeses are relatively low in moisture content. The maximum moisture content compatible with the characteristics of hard grating cheese is 34 percent. (R. 1316, 2917, 2973, 2987–2990, 3996–3997, 4134, 4156; Ex. 26, 94–96, 220)

99. Hard grating cheeses are cured for relatively longer periods of time than other cheeses, in order to develop sharp flavor. The minimum curing time compatible with the development of the characteristic sharp flavor is 6 months. Due to the long curing period, such cheese may reasonably be expected to be safe for consumption even when made from unpasteurized milk. (R. 2987, 3908, 4545, 5215–5216; finding 20; Ex. 26)

100. It is impossible to describe with great particularity the manufacturing procedure for hard grating cheese, but in general it is similar to that used in manufacturing hard cheese. Rennet, rennet paste, or extract of rennet paste may be used. The rind may be colored or rubbed with vegetable oil or both. The use of partly skimmed milk; the amount of cutting, stirring, and draining; the heating temperature, and the long curing period are some of the factors that give hard grating cheese its characteristics. (R. 3727, 3731–3732, 3843–3845, 3904, 3907, 5215–5216; Ex. 26, 94, 96)

101. Separate specific definitions and standards of identity were proposed for hard grating cheeses under the names of monte cheese and modena cheese. The distribution of these cheeses is limited. A definition and standard of identity for monte cheese or modena cheese, or the inclusion of products of such composition in the class standard for hard grating cheeses, would in effect provide for manufacturing a hard grating cheese deficient in fat and would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers. (R. 521, 2974, 3888, 3906, 3941–3942, 3944, 5216; finding 97)

102. Several varieties of cheeses are made in various parts of the world which resemble members of the class for which a standard is proposed under the class name semisoft cheeses. They differ, however, from the cheeses for which this standard is applicable in that they are made from partly skimmed milk, and the fat content of their solids ranges from 45 to 50 percent. Many of these cheeses have obtained popularity under specific names, and cheeses of this class vary from each other due to the conditions under which they are made and stored, although the basic procedure used for their preparation is essentially the same. This procedure is the same as that described for preparing semisoft cheeses, except that partly skimmed milk is used. (R. 1028, 1102, 1374–1376, 3425, 3529, 4512–4513, 5003–5004, 5006; Ex. 26, 29–33)

103. There are a number of varieties of cheese, some made in the United States and others shipped into the United States, which are characterized by the presence of certain spices. Such cheeses fall into one of the general classes of spiced cheeses, rather than a class based on the texture of the cheese. Cheeses of this class are particularly popular in the Scandinavian countries and with consumers in this country who are familiar with cheeses as made in such countries. Spiced cheeses are usually made from partially skimmed cow's milk, although a few varieties are also made from whole milk. The spices added may be pepper, caraway seed, cloves, cumin seed, anise seed, sage, or other spices. In some varieties of cheese more than one spice is used. The oils extracted from such spices are sometimes used in addition. Some of the cheeses of this class are known as noekkelost, kuminost, leyden, frisian clove, Christian IX, caraway, pepato and sage. The use of certain spices and combinations of them by long-continued practice has become associated with the name of a particular variety of spiced cheese. It would be deceptive to consumers to permit the use of spice or spice oil which simulates the flavor of aged cheese. (R. 1087–1088, 1093–1094, 1096, 1130–1131, 1139, 1141, 1162–1164, 1683–1689, 1697–1699, 2919, 3332–3355, 3840–3841, 4904–4906, 5014, 5058, 5280; Ex. 198)

104. It is impracticable to adopt a specific definition and standard of identity for each of the varieties of spiced cheese. The flavor of such cheeses is due primarily to the spices used, and satisfactory spiced cheeses can be made from partly skimmed milk. In order to differentiate spiced cheeses made from partly skimmed milk from those made from whole milk, two separate class standards should be established, one for spiced cheese and one for part-skim spiced cheese. Spiced cheese has not less than 50 percent milk fat in its solids, and part-skim spiced cheese has less than 50 percent but not less than 20 percent fat in its solids. The record does not furnish a basis for setting moisture limits for spiced cheeses. (R. 1141–1142, 1169–1170, 1683, 1705–1706, 4904–4907,

105. The method of manufacturing spiced cheese is similar to that used in manufacturing hard cheese, except that during the procedure spices are added. In general, not less than 1½ ounces of spices are added for each 100 pounds of cheese, and this is a reasonable minimum requirement for the total amount of spices to be used in these cheeses. (R. 1087–1088, 1095, 1128, 1142, 1163, 1169, 5016–5018, 5297)

106. A number of foods which resemble cheese in some respects are made in whole or in part from cheese whey. Milk or cream or both are sometimes added. Such foods, although not cheese as that word is commonly understood, are generally referred to as whey cheeses. Such foods may be made from the whey of cow's milk or goat's milk or mixtures of these, to which may be added cow's milk or goat's milk or cream or mixtures of these. Some of the names under which whey cheeses are known are mysost, flotost, primost, ricotta, and gjetost. Due to the extremely variable composition of these foods it is impracticable to adopt a class standard which will be of value in promoting honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers, and the record does not give a basis for establishing the multiplicity of standards that would be required to cover the many varieties of whey cheese made. By designating a food of this kind as "whey cheese," the possibility of consumers' confusing it with a cheese made from milk will be minimized. (R. 5249–5251, 5254–5255, 5261, 5295, 5310, 5312, 5319; Ex. 26, 242, 243, 244)

107. A variety of cheese which resembles cheddar cheese and some other varieties of hard cheese is made in the United States from separated milk. Such skim milk normally contains only about one-tenth of 1 percent of fat, and cheese made therefrom may contain about 1 percent, or slightly more milk fat. This cheese can also be made in whole or in part from a reconstituted skim milk, prepared from nonfat dry milk solids or concentrated skim milk and water. This variety of cheese is suitable for use as an ingredient in preparing certain other foods, particularly bakery products. It has also been used as an ingredient of cheese foods and cheese spreads, although its use for these purposes is not to be recommended. (R. 2902–2904, 2906–2911, 2976, 2998–2999, 5369–5370)

108. Skim-milk cheese for manufacturing is entirely unsuitable for general cheese use. Due to its resemblance to other cheeses, which are more costly and generally more desirable, it could, to some extent, be substituted for them. It will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to establish a definition and standard of identity for this variety of cheese containing provisions designed to lessen the possibility of deception to consumers. The name "skim milk cheese for manufacturing" accurately describes the product. Such a cheese should be identified in such a way as to prevent its being substituted for, or confused with, varieties of hard cheese which it resembles. This can be accomplished by requiring that skim-milk cheese for manufacturing be coated with blue-colored paraffin or other firmly adhering material, colored blue. (R. 2902, 2904, 2909, 2930–2931, 2969, 2999, 5364)

109. The procedure used for preparing skim-milk cheese for manufacturing is similar to that used in preparing hard cheeses. There is some evidence as to the advantage of incorporating other nonfat ingredients of milk in this type of cheese, but the evidence is insufficient to permit the blanket use of all such ingredients. From evidence on other cheeses it appears that there will be some advantage in the incorporation in this cheese of the proteins usually lost in the whey. The incorporation of lactose or minerals in excess of amounts normally present would apparently serve no useful purpose. The moisture content of such a cheese is not more than 50 percent. Since this variety of cheese is suitable only for manufacturing, it is not necessary that its standard require that the skim milk used be pasteurized or that the skim-milk cheese for manufacturing made therefrom be held for not less than 60 days. (R. 2905–2906, 2908–2909, 3115, 5365)

110. There was testimony relative to abuses in the sale of foods purporting to be grated cheeses. It was recommended that a standard which would curtail or prevent these abuses be adopted. It is clear that there are abuses in this regard and that it would be desirable to adopt regulations which would curtail or prevent them. However, the evidence does not establish sufficient basis for adopting definitions and standards of identity for such foods which would promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers. (R. 3855–3856, 3874–3875, 3882–3883, 4017–4020, 4022–4027, 4109–4112, 4599–4600)

111. There was testimony proposing a standard for a cheese made from milk and buttermilk. The testimony showed that this type of cheese had so far been made only in small quantities on an experimental basis. The evidence does not warrant the adoption of a standard for such a cheese. (R. 3074–3116)

112. A number of foods now being marketed are made by grinding and mixing cheeses of the same or more than one variety, with the addition of emulsifying agents, salt, water, and coloring, and heating the mix to make a pasteurized product of uniform texture and composition. These foods are commonly known as pasteurized process cheese. A similar food is occasionally made in the same way, except that no emulsifying agent is employed. Such a food is commonly known as pasteurized blended cheese. (R. 1806, 1858–1859, 1989–1991, 1993–1994, 2013–2014, 2016, 2023, 2030, 2553–2554, 2573–2574, 2604–2606; Ex. 14, 46)

113. The heat treatment necessary to melt the cheese and to give a consistency suitable for packaging requires a temperature of 150° F. for about 30 seconds, or longer. This heat treatment is sufficient to destroy dangerous microorganisms which may have been present in the ingredients used, and also to destroy any phosphatase in cheese made from unpasteurized milk. The phosphatase test for a properly made pasteurized process cheese may be entirely negative, and in no case does a pasteurized process cheese, when tested by the method described in finding 22, show a phenol equivalent of more than 3 micrograms per 0.25-gram portion. The heat treatment stops further curing of the cheese, and the finished foods retain the characteristics present at the time of manufacture. (R. 1808–1809, 2284–2291, 2297–2301, 2185–2191, 3063–3067, 4039–4042; Ex. 13, 61)

114. Since pasteurization is effected during manufacture, cheddar cheese for manufacturing, washed curd cheese for manfacturing, colby cheese for manufacturing, granular cheese for manufacturing, swiss cheese for manufacturing, and brick cheese for manufacturing are suitable ingredients for pasteurized process cheese. (R. 401, 411, 1995–1996, 2024, 2724, 2727, 4038–4039)

115. Processing or blending operations may increase the moisture content of the mix because of condensation of steam used for heating the mass and through the addition of ingredients in aqueous solution. The water so added ordinarily increases the moisture content by less than 1 percent, and an allowance of 1 percent moisture above the maximum permitted in the cheese ingredient is reasonable. (R. 1964, 1996, 2002, 2025, 3913)

116. Pasteurized process cheese may be made from different varieties of cheese which do not have the same moisture and fat contents. With certain exceptions, it is reasonable in such cases that the moisture content be the arithmetical average of the maximum moisture contents prescribed for the varieties of cheeses used, plus the allowance of 1 percent necessary for the reasons given in finding 114. (R. 1993, 2002, 2025, 2605, 2758)

117. Establishment of a general maximum limit on moisture in pasteurized process cheese will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers, since varieties of natural cheese of very high moisture content may be used in mixtures and would introduce excessive amounts of water. A reasonable maximum limit on moisture is 43 percent, except as noted in other findings. (R. 1964, 2002, 2025)

118. A type of pasteurized process cheese made from cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, colby cheese, or granular cheese or mixtures of two or more of these varieties is commonly known as pasteurized process American cheese. Consumers expect a pasteurized process cheese so designated to possess characteristics commonly associated with pasteurized process cheddar cheese. It is reasonable that the maximum moisture content of pasteurized process American cheese be 40 percent. (R. 2002–2004, 2026)

119. Pasteurized process gruyere cheese is sometimes packaged in separate units weighing less than 2 ounces. The packaging of such small sizes requires a higher degree of fluidity than packaging larger sizes, and this fluidity can at the present time be obtained only by increasing the moisture content of these products to not over 44 percent. (R. 548–561, 698–699, 2025, 2127, 2129, 2135, 4338, 4347; Ex. 76, 79)

120. It is not possible to manufacture a generally acceptable pasteurized process limburger cheese with a moisture content not exceeding 43 percent, since consumers expect pasteurized process limburger cheese to resemble the natural limburger cheese, which has a high moisture content and is somewhat soft. A reasonable maximum moisture content of pasteurized process limburger cheese is 51 percent. (R. 2002, 2025)

121. The fat content of the solids of pasteurized process cheese made of one variety of cheese, in practice, has been equal to that of the variety of cheese used, and it is reasonable to require that this practice be continued. It is reasonable to require that the fat content of the solids of a pasteurized process cheese made from two or more varieties of cheese be not less than the arithmetical average of the prescribed minimum fat contents of the solids of the varieties used, and in no case less than 47 percent, except in case of pasteurized process gruyere cheese made from a mixture of gruyere cheese and swiss cheese, the solids of which should contain not less than 45 percent fat. (R. 2002, 2025)

122. The addition of salt and emulsifying agents during processing reduces the fat content of the solids of the finished product. It is customary to compensate, when necessary for this reduction in fat, by the addition of cream. Since the addition of large amounts of cream would alter the characteristics of the product, it is reasonable to limit the addition of cream to a quantity the fat content of which will not increase the weight of the finished product by more than 5 percent. (R. 1872, 1880, 1934–1936, 1980–1981, 1997, 2024)

123. Cheeses of unusually low moisture content are sometimes used in making pasteurized process cheese. To avoid undue hardness in the resulting product, water may be added to the mix. The use of water in such amounts that the moisture content of the finished pasteurized process cheese does not exceed the limits prescribed is reasonable. (R. 1964, 1996, 2002)

124. Abuses may arise when pasteurized process cheese is made from two or more varieties and named after all varieties, if any variety is present in only a very small amount. In case a pasteurized process cheese is made from two varieties, it is reasonable to require that the weight of no variety be less than 25 percent of the total weight of cheese used; and in case three or more varieties are used, it is reasonable that the weight of no variety be less than 15 percent of the total cheese weight, except when certain highly flavored varieties are used. Limburger cheese, blue cheese, roquefort cheese, and gorgonzola cheese possess very definite flavors which are imparted to pasteurized process cheese by use of lesser amounts. Desirable characteristics from blue, roquefort, and gorgonzola cheeses are imparted by use of 10 percent or more of one of these varieties in a cheese mix containing two varieties, and by use of 5 percent of any of these varieties in a cheese mix made of three or more varieties. The desired flavor from limburger cheese may be imparted if it constitutes 5 percent of the cheese weight when two varieties are used, and if it constitutes 3 percent of the cheese weight when three or more varieties are used. (R. 2002–2003, 2025, 2732–2733)

125. A type of pasteurized process cheese made from a mixture of gruyere cheese and swiss cheese was introduced into the United States from Switzerland, under the name "petit gruyere cheese." It was later designated "process gruyere cheese." Some such cheese was made from swiss cheese alone. Later, some of the processed swiss cheese made in the United States from swiss cheese was labeled at times as process gruyere cheese. It was believed by many in the United States that swiss cheese and gruyere cheese were the same cheese, but made in different areas. The evidence showed (finding 36) that gruyere cheese is a different variety of cheese from swiss cheese. It will not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to permit pasteurized process swiss cheese to be labeled pasteurized process gruyere cheese. Processed mixtures of gruyere cheese and swiss cheese having not less than 25 percent gruyere cheese are sufficiently characterized by the presence of gruyere cheese to be known as pasteurized process gruyere cheese, provided that the fat content of the solids of the finished process cheese is not less than 45 percent. (R. 536, 2002–2003, 2127, 2271, 4319, 4327–4328, 4331, 4342–4344, 4354, 4358, 4368, 4621, 5162; Ex. 26, 76, 79, 112–121, 124–127, 223–224)

126. With few exceptions, cheeses the solids of which contain less than 50 percent milk fat have not been used in pasteurized process cheese or pasteurized blended cheese, pasteurized cheese foods, pasteurized cheese spreads, cold-pack cheese or cold-pack cheese food. The use of members of the classes of cheeses made from part-skim milk (namely, hard grating cheese, semisoft part-skim cheese, and part-skim spiced cheese) in such foods might result in producing foods not of the expected identity and in practices not in the interest of consumers, through the substitution of part-skim cheeses for whole milk cheeses. (R. 1880, 1934, 2002–2004; finding 92)

127. Salt and harmless artificial coloring are used in making pasteurized process cheese, to produce uniformity in seasoning and color. (R. 1996)

128. Spices and flavorings are sometimes used to produce characteristic flavors desired by certain consumers. The simulation of the flavor of a cheese or an aged cheese through addition of spices or flavorings would be deceptive, and is not in the consumer's interest. Consumers are interested in having the presence of spices or flavorings declared on the label. (R. 1872–1873, 1875, 1936, 1942, 1958, 1969, 2001, 2024, 2245)

129. Smoked cheeses may be used in making pasteurized process cheeses, or the pasteurized process cheeses may be smoked. Substances obtained by condensing and precipitating wood smoke are sometimes added to impart characteristics similar to those of smoked cheese. Appropriate label designation of such added substance is the statement "with added ----------," the blank being filled in with the name of the added ingredient. (R. 1984–1985, 2004, 2026, 2876)

130. It is necessary for the fat of pasteurized process cheese to be uniformly dispersed and held in suspension. The casein of aged cheese is in suitable form to hold the fat, after processing. The casein of many cheeses used does not possess this property, but it may be rendered suitable by the action of certain emulsifying agents. Chemicals which have been found suitable for this purpose are monosodium phosphate, disodium phosphate, trisodium phosphate, dipotassium phosphate, sodium citrate, potassium citrate, calcium citrate, sodium tartrate, sodium acid pyrophosphate, tetrasodium pyrophosphate, sodium metaphosphate (sodium hexametaphosphate), and sodium potassium tartrate. The emulsifying agents named are used singly and as mixtures, but the total weight of emulsifying agents required does not exceed 3 percent of the weight of the pasteurized process cheese. Since emulsifying agents may contain combined water, or be used in aqueous solution, it is reasonable that the amount of such agent used be calculated on the basis of its solids. Sufficient evidence was not adduced during the hearing to determine the suitability of ammonium salts as emulsifying agents. A provision in a definition and standard of identity for use of any suitable harmless emulsifying agent would not be in the interest of consumers, since it would not insure adequate prior testing of chemicals that might be useful as emulsifying agents, and so might result in long-continued use of harmful agents before their unsuitability became known. (R. 147, 183, 206, 1859–1863, 1879, 1901, 1910–1911, 1923, 1963, 1998–1999, 2024, 2157, 2161, 2234, 2243, 2276, 2329–2330, 2378–2379, 2531, 2533, 2638–2639; Ex. 46–50)

131. The action of emulsifying agents may be incomplete if the pH of the mix being processed is excessively high. The pH can be adjusted by the addition of acids. Vinegars, lactic acid, citric acid, acetic acid, and phosphoric acid have been found suitable for pH adjustment. Reduction of the pH below 5.3 does not improve emulsifying-agent action, and may alter the characteristic flavor of the product. It is reasonable that the use of acids be limited to such amounts that the pH of the finished product is not below 5.3. The proposed acidifying agent, hydroxy-acetic acid is unsuitable for use in foods. (R. 1914–1915, 1941, 1947, 1965, 2024, 2873, 4242)

132. The common name of a pasteurized process cheese made from one variety of cheese is the name of the variety of cheese used, qualified by the words "pasteurized process." (R. 2004, 2026, 2273, 2573–2574, 2612)

133. In the case of pasteurized process cheese made from two or more varieties, the common or usual name is "pasteurized process," followed by the names of the varieties of cheese used, in the order of their predominance by weight; or the name may be "pasteurized process," followed by the name of the principal cheese used, this followed by the words "blended with" and the name of the varieties present in lesser amount. (R. 2004, 2021, 2026, 2758)

134. The cheeses ordinarily used for processing are hard cheeses, although sometimes the semisoft cheeses are used. Cream cheese and neufchatel cheese are often packed by what is called the hot-pack process, in the course of which the curd of these cheeses is melted and mixed, and gum used. It is unnecessary to use any chemical to soften the casein of these cheeses. When so made, the finished cheese is not known as a process cheese. Cream cheese and neufchatel cheese are not therefore proper starting cheeses for the manufacture of pasteurized process cheeses, but may be used in pasteurized blended cheeses. (R. 1820, 1992)

135. The methods for determining moisture content and fat content described in finding 24, and for determining phosphatase described in finding 22, are suitable for analysis of pasteurized process cheese and pasteurized blended cheese. (R. 2003, 2026)

136. There are a few blended cheeses made by comminuting and mixing cheese of the same or two or more varieties, with the aid of heat sufficient to pasteurize the mix where no emulsifying agent is used. The names of pasteurized blended cheeses correspond to those of pasteurized process cheeses, except that the word "blended" replaces the word "process" in the name. They are commonly known as pasteurized blended cheese, and are identical with pasteurized process cheese, except that no emulsifying agents or acidifying agents are used. With the exception of findings relative to emulsifying agents and acids and the over-all limits on moisture, the findings with respect to pasteurized process cheese are applicable to pasteurized blended cheese. (R. 2604–2607)

137. A number of foods closely resembling pasteurized process cheese, but differing from them in that they contain varying amounts of fruits, vegetables, or meats or mixtures of these, are now being marketed. The number of such foods is increasing. The addition of fruits, vegetables, or meats is for the purpose of altering the flavor and eating characteristics or the pasteurized process cheese to varying degrees. The amounts of the fruits, vegetables, or meats added vary, and, except in the case of pimentos and canned and cooked meats, there is insufficient evidence in the record to use as a basis for establishing limits on the amounts which may be added. The minimum percent of a meat product necessary to bring about a change in flavor and eating quality is not definitely shown by the record. Although it is desirable to establish a minimum limit for such an expensive ingredient as meat, the evidence does not furnish sufficient basis for fixing a numerical limit. Sufficient meat should be added to impart its distinctive characteristics. (R. 1936, 1956–1957, 1970–1971, 2006, 2326)

138. The fruits or vegetables added must be properly prepared, and either cooked, canned, or dried before addition to the pasteurized process cheese. Meats must be properly prepared and cooked or canned. (R. 1972, 1974–1975, 2006)

139. The moisture content of pasteurized process cheese may be increased and the percent of milk fat in the solids decreased by the addition of fruits, vegetables, or meats. An increase of 1 percent over the maximum percent of moisture permitted in the pasteurized process cheese and a decrease of 1 percent of the milk fat content of the solids are sufficient to allow for the changes due to the addition of the fruits, vegetables, or meats. (R. 1961, 1964, 1968, 2007–2008, 2023)

140. Such foods are commonly designated by the name of the pasteurized process cheese, followed by the common or usual names of the added fruits, vegetables, or meats. In order to provide a uniform system of designating these foods, it is reasonable that the name specified be the name provided in the definition and standard of identity for pasteurized process cheese for the cheese portion of the food, to which is added the statement "with ----------," the blank being filled in with the name or names of the added fruits, vegetables, or meats. In order to properly inform consumers of the optional ingredients used, the requirement for label statement of optional ingredients prescribed for pasteurized process cheese should also be prescribed in the definition and standard of identity for pasteurized process cheese with fruits, vegetables, or meats. (R. 1956–1957, 2006)

141. Where fat, other than milk fat, is introduced into the pasteurized process cheese with fruits, vegetables, or meats by the addition of vegetables or meats, a special method of analysis for the determination of the milk fat must be used instead of that named in finding 135 for pasteurized process cheese. A competent chemist can make the determination with reasonable accuracy. The same situation exists with respect to pasteurized process cheese foods with fruits, vegetables, or meats, and with respect to pasteurized process cheese spreads with fruits, vegetables, or meats. (R. 2323–2324)

142. A particular type of pasteurized process cheese is made with pimentos, sometimes spelled pimientos. The preferred spelling appears to be pimento. This food is commonly known as pasteurized process pimento cheese. The cheese ingredient is that commonly known as pasteurized process American cheese. To this are added properly prepared pimentos in such quantity that the weight of the solids of the pimentos is not less than 0.2 percent of the weight of the finished food. The moisture content of pasteurized process pimento cheese is slightly increased over that of the pasteurized process American cheese, but is not more than 41 percent. The fat content of the solids is reduced somewhat by the addition of the pimentos, but is not less than 49 percent. No other fruit, vegetable, or meat is used, and flavors and spices are not used. (R. 1936–1937, 1941, 1948, 2007, 2028, 2325)

143. In making pasteurized blended cheese with fruits, vegetables, or meats, pasteurized blended cheese is used instead of pasteurized process cheese. Findings 137–141, with respect to pasteurized process cheese with fruits, vegetables, or meats, are applicable to pasteurized blended cheese with fruits, vegetables, or meats.

144. A class of foods similar in appearance and taste to pasteurized process cheese was developed many years ago and has been sold in large quantities over a period of years under the name "pasteurized process cheese food." The foods of this class are essentially pasteurized process cheeses to which have been added milk or certain milk products. The reason for this addition in the beginning was to create a softer product of somewhat milder taste than pasteurized process cheese, and to return to the cheese some of the nutrients of milk normally eliminated in the manufacture of cheese. The flavor of these foods has been further modified at times by the addition of salt; and their appearance has been standardized by the addition of artificial coloring. (R. 1813–1815, 1836, 2294–2295, 2313, 2500, 2536–2537, 2555, 2709, 4164; Ex. 14, 97–108)

145. The addition of milk products in liquid form tends to increase the moisture content of a pasteurized process cheese and render it softer. When milk products are added in the dry form, additional water is also usually added. Generally, the additional water serves to make a pasteurized process cheese food softer than the corresponding pasteurized process cheese. (R. 2587–2588, 2591)

146. Due to the similarity of pasteurized process cheese foods to pasteurized process cheeses, findings 113, 114, 124, 130, 131, 134, and 135 (see also finding 150), having to do with pasteurized process cheeses, are applicable to pasteurized process cheese foods. (R. 147, 183, 206, 401, 411, 1808–1809, 1820, 1859–1863, 1879, 1901, 1910–1911, 1914–1915, 1923, 1941, 1947, 1963, 1965, 1992, 1995–1996, 1998–1999, 2002–2003, 2024, 2025, 2026, 2157, 2161, 2185–2191, 2234, 2243, 2276, 2297–2301, 2309, 2318, 2319–2320, 2329–2330, 2378–2379, 2531–2533, 2638–2639, 2724, 2727, 2732–2733, 2843, 2844, 2873, 3063–3067, 4032–4034, 4036–4042, 4242; Ex. 13, 46, 50, 61)

147. The characteristics of pasteurized process cheese foods depend upon the quantity of the cheese ingredients used, and the total weight of these cheese ingredients should be not less than 51 percent of the weight of the finished food. In general, the proportion of the varieties of cheese in mixtures should be the same as in pasteurized process cheese, except that the minimum for limburger cheese should be the same as for blue cheese and gorgonzola cheese. (R. 2266, 2312–2313, 2319–2321)

148. Increasing the moisture content of a pasteurized process cheese food over that of the corresponding pasteurized process cheese might result in consumers' purchasing water instead of the more expensive food. A maximum limit on moisture which will permit sufficient softness but prevent the use of excessive water is 44 percent. (R. 2321, 2485, 2566)

149. The addition of such milk products as skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, and cheese whey lowers the fat content. In order to maintain the character of these foods it is necessary that they contain substantial amounts of milk fat. A reasonable minimum limit for milk fat is 23 percent. (R. 2321, 2483, 2485, 2566)

150. Milk products added to pasteurized process cheese in preparing pasteurized process cheese foods vary, and various mixtures of these ingredients are used. Those in common use are cream, milk, skim milk, or cheese whey or such products from which part or most of the water has been removed. The lactose in whey is affected by long drying. Since a pasteurized process cheese food usually contains some form of whey, the method for determining moisture prescribed for pasteurized process cheese is not suitable for a pasteurized process cheese food so far as it requires drying to a constant weight. The method will be suitable for a pasteurized process cheese food if drying is restricted to 5 hours. (R. 2281, 2294–2295, 2486, 2525, 2601, 4034, 4037, 4043–4045)

151. Proposals were made to permit the addition to process cheese foods of a product prepared from cheese whey known as albumin. This is a normal constituent of milk, has significant nutritive value, and appears to be suitable for such use. It was also proposed to permit the addition of lactose. No showing was made as to how this would be of any advantage to the consumer. (R. 2315, 2483, 2521–2522, 3173)

152. It was proposed that a cheese made wholly of skim milk and designated as skim-milk cheese for manufacturing be permitted to be used as an optional dairy ingredient in the manufacture of pasteurized process cheese foods. The use of such a product, consisting largely of casein and water, in a pasteurized process cheese food could result in the production of a food that would have essentially the same composition as a pasteurized process cheese food made entirely from a part-skim milk cheese. Such a food would differ from the normal pasteurized process cheese food which is prepared by adding to the cheese ingredient other constituents of milk than the casein. (R. 2902, 2910, 2999, 5223, 5225, 5392)

153. In addition to the milk products primarily used for their nutritive properties, certain sweetening agents were proposed as optional ingredients of pasteurized process cheese foods. There is no evidence that such sweetening agents have ever been used in pasteurized process cheese foods or that their use would serve any useful purpose. The inclusion of such sweetening agents would be likely to change the identity of pasteurized process cheese food. (R. 2315, 2483, 2485, 2523, 2587, 2596–2597, 2828–2829)

154. The ingredients used in addition to the natural cheese in manufacturing pasteurized process cheese foods are less expensive than cheese, and a pasteurized process cheese food on a pound basis ordinarily sells for less than a corresponding pasteurized process cheese. Because pasteurized process cheese foods are similar in appearance and taste to pasteurized process cheese, the less expensive product at times has been intentionally substituted for the more expensive product in sales to consumers. This type of substitution is a form of unfair competition and a fraud on consumers. Proposals were made to include in the definition and standard of identity for pasteurized process cheese foods specifications for regulating the shape and size of pasteurized process cheese foods so as to lessen the possibility of substitution. It is recognized that the abuse complained of does exist to some extent. If effective measures could be adopted to curb this deceptive practice, it would be in the interest of consumers. However, the evidence does not show that shape or size specifications for pasteurized process cheese foods would be more likely to accomplish the desired purpose than proper labeling requirements. (R. 2264–2265, 2321, 2339, 2360, 2434, 2500–2501, 2585–2586, 3187–3188, 3195, 3199–3200, 3238–3239, 5230)

155. The differentiation of pasteurized process cheese foods from pasteurized process cheese has not always been satisfactory. Several years ago by statute Wisconsin set up certain labeling requirements which have been generally observed by manufacturers of pasteurized process cheese foods. Among other things these regulations required the names of the different ingredients used to be stated on labels. This type of labeling has been helpful in enabling consumers to differentiate between pasteurized process cheese foods and pasteurized process cheese. It will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers for the definition and standard of identity for pasteurized process cheese foods to provide those labeling requirements as to optional ingredients which are provided in the definition and standard of identity for pasteurized process cheese and in addition thereto to provide that the labels for pasteurized process cheese foods show the names of the cheese ingredients, the milk ingredients, the emulsifying agents, and the acidifying agents, if any, which are used. (R. 2264–2265, 2340, 2360, 2492, 2506, 2562; Ex. 14)

156. The amount of acidifying agent added is commonly calculated upon the basis of its effect on the pH of the finished food. The quantity added may be somewhat greater than in pasteurized process cheese but should not exceed the amount necessary to reduce the pH to 5.0. (R. 2313–2314, 2483)

157. By adding fruits, vegetables, or meats or mixtures of these to pasteurized process cheese foods, other foods of different flavor and eating characteristics are prepared. The amounts of added ingredients vary, and there is insufficient evidence in the record to use as a basis for prescribing limits on the amounts of fruits or vegetables added, except in the case of pimento cheese. Finding 137, with respect to the meat content of pasteurized process cheese with meats, is applicable. When pimento is the only vegetable ingredient, and no fruit or meat ingredient is used, the weight of the solids of pimento is not less than 0.2 percent of the weight of the finished food. The name of this particular food is "pimento pasteurized process cheese food" or "pasteurized process pimento cheese food." (R. 1936, 1957, 1970–1975, 2006, 2325, 2326)

158. The addition of these ingredients may affect the moisture content of a pasteurized process cheese food. The effect of such addition on the moisture content, however, is easily compensated by altering the proportions of other noncheese ingredients, and an allowance for additional moisture is not necessary, and would not be in the interest of consumers. It is reasonable to require that the maximum moisture content of a pasteurized process cheese food with fruits, vegetables, or meats be 44 percent. The percent of milk fat is decreased by the addition of such ingredients, and a decrease of 1 percent in the milk-fat content is sufficient to allow for the effect of the addition of fruits, vegetables, or meats, giving a minimum milk-fat content of 22 percent. (R. 2323–2324)

159. The name of this class of food is "pasteurized processed cheese food with ------," the blank being filled in with the name or names of the added fruits, vegetables, or meats. (R. 1956–1957, 1975, 2006)

160. Finding 155 with respect to label declaration of optional ingredients in pasteurized process cheese foods is applicable to pasteurized process cheese foods with fruits, vegetables, or meats. (R. 2264–2265, 2340, 2360, 2492, 2506, 2562; Ex. 14)

161. A class of food similar to pasteurized process cheese food, but somewhat softer and easier to spread (largely by reason of a higher moisture content) has been manufactured and sold for several years. The common name for such a food is pasteurized process cheese spread. (R. 1817–1818, 2234–2236, 2240, 2246–2247, 2249, 2327, 2557–2558)

162. Pasteurized process cheese spreads can be made so that they resemble pasteurized process cheese or pasteurized process cheese foods; however, the texture of the pasteurized cheese spreads and the form of package are in general sufficient to distinguish them from such other foods. Since pasteurized process cheese spreads contain a larger proportion of water, it is desirable that they be readily distinguishable from pasteurized process cheeses and pasteurized process cheese foods, to prevent deception of consumers and unfair competitive practices. Proposals were made to have the definition and standard of identity for pasteurized process cheese spreads specify distinctive sizes and shapes, which would tend to lessen or make impossible the substitution of pasteurized process cheese spreads for other foods containing cheese. Although it is very desirable to lessen the likelihood of deception in connection with the sale of similar foods, the evidence does not show that prescribing any of the forms and shapes recommended for pasteurized process cheese spreads would be more likely to accomplish the desired purpose than proper labeling. Proposals were also made to specify that pasteurized process cheese spreads be spreadable. Although the record does not furnish a basis for prescribing a method for measuring spreadability, it is reasonable to require that a pasteurized process cheese be spreadable at 70° F. (a reasonable figure for room temperature). (R. 2237–2257, 2262–2263, 2327, 2333–2339, 2371, 2644–2645, 2847, 2877)

163. The findings dealing with pasteurization, use of cream, use of cheese for manufacturing, phosphatase test, fat and moisture tests, amount and character of cheese ingredients, emulsifiers, and optional dairy ingredients in connection with pasteurized process cheese and pasteurized process cheese foods are also applicable to pasteurized process cheese spreads. (R. 270, 379, 402–403, 943–944, 1166–1168, 2246, 2255, 2262, 2263, 2266, 2337, 2475, 2603, 2616, 2644, 2781, 2801)

164. The softer texture characteristic of pasteurized process cheese spreads is largely due to the addition of water. Unlimited use of water would not be in the interest of consumers. A limit on moisture which will permit sufficient softness is a maximum of 60 percent. (R. 1818, 2235, 2240, 2248–2249, 2273)

165. In order to prevent leakage of water from cheese spreads, gums or similar water-retaining substances may be used. The following substances, or mixtures of two or more of these substances, are suitable for such use: carob bean gum, gum karaya, gum tragacanth, guar gum, gelatin, carboxy-methylcellulose, carrageen, oat gum, algin (sodium alginate), and propylene glycol ester of alginic acid. The last-named substance is the chemical name for the derivative of algin which was proposed to be used as an optional ingredient for this purpose. The use of generic terms is not generally approved in describing optional ingredients. However, since this is the only such derivative which is permitted, on the evidence it is found that "algin derivative" adequately describes the substance. The total amount of water-retaining substances used should not exceed 0.8 percent. (R. 2210, 2214, 2222, 2224–2225, 2250, 2333–2338, 2618, 2639, 3123–3132)

166. Instead of, or in addition to, changes in flavor brought about by use of one or more optional dairy ingredients, a sweetening agent may be added, in small amounts. Suitable for such use are: Sugar, dextrose, corn sugar, corn sirup, corn sirup solids, maltose, malt sirup, and hydrolyzed lactose. (R. 2223–2224, 2315, 2597–2598, 2645–2646, 2829, 2839–2840, 3154)

167. Since the moisture content of pasteurized process cheese spreads is higher than that of pasteurized process cheese foods, the fat content is reduced. In order to prevent abuses, it is necessary to prescribe a minimum limit for milk fat. It is reasonable to require that it be not less than 20 percent. (R. 2234, 2248, 2783)

168. If pasteurized process cheese spread were made by adding emulsifying agents, water, and additional milk products to cream cheese, it would be essentially a diluted cream cheese which failed to comply with the standard for cream cheese, since by definition several milk products containing water may be added to cream-cheese curd to make the so-called hot-pack cream cheese, provided the finished food contains not more than 55 percent moisture and not less than 33 percent milk fat. There is no need for an emulsifying agent in this type of cheese. The situation with respect to neufchatel cheese is similar. It is therefore reasonable to provide that neither cream cheese alone nor neufchatel cheese alone nor combinations of these two cheeses without other cheeses be used in preparing pasteurized process cheese spreads. (R. 1820–1822, 1827–1828, 2230–2231, 2248, 2327–2330, 2475, 2615)

169. Acidifying ingredients used in pasteurized process cheese spreads impart a flavor, at times enhance the action of emulsifiers, and also act as a preservative to inhibit the growth of certain bacteria in the product. They may be added in such amount that the pH of the product is not below 4.0. The acids named in finding 131 are suitable. No significant preservative action is obtained unless the pH is reduced below 5.0. Vinegar has such flavoring qualities that it may be used instead of the other acids in order to obtain the desired flavor. When vinegar alone is used to reduce the pH below 5.0, its preserving effect due to its content of acetic acid is more important than any desirable flavoring effect. (R. 2225, 2234, 2246, 2248, 2255, 2331–2332, 2616)

170. It is necessary that the consumer be informed regarding the optional ingredients of pasteurized process cheese spreads, to avoid confusion with other similar foods. Label declaration of the cheese ingredient; the dairy ingredient; any emulsifying agent, water, and water-retaining substance; acidifying agent, and sweetening agent by their common or usual names will adequately inform the consumer in this respect. When an acidifying agent is used as a preservative, a statement that it is a chemical preservative is required by section 403 (k) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. (R. 2231, 2255)

171. A number of foods closely resembling pasteurized process cheese spreads, but differing from them in that they contain varying amounts of fruits, vegetables, or meats, are now being marketed. These foods form a large proportion of the spreadable foods made in part from cheese. (R. 2225, 2246, 2331–2332, 2616)

172. The addition of fruits, vegetables, or meats is for the purpose of altering, in varying degrees, the appearance, flavor, and eating characteristics of the pasteurized process cheese spreads. Otherwise, they are similar in all respects to pasteurized process cheese spread. The amounts of fruits, vegetables, or meats added vary, and there is not sufficient evidence in the record to use as a basis for establishing limits on the amounts of fruits or vegetables added. Finding 137, with respect to the meat content of pasteurized process cheese with meats, is applicable to the meat content of pasteurized process cheese spreads with meats. (R. 1936, 1956–1957, 1970–1971, 2373)

173. The addition of fruits, vegetables, or meats to a pasteurized process cheese spread affects the moisture and fat contents of the finished food. Any increase in moisture or decrease in fat content due to addition of these ingredients can readily be offset by varying the proportions of other ingredients, without altering the identity of the food, and no allowance for changes of moisture content or fat content is necessary. (R. 2225–2226, 2246, 2263, 2620, 2643)

174. The common name of a food of this type is the name of the pasteurized process cheese spread, combined with the common name of the added fruits, vegetables, or meats. In order to provide a uniform system of designating these foods, it is reasonable that the name specified be the name provided in the definition and standard of identity for pasteurized process cheese spreads, to which is added the statement "with ----------," the blank being filled in with the name or names of the added fruits, vegetables, or meats. In order to properly inform consumers, the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients provided for pasteurized process cheese spreads should also be made applicable to pasteurized process cheese spreads with fruits, vegetables, or meats. (R. 2373, 2617)

175. A food prepared by comminuting and mixing cheese of one or more varieties, without the aid of heat, is commonly known as cold-pack cheese, club cheese, or comminuted cheese. The soft cheeses, such as cream cheese, neufchatel cheese, cottage cheese, creamed cottage cheese, and skim-milk cheese for manufacturing, are not used. A primary purpose of the manufacturer of cold-pack cheese is to make a product which can be readily packaged, possessing uniform flavor and texture, and easily handled by users. The curing of the cheeses continues after mixing. (R. 1819–1820, 2227–2228)

176. The manufacture of cold-pack cheese does not include pasteurization of the food. Cheeses which have not been made from pasteurized milk, or which have not been stored for at least 60 days at a temperature of not less than 35° F., are not suitable for use as ingredients. (R. 1819; finding 21)

177. If cold-pack cheese is made from one variety of cheese, it is reasonable to require that the fat and moisture limits be the same as those of the variety from which it is made. If cold-pack cheese is made from two or more varieties of cheese, it is reasonable to require that the moisture content of the finished food not exceed the arithmetical average of the maximum moisture contents prescribed by definitions and standards of identity, if any there be, for the varieties of cheese used, and that the fat content of the solids be not less than the arithmetical average of the minimum fat contents prescribed for the varieties of cheese used. Moisture and fat can be accurately determined by the method prescribed with respect to cheddar cheese (§ 19.500 (d)). (R. 2227, 2374–2375)

178. Finding 124, with respect to the use of various proportions of cheese of different varieties in pasteurized process cheese, is applicable to cold-pack cheese. (R. 2374)

179. Water is sometimes used in preparing cold-pack cheese, to give uniform composition and texture in the finished food. Salt is sometimes used for seasoning, and color is sometimes used to give uniformity in appearance to the finished food. Cold-pack cheese is subject to spoilage, even when refrigerated. Its keeping qualities are improved by adjusting the acidity to a pH of not less than 4.5 by use of the acidifying agents used in pasteurized process cheese spreads. Acidifying agents are used in cold-pack cheese only for this preservative effect. (R. 1942–1944, 1949–1951, 2227–2228, 2374; finding 131)

180. Cold-pack cheese may be smoked, or contain substances prepared by condensing or precipitating wood smoke. Finding 129, with respect to the use of cheese ingredients which have been smoked or to which have been added substances prepared by condensing or precipating wood smoke and to label declaration of these ingredients in pasteurized process cheeses, are applicable to cold-pack cheese. (R. 1965)

181. The common name of this food is "cold-pack ---------- cheese" or "---------- club cheese" or "comminuted ---------- cheese," the blanks being filled in with the name of the variety or varities, in order of predominance by weight, of cheese used. (R. 1819, 1949, 2227–2228, 2691, 2847)

182. A food which bears the same relationship to cold-pack cheese as pasteurized process cheese food bears to pasteurized process cheese is manufactured and sold under the common class name of "cold-pack cheese food." The dairy ingredients other than cheese used in preparing a cold-pack cheese food should be pasteurized or made from pasteurized milk. Emulsifying agents serve no useful purpose in cold-pack cheese food. Sweetening ingredients such as are used in pasteurized process cheese spread (see finding 166) are suitable for use in cold-pack cheese food. The keeping qualities of cold-pack cheese food are improved by adjusting the acidity to a pH of not less than 4.5 by the use of acidifying agents used in pasteurized process cheese spreads. Acidifying agents are used in cold-pack cheese food only for this preservative effect. (R. 1821, 1933–1934, 2376–2378, 2832–2833, 2847, 3136–3138)

183. Cold-pack cheese food with fruit, vegetables, or meats bears the same relationship to cold-pack cheese food as does pasteurized process cheese food with fruits, vegetables, or meats to pasteurized process cheese food. (R. 1821, 2382, 2859)

Conclusions. Upon consideration of the whole record and the foregoing findings of fact, it is concluded that it will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to amend the definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, and colby cheese and to establish definitions and standards of identity for the other foods as hereinafter set forth.

§ 19.500 Cheddar cheese, cheese; identity. (a) Cheddar cheese, cheese, is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section. If the milk used is not pasteurized, the cheese so made is cured at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than 60 days.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The whey is drained off, and the curd is matted into a cohesive mass. The mass is cut into slabs, which are so piled and handled as to promote the drainage of whey and the development of acidity. The slabs are then cut into pieces, which may be rinsed by sprinkling or pouring water over them, with free and continuous drainage; but the duration of such rinsing is so limited that only the whey on the surface of such pieces is removed. The curd is salted, stirred, further drained, and pressed into forms. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of cheddar cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) Determine moisture by the method prescribed on page 336 (22.124), under "Moisture—Official," and milk fat by the method prescribed on page 337 (22.130) under "Fat—Official," of "Official and Tentative Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists," Sixth Edition, 1945. Subtract the percent of moisture found from 100; divide the remainder into the percent milk fat found. The quotient, multiplied by 100, shall be considered to be the percent of milk fat contained in the solids.

(d) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, water in a quantity sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

(2) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or for a time and at a temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Cheddar cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 mg. shows a phenol equivalent of more than 3 micrograms when tested by the method prescribed in paragraph (e) of this section.

(e) The method referred to in paragraph (d) (2) of this section is as follows:

1. Reagents—1. Buffers—a. Barium borate-hydroxide buffer. Dissolve 25.0 gm. of CP. barium hydroxide ($Ba(OH)_2 \cdot 8H_2O$, fresh, not deteriorated) in distilled water and dilute to 500 ml. Dissolve, in another flask or cylinder, 11.0 gm. of CP. boric acid (H_3BO_3) and dilute to 500 ml. Warm each to 50° C. (122° F.), mix the two together, stir, cool to approximately 20° C. (68° F.), filter, and stopper the filtrate tightly (pH approximately 10.6). The buffer prepared thus is designated as the 25–11 buffer, the figures indicating the grams per liter of each of the respective reagents.

b. Color-development buffer. Dissolve 6.0 gm. of sodium metaborate ($NaBO_2$) and 20 gm. of sodium chloride in water and dilute to a liter with water (pH 9.8).

c. Color-dilution buffer. Dilute 100 ml. of color-development buffer 1–b to a liter with water.

d. Standard borax buffer, 0.01-molar, for checking pH meter, pH 9.18 at 25° C.[1] Dissolve 0.9544 gm. of pure borax (Bureau of Standards Sample 187) in distilled water (distilled recently or freshly boiled and cooled) and dilute to 250 ml. Keep stoppered tightly.

2. Buffer substrates. Specify phenol-free crystalline disodium phenyl phosphate.

a. For evaluating pasteurization. Dissolve 0.10 gm. of the phenyl phosphate in 100 ml. of the appropriate (table 1) barium borate-hydroxide buffer 1–a.

b. For quantitative results with raw-milk cheese. Dissolve 0.20 gm. of the phenyl phosphate in 100 ml. of the appropriate (table 1) barium borate-hydroxide buffer 1–a.

3. Protein precipitants—a. Zinc-copper precipitant for unripened cheese. Dissolve 6.0 gm. of zinc sulfate ($ZnSO_4 \cdot 7H_2O$) and 0.1 gm. of copper sulfate ($CuSO_4 \cdot 5H_2O$) in water and dilute to 100 ml. with water. The precipitant prepared thus is designated as the 6.0–0.1 precipitant.

b. Zinc precipitant for ripened cheese. Dissolve 6.0 gm. of zinc sulfate in water and dilute to 100 ml. with water. This precipitant is designated as the 6.0 precipitant.

4. BQC (2,6-dibromoquinone-chloroimine solution) (Gibbs' reagent): Dissolve 40 mg. of BQC powder in 10 ml. of absolute methyl alcohol and transfer to a dark-colored dropper bottle. This reagent remains stable for at least a month if kept in the ice tray of a refrigerator. Do not use it after it begins to turn brown.

5. Other reagents—a. Copper sulfate, 0.05 percent, for standards. Dissolve 0.05 gm. of copper sulfate in water and dilute to 100 ml.

b. Butyl alcohol. Specify n-butyl alcohol, boiling point 116°–118° C. To adjust the pH, mix 50 ml. of the color-development buffer 1–b with a liter of the butyl alcohol.

6. Phenol standards—a. Stock solution. Weigh accurately 1.0 gm. of pure phenol, transfer to a liter volumetric flask, dilute to a liter with water, and mix. One ml. contains 1 mg. (0.001 gm.) of phenol. Use this stock solution to prepare standard solutions. It is stable for several months in the refrigerator.

b. Preparation of standards. Dilute 10.0 ml. of the stock solution 6–a to a liter with water, and mix. One ml. contains 10 micrograms (0.00001 gm., 10 gammas, or 10 units) of phenol. Use this standard solution to prepare more dilute standard solutions; e. g., dilute 5, 10, 30, and 50 ml. to 100 ml. with water to prepare standard solutions containing 0.5, 1.0, 3.0, and 5.0 gammas or units of phenol per milliliter, respectively. Keep standard solutions in the refrigerator.

In a similar manner, prepare from the stock solution such more concentrated standard solutions as may be needed, containing, for example, 20, 30, and 40 units per milliliter.

Measure appropriate quantities of the phenol standard solution into a series of tubes (preferably graduated at 5.0 and 10.0 ml.) to provide a suitable range of standards as needed, containing 0 (control blank), 0.5, 1.0, 3.0, 5.0, 10.0, etc., to 30 or 40 units. To increase the brightness of the blue color and improve the stability of the standards, add 1.0 ml. of 0.05 percent copper sulfate solution 5–a to each.

Add 5.0 ml. of color dilution buffer 1–c and add water to bring the volume to 10.0 ml. Add 4 drops (0.08 ml.) of BQC 4, mix, and allow to develop for 30 minutes at room temperature. If the butyl alcohol extraction method is to be used in the test, extract the standards as described under III Conducting the Test.

Read the color intensities with a photometer, subtract the value of the blank from the value of each phenol standard, and prepare a standard curve (straight line). When the standards are to be used for visual comparisons they should be stored in a refrigerator.

II. Sampling—1. Hard cheese. Take a sample from the interior with a clean Roquefort trier, place in a small tube, stopper the tube, and keep it in a refrigerator.

2. Soft and semisoft ripened cheese. Harden the cheese by chilling it in the freezing chamber of a refrigerator. Taking special precaution to avoid contaminating the sample with phosphatase that may be present on the surface, use either of the following methods for sampling:

a. Cut a portion from the end of the loaf or from the side of the cheese, extending in at least 2 inches if possible or to a point somewhat beyond the center in the case of a small cheese. Cut a slit ¼ to ½ inch deep at least halfway around the portion and midway between the top and bottom. Break the portion into two parts, pulling it apart so that it breaks on a line with the slit, being careful not to contaminate the freshly exposed, broken surface. Remove the sample from the freshly exposed surface at or near the center of the cheese.

b. Remove the surface of the area to be sampled—e. g., the end and the adjacent sides—with a clean knife or spatula, to a depth of ¼ inch. Clean the instrument and hands with hot water and phenol-free soap and wipe them dry. Remove the freshly exposed surface to a similar or greater depth and repeat the cleaning. Then take the sample from the center of the freshly exposed area, preferably at or near the center of the cheese in the case of a small cheese.

3. Process cheese, spreads, etc. Take the sample from beneath the surface with a clean knife or spatula.

Avoid the use of samples contaminated with mold.

4. Preservation. If a preservative is necessary, put 1 to 3 ml. of chloroform in the container, cover with a plug of cotton, insert sample and stopper container tightly. Label preserved samples, "Poison—Preservative added."

III. Conducting the test. 1. Weigh, on a clean balance pan or watch glass, a 0.50-gm. sample (preferably two samples in duplicate) and place in a culture tube 16 or 18 x 150 mm. Similarly, weigh another sample and place in a tube as a control or blank. If the cheese is sticky, weigh the sample on a piece of wax paper about 1 x 1 inch and insert the paper with the sample into the tube. Macerate the blank and the test with a glass rod about 8 x 180 mm.

2. Add to the blank 1.0 ml. of the appropriate (Table 1) barium buffer 1-a (without substrate added), macerate with the rod, leave the rod in the tube, heat for about a minute to at least 85° C. (185° F.) in a beaker of boiling water with the beaker covered so that the entire tube becomes heated to approximately 85° C., cool to room temperature, and macerate again with the rod.

3. Add to the test 1.0 ml. of the appropriate (Table 1) barium buffer substrate 2-a or 2-b, and macerate.

From this point, treat the blank and the test in a similar manner.

Add 9.0 ml. of the appropriate barium buffer substrate 2–a or 2–b (total, 10.0 ml. added), and mix. The rod may be left in the tube during incubation; or, if removing it at this point, cut a piece of filter paper approximately 1 x 1 inch, wrap and hold it tightly around the rod, rotate the rod while withdrawing it from within the tube so as to wipe the rod clean, insert the paper with the adhering fat into the tube, and stopper the tube.

4. Incubate in a water bath at 37°–38° C. (99°–100° F.) for 1 hour, mixing or shaking the contents occasionally.

5. Place in a beaker of boiling water for nearly a minute, heating to 85° C. (185° F.), and cool to room temperature.

6. Pipet in 1.0 ml. of the zinc precipitant 3–b for ripened cheese or the zinc-copper precipitant 3–a for unripened cheese, and mix thoroughly (pH of mixture, 9.0–9.1).

7. Filter (5-cm funnel, 9-cm. Whatman No. 42 or No. 2 paper recommended), and collect 5.0 ml. of filtrate in a tube, preferably graduated at 5.0 and 10.0 ml.

8. Add 5.0 ml. of color-development buffer 1–b (pH of mixture, 9.3–9.4).

9. Add four drops[1] of BQC 4, mix, and allow the color to develop for 30 minutes at room temperature.

10. Determine the amount of blue color by either of two methods:

a. With a photometer. Read the color intensity of the blank and that of the test, subtract the reading of the blank from that of the test, and convert the result into phenol equivalents by reference to the standard curve described under "Phenol standards." The butyl alcohol extraction method is ordinarily unnecessary when using a photometer.

b. With visual standards. For quantitative results in borderline instances, e. g., tests yielding 0.5 to 5 units of color, extract with butyl alcohol 5–b. Add 5.0 ml. of the alcohol and invert the tube slowly several times. Centrifuge if necessary to increase the clearness of the alcohol layer. Compare the blue color with the colors of standards in the alcohol.

With samples yielding more than 5 units, compare the colors in aqueous tests with those of aqueous standards.

11. Dilution method for quantitative results. In tests that are observed during color development to be strongly positive, e. g., 20 units or more, in which four drops of BQC may be much less than sufficient to combine with all of the phenol, pipet an appropriate proportion of the contents into another tube, make up to 10.0 ml. with color-dilution buffer 1–c, and add two drops more of BQC in the case of unripened cheese or four drops in the case of ripened cheese. With each test, dilute and treat the blank in the corresponding manner. Dilute each strongly positive test thus until the final color is within the range of the standards or photometer. Allow 30 minutes for color development after the last addition of BQC, and make the reading at the end of the 30-minute period. Multiply, for example, by 2 for a 5+5 dilution, 10 for a 1+9 dilution, and 50 for a 1+9 followed by a 2+8 dilution.

Alternatively, to reduce the amount of yellow off color, add two instead of four drops of BQC after each dilution, and allow the color to develop. Then test the completeness of color development by adding a third drop; repeat the dilution procedure until the addition of an extra drop does not cause any further increase in the amount of blue color.

12. Calculation and evaluation of results. When using 0.5 gm. of sample and adding a total of 11.0 ml. of liquid, multiply the value of the reading by 1.1 to convert it to units of color or phenol equivalents per 0.25 gm. of cheese. The result may, if desired, be converted to phenol equivalents per 1 gm. by multiplying by 4.4

IV. Photometric determination. To read the color in aqueous solution, use a filter with maximum light transmission in the region of 610 $m\mu$ wave length.

To read the color in butyl alcohol, extract the color as described above. If necessary, centrifuge the sample for 5 minutes to break the emulsion and to remove the moisture suspended in the alcohol layer. A Babcock centrifuge can be adapted for this purpose by making special tube holders as follows: Slice a section ¼ inch thick from a rubber stopper of suitable diameter to fit in the bottom of the centrifuge cup. Glue together two cork stoppers of appropriate diameter, bore through the center a hole of proper size to hold the tube snugly, and insert the double-cork section into the cup. After centrifuging, remove nearly all of the butyl alcohol by means of a pipet with a rubber bulb on the top end. Filter the alcohol into the photometer cell and read with a filter with maximum light transmission in the region of 650 $m\mu$ wave length.

If more than approximately 4 ml. of butyl alcohol is required for the photometer used, conduct the test in a larger tube and extract the color, in both the test and the standards, with the necessary quantity of butyl alcohol rather than with 5 ml. specified above.

V. Precautions. The length of time that the crystalline disodium phenyl phosphate and the BQC powder will remain stable can be increased greatly by keeping them in the freezing chamber of a refrigerator, and by keeping them dry.

The glassware, stoppers, and sampling tools should be scrupulously clean, and it is desirable to soak them in hot, running water after cleaning.

The solid barium hydroxide and the barium buffer must be kept stoppered tightly to prevent absorption of carbon dioxide. Phenolic contamination from plastic closures on reagent bottles has been encountered, and therefore the use of plastic closures should be avoided. Rubber stoppers should not be used in flasks in which butyl alcohol is stored. Glass or cork stoppers should be used.

VI. Modifications for different cheeses. Different kinds of cheese and cheeses of different ages have different buffering capacities, and therefore some of them require modification of concentrations of the reagents. The modifications of the barium buffer needed to produce optimal pH conditions during incubation (9.85–10.20), and of the precipitant to yield uniformly clear filtrates and to minimize interference during color development under optimal pH conditions (9.3–9.4), are specified in Table 1.

With some samples, especially those of unknown history, slight deviations from the optimal pH range may occur, but such deviations do not very materially affect the results. For example, pH values as low as 9.6 or as high as 10.35 during incubation have been found to result in an average decrease of not more than 20 percent below the maximum in the quantity of phenol liberated. The use of the 25–11 buffer substrate with samples for which the 27–11 buffer substrate is specified yields pH values not lower than 9.8.

In testing cheese of unknown history or age, information as to the percentage of solids, especially the nonfat solids, is useful as an indication of the correct buffer to use; cheese with a relatively high percentage of nonfat solids generally requires the use of a relatively concentrated buffer to adjust the pH of the mixture correctly.

For precise quantitative results on unknown samples, adjust the pH to 10.0–10.05 for the incubation.

Cottage cheese curd is heated in the presence of considerable acid during manufacture, and therefore its phosphatase values are comparatively low. Alternatively, to increase the sensitivity of the test on cottage cheese, apply the following modifications: Use a 1.0-gm. sample, 27–11 buffer substrate, 2-hour incubation, and 6.0–0.1 precipitant.

§ 19.502 Cheddar cheese for manufacturing identity. Cheddar cheese for manufacturing conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for cheddar cheese by § 19.500, except that the milk is not pasteurized, and curing is not required.

§ 19.505 Washed curd cheese, soaked curd cheese; identity. (a) Washed curd cheese, soaked curd cheese, is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 42 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500. (c) If the milk used is not pasteurized, the cheese so made is cured at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than 60 days.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. The whey is drained off, and the curd is matted into a cohesive mass. The mass is cut into slabs, which are so piled and handled as to promote the drainage of whey and the development of acidity. The slabs are then cut into pieces, cooled in water, and soaked therein until the whey is partly extracted and water is absorbed. The curd is drained, salted, stirred, and pressed into forms. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of washed curd cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: Cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, water in a quantity sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

(2) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes or for a time and at a temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Washed curd cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm. shows a phenol equivalent of more than 3 micrograms when tested by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (e).

§ 19.507 Washed curd cheese for manufacturing; identity. Washed curd cheese for manufacturing conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for washed curd cheese by § 19.505, except that the milk is not pasteurized, and curing is not required.

§ 19.510 Colby cheese; identity. (a) Colby cheese is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 40 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c). If the milk used is not pasteurized, the cheese so made is cured at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than 60 days.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. A part of the whey is drained off, and the curd is cooled by adding water, the stirring being continued so as to prevent the pieces of curd from matting. The curd is drained, salted, stirred, further drained, and pressed into forms. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of colby cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: Cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, water in a quantity sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

Colby cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm. shows a phenol equivalent of more than 3 micrograms when tested by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (e).

§ 19.512 Colby cheese for manufacturing; identity. Colby cheese for manufacturing conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for colby cheese by § 19.510, except that the milk is not pasteurized, and curing is not required.

§ 19.535 Granular cheese, stirred curd cheese; identity. (a) Granular cheese, stirred curd cheese, is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c). If the milk used is not pasteurized, the cheese so made is cured at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than 60 days.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is so cut, stirred, and heated with continued stirring, as to promote and regulate the separation of whey and curd. A part of the whey is drained off. The curd is then alternately stirred and drained to prevent matting and to remove whey from curd. The curd is then salted, stirred, drained, and pressed into forms. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of granular cheese, may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: Cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, water in a quantity sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

(2) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a time and temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes or for a time and at a temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Granular cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm. shows a phenol equivalent of more than 3 micrograms when tested by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (e).

§ 19.537 Granular cheese for manufacturing; identity. Granular cheese for manufacturing conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for granular cheese by § 19.535, except that the milk is not pasteurized, and curing is not required.

§ 19.540 Swiss cheese, emmentaler cheese; identity. (a) Swiss cheese, emmentaler cheese, is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 43 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c). It is not less than 60 days old.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto; harmless propionic-acid-producing bacteria may also be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into particles similar in size to wheat kernels. For about 30 minutes the particles are alternately stirred and allowed to settle. The temperature is raised to about 126° F. Stirring is continued until the curd becomes firm. The curd is transferred to hoops or forms, and pressed until the desired shape and firmness are obtained. The cheese is then salted by immersing it in a saturated salt solution for about 3 days. It is then held at a temperature of about 50° F. to 60° F. for a period of 5 to 10 days, after which it is held at a temperature of about 75° F. until it is approximately 30 days old, or until the so-called eyes form. Salt, or a solution of salt in water, is added to the surface of the cheese at some time during the curing process. The cheese is then stored at a lower temperature for further curing. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of swiss cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section, the word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto cream or skim milk.

§ 19.542 Swiss cheese for manufacturing; identity. Swiss cheese for manufacturing conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for swiss cheese by § 19.540, except that the holes, or eyes, have not developed throughout the entire cheese.

§ 19.543 Gruyere cheese; identity. (a) Gruyere cheese is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 39 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 45 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c). It contains small holes, or eyes. It has a mild flavor, due in part to the growth of surface-curing agents. It is not less than 90 days old.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto; harmless propionic-acid-producing bacteria may also be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into particles similar in size to wheat kernels. For about 30 minutes the particles are alternately stirred and allowed to settle. The temperature is raised to about 126° F. Stirring is continued until the curd becomes firm. The curd is transferred to hoops or forms, and pressed until the desired shape and firmness are obtained. The cheese is surface-salted while held at a temperature of 48° F. to 54° F. for a few days. It is soaked for 1 day in a saturated salt solution. It is then held for 3 weeks in a salting cellar and wiped every 2 days with brine cloth to insure growth of biological curing agents on the rind. It is then removed to a heating room and held at progressively higher temperatures, finally reaching 65° F., with a relative humidity of 85 to 90 percent, for several weeks, during which time small holes, or so-called eyes, form. The cheese is then stored at a lower temperature for further curing. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of gruyere cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section, the word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto cream or skim milk.

§ 19.545 Brick cheese; identity. (a) Brick cheese is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 44 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c). If the milk used is not pasteurized, the cheese so made is cured at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than 60 days.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, is brought to a temperature of about 88° F. and subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into cubes with sides approximately ⅜-inch long, and stirred and heated so that the temperature rises slowly to about 96° F. The stirring is continued until the curd is sufficiently firm. Part of the whey is then removed, and the mixture diluted with water or salt brine to control the acidity. The curd is transferred to forms, and drained. During drainage it is pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is salted, and the biological curing agents characteristic of brick cheese are applied to the surface. The cheese is then cured to develop the characteristics of brick cheese. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of brick cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: Cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, water in a quantity sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

(2) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or for a time and at a temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Brick cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm. shows a phenol equivalent of more than 5 micrograms when tested by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (e).

§ 19.547 Brick cheese for manufacturing; identity. Brick cheese for manufacturing conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed for brick cheese by § 19.545, except that the milk is not pasteurized, and curing is not required.

It contains not more than 46 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c).

(b) Milk, which is pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. After coagulation the mass is cut into small cube-shaped pieces with sides approximately ⅜-inch long. The mass is stirred and heated to about 90° F., and so handled by further stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, and salting as to promote and regulate the separation of curd and whey. When the curd is transferred to forms permitting drainage of the whey. During drainage the curd may be pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is salted. The surface of the cheese may be rubbed with vegetable oil. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of muenster cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(2) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes, or for a time and at a temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Muenster cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm. shows a phenol equivalent of more than 3 micrograms when tested by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (e).

It contains not more than 45 percent of moisture, and its solids contain not less than 40 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c). If the milk used is not pasteurized, the cheese so made is cured at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than 60 days. Edam cheese is made in ball or loaf shapes, and the surface is covered with a red-colored paraffin or other tightly adhering coating, colored red.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. After coagulation the mass is cut into small cube-shaped pieces with sides approximately ⅜-inch long. The mass is stirred and heated to about 90° F., and so handled by further stirring, heating, dilution with water or salt brine, and salting as to promote and regulate the separation of curd and whey. When the desired curd is obtained, it is transferred to forms permitting drainage of whey. During drainage the curd is pressed and turned. After drainage the curd is removed from the forms and is salted and cured. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of edam cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section:

(1) The word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, water in a quantity sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

(2) Milk shall be deemed to have been pasteurized if it has been held at a temperature of not less than 143° F. for a period of not less than 30 minutes or for a time and at a temperature equivalent thereto in phosphatase destruction. Edam cheese shall be deemed not to have been made from pasteurized milk if 0.25 gm. shows a phenol equivalent of more than 3 micrograms, when tested by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (e).

§ 19.565 Blue cheese; identity. (a) Blue cheese is the food prepared from milk and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It is characterized by the presence of bluish-green mold throughout the cheese. It contains not more than 46 percent moisture, and its solids contain not less than 50 percent of milk fat, as determined by the methods prescribed in § 19.500 (c). It is not less than 60 days old.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, which may be warmed, and which may be homogenized, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial green or blue coloring in a quantity which neutralizes any natural yellow coloring in the curd may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into smaller portions and allowed to stand for a time. The mixed curd and whey is placed in forms permitting further drainage. While being placed in forms, spores of the mold Penicillium roquefortii are added. The forms are turned several times during drainage. When sufficiently drained, the shaped curd is removed from the forms and salted with dry salt or brine. Perforations are then made in the shaped curd, and it is held at a temperature of approximately 50° F., at 90 to 95 percent relative humidity, until the characteristic mold growth has developed. During storage the surface of the cheese may be scraped to remove surface growth of undesirable microorganisms. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of blue cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

While being placed in forms, spores of the mold Penicillium glaucum are added. The forms are turned several times during drainage. When sufficiently drained, the shaped curd is removed from the forms and salted with dry salt or brine. Perforations are then made in the shaped curd and it is held at a temperature of approximately 50° F., at 90 to 95 percent relative humidity, until the characteristic mold growth has developed. The mixed curd and whey is placed in forms permitting further drainage of whey. Spores of the mold Penicillium roquefortii are added. The forms are turned several times during drainage. When sufficiently drained, the shaped curd is removed from the forms and salted with dry salt or brine. Perforations are then made in the shaped curd, and it is held at a temperature of approximately 50° F., with relative humidity of 90 to 95 percent, until the characteristic mold growth has developed. During storage the surface of the cheese is scraped, if necesary, to remove surface growth of undesirable microorganisms. The mass is cut into cubes with sides approximately ½-inch long. After a few minutes the mass is stirred and heated, gradually raising the temperature to 96° F. to 98° F. The curd is then allowed to settle, most of the whey is drained off, and the remaining curd and whey dipped into molds. During drainage the curd may be pressed. It is turned at regular intervals. After drainage the curd is cut into pieces of desired size and dry-salted at intervals for 24 to 48 hours. The cheese is then cured with frequent applications of a weak brine solution to the surface, until the proper growth of surface-curing organisms is obtained. It is then wrapped and held in storage for development of as much additional flavor as is desired. When made from pasteurized milk, the milk is brought to a temperature of 89° F. to 90° F. after pasteurization. A culture of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria is added. Calcium chloride may be added, as to raw milk. The procedure then is the same as with raw milk, except that heating is to 94° F. After most of the whey is drained off, salt brine at a temperature of 66° F. to 70° F. is added, so that the pH of the curd is about 4.8. When the curd is sufficiently firm, it is removed from the kettle or vat, further drained for a short time, packed into hoops, and pressed. The pressed curd is salted in brine and cured in a well-ventilated room. During curing the surface of the cheese is occasionally rubbed with a vegetable oil. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of asiago fresh cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used.

(c) For the purposes of this section, the word "milk" means cow's milk, which may be adjusted by separating part of the fat therefrom or by adding thereto one or more of the following: cream, skim milk, concentrated skim milk, nonfat dry milk solids, water in a quantity sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

§ 19.620 Asiago medium cheese; identity. Asiago medium cheese conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed by § 19.615 for asiago fresh cheese, except that it contains not more than 35 percent moisture, its solids contain not less than 45 percent of milk fat, and it is cured for not less than 6 months.

§ 19.625 Asiago old cheese; identity. Asiago old cheese conforms to the definition and standard of identity prescribed by § 19.615 for asiago fresh cheese, except that it contains not more than 32 percent moisture, its solids contain not less than 42 percent of milk fat, and it is cured for not less than 1 year.

§ 19.635 Cook cheese, koch kaese; identity. (a) Cook cheese, koch kaese, is the food prepared from skim milk and other ingredients specified in this section by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, or by another procedure which produces a finished cheese having the same physical and chemical properties as the cheese produced when the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section is used. It contains not more than 80 percent moisture as determined by the method therefor prescribed in § 19.500 (c). When tested for phosphatase by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (e), 0.25 gm. of cook cheese shows a phenol equivalent of not more than 3 micrograms.

(b) Skim milk, or the optional dairy ingredients specified in paragraph (c) of this section, which may be pasteurized, and which may be warmed, are subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such dairy ingredients or added thereto. A culture of a harmless white mold may be added. Sufficient rennet (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of milk) may be added to aid in setting the mix to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut, stirred, and heated, with continued stirring, so as to separate the curd and whey. The whey is drained from the curd, and the curd is cured for 2 or 3 days. It is then heated to a temperature of not less than 180° F. until the hot curd will drop from a ladle with a consistency like that of honey. The hot cheese is filled into packages and cooled. Pasteurized cream, salt, or caraway seed, or any mixture of two or more of these may be added.

(c) The optional dairy ingredients referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are: Skim milk or concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids or a mixture of any two or more of these, with water in a quantity not in excess of that sufficient to reconstitute any concentrated skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids used.

§ 19.637 Sap sago cheese; identity. (a) Sap sago cheese is the food prepared from the skim milk of cows and other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. It has a pale-green color, and is made in the shape of a truncated cone. It contains not more than 38 percent of moisture, as determined by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (c).

(b) Skim milk is allowed to become sour, and is heated to boiling temperature, with stirring. Cold buttermilk may be added. Sufficient sour whey is added to precipitate the casein. The curd is removed, spread out in boxes, and pressed, and while under pressure is allowed to drain and ferment. It is ripened for not less than 5 weeks. The ripened curd is dried and ground, salt and dried clover of the species Melilotus coerulea are added. The mixture is shaped into truncated cones. It is then cured for not less than 5 months.

§ 19.639 Gammelost cheese; identity. (a) Gammelost cheese is the food prepared from the skim milk of cows and the other ingredients specified in this section, by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. It contains not more than 52 percent of moisture, as determined by the method prescribed in § 19.500 (c).

(b) Skim milk, which may be pasteurized, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, present in such skim milk or added thereto. The development of acidity is continued until the skim milk coagulates to a semisolid mass. The mass is stirred and heated until a temperature of about 145° F. is reached, and is held at that temperature for not less than ½ hour. The whey is drained off and the curd removed and placed in forms and pressed. The shaped curd is placed in whey and heated for 3 or 4 hours. It is then removed from the whey and may again be pressed. It is then stored under conditions suitable for curing.

§ 19.650 Hard cheeses; identity. (a) The cheeses for which definitions and standards of identity are prescribed by this section are hard cheeses for which

If the milk used is not pesteurized, the cheese so made is cured at a temperature of not less than 35° F. for not less than 60 days.

(b) Milk, which may be pasteurized or clarified or both, and which may be warmed, is subjected to the action of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, with or without other harmless flavor-producing bacteria, present in such milk or added thereto. Harmless artificial coloring may be added. Sufficient rennet, rennet paste or extract of rennet paste (with or without purified calcium chloride in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent, calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride, of the weight of the milk) is added to set the milk to a semisolid mass. The mass is cut into small particles, stirred, and heated. The curd is separated from the whey, drained, and shaped into forms, and may be pressed. The curd is salted at some stage of the manufacturing process. The shaped curd may be cured. The rind may be coated with paraffin or rubbed with vegetable oil. A harmless preparation of enzymes of animal or plant origin capable of aiding in the curing or development of flavor of hard cheese may be added during the procedure, in such quantity that the weight of the solids of such preparation is not more than 0.1 percent of the weight of the milk used. (See § 108.31 of this chapter as to return of matter by postal transportation clerks; § 115.1 of this chapter as to recall of foreign matter; § 59.68 of this chapter as to recall of registered matter.) The requirement that the application for the recall of mail matter shall be made through the mailing office will not apply to official mail, but postmasters at offices of destination receiving requests by telegraph, telephone, or mail from executive departments at Washington, D. C., or their regional disbursing officers shall comply promptly therewith and take special care to prevent delivery of Government checks subject to recall.

(R. S. 161, 396, secs. 304, 309, 42 Stat. 24, 25; 5 U. S. C. 22, 369)

When the name of the mailing office does not appear, the indorsement shall be made as indicated, leaving the last two spaces blank. The foregoing indorsement shall not apply to matter received for mailing under the provisions of § 91.1 (b) of this chapter, or to philatelic covers submitted by collectors or others.

e. In § 43.29 Mail addressed to minors (39 CFR 43.29) amend paragraph (d) to read as follows:

(d) At educational institutions. At colleges and similar institutions, where students have been placed under the charge of the principal by their parents or guardians, and where the rules of the institution provide that the principal shall have control of mail matter addressed to such students as are minors, such mail shall be delivered in accordance with the order of the principal. If, however, the principal has no authority from the parent or guardian to control the mail of the children placed under his care (which authority is understood by an acceptance of the rules, that being one), such mail shall not be delivered to the principal against the wishes of the scholar.

(Sec. 211, 62 Stat. 1266; 39 U. S. C. 245b)

(b) The sender or his representative shall be notified of nondelivery only when collect-on-delivery mail is endorsed to show that notice is desired. Notice is to be sent as soon as it is definitely known that a collect-on-delivery article is undelivered, but, in any event, within 5 days after the date of receipt of the article at the office of address. The fee for this service shall be collected by the postmaster at the office where the sender or his representative is located by means of postage-due stamps affixed to the notice. The date on which notice is sent to the sender or his representative of undelivered collect-on-delivery mail shall be entered in the space provided for that purpose on the C. O. D. tag. No other record shall be made of the issuance of such notice nor shall the mail be so endorsed.

8. Amend § 64.40 When indemnity to be paid and when not as follows:

a. Delete paragraph (c).

b. Redesignate paragraph (d) as paragraph (c).

c. Redesignate paragraph (e) as paragraph (d).

d. Add new paragraphs (e) to (g) to read as follows:

(e) For the spoiling or deterioration of perishable matter because of delays beyond the control of the Postal Service.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Wage and Hour Division

[29 CFR, Part 526]

EXEMPTION OF THE DRYING AND STORING, INCLUDING RECEIVING, OF ROUGH SOUTHERN RICE AS AN INDUSTRY OF A SEASONAL NATURE

PRELIMINARY DETERMINATION

An application has been filed by the Texas Rice Dryers Association, the American Rice Growers Cooperative Association of Louisiana, and the Arkansas Rice Growers Cooperative Association for amendment of the determination (5 F. R. 2758) that the movement to storage and the receiving into storage of rough southern rice is an industry of a seasonal nature within the meaning of section 7 (b) (3) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1063; 29 U. S. C. 207 (b) (3), and Part 526 issued thereunder (29 CFR Part 526) to include the artificial drying of rice prior to placing it in storage.

It appears from the application that:

1. At the time the original determination was issued (August 1, 1940) rice was dried in shocks in the field and normally not threshed until the moisture content was low enough to permit safe storage. Since that time the binder and stationary thresher used in that process have been almost entirely supplanted by the direct-combine-drier method of harvesting. At the present time, combine rice is harvested with a relatively high moisture content and must be dried artificially before storage. The use of the combine has necessitated the addition of drying equipment in the movement of rough southern rice to storage.

2. The industry in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and other southern states which engages in the movement to storage and the receiving into storage of rough southern rice, heretofore determined to be of a seasonal nature, now also engages in the drying of rough southern rice prior to storage.

3. Rough southern rice is harvested in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and other southern states commencing about August 1 each year and continuing until about December 15. The bulk of the rice crop produced in these states moves to rice-driers and warehouses immediately after harvesting.

4. As received from the farm, rice is a perishable commodity which must be dried to a moisture content of approximately 13.5 percent and such drying must be performed within the period of approximately 24 hours from the time the rice is cut.

5. The industry engages in the handling, extracting, or processing of materials during a season occurring in a regularly annually recurring part of the year and ceases production apart from work such as maintenance, repair, clerical, and sales work in the remainder of the year because of the fact that the rice is not available.

Accordingly, upon consideration of the facts stated in said application, the Administrator hereby determines, pursuant to § 526.5 (b) (2) relating to industries of a seasonal nature (29 CFR 526.5 (b) (2)), that a prima facie case has been shown for finding that the industry engaged in drying or storing or drying and storing, including receiving, of rough southern rice in the States of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and other southern states constitutes an industry of a seasonal nature within the meaning of section 7 (b) (3) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 and § 526.3 (a) of Part 526 issued thereunder (29 CFR 526.3 (a)).

The term "drying or storing or drying and storing, including receiving, of rough southern rice" includes the unloading, weighing, marking for identification, artificial drying, sacking, placing into storage and storing of rough rice in the States of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and other southern states, and any operations or services necessary or incident to the foregoing during the period or periods when rice is received for drying or storing or drying and storing.

If no objection and request for hearing is received within 15 days following the publication of this preliminary determination, the Administrator pursuant to § 526.5 (b) (2), will make a finding upon the prima facie case. Such finding will supersede the original determination issued August 1, 1940, mentioned above. Objections and request for hearing from any interested person should be submitted in writing to the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, Department of Labor Building, Fourteenth Streeet and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington 25, D. C. The application for exemption may be examined in Room 5118 at this address.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 21st day of August 1950.

WM. R. MCCOMB,
Administrator.

FEDERAL SECURITY AGENCY

Food and Drug Administration

[21 CFR, Part 19]

[Docket No. FDC-46]

CREAM CHEESE WITH (AND) OTHER FOODS; NEUFCHATEL CHEESE SPREAD WITH (AND) OTHER FOODS; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amending the definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese, and colby cheese, and establishing definitions and standards of identity for other cheeses, processed cheeses, cheese foods, cheese spreads, and related foods:

There was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 22, 1949 (14 F. R. 1960), a proposed order by the Acting Federal Security Administrator, which contained findings of fact and regulations amending the existing definitions and standards of identity for cheddar cheese, washed curd cheese and colby cheese, and fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity for a number of other cheeses, cheese foods, cheese spreads, and related foods. Among other things said order contained proposed findings of fact with respect to pasteurized cream cheese spread and pasteurized neufchatel cheese spread with fruits, vegetables, and meats, and also proposed regulations fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity for these foods. As appears from a comparison of the said proposed order with the final order in the above-entitled matter, dated this day and published in this issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER,[1] the proposed findings of fact and regulations concerning pasteurized cream cheese spread and pasteurized neufchatel cheese spread with fruits, vegetables, and meats have not been finally promulgated. On consideration of the entire record to date, including the exceptions filed to the proposed order and the findings of fact in the said final order, and on the basis of substantial evidence received at the public hearing held pursuant to the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 21, 1947 (12 F. R. 1192), it is proposed that, by virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sections 401, 701; 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371), the following order relating to cream cheese with (and) other foods, and neufchatel cheese spread with (and) other foods, be made:

Findings of fact.[2] 1. There are on the market a number of foods prepared by adding other suitable foods, such as fruits, vegetables, relish, or meats, to cream cheese or neufchatel cheese. At the present time there are no definitions and standards of identity for such foods. In the case of those foods made in part from cream cheese, they may be designated on their labels as "cream cheese," with the name of the added food; for example, "cream cheese and pineapple"; or they may be designated as some type of cream cheese spread. If cream cheese is not permitted to be used in foods designated as pasteurized process cheese spreads with other foods, the status of these foods is uncertain. To leave them without standards might result in abuses. To provide, however, that a cheese spread prepared from cream cheese and other foods with only an overall limit of 60 percent moisture and a minimum of 20 percent milk fat would make it possible to dilute a cream cheese into a range of neufchatel cheese, which is not in the interest of consumers, since it would break down the distinction between cream cheese and neufchatel cheese. It is reasonable, therefore, to provide two definitions and standards of identity for soft uncured cheeses with other suitable foods, one in which cream cheese is the cheese ingredient and the other in which neufchatel cheese is the cheese ingredient. (R. 1822, 1827–1828, 2252, 2273, 2309, 2327–2328, 2330, 2332–2333, 2338, 2475, 2615, 2617, 2644, 2650, 2782, 2783, 2963, 3012, 3116–3121)

2. Cream cheese with (and) other foods is the class of foods prepared by mixing, with or without the aid of heat, cream cheese with one or a mixture of two or more properly prepared foods such as fresh, cooked, canned, or dried fruits or vegetables; cooked or canned meats; relishes, pickles, or other foods suitable for blending with cream cheese. The food is basically a cream cheese product, and cream cheese should constitute not less than 80 percent by weight of the mixture. No water other than that contained in the ingredients used is needed. The water contained in the food added to the cream cheese may increase the moisture content above that of cream cheese, but in no case should the moisture exceed 60 percent. The percent of milk fat is not less than 33 percent of the percent of the cream cheese in the mixture, but in no case should it be less than 27 percent by weight of the finished food. It may be necessary to add water-retaining agents in addition to those contained in the cream cheese, but it is not necessary to add such agents, including that already in the cream cheese, in excess of 0.8 percent of the weight of the finished food. The following substances, or mixtures of two or more of these substances, are suitable for such use: carob bean gum, gum karaya, gum tragacanth, guar gum, gelatin, carboxymethylcellulose, carrageen, oat gum, algin (sodium alginate), and algin derivative (propylene glycol ester of alginic acid). Artificial coloring may be added if it does not conceal damage or inferiority or make the cream cheese, the added food, or the mixture appear better or of greater value than it is. The name of the food is "cream cheese with (and) ----------," the blank being filled in with the name or names of the added food or foods in order of predominance by weight. (R. 1822, 1827–1828, 2273, 2327–2328, 2475, 2782, 2962–2963)

3. It is reasonable and in the interest of consumers to provide a definition and standard of identity for a pasteurized cheese spread having a soft uncured cheese as the base, to which are added other suitable foods. Neufchatel cheese is the cheese ingredient suitable for this purpose and should constitute not less than 80 percent of the finished food. No water other than that contained in the ingredients used is needed. The water contained in the foods added to the neufchatel cheese may increase the moisture content above that of neufchatel cheese, but the moisture should not exceed 68 percent. The percent of milk fat is not less than 20 percent of the percent of the neufchatel cheese in the mixture, but in no case should it be less than 16 percent by weight of the finished food. Finding 2 with respect to the foods which are added, the addition of water-retaining agents, and the addition of artificial coloring, is applicable to this class of food. Small amounts of sweetening agents may be added for flavor. The following substances are suitable for such use: sugar, dextrose, corn sugar, corn sirup, corn sirup solids, maltose, malt sirup, and hydrolized lactose. An acidifying agent may be added in such amount that the pH of the finished food is not less than 4.0. The following acidifying agents are suitable: a vinegar, lactic acid, citric acid, acetic acid, and phosphoric acid. When the pH of the finished food is below 5.0 the acidifying agent has a preservative effect, and the label should so indicate (as required by section 403 (k) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act). When vinegar alone is used to reduce the pH below 5.0 it is a preservative rather than a flavor and should be considered to be acetic acid. During the preparation of this food the mixture is heated for not less than 30 seconds at a temperature of not less than 150° F. When tested for phosphatase by the method prescribed in paragraph (e) of § 19.500[1] a 0.25-gram portion shows a phenol equivalent of not more than 3 micrograms. The name of this food is "Neufchatel cheese spread with (and) ---------," the blank being filled in with the name or names of the foods added, in order of predominance by weight. (R. 1818, 1822, 2225–2227, 2233–2235, 2273, 2327–2333, 2373, 2616–2617, 2643, 3116–3121, 4040–4042)

Conclusions. Upon consideration of the whole record and the foregoing findings of fact, it is concluded that the adoption of the following definitions and standards of identity for cream cheese with (and) other foods and neufchatel cheese spread with (and) other foods will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers:

§ 19.782 Cream cheese with (and) other foods; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Cream cheese with other foods is the class of foods each of which is prepared by mixing, with or without the aid of heat, cream cheese with one or a mixture of two or more properly prepared foods (except other cheeses), such as fresh, cooked, canned, or dried fruits or vegetables; cooked or canned meat; relishes, pickles, or other foods suitable for blending with cream cheese. In any such food the weight of the cream cheese constitutes not less than 80 percent by weight of the mixture. It may also contain:

(1) One or any mixture of two or more of the following optional ingredients: gum karaya, gum tragacanth, carob bean gum, gelatin, guar gum, carboxymethylcellulose, carrageen, oat gum, algin (sodium alginate), algin derivative (propylene glycol ester of alginic acid). The total quantity of any such substances, including those contained in the cream cheese, is not more than 0.8 percent by weight of the finished food.

(2) Artificial coloring, unless such addition conceals damage or inferiority or makes the cream cheese or added food appear better or of greater value than it is.

(b) No water other than that contained in the ingredients is added, but the moisture content in no case is more than 60 percent. The percent of milk fat is not less than 33 percent by the percent by weight of the cream cheese used, but in no case is it less than 27 percent of the finished food. Moisture and fat are determined by the methods prescribed in paragraph (c) of § 19.500, except that when the added food contains fat the method prescribed for the determination of fat is not applicable.

(c) The name of the food is "Cream cheese with ----------," the blank being filled in with the common name or names of the fruits, vegetables, or meats or other foods added, in order of predominance by weight.

(d) The label shall bear the name of any of the optional water-retaining ingredients used, except that carob bean gum, gum karaya, gum tragacanth, guar gum, and oat gum, or mixtures of these may be named as "vegetable gum" or "vegetable gums," as the case may be.

(e) If artificial coloring is used, the label shall bear the statement "artificially colored," except that if the food added to the cream cheese is the only portion artificially colored the label shall bear the statement "---------- artificially colored," the blank being filled in with the name or names of the foods so colored.

(f) Wherever the name of the food appears on the label so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the words and statements herein specified, showing the optional ingredients used, shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter.

§ 19.783 Pasteurized neufchatel cheese spread with (and) other foods; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) (1) Pasteurized neufchatel cheese spread with other foods is the class of foods each of which is prepared by mixing, with the aid of heat, neufchatel cheese with one or a mixture of two or more properly prepared foods (except other cheeses), such as fresh, cooked, canned, or dried fruits or vegetables; cooked or canned meats; relishes, pickles, or other foods suitable for blending with neufchatel cheese. It may contain one or any mixture of two or more of the optional ingredients named in paragraph (b) of this section. In any such food the weight of the neufchatel cheese constitutes not less than 80 percent of the weight of the finished food.

(2) If an optional acidifying agent is used so that the pH of the finished food is less than 5.0, there shall appear after its name the words "a chemical preservative." In case vinegar is the only acidifying agent added it shall be considered to be acetic acid when the pH of the finished food is less than 5.0. In case vinegar and other acidifying agents are used and the pH of the finished food is less than 5.0, only the name of the acidifying agents other than vinegar shall be followed by the statement "a chemical preservative."

(f) Wherever the name of the food appears on the label so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the words and statements herein specified, showing the optional ingredients used, shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER FUEL CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 17, 1950.

Take notice that on August 9, 1950, Mississippi River Fuel Corporation (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in St. Louis, Missouri, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, seeking the following authority:

To utilize certain compression facilities of Southern Natural Gas Company at Perryville, Louisiana pursuant to the terms of a contract entered into between Applicant and Southern Natural, and to install and operate related facilities.

Applicant alleges that there is presently available to it from the Monroe Field at a delivery pressure of 50 p. s. i., volumes of gas in excess of the compressing capacity of its Perryville Station No. 1, that to take these excess volumes, compress them to 425 p. s. i. and substantially comply with the provisions of its gas purchase contracts, Applicant will require additional compressing facilities. The proposed method of using such of Southern Natural's compressing facilities as may be available for compressing up to a maximum of 27,000 Mcf per day and the installation of related facilities will permit Applicant to receive the additional volumes which are available under the contracts with its Monroe producers at a fraction of the cost of installing similar facilities at its Perryville Station No. 1.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 1-3111]

KNICKERBOCKER SHARES, INC.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO WITHDRAW FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 18th day of August A. D. 1950.

In the matter of The Knickerbocker Fund for the Diversification, Supervision and Safe-Keeping of Investments; File No. 1-3111.

Knickerbocker Shares, Inc., a corporation of the State of New Jersey (hereinafter referred to as the Applicant) as Sponsor of The Knickerbocker Fund for the Diversification, Supervision and Safe-keeping of Investments, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, has made application to withdraw from registration and listing on the Board of Trade in the City of Chicago the Shares of Beneficial Interest in The Knickerbocker Fund for the Diversification, Supervision and Safe-keeping of Investments.

The application alleges as the reason for withdrawing this security from registration and listing on the Chicago Board of Trade:

(1) The Knickerbocker Fund for the Diversification, Supervision and Safe-keeping of Investments (hereinafter referred to as the Fund) is an investment trust which was organized in 1938 in accordance with the provisions of a trust agreement, dated as of August 17, 1938, executed between the Applicant and Manufacturers Trust Company, as Trustee.

(2) The Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as a diversified, management, open-end investment company.

(3) The presently outstanding shares of beneficial interest in the Fund are now registered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and listed on the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago.

(4) Pursuant to the provisions of the Securities Act of 1933 a registration statement on form S-5 has been filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission as of July 27, 1950, for an additional 1,000,000 shares of beneficial interest in the Fund.

(5) Such additional shares will be indistinguishable from those now registered and listed on the Chicago Board of Trade, with the result that the additional shares must be registered and listed on that exchange, or the shares presently registered and listed must be withdrawn from such registration and listing.

(6) An adequate market for the shares exists independent of the exchange market for the reason that under the trust agreement, the Trustee is obligated to pay the current liquidating price for shares surrendered to it for liquidation, and also for the reason that the Applicant as Sponsor although not obligated to do so, ordinarily maintains a bid for the shares at approximately the current liquidating price thereof.

(7) For the past five years, no instance of trading in the said shares on the Chicago Board of Trade has come to the notice of the Applicant; and to the best of its knowledge, information and belief no shares of beneficial interest in the Fund have been bought or sold on said exchange during that period.

Upon receipt of a request prior to September 12, 1950, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms or conditions. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D. C. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application, and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to the matter.

By the Commission.

COMPOSITE BOND AND PREFERRED STOCK FUND, INC., ET AL

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 18th day of August A. D. 1950.

In the matter of Compcsite Bond and Preferred Stock Fund, Inc., Composite Stock Fund, Inc., Murphey Favre, Inc., and Bond Research Corporation; File No. 812-673.

Notice is hereby given that Composite Bond and Preferred Stock Fund, Inc. ("Bond") and Composite Stock Fund, Inc. ("Stock"), open-end diversified management companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, Murphey Favre, Inc. ("Murphey-Favre"), the principal underwriter of Bond and of Stock, and Bond Research Corporation ("Research"), the investment adviser of Bond and of Stock, have filed an application pursuant to section 6 (c) of the act for an order exempting from the provisions of section 11 (a) of the act certain proposed transactions by which the holders of shares of capital stock of each of the above named investment companies shall be offered the right to convert all or part of such shares into shares of capital stock of the other of such investment companies at such price below the public offering price but in excess of the net asset value of the shares of such other investment company as Murphey-Favre, the principal underwriter, from time to time shall determine. The proposed transactions would involve the making by each of the above-named registered open-end investment companies and Murphey-Favre, their principal underwriter, of offers to the holders of capital stock of each of such investment companies to exchange their shares of stock in one of such companies for shares of stock in the other of such companies on a basis other than the relative net asset values of the respective securities to be exchanged and would be prohibited by section 11 (a) of the act, unless the terms of the offers have been approved by the Commission or are in accordance with such rules or regulations as the Commission may have prescribed in respect of such offers, or unless an exemption therefrom is granted pursuant to section 6 (c) of the act. The proposed transactions would also involve an offering of redeemable securities by the above-mentioned registered investment companies otherwise than "at a current public offering price described in the prospectus" within the meaning of section 22 (d) of the act, and such offering not being within any of the exceptions set forth in said section 22 (d) would be thereby prohibited unless an exemption therefrom is granted pursuant to section 6 (c) of the act.

It appears from the application that Bond and Stock are each fully-managed investment companies; that each has outstanding only a single class of capital stock; that Bond holds bonds and preferred stocks in proportions which are changeable from time to time in accordance with the management's appraisal of economic and market conditions; and that, while Stock's articles of incorporation permit investment in bonds, Preferred stocks, and Common stocks, it is Stock's policy to invest at least 90 percent of its assets (other than cash and government securities) in common and preferred stocks.

It further appears that as of December 31, 1949, Bond had net assets of $2,732,798.06, and that as of April 1, 1950, Stock had net assets of $513,550.76. Bond and Stock have identical officers and directors and the same investment adviser and the same principal underwriter. The investment adviser (Research) and the principal underwriter (Murphey-Favre) are owned and controlled by a group of six individuals of whom three are officers and directors and two are officers of Bond and of Stock. The sales load in the case of both of the above-named investment companies is 8.7 percent of net asset value except on single purchases in excess of $10,000. It is the present intention of the Applicants that upon shares issued in such conversions a sales load of approximately 3.1 percent of net asset value will be charged.

For a more detailed statement of the matters of fact and law asserted, all interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

Notice is further given that an order granting the application, in whole or in part and upon such conditions as the Commission may see fit to impose, may be issued by the Commission at any time on or after September 1, 1950, unless prior thereto a hearing upon the application is ordered by the Commission, as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act. Any interested person may, not later than August 31, 1950, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing his views or any additional facts bearing upon this application or the desirability of a hearing thereon or request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., and should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person submitting such information or requesting a hearing, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the application which he desires to controvert.

By the Commisison.

2 and 3, 1950, before Isabel Ferguson who was designated by me as Presiding Officer to receive evidence, hear argument and make findings and recommendations on the following questions:

1. Is it necessary, in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment, to issue amended regulations providing for the employment of learners in the single pants, shirts and allied garments, women's apparel, sportswear and other odd outerwear, rainwear, robes, and leather and sheeplined garments divisions of the apparel industry, after January 25, 1950, at wages below the minimum wage provided in section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended; and if such necessity be found to exist,

2. What are the terms and conditions under which learners should be employed in such industries, including, what subminimum wage rates should be provided for learners in such industries, what number or proportion of learners should be permitted in a plant, in what occupations should learners be permitted, and what should be the length or duration of the learning period?

Following the hearing, the Presiding Officer, on the basis of the record, found and recommended that in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment in the above enumerated divisions of the apparel industry, it was necessary to revise the existing regulations in the manner hereinafter set forth. The findings and recommendations of the Presiding Officer were filed with me together with the complete record of the proceedings. Copies of the findings and recommendations may be examined by interested persons at the regional as well as the National Office of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. Copies thereof will be furnished to interested persons, upon request, as long as they are available.

I have reviewed and considered the record and, on the basis thereof, I find that the findings and recommendations of the Presiding Officer are proper and supported by the evidence and do hereby adopt them as my own.

Now, therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in me under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, notice is hereby given that, effective September 25, 1950, regulations governing the employment of learners in the single pants, shirts and allied garments, women's apparel, sportswear and other odd outerwear, rainwear, robes and leather and sheep-lined garments divisions of the apparel industry, now contained in §§ 522.160 to 522.165, are hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec.
522.160 Conditions upon which special learner certificates may be granted.
522.161 Apparel industry or divisions thereof to which §§ 522.160 to 522.166 apply.
522.162 Terms of special certificates.
522.163 Definition of terms.
522.164 Removal of plant or transfer of production.
522.165 Status of certificates issued under previous regulations.
522.166 Applicability of general learner regulations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 522.160 to 522.166 issued under sec. 14, 52 Stat. 1068 as amended; 29 U. S. C. and Sup., 214.

§ 522.160 Conditions upon which special learner certificates may be granted. (a) Upon application to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, special certificates authorizing the employment of learners in the divisions of the apparel industry, as hereinafter defined, may be issued by the Administrator or his authorized representative to the extent necessary to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment under the terms hereinafter set forth, when it appears that experienced workers are not available to an employer making application for a special certificate and that the issuance of a special certificate will not create unfair competitive labor cost advantages or impair or depress working standards established for experienced workers for work of a like or comparable character in the industry.

(b) All applications must be made upon official forms furnished by the Wage and Hour Division and must contain all information required by such forms. Such forms require to be set forth, among other things, a list of occupations in which learners are requested, the number of learners requested, the number of learners hired during the preceding 12 months, a list of occupations in which experienced workers are employed, the number employed, their average straight-time hourly earnings in cents per hour, and information concerning the type of machine to be used by learners.

§ 522.161 Apparel industry or divisions thereof to which §§ 522.160 to 522.166 apply. (a) Sections 522.160 to 522.166 relate to the employment of learners, at subminimum rates, in the production of apparel of the following kinds:

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

PART 2—FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS AND RADIO TREATY MATTERS; GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

EXTENSION OF TEMPORARY ALLOCATION OF FREQUENCIES TO RADIOLOCATION SERVICE

In the matter of a petition filed with the Commission by the Seismograph Service Corporation of Tulsa, Oklahoma, requesting extension of temporary allocation of frequencies to the radiolocation service in the band 1750–1800 kc.

At a meeting of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 16th day of August 1950;

The Commission having under consideration footnote (2) to § 2.104 (a) of its rules which, subject to certain conditions, temporarily allocates the band 1750–1800 kc. until not later than August 17, 1950, to a radiolocation service for the location of petroleum deposits in the Gulf of Mexico, and having under consideration a petition filed by the Seismograph Service Corporation requesting an extension of this temporary allocation for an additional period after August 17, 1950, on the general grounds that such extension is needed in connection with the proceedings to be held in the Commission's general radiolocation hearing in Docket 9233 and on the further grounds that the petitioner intends to file applications for renewal of its existing Class 2 Experimental licenses authorizing the use of this band for certain radiolocation purposes; and

It appearing, that the Commission's general radiolocation hearing in Docket 9233 has been postponed to an indefinite future date to be announced by the Commission and that an extension of the temporary allocation may serve to permit the accumulation of further data concerning radiolocation operations which may be utilized in connection with Docket 9233; and

It further appearing, that the Commission has heretofore found that establishment on a temporary basis of a radiolocation system as described above would be in the public interest and a further temporary extension as herein ordered would continue to be in the public interest; and

It further appearing, that steps are now being taken by the Commission which when completed are expected to result in the activation of the Disaster Communications Service in the band 1750–1800 kc., and that such service when activated should be free from harmful interference such as might be caused by the operation of the radiolocation service in this band; and

It further appearing, that the legal authority for a temporary extension of the existing temporary allocation of the band 1750–1800 kc. is vested in the Commission under sections 4 (i) and 303 (a), (b), (c), (d), (f), (g), (h), and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; Article 7 of the Cairo (1938) General Radio Regulations, and Article 3 of the Atlantic City (1947) Radio Regulations;

It is ordered, That the petition of the Seismograph Service Corporation is granted to the extent that the temporary allocation is extended in accordance with the terms hereinafter set forth.

It is further ordered, That footnote (2) to § 2.104 (a) of the Commission's rules governing frequency allocations and other matters is amended to read as follows:

[2] On the condition that harmful interference shall not be caused to the Disaster Communications Service in this band, this band is temporarily allocated to the radiolocation service until not later than February 17, 1951, subject to possible temporary continuance beyond that time for such additional period or periods as the Commission may find necessary: Provided, however, That this temporary allocation, or any temporary continuation thereof, shall be subject to the use-in-derogation provisions of Article 7 of the Cairo General Radio Regulations and Chapter III of the Atlantic City Radio Regulations: And provided further, That this temporary allocation, or any temporary continuation thereof, shall automatically terminate, without the necessity of any further action by the Commission, not later than the date on which that part of the Table of Frequency Allocations of the Inter-American Radio Agreement (Washington, 1949) covering the band 1750–1800 kc. becomes effective, or the date on which that part of the Atlantic City Table of Frequency Allocations covering all of the bands below 27,500 kc. becomes effective (as provided by Article 47 of the Atlantic City Radio Regulations), whichever date is earlier: And provided still further, That this temporary allocation, or any temporary continuation thereof, shall be subject to earlier cancellation or modification by the Commission, without the necessity of a hearing, if during any period when such allocation is in effect the Commission shall, in the course of any action by the United States Government directed toward bringing into force any part of the Inter-American Radio Agreement (Washington, 1949) or toward making effective all or any portion of that part of the Atlantic City Table of Frequency Allocations covering the bands below 27,500 kc. or in the course of proceedings undertaken by the Commission to determine whether a radiolocation service should be provided on a permanent basis, or in the course of activating the Disaster Communications Service or any other fixed or mobile service in this band, reach conclusions which, in the opinion of the Commission, require such cancellation or modification. This temporary allocation, or any temporary continuation thereof, is strictly limited to a radiolocation service for the location of petroleum deposits in the Gulf of Mexico. Stations in this service shall be located within 150 miles of the shoreline of the Gulf of Mexico.

It is further ordered, That any application in proper form that has been or may hereafter be filed for renewal of an authorization in force on the date of filing for radiolocation operations in the band 1750–1800 kc. shall be granted on terms consistent with the extension of allocation herein ordered.

It is further ordered, That this order, and the amendment of Part 2 of the rules herein ordered, shall be effective August 17, 1950.

It is further ordered, That the petition of the Seismograph Service Corporation except as herein granted is denied.

INSPECTION AND NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

MERCHANT MARINE COUNCIL PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED CHANGES

1. The Merchant Marine Council will hold a public hearing on September 20, 1950, commencing at 9:30 a. m., in Room 4120, Coast Guard Headquarters, Thirteenth and E Streets NW., Washington, D. C., to consider proposed changes in the navigation and vessel inspection regulations.

2. The proposed changes in the regulations, together with the statutory authorities for making such changes, are generally described by subjects in paragraphs 4 to 51, inclusive. Copies of the proposed changes in the regulations have been mailed to persons and organizations who have expressed an active interest in the subjects under discussion. Copies of any of the proposed regulations may be obtained from the Commandant (MMC), Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington 25, D. C., so long as they are available. After all extra copies available for distribution are exhausted, copies will be available for reading purposes only in Room 4104, Coast Guard Headquarters, or at the offices of the various Coast Guard District Commanders.

3. Comments on the proposed regulations are invited. All persons who desire to submit written comments, data, and views prior to the hearing for consideration in connection with the proposed changes may submit them in writing for receipt prior to September 20 by the Commandant (MMC), Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington 25, D. C., or comments, data, and views may be presented orally or in writing at the hearing. In order to insure consideration and to facilitate the checking and recording of comments, it is requested that each suggested rewording of a proposed regulation be submitted on a separate sheet of letter size paper showing the section number (if possible) and the subject with item number; the proposed change; the reason or basis (if any); and the name, business firm (if any), and address of the submitter. The written comments, data, and views should be submitted as soon as possible so they will be received prior to September 20 in order to insure consideration at the hearing and before recommendations are made concerning the proposed regulations.

ITEM I—SAFETY OF LIFE ON NAVIGABLE WATERS DURING MARINE REGATTAS OR MARINE PARADES

4. It is proposed to rescind the present regulations in 33 CFR Part 100 and substitute in lieu thereof new regulations. The proposed regulations will define a marine regatta or marine parade, as well as require in certain instances the submission in advance of detailed plans of the proposed marine regatta or marine parade to the Commander of the Coast Guard district in which it is proposed to be held. The purpose of the revised regulations is to provide a means whereby special regulations may be issued, if necessary, to assure safety of life on the navigable waters immediately prior to, during, and immediately after the marine regatta or marine parade.

5. The authority for prescribing regulations to promote the safety of life on navigable waters during marine regattas or marine parades is in section 1, 35 Stat. 69, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 454.

ITEM II—VISION REQUIREMENTS FOR APPLICANTS TO OBTAIN ENGINEER LICENSES OR CERTIFICATES OF SERVICE AS QUALIFIED MEMBER OF ENGINE DEPARTMENT

6. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 10.02–5 (e) (5) by canceling the exception granted to applicants with monocular vision because it is felt that other regulations in effect will permit the granting of exceptions to the vision and other physical requirements in justifiable cases. It is also proposed to amend 46 CFR 12.15–5 (b) by canceling the reference to monocular vision for applicants desiring certificates of service as qualified member of engine department.

7. The authority to amend 46 CFR 10.02–5 is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4438, 4441, 49 Stat. 1544, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 224, 229, 367, 375, 391a, and 50 U. S. C. 1275. The authority for amending 46 CFR 12.15–5 (b) is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, sec. 13, 38 Stat. 1169, 49 Stat. 1544, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 672, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM III—LIFE PRESERVERS FOR CHILDREN ON MOTORBOATS OR MOTOR VESSELS CARRYING PASSENGERS FOR HIRE

8. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 25.4–1 (a), 26.2–1, 27.2–1, and 113.45 (a) to require that motorboats or motor vessels carrying passengers for hire shall be equipped with an additional number of approved life preservers suitable for children equal to at least ten percent of the total number of persons carried. On these vessels the only type of lifesaving equipment normally required is life preservers and adequate protection is not afforded to small children where adult life preservers only are carried.

9. The authority for prescribing children's life preservers is in R. S. 4405, 4426, 4488, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 163-167, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 404, 481, 526–526t, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM IV—BULK TRANSPORTATION OF INFLAMMABLE OR COMBUSTIBLE LIQUIDS HAVING LETHAL CHARACTERISTICS

10. After the public hearing held May 26, 1949, to consider a complete revision of the "Tank Vessel Regulations," it was decided that the proposed regulations regarding inflammable or combustible liquids having lethal characteristics be referred to an Advisory Panel of the Merchant Marine Council for further study and recommendation. This Advisory Panel has recommended that new regulations be adopted as a new Part 39 entitled "Inflammable or Combustible Liquids Having Lethal Characteristics" to be added to 46 CFR Chapter I. These regulations have been prepared specifically to facilitate the handling of acetone cyanhydrin in bulk but will be applied to the transportation of all inflammable or combustible liquids having lethal characteristics and defined as class "B" or class "C" poison. 46 CFR 35.4–1 will be amended by adding a new requirement regarding appropriate signs at the gangway indicating the transfer of poison.

11. The authority for "Tank Vessel Regulations" is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1028, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 375, 391a, 463a, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM V—VENTING OF CARGO TANKS ON TANK VESSELS CONSTRUCTED ON OR AFTER JULY 1, 1951

12. In accordance with recommendations received from the industry, it is proposed to add two new §§ 32.55–20 and 32.55–25 to 46 CFR Part 32. The proposed regulations will require closed venting on tank ships constructed on or after July 1, 1951. For tank barges constructed on or after July 1, 1951, flame arresters will no longer be permitted in the venting system. It is proposed to add a new § 32.20–20 to 46 CFR Part 32, which will require liquid level gaging devices on tank ships required to have closed venting. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 35.5–5 by adding two requirements to be checked by the senior deck officer on duty when making the inspection prior to transfer of grade A liquid cargo.

13. The authority for "Tank Vessel Regulations" is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1028, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 375, 391a, 463a, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM VI—FIRE EXTINGUISHING SYSTEMS FOR DRY CARGO SPACES, LAMP AND PAINT ROOMS, PUMP ROOMS, ETC., ON TANK SHIPS CONSTRUCTED ON OR AFTER JULY 1, 1951

14. The American Bureau of Shipping has proposed to require a deck operated fixed smothering system mandatory in the case of cargo pump rooms on tank vessels. It is, therefore, proposed to add a new § 34.15–40 to 46 CFR Part 34 which will require fire extinguishing systems for dry cargo spaces, lamp and paint rooms, pump rooms, etc., on tank ships constructed on or after July 1, 1951.

15. The authority for "Tank Vessel Regulations" is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1028, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 375, 391a, 463a, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM VII—REVISION OF TANK VESSEL REGULATIONS

16. It is proposed to publish a complete revision of the "Tank Vessel Regulations" in 46 CFR Parts 30 to 35, inclusive, 37, and 38. This revision will also include the additional items described in this Agenda. The major changes required will apply to tank vessels built or constructed on or after July 1, 1951, and will include the final changes considered at public hearings held May 26, 1949, and March 28, 1950. It is not possible to furnish copies of the proposed revised "Tank Vessel Regulations." However, one copy is available for reading purposes only in Room 4104, Coast Guard Headquarters. It is proposed to have the revised "Tank Vessel Regulations" made effective on and after July 1, 1951, in order to provide adequate opportunity to all persons concerned to learn what the new requirements are.

17. The authority for "Tank Vessel Regulations" is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1028, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 375, 391a, 463a, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM VIII—SOLIDIFIED CARBON DIOXIDE (DRY ICE); USE AND TRANSPORTATION OF

18. Due to the occurrence of several accidents resulting in loss of life from the use of solid carbon dioxide on board vessels, a Navigation and Vessel Inspection Circular No. 2–50, describing the hazards involved and containing recommendations for using and transporting this material, was issued pending the promulgation of appropriate regulations. It is, therefore, proposed to amend 46 CFR 146.04–5, 146.07–7, 146.08–6, and 146.27–100 to include requirements covering carbon dioxide.

19. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM IX—STOWAGE OF INFLAMMABLE LIQUIDS ON PASSENGER VESSELS

20. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 146.21–6 (c) so that the dangerous cargo regulations will agree with the regulations for construction or material alteration of passenger vessels regarding the construction of the overdeck above holds or compartments used for the stowage of inflammable liquids.

21. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM X—SODIUM HYDROSULFITE; CONTAINERS FOR

22. In order that Coast Guard regulations will conform to Interstate Commerce Commission requirements, it is proposed to amend 46 CFR 146.22–100 by changing the requirements covering the transportation of sodium hydrosulfite. The change in container specifications is made to reduce the fire hazard due to spontaneous heating of sodium hydrosulfite when in contact with moisture.

23. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM XI—SODIUM SULFIDE; PACKAGING AND LABELING REQUIREMENTS

24. Petitions have been received from a manufacturer and a shipper of sodium sulfide requesting that Coast Guard regulations be revised to agree with the Interstate Commerce Commission regulations covering the transportation of sodium sulfide containing 35 percent or more combined water by weight fused or concentrated but not ground (may be chipped, flaked, or broken) when the material is packed in steel barrels or drums equipped with moisture-tight closures. This change is desired in order to eliminate repacking and relabeling of sodium sulfide when transportation by vessel is involved. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 146.22–100 by adding new requirements covering the transportation of sodium sulfide.

25. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM XII—PORTABLE TANK CONTAINERS FOR CERTAIN CORROSIVE LIQUIDS; I. C. C. SPECIFICATIONS

26. The Interstate Commerce Commission has established specifications for portable tank containers for certain corrosive liquids. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 146.23–100 by adding new requirements for portable tank containers which may be used in the carriage of acetyl chloride; alkaline corrosive battery fluid and alkaline corrosive liquids, N. O. S.; antimony pentachloride; benzoyl chloride and benzyl chloride; caustic potash, liquid, and caustic soda, liquid; electrolyte (acid) battery fluid; formic acid; hydrochloric acid and hydrochloric acid mixtures; mixed acid and nitrating acid; phosphorus oxychloride; phosphorus trichloride; pyrosulfuryl chloride and silicon chloride (tetrachloride); sulfur chloride (mono and di); tin tetrachloride, anhydrous; and titanium tetrachloride.

27. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM XIII—ANHYDROUS AMMONIA IN BULK; SAFETY RELIEF VALVES ON BULK CARGO TANKS

28. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 146.24–16 (i) so that the requirements for safety relief valves on bulk cargo tanks used in transporting anhydrous ammonia will be comparable to the proposed requirements for safety relief valves on bulk cargo tanks used in transporting liquefied petroleum gas. The minimum discharge capacity of safety relief valves for various tank sizes will be described in terms of cubic feet per minute of gas.

29. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM XIV—PORTABLE TANK CONTAINERS FOR CERTAIN LIQUEFIED GASES; I. C. C. SPECIFICATIONS

30. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 146.24–100 by adding new Interstate Commerce Commission's specifications and requirements under "containers" for anhydrous ammonia, liquefied carbon dioxide, nitrous oxide, and sulfur dioxide.

31. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM XV—LIQUEFIED PETROLEUM GAS; TRANSPORTATION OF

32. In order that the Coast Guard regulations for the transportation of liquefied petroleum gas at a pressure not exceeding 250 pounds per square inch at 115° F. will conform to the Interstate Commerce Commission's requirements, it is proposed to further amend 46 CFR 146.24–100 by adding new requirements covering the transportation of liquefied petroleum gas and by deleting present requirements covering liquefied petroleum gas at a pressure not exceeding 200 pounds per square inch at 100° F.

33. The authority for regulations covering dangerous cargo is in R. S. 4405 and 4472, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 170 and 375.

ITEM XVI—MARINE ENGINEERING REGULATIONS AND MATERIAL SPECIFICATIONS

34. Several manufacturers of marine equipment and shippers have requested that the marine engineering regulations be revised to agree with the recommendations of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Standards Association, and the American Bureau of Shipping, as contained in the latest revisions of their codes. It is also desired to make certain other changes based on current practices followed by industry. To accomplish this, it is proposed to amend 46 CFR 51.52–60, 52.45–15, 52.55–15, 52.65–15, 54.01–40, 55.07–5, 55.07–10, 55.07–20, 55.07–25, 55.07–30, 55.10–55, 56.05–10, 57.10–15, 57.10–20, 57.15–1, 57.15–25, and add 46 CFR 55.07–6. These changes cover threads for all sizes of carbon steel bolting and flanges, methods for determining minimum inner radius of flanged plates, use of arc or gas butt welding for safe ending of boiler or superheater tubes, safety valves, hydrostatic test pressures for pressure vessels of welded or brazed construction, piping designs, pumping arrangements and piping systems, hydrostatic and hammer tests of welding, tests and inspections of boilers in service, welding repairs, and inspection of boiler mountings and attachments.

35. The authority for regulations on marine engineering is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4418, 4426, 4429–4434, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 346, 1026, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 392, 404, 407–412, 463a, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM XVII—BULKHEADS, SUBDIVISIONS, AND WATERTIGHT INTEGRITY OF PASSENGER VESSELS

36. In order to improve the standard of safety for passenger vessels and to eliminate inconsistencies between the various regulations, it is proposed to amend 46 CFR 46.30 46.32, 46.38, 46.42, 59.64, 60.57, 76.57, 80.2, 94.56, 98.2, 113.50 and 117.2 so that the requirements concerning bulkheads, subdivisions, permeability, margin lines, damaged stability, port lights, and openings in watertight bulkheads will be adequate to provide a better than one-compartment standard of subdivision for vessels carrying large numbers of passengers. In addition, ferry vessels will have corresponding requirements. The proposed regulations will be consistent with the requirements contained in the Safety of Life at Sea Convention of 1948 insofar as they apply to vessels engaged in foreign trade.

37. The authority to prescribe regulations covering bulkheads, subdivisions, and watertight integrity of passenger vessels is in R. S. 4405, 4417, 4426, 4490, 24 Stat. 129, 46 Stat. 888, 49 Stat. 1384, 1544, 54 Stat. 346, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 88a, 367, 369, 375, 391, 404, 482, 483, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275; and E. O. 7548, 2 F. R. 257.

ITEM XVIII—SPRAY NOZZLE HYDRANTS IN BOILER AND MACHINERY SPACES OF OCEAN AND COASTWISE CARGO AND PASSENGER VESSELS

38. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 61.14 (c) (2) to require spray nozzle hydrants in boiler and machinery spaces on all oceangoing passenger vessels and on all new cargo vessels of more than 1,000 gross tons.

39. The authority to prescribe fire-fighting requirements is in R. S. 4405, 4470, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 346, 1028, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 463, 463a, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM XIX—FIRE-FIGHTING EQUIPMENT ON VESSELS USING OIL AS FUEL

40. Since several river passenger steamers carry very large numbers of passengers, it is felt necessary in the interests of safety that the fire-fighting equipment in fire rooms on vessels using oil as fuel should be sufficient to take care of any emergency that may arise. It is, therefore, proposed to amend 46 CFR 114.14b so that passenger vessels will be fitted with an approved carbon dioxide or foam type system for extinguishing fire in the bilges of each fire room in addition to the present equipment consisting of portable fire extinguishers and sand.

41. The authority to prescribe fire-fighting requirements is in R. S. 4405, 4470, 54 Stat. 1028, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 375, 463, 463a, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM XX—LIGHTS FOR NONDESCRIPT VESSELS ON CERTAIN INLAND WATERS

42. A request was received concerning the proper lights to be displayed on nondescript vessels, such as pontoons, being towed or pushed in the harbors, rivers, or other inland waters of the United States. Because the requirements for lights on nondescript vessels not otherwise provided for are not adequately described, it is proposed to amend 33 CFR 80.16 by adding a new paragraph (i) which will require the lights for nondescript vessels not otherwise provided for to be the same as for scows.

43. The authority to prescribe lights for nondescript vessels is in 30 Stat. 102, as amended; 33 U. S. C. 157.

ITEM XXI—EMERGENCY SQUAD AND EMERGENCY SQUAD SIGNALS FOR PASSENGER VESSELS

44. In view of the experiences gained from past casualties, it is felt that the organization of an emergency squad composed of crew members should be mandatory on passenger vessels where it is possible to have one. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 62.18, 78.18, 96.18, and 115.18 to require on passenger vessels, when the size of the crew will permit, the organization of an emergency squad and to permit special emergency squad signals to be used.

45. The authority to prescribe such regulations is in R. S. 4405, 4426, 4488, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 346, 1028, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 404, 481, 463a, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM XXII—CARE OF LIFEBOATS ON OCEANGOING CARGO VESSELS

46. A ship operator has requested that the regulations be revised to permit lifeboats on cargo vessels to be overhauled and painted during the voyage. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 59.10a to permit the overhauling and painting of lifeboats while the cargo vessel is at sea.

47. The authority to prescribe regulations covering lifeboats is in R. S. 4405, 4488, 4491, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 346, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 481, 489, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM XXIII—GRAB RAILS FOR LIFEBOATS

48. The present specifications for lifeboats for merchant vessels requires that grab rails shall extend approximately two-thirds the length of the lifeboat. Since lifeboats so equipped with grab rails cannot be properly stowed under mechanical davits, it is proposed to amend 46 CFR 160.035–3 (w) (1) by changing the required length of grab rails from approximately two-thirds to approximately one-half the length of the lifeboat.

49. The authority to prescribe regulations covering construction of lifeboats is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4481, 4488, 4491, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 346, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 474, 481, 489, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

ITEM XXIV—SPECIFICATIONS FOR LIFEBOAT BILGE PUMPS, FIBROUS GLASS LIFE PRESERVERS, AND WATERTIGHT SLIDING DOORS

50. It is proposed to add a new specification covering lifeboat bilge pumps as a new subpart 160.044 in 46 CFR Part 160. This specification will describe the oscillating wing type bilge pump, but other types will be permitted as alternates, and is intended to provide a uniform standard for bilge pumps. It is proposed to add a new specification covering life preservers using fibrous glass as buoyant material as a new § 160.005 in 46 CFR Part 160. This specification will provide an alternate type of life preserver for use on inspected vessels. It is proposed to add a new specification covering watertight sliding doors as a new § 163.001 in a new Part 163, entitled "Construction," to be in 46 CFR Chapter I, Subchapter Q.

51. The authority for the specification covering lifeboat bilge pumps is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4488, 4491, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 346, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 481, 489, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275. The authority for the specification covering fibrous glass life preservers is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4426, 4482, 4488, 4491, 4492, sec. 11, 35 Stat. 428, 49 Stat. 1544, 54 Stat. 163–167, 346 and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 396, 404, 475, 481, 489, 490, 526–526t, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275. The authority for the specification covering watertight sliding doors is in R. S. 4405, 4417, 4426, 4490, 24 Stat. 129, 46 Stat. 888, 49 Stat. 1384, 1544, 54 Stat. 346, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 88a, 367, 369, 375, 391, 404, 482, 483, 1333, and 50 U. S. C. 1275.

Dated: August 18, 1950.

The area described aggregates 58.07 acres.

Available data indicate that the above described land is an island in the Coosa River consisting of level to rolling land reaching an altitude of about 35 feet above the water level. The soil is a sandy loam with some stone and similar in character to that found on the mainland.

Upon the official filing of this plat the lands shown thereon will become subject to disposition under the general public land laws.

No applications for these lands may be allowed under the homestead, small tract, or any other non-mineral public land laws unless the land has already been classified as valuable or suitable for such type of application or shall be so classified upon consideration of an application.

At the hour and date specified above the said lands shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, or selection as follows:

(a) Ninety-one day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days, commencing at the hour and on the day specified above, the public lands affected by this notice shall be subject only to (1) application under the homestead or the desert-land laws or the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, 52 Stat. 609 (43 U. C. 279–284), as amended, subject to the requirements of applicable law, and (2) application under any applicable public-land law, based on prior existing valid settlement rights and preference rights conferred by existing laws or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation. Applications under subdivision (1) of this paragraph shall be subject to applications and claims of the classes described in subdivision (2) of this paragraph. All applications filed under this paragraph either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this notice shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at that time. Mer., Louisiana, which were not included in the original survey of the township and not shown upon the plat approved December 8, 1842, will be officially filed in this Bureau at 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this notice:

TERREBONNE PARISH

LOUISIANA MERIDIAN

T. 23 S., R. 20 E.,
Sec. 10, lots 1, 2,
Sec. 14, lots 1, 2,
Sec. 21, lot 1,
Sec. 22, lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7,
Sec. 27, lots 4, 5,
Sec. 28, lot 3.

The area described aggregates 107.63 acres.

Available data indicates that the above-described lands are small swampy islands.

It appears from the plat and field notes of the survey that all the lands are swamp and overflowed in character within the meaning of the act of March 2, 1849 (9 Stat. 352).

This survey was made to accommodate the application B. L. M. 017075 of the State of Louisiana for selection of the lands under the Swamp Land Grant Act of March 2, 1849 (9 Stat. 352). Therefore, if it should be finally determined that the lands are swamp and overflowed in character, they must be held to be subject to the claim by the State under the preference right provided for by the act.

Applications, if any, adverse to the State shall be filed in this office within 90 days following the date of the official filing of the plat. Any application based on a right or claim initiated subsequent to March 2, 1849, must be accompanied by a showing in accordance with 43 CFR 271.2 that the land applied for is non-swamp in character.

ALEX PRUZAN CO.

ORDER MODIFYING SUSPENSION OF LICENSE PRIVILEGES

In the matter of Alex Pruzan, dba Alex Pruzan Co., 105 West 30th Street, New York 1, N. Y., respondent; Case No. 80.

The above-named respondent was charged on November 30, 1949, with having violated the laws and regulations relating to export control by exporting from the United States to Spain considerable quantities of furs without required validated export licenses pursuant to shipper's export declarations falsely describing such furs as used clothing exportable under general license. Respondent having defaulted in answering such charges, the evidence was informally presented by the Enforcement Section to the Compliance Commissioner, and on the basis thereof he found that the charges were true. An order was accordingly issued on March 24, 1950, suspending indefinitely respondent's export license privileges but giving him the right to apply after the expiration of three months for reinstatement of such privileges. Under date of June 26, 1950, respondent applied for such reinstatement.

It appears that, while respondent did knowingly falsify export declarations and make unlicensed shipments as above described, export licenses for furs were readily obtainable at the time; that respondent's objective was primarily to facilitate avoidance of Spanish customs duties rather than to evade or defeat the purposes of the export control regulations; and consequently that, although such objective is to be strongly condemned and such violations properly warrant some suspension of export license privileges, they do not justify a permanent exclusion of respondent from all export trade.

It further appears that, whereas the suspension order of March 24, 1950, would thus ordinarily have been issued for a limited period, it was made indefinite in duration by reason of respondent's absence from the country and his resulting default; that respondent's business is limited in volume and consists mainly of the export of furs, a non-strategic commodity not on the Positive List; and that some relaxation of the suspension order may therefore be permitted without danger to the export control program.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, That the indefinite suspension of respondent's export license privileges, as imposed by said order of March 24, 1950, be and is hereby modified and amended to the following effect:

(1) Such suspension shall remain in full force and effect until September 24, 1950, upon which date it shall terminate insofar as concerns the exportation of any commodity not included at the time of proposed exportation on the Positive List established by the Office of Industry and Commerce.

(2) Such suspension shall continue in effect until March 24, 1951, insofar as concerns the exportation of any commodity included on said Positive List at the time of proposed exportation, upon which date it shall terminate in all respects.

Issued this 21st day of August 1950.

Issuance Officer.

SPA BROADCASTERS, INC. AND SARATOGA BROADCASTING CO.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER REOPENING RECORD FOR FURTHER EVIDENCE

In re applications of Spa Broadcasters, Inc., Saratoga Springs, New York, Docket No. 9179, File No. BP–6808; Saratoga Broadcasting Company, a partnership composed of John Nazak and Joanne May Levko, Saratoga Springs, New York, Docket No. 9575, File No. BP–7459; for construction permits.

1. By order dated July 10, 1950, the Examiner in this proceeding denied the petition of Saratoga Broadcasting Company, a partnership composed of John Nazak and Joanne May Levko, filed on June 19, 1950, requesting a "rehearing" in the above-entitled proceeding. The hearing had been originally scheduled for April 12, 1950, but was postponed to June 5, 1950, pursuant to a motion filed by the competing applicant, Spa Broadcasters, Inc., to which counsel for Saratoga Broadcasting Company consented. At the hearing of June 5, 1950, Saratoga Broadcasting Company did not appear but Spa Broadcasters, Inc., appeared and presented evidence in support of its application, whereupon the record was closed. In its petition of June 19, 1950, Saratoga alleged in support of its request for "rehearing" that it had failed to appear at the June 5 hearing because of the erroneous advice of its attorney that the scheduled hearing date was June 25, 1950. In his order denying Saratoga's petition, the Examiner stated that the petitioner had set forth no meritorious reasons why the record should be reopened for further hearing, as the carelessness of petitioner's counsel in erroneously advising petitioner as to the date of the hearing cannot be accepted as a legitimate excuse for the petitioner's failure to appear on the date scheduled; and that a grant of the petition would not be in the interests of administrative finality and would be prejudicial to the rights of the competing applicant.

2. On July 21, 1950, Saratoga filed a "Petition for Stay of Commission's order of July 10, 1950, and Application for Reconsideration of Original Petition to Reopen Record," which we shall treat as a petition for review of the Examiner's ruling of July 10, 1950.[1] In this petition

[1] Section 1.750 of the Commission's rules requires a petition for review to be filed within two days of the adverse ruling. The instant petition was not filed until 11 days thereafter, but under the circumstances we shall waive the two-day provision of the rules (see § 1.701) and proceed to consider the petition on its merits.

Saratoga points out that it was prepared to appear at the originally scheduled hearing on April 12, 1950, but consented to Spa's request for a continuance of that hearing "in the spirit of cooperation." It alleges that the wrong date of June 25, 1950, instead of the actual date of June 5, 1950, to which the hearing was continued, was erroneously inserted in the papers in the office of the personal attorney of one of Saratoga's partners, "due to substitution of personnel in office", and so sent over to Saratoga's radio counsel, whence apparently arose the petitioner's failure to attend the hearing of June 5, 1950. Petitioner asserts that as it "has been courteous enough to cooperate with the Spa Broadcasters, Inc., and consent to a later hearing, and then, because of a mix-up in office personnel fails to be there when [it] could have been, it is felt that in all fairness * * * [it] should be afforded an opportunity to present [its] side to the Commission."

3. On July 28, 1950, Spa Broadcasters, Inc., filed its opposition to Saratoga's petition, and requested a denial thereof. Spa contends that it has "spent much time and money in prosecuting its application"; that its witnesses appeared and presented evidence at the scheduled hearing; and that Saratoga's failure to appear was no fault of Spa but due to its own "negligence or carelessness." Spa states that "if the request of Saratoga Broadcasting Company were granted, obviously it would be necessary to recall all of the witnesses of Spa Broadcasters, Inc., for cross-examination and it would require the presence of counsel and engineering witnesses of Spa Broadcasters, Inc., to cross-examine witnesses for Saratoga Broadcasting Company."

4. We are of the opinion that the Examiner's ruling should be set aside and the record reopened to permit Saratoga to present evidence in support of its application. Not to do so under the circumstances of this case would be to visit too harsh a penalty upon the applicant because of what appears to be an error originating in the office of the attorney for one of the members of the applicant partnership. There is no suggestion here that there was any lack of good faith or a conscious attempt to ignore the Commission's schedule for the convenience of the applicant.

5. Accordingly, it is ordered, This 17th day of August 1950, That the above-described "petition for review" of the Examiner's order of July 10, 1950, filed by Saratoga Broadcasting Company on July 21, 1950, is granted; the said order of the Examiner of July 10, 1950 is set aside; and the record in this proceeding is reopened to permit Saratoga Broadcasting Company to present evidence in support of its application.

Released: August 18, 1950.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 54-170, 54-172]

NIAGARA HUDSON POWER CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of August A. D. 1950.

Niagara Hudson Power Corporation ("Niagara Hudson"), a registered holding company, having filed applications for approval of plans under section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act providing for the consolidation into a single new operating company of the three principal subsidiaries of Niagara Hudson, and for the dissolution of Niagara Hudson; and the Commission by order dated August 24, 1949, having approved said plans and the United States District Court for the Northern District of New York having entered on November 4, 1949, its order enforcing such plans; and the said order enforcing such plans having been reversed by the Court of Appeals by orders dated February 1, 1950, and amended February 14, 1950, but only with respect to that part of said order which enforced the provisions of the Dissolution Plan relating to the Class B Option Warrants of Niagara Hudson, the order in all other respects having been affirmed;

Notice is hereby given that Niagara Hudson has filed an application for a supplemental order approving further detailed steps, pursuant to the Dissolution Plan, to consummate the disposition of its remaining assets, and its eventual dissolution, and in connection therewith to make provision for its liabilities.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 6, 1950, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application proposed to be controverted, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after September 6, 1950, the Commission may take such action as may be deemed appropriate with respect to Niagara Hudson's application.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the offices of the Commission for a statement of the transactions proposed in the said application which are summarized as follows:

The Dissolution Plan of Niagara Hudson provided that when the indebtedness of Niagara Hudson should have been paid, Niagara Hudson would distribute its remaining holdings of common stock of the new operating company, Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation ("Niagara Mohawk"), pro rata to the remaining holders of Niagara Hudson's common stock and would thereafter dissolve; and that whatever cash or other assets were held by Niagara Hudson at the time of dissolution would be paid over to Niagara Mohawk, after all expenses in connection with the dissolution has been paid or provision had been made for such payment. The indebtedness of Niagara Hudson presently consists principally of a bank loan, the upaid balance of which is $1,500,000. This indebtedness matures November 1, 1950 and Niagara Hudson proposes to pay off its indebtedness at maturity.

To the extent that its liability can now be estimated, Niagara Hudson states that as at December 31, 1950, its liabilities will amount to approximately $525,000 and that the amount of cash which it will have on hand on December 31, 1950, will be approximately $920,000. It is proposed that as soon as possible after January 31, 1951, and concurrently with or immediately subsequent to the distribution of its holdings of Niagara Mohawk common stock to its remaining common stockholders, Niagara Hudson will transfer all of its remaining assets to Niagara Mohawk and that Niagara Mohawk will assume all of the obligations and liabilities, if any, of Niagara Hudson outstanding at such time, including the liability for the payment of fees and expenses incident to the Consolidation Plan and Dissolution Plan, the payment of any tax liabilities not then finally determined and any payment which may be required to be made to holders of the Class B Option Warrants of Niagara Hudson in the event of the conclusion of pending litigation with respect to such Option Warrants in favor of the holders thereof.

With respect to the distribution to the remaining holders of Niagara Hudson common stock of the shares of Niagara Mohawk common stock presently held by Niagara Hudson, in the ratio of 0.78 share of Niagara Mohawk common stock for each share of Niagara Hudson common stock, it is proposed that such distribution shall be commenced as soon as possible after the record date fixed by the Board of Directors of Niagara Mohawk for the dividend upon Niagara Mohawk common stock to be made payable on December 31, 1950, which date is presently anticipated by Niagara Hudson to be on or about December 2, 1950.

It is further proposed by Niagara Hudson that any holders of nine (9) or less than nine shares of Niagara Hudson common stock may elect (a) to receive the equivalent number of shares of Niagara Mohawk common stock (plus Niagara Mohawk common stock script for any resulting fraction of less than one full share), on the basis of the 0.78 for 1 ratio, or (b) on or before February 1, 1951, to receive an amount of cash equal to the proceeds of the sale of such equivalent number of shares of Niagara Mohawk common stock (including fractions of shares) at the market price for such shares on the New York Stock Exchange at the closing of the market on the business day last preceding the day of presentation of his Niagara Hudson common stock for surrender.

There are presently outstanding bearer script certificates of Niagara Hudson representing rights in respect of fractions of shares of its common stock, which were issued incident to the consolidation forming Niagara Hudson on February 1, 1937. Such bearer script certificates are presently outstanding in the aggregate amount of 1,996-2/6 shares of Niagara Hudson common stock, and a like number of full shares of Niagara Hudson common stock has been reserved by Niagara Hudson for issue upon the presentation and surrender of such bearer script certificates when presented in amounts aggregating one or more full shares in accordance with their terms. In order to make appropriate provision for the holders of such script certificates outstanding at the time of dissolution of Niagara Hudson, Niagara Hudson proposes to reserve in lieu of the shares of Niagara Hudson common stock reserved against such outstanding script certificates the equivalent number (on the basis of the ratio of 0.78 for 1) of shares of Niagara Mohawk common stock. Niagara Hudson further proposes to provide that from the time of the distribution to the remaining holders of Niagara Hudson common stock of shares of Niagara Mohawk common stock, such outstanding script certificates will be deemed to represent rights in respect of fractions of full shares of Niagara Mohawk common stock, subject to the same terms, provisions and conditions as are provided to the holders of bearer script certificates representing rights in respect of fractions of shares of Niagara Mohawk common stock which have been issued or are issuable under the provisions of the Dissolution Plan.

Niagara Hudson has requested that the Commission issue such supplemental order as is necessary and appropriate to final consummation of the Dissolution Plan of Niagara Hudson and that the Commission apply to the United States District Court for the Northern District of New York for a supplemental order to enforce and carry out the terms and provisions of said order of the Commission.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Plum Order 25]

PART 936—FRESH BARTLETT PEARS, PLUMS, AND ELBERTA PEACHES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

REGULATION OF SHIPMENTS; TERMINATION OF PLUM ORDERS 5 THROUGH 24

§ 936.395 Plum Order 25—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 36, as amended (7 CFR Part 936), regulating the handling of fresh Bartlett pears, plums, and Elberta peaches grown in the State of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Plum Commodity Committee, established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found:

(i) That the limitation of shipments of plums in accordance with the provisions of the plum orders specified in paragraph (b) (1) of this section will not, after the effective time hereof, tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act; and

(ii) That the limitation of shipments, of Giant, President, Kelsey, and Late Duarte varieties of plums, as set forth in paragraph (b) (2) of this section pursuant to the provisions of § 936.4 (b) of the amended marketing agreement and order will tend to effectuate such orderly marketing of such plums as will be in the public interest, and the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that: The level of prices of late varieties of plums is such that regulation of the shipment of such plums, in accordance with the provisions of the plum orders specified in paragraph (b) (1) of this section, may not be continued after the effective time hereof; the termination of such plum orders would permit the unrestricted shipment of late varieties of plums, and such unrestricted shipment would not be conducive to the orderly marketing of such plums in the public interest and would not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act; and compliance with the provisions of this section will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) Order. (1) The following plum orders shall be terminated at the effective time of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph:

Plum Order 5 (7 CFR 936.374–a; 15 F. R. 4044, 4112); Plum Order 6, as amended (7 CFR 936.375; 15 F. R. 4073, 4436); Plum Order 7, as amended (7 CFR 936.376; 15 F. R. 4073, 4437); Plum Order 8 (7 CFR 936.377; 15 F. R. 4074); Plum Order 9, as amended (7 CFR 936.378; 15 F. R. 4075, 4437, 4708); Plum Order 10, as amended (7 CFR 936.379; 15 F. R. 4076, 4708); Plum Order 11 (7 CFR 936.380; 15 F. R. 4077); Plum Order 12, as amended (7 CFR 936.381; 15 F. R. 4077, 4708); Plum Order 13 (7 CFR 936.383; 15 F. R. 4438); Plum Order 14 (7 CFR 936.384; 15 F. R. 4439); Plum Order 15 (7 CFR 936.385; 15 F. R. 4439); Plum Order 16 (7 CFR 936.386; 15 F. R. 4481); Plum Order 17 (7 CFR 936.387; 15 F. R. 4483); Plum Order 18 (7 CFR 936.388; 15 F. R. 4484); Plum Order 19 (7 CFR 936.389; 15 F. R. 4485); Plum Order 20 (7 CFR 936.390; 15 F. R. 4676); Plum Order 21 (7 CFR 936.391; 15 F. R. 4677); Plum Order 22 (7 CFR 936.392; 15 F. R. 4709); Plum Order 23 (7 CFR 936.393; 15 F. R. 4709); Plum Order 24 (7 CFR 936.394; 15 F. R. 4710).

(2) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., August 27, 1950, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., November 1, 1950, no shipper shall ship any package or container of the Giant, President, Late Duarte, or Kelsey variety of plums unless the plums meet the following minimum standards of quality and maturity applicable to the respective variety:

(i) With respect to the Giant, President, and Late Duarte varieties of plums, the plums (a) grade at least U. S. No. 1 with a total tolerance of fifteen (15) percent for defects not considered serious damage in addition to the tolerances permitted for such grade, and (b) are of a size not smaller than a size that will pack a 5 x 5 standard pack in a standard basket (such 5 x 5 standard pack being more specifically defined in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph.

(ii) With respect to the Kelsey variety of plums, the plums (a) grade at least U. S. No. 1 with a total tolerance of twenty-five (25) percent for defects not considered serious damage in addition to the tolerances permitted for such grade, and (b) are of a size not smaller than a size that will pack a 4 x 5 standard pack in a standard basket (such 4 x 5 standard pack being more specifically defined in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph.

(3) During the period set forth in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, each shipper shall, prior to making each such shipment of plums, have the plums inspected by a duly authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service, heretofore designated by the Plum Commodity Committee and hereby approved: Provided, That, in case the following conditions exist in connection with any such shipment:

(i) A written request for inspection is made to the Federal-State Inspection Service not later than 5:00 p. m., of the day before the fruit will be available for inspection;

(ii) The shipper designates in such request the date and hours when the fruit will be available for inspection; and

(iii) The Federal-State Inspection Service furnishes the shipper with a signed statement that it is not practicable, under such conditions, for the Federal-State Inspection Service to make the inspection within the necessary time; the shipper, by submitting, or causing to be submitted, promptly such signed statement to the Plum Commodity Committee, may make the particular shipment without inspection; but such shipper shall comply with all grade and size regulations applicable to such shipment.

(4) As used in this section, the aforesaid 5 x 5 standard pack is defined more specifically as follows: (i) At least thirty-five (35) percent, by count, of the plums contained in such pack measure not less than 1 9/16 inches in diameter; (ii) at least ninety-five (95) percent, by count, of the plums contained in such pack measure not less than 1 7/16 inches in diameter; and (iii) no plums contained in such pack measure less than 1 5/16 inches in diameter.

(5) As used in this section, the aforesaid 4 x 5 standard pack is defined more specifically as follows: (i) At least thirty-five (35) percent, by count, of the plums contained in such pack measure not less than 1 11/16 inches in diameter; (ii) At least ninety-five (95) percent, by count, of the plums contained in such pack measure not less than 1 9/16 inches in diameter; and (iii) no plums contained in such pack measure less than 1 7/16 inches in diameter.

(6) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed (i) as affecting or waiving any right, duty, obligation, or liability which has arisen or which, prior to the effective time of the provisions hereof, may arise in connection with any provision of the said plum orders hereby terminated, or (ii) as releasing or extinguishing any violation of any provision of the said plum orders hereby terminated which has occurred or which, prior to the effective time of the provisions hereof, may occur.

(7) Terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in the amended marketing agreement and order; the terms "U. S. No. 1," "standard pack," "serious damage," and "diameter" shall have the same meaning as set forth in the revised United States Standards for plums and prunes (fresh), 7 CFR 51.360; and the term "standard basket" shall have the same meaning as set forth in paragraph numbered 1 of section 828.1 of the Agricultural Code of California.

[Lemon Reg. 345]

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN THE STATES OF CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 953.452 Lemon Regulation 345—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953; 14 F. R. 3612), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of lemons, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Lemon Administrative Committee on August 23, 1950, such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., August 27, 1950, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., September 3, 1950, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: Unlimited movement;

(ii) District 2: 300 carloads;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

[Orange Reg. 337]

PART 966—ORANGES GROWN IN THE STATES OF CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 966.483 Orange Regulations 337—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the provisions of Order No. 66, as amended, (7 CFR Part 966; 14 F. R. 3614), regulating the handling of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such oranges which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of oranges, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Orange Administrative Committee on August 24, 1950, such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of oranges grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., August 27, 1950, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., September 3, 1950, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) Valencia oranges.

(a) Prorate District No. 1: Unlimited movement;

(b) Prorate District No. 2: 1,000 carloads;

(c) Prorate District No. 3: Unlimited movement.

(ii) Oranges other than Valencia oranges.

(a) Prorate District No. 1: No movement;

(b) Prorate District No. 2: No movement;

(c) Prorate District No. 3: No movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "varieties," "carloads," and "prorate base" shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended order; and the terms "Prorate District No. 1," "Prorate District No. 2," and "Prorate District No. 3" shall have the same meaning as given to the respective term in § 966.107 of the current rules and regulations (14 F. R. 6588) contained in this part.

Orange Regulation 332 (7 CFR 966.478 15 F. R. 3863) fixes the sizes of designated oranges which may be handled during the aforesaid period.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Federal Security Agency

PART 146—CERTIFICATION OF BATCHES OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (52 Stat. 1040, 1055, as amended by 59 Stat. 463, 61 Stat. 11, 63 Stat. 409; 21 U. S. C. and Sup., 357), the regulations for tests and methods of assay for antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR 141.1 et seq. and 1949 Supp.) and certification of batches of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR 146.1 et seq. and 1949 Supp.) are amended as indicated below:

1. Part 141 is amended by adding the following new sections:

§ 141.40 Penicillin tooth powder—(a) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141.1.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.7 (c), but in lieu of the directions for preparing the sample in subparagraph (3) thereof prepare the sample and calculate as follows: Accurately weigh about 1 gm. of the sample into a dry titrating vessel. Add an excess of the Karl Fischer reagent and back titrate immediately with water-methanol solution until the end point is reached. (The entire operation from the addition of the Karl Fischer reagent until the end point is reached should not exceed 1 minute.)

$$\text{Percent moisture} = \frac{(V_1 - V_2 f) \times e \times 100}{W_s},$$

where W_s=weight of sample in milligrams.

§ 141.209 Aureomycin dental cones—(a) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141.203 (a), using 500 ml. of distilled water to prepare the sample. The average potency of the cone is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85% of the number of milligrams it is represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 (a).

§ 141.210 Aureomycin dental paste—(a) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141.201 (a), except subparagraph (9) thereof, and in lieu of the directions in subparagraph (4) of § 141.201 (a) prepare the samples as follows: Accurately weigh approximately 2 gm. of the paste into a separatory funnel containing 20 ml. of carbon tetrachloride. Warm gently until the paste liquefies; shake until carbon tetrachloride and the paste are homogeneous. Add 30 ml. of distilled water to which 1 ml. of 1N HCl has been added, and shake. Remove the aqueous layer and repeat the extraction with three 30-ml. quantities of the same aqueous solvent. Combine the aqueous extracts and make the proper estimated dilutions in 0.1 M monopotassium phosphate buffer. The potency of aureomycin dental paste is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85% of the number of milligrams it is represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.8 (b).

2. Part 146 is amended by adding the following new section:

§ 146.59 Penicillin tooth powder (tooth powder with penicillin)—(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Penicillin tooth powder is a mixture of crystalline penicillin and one or more suitable cleansing and polishing substances, with or without suitable and harmless diluents, colorings, and flavorings. Its potency is 500 units per gram. Its moisture content is not more than 2.0%. The crystalline penicillin used conforms to the requirements of § 146.24 (a) for crystalline penicillin, except the limitation of penicillin K content and except subparagraphs (2) and (4) of that paragraph. Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U. S. P. or N. F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

(b) Packaging. In all cases the immediate container shall be a tight container as defined by the U. S. P. and shall be of such composition as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity of the contents beyond any limit therefor in applicable standards, except that minor changes so caused which are normal and unavoidable in good packaging, storage, and distribution practice shall be disregarded. Each such container shall contain not more than 3 ounces.

(c) Labeling. Each package of penicillin tooth powder shall bear on its label or labeling as hereinafter indicated, the following:

(1) On the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container:

(i) The batch mark;

(ii) The number of units per gram of the batch; and

(iii) The statement "Expiration date ------," the blank being filled in with the date which is 12 months after the month during which the batch was certified.

(2) On the outside wrapper or container:

(i) The statement "Caution: To be dispensed only by or on the prescription of a ----------," the blank being filled in with the word "physician" or "dentist" or both, as the case may be; and

(ii) A reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing directions and precautions (including contraindications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such penicillin tooth powder; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such directions and precautions, and a statement that such brochure and printed matter will be sent to physicians and dentists on request.

(d) Request for certification; samples. (1) In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2, a person who requests certification of a batch of penicillin tooth powder shall submit with his request a statement showing the batch mark, the number of packages of each size in such batch, the batch mark and (unless it was previously submitted) the date on which the latest assay of the penicillin used in making such batch was completed, the quantity of each ingredient used in making the batch, the date on which the latest assay of the drug comprising such batch was completed, and a statement that each ingredient used in making the batch conforms to the requirements prescribed therefor by this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, such person shall submit in connection with his request, results of tests and assays listed after each of the following, made by him on an accurately representative sample of:

(i) The batch; potency and moisture.

(ii) The penicillin used in making the batch; potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, crystallinity, heat stability, and the penicillin G content if it is crystalline sodium or potassium penicillin G.

(3) Except as otherwise provided by subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, such person shall submit with his request, in the quantities hereinafter indicated, accurately representative samples of the following:

(i) The batch; one immediate container for each 5,000 immediate containers in the batch, but in no case less than 5 immediate containers or more than 12 immediate containers, collected by taking single immediate containers at such intervals throughout the entire time of packaging the batch that the quantities packaged during the intervals are approximately equal.

(ii) The penicillin used in making the batch; 10 packages, each containing approximately equal portions of not less than 60 mg., packaged in accordance with the requirements of § 146.24 (b).

(iii) In case of an initial request for certification, each other substance used in making the batch; one package of each containing approximately 5 gm.

(4) No result referred to in subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph, and no sample referred to in subparagraph (3) (ii) of this paragraph, is required if such result or sample has been previously submitted.

(e) Fees. The fee for the services rendered with respect to each batch of penicillin tooth powder under the regulations in this part shall be:

(1) $4.00 for each immediate container in the sample submitted in accordance with paragraph (d) (3) (i), (ii), and (iii) of this section; and

(2) If the Commissioner considers that investigations, other than examination of such immediate containers, are necessary to determine whether or not such batch complies with the requirements of § 146.3 for the issuance of a certificate, the cost of such investigations.

The fee prescribed by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall accompany the request for certification unless such fee is covered by an advance deposit maintained in accordance with § 146.8 (d).

3. In § 146.204 Aureomycin capsules • • •, subparagraphs (2) and (3) of paragraph (c) Labeling are amended to read as follows:

(2) On the outside wrapper or container:

(i) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, the statement "Caution: To be dispensed only by or on the prescription of a ----------," the blank being filled in with the words "physician" or "dentist" or "veterinarian" or with any combination of two or all of these words, as the case may be; and

(ii) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is so labeled a reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing directions and precautions (including contraindications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such aureomycin capsules; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such directions and precautions, and a statement that such brochure or printed matter will be sent on request.

(3) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, if it is intended solely for veterinary use, directions and precautions adequate for the use of such aureomycin capsules, including:

• • • • • •

4. In § 146.205 Aureomycin powder • • •, subparagraphs (2) and (3) of paragraph (c) Labeling are amended to read as follows:

(2) On the outside wrapper or container:

(i) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, the statement "Caution: To be dispensed only by or on the prescription of a ----------," the blank being filled in with the words "physician" or "dentist" or "veterinarian" or with any combination of two or all of these words, as the case may be; and

(ii) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is so labeled, a reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing directions and precautions (including contraindications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such aureomycin powder; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such directions and precautions, and a statement that such brochure or printed matter will be sent on request.

(3) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, if it is intended solely for veterinary use, directions and precautions adequate for the use of such aureomycin powder, including:

5. Section 146.207 is amended to read as follows:

§ 146.207 Aureomycin tablets (aureomycin hydrochloride tablets). Aureomycin tablets conform to all requirements prescribed by § 146.204 for aureomycin capsules, and are subject to all procedures prescribed by § 146.204 for aureomycin capsules, but if such tablets are represented for vaginal use the potency of each such tablet shall not be less than 250 mg.

6. Part 146 is amended by adding the following new sections:

§ 146.209 Aureomycin dental cones (aureomycin hydrochloride dental cones). Aureomycin dental cones conform to all requirements prescribed by § 146.203 for aureomycin troches, and are subject to all procedures prescribed by § 146.203 for aureomycin troches, except that they may contain a suitable local anesthetic.

§ 146.210 Aureomycin dental paste (aureomycin hydrochloride dental paste). Aureomycin dental paste conforms to all requirements prescribed by § 146.202 for aureomycin ointment, and is subject to all procedures prescribed by § 146.202 for aureomycin ointment, except that:

(a) Its potency is not less than 30 mg. per gram.

(b) Its moisture content is not more than 3%.

(c) It contains one or more suitable and harmless binders, and it may contain one or more suitable and harmless colorings and flavorings.

(d) It is packaged in immediate containers of glass which meet the tests for tight containers as defined by the U. S. P.

7. In § 146.302 Chloramphenicol capsules, subparagraphs (2) and (3) of paragraph (c) Labeling are amended to read as follows:

(2) On the outside wrapper or container:

(i) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, the statement "Caution: To be dispensed only by or on the prescription of a _____," the blank being filled in with the words "physician" or "dentist" or "veterinarian" or with any combination of two or all of these words, as the case may be; and

(ii) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is so labeled, a reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing directions and precautions (including contraindications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such chloramphenicol capsules; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such directions and precautions, and a statement that such brochure or printed matter will be sent on request.

(3) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, if it is intended solely for veterinary use, directions and precautions, adequate for the use of such chloramphenicol capsules, including:

* * * * *

8. In § 146.403 Bacitracin tablets, subparagraphs (2) and (3) of paragraph (c) Labeling are amended to read as follows:

(2) On the outside wrapper or container:

(i) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, the statement "Caution: To be dispensed only by or on the prescription of a _____," the blank being filled in with the words "physician" or "dentist" or "veterinarian" or with any combination of two or all of these words, as the case may be; and

(ii) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is so labeled, a reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing directions and precautions (including contraindications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such bacitracin tablets; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such directions and precautions, and a statement that such brochure or printed matter will be sent on request.

(3) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, if it is intended solely for veterinary use, directions and precautions adequate for the use of such bacitracin tablets, including:

* * * * *

Those parts of this order which provide for certification of penicillin tooth powder, certification of aureomycin tablets intended for vaginal use, aureomycin dental cones, and aureomycin dental paste shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industries will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

Those parts of this order which provide for deletion of the requirements that a circular containing directions for use be packaged with aureomycin capsules, aureomycin powder, aureomycin tablets, chloramphenicol capsules, and bacitracin tablets shall become effective 120 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industries and since it would be against public interest to delay the marketing of penicillin tooth powder, aureomycin tablets intended for vaginal use, aureomycin dental cones, aureomycin dental paste, and to delete the requirement that circulars containing directions for use be packaged with aureomycin capsules, aureomycin powder, aureomycin tablets, chloramphenicol capsules, and bacitracin tablets.

PART 141—TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY FOR ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

Correction

In Federal Register Document 50-7333, published at page 5629 in the issue for Wednesday, August 23, 1950, the following change should be made: In the third sentence of § 141.39 (a), (2), (i), the figure "X" should be "×".

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 9176]

PART 42—PRESERVATION OF RECORDS

PART 45—PRESERVATION OF RECORDS OF TELEPHONE CARRIERS

PART 46—PRESERVATION OF RECORDS OF WIRE-TELEGRAPH, OCEAN-CABLE, AND RADIO-TELEGRAPH CARRIERS

REVISION OF REGULATIONS

In the matter of rescission of Part 42 (Preservation of Records) of the Commission's rules and regulations and the promulgation of Parts 45 and 46 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

Memorandum opinion. On September 28, 1949, the Commission issued a notice of proposed rule-making[1] in which it was proposed to rescind Part 42 (Preservation of Records) of the Commission's rules and regulations and to adopt new Parts 45 (Preservation of Records of Telephone Carriers) and 46 (Preservation of Records of Wire-telegraph Ocean-cable, and Radiotelegraph Carriers), as set forth in the appendices attached to such notice. The notice provided that any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed rules should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth, could file with the Commission, on or before December 31, 1949, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Persons favoring the rules were also invited to file statements in support thereof. On December 27, 1949, the time for filing comments was extended to January 16, 1950. The notice provided also that, if any comments were submitted which appeared to warrant the holding of an oral argument before final action is taken, notice of the time and place of such oral argument would be given interested parties.

Within the time above provided, the Commission received comments from American Telephone and Telegraph Company, United States Independent Telephone Association, the Western Union Telegraph Company, and Press Wireless, Inc. The last named company, which would be subject only to Part 46, stated that it has no objections to these rules. None of the parties submitting comments have requested oral argument thereon and such comments do not appear to warrant oral argument.

In addition to the foregoing comments filed within the time provided, there was filed with the Commission on May 26, 1950, by the Public Counsellor of the State of Indiana, comments and suggestions relating to those portions of the proposed rules in Part 45 that affect records of telephone companies with respect to employees' pensions. These comments were accompanied by a request for consideration thereof despite the late filing. Copies of the document were served upon the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Indiana Bell Telephone Company, and United States Indepent Telephone Association, which constitute all the interested parties herein, and no adverse comments thereon have been received by the Commission. (See comments on § 45.8, Items 21-d, j, k, and l.)

Of the modifications suggested by these respondents, the following are the more significant ones which have been found acceptable to the Commission and are reflected in the rules attached hereto.

Sections 45.01 and 46.01. A. T. & T. suggests that the word "primarily" be inserted in § 45.01 preceding the phrase "engaged in furnishing telephone service" and in § 46.01 preceding the phrase "engaged in furnishing wire-telegraph, ocean-cable, or radiotelegraph service." The purpose of these changes is to make certain that, under the conditions stated, only Part 45 or Part 46, but not both, will apply to all the records of a given carrier. The word "primarily" has been inserted in both §§ 45.01 and 46.01.

Sections 45.1 (e) and 46.1 (e). As § 46.9 is applicable to existing records and conditions, Western Union believes that this situation should be recognized by adding the following language to this paragraph: "And, provided further, That retention of records pertaining to added services, functions, plant, etc., the establishment of which cannot be presently foreseen, shall conform with the principles promulgated in § 46.9."

This revision has been made in both Parts 45 and 46.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 3. A. T. & T. and Western Union suggest the addition of the following subdivision to Item 3:

c. Meetings of employees' benefit committee. Permanently. (M-10).

The proposed item is similar to Item 83-m under § 46.9. This item has been added in Part 45 and Item 83-m under § 46.9 has been redesignated Item 3-c.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 4-j. A. T. & T. suggests that the word "registered" should be omitted from the description because bond ledgers are also maintained for convertible debentures and bond issues subject to serial or other partial retirement. The carrier also states that the related summary or controlling records are essential parts of the records covered by this item and should be covered by adding the phrase "and summary or controlling records thereof" at the end of the description. These revisions have been made in both Parts 45 and 46.

Section 46.9—Item 6-d. Western Union states that this item is not sufficiently descriptive of telegraph communication carriers' records in this respect. Accordingly, the item has been revised to read as follows:

d. Contracts with other telegraph communication carriers for interchange of business and division of revenues and associated costs; with telephone communication carriers for services and interchange of facilities; with transportation carriers for maintenance of plant, interchange of facilities, and division of revenues and expenses, etc.; and with individuals or corporations in their capacity as agents. (See items 72 and 73.)

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 12. Insurance Records. Western Union suggests that group insurance be added as a separate subdivision of this item in view of the fact that this form of insurance is entirely dissimilar in all respects from other forms of insurance for which provision is made in this item. However, it is believed that provision for group insurance can be made by additions to paragraphs a and e of this item as indicated by the italicized portions of the following paragraphs:

a. Insurance policies (including fidelity, surety, and similar bonds) together with supporting schedules, endorsements, riders, and other amendments or modifications, and renewal and cancellation notices; also policy contracts with underwriters for group insurance.

e. Reports of losses covered by insurance (both commercial and self-carried), copies of claims against insurance companies and record of recoveries therefrom; records, reports, and summaries of employee coverage, case records, and death claims with respect to group insurance.

Both parts have been revised as indicated.

Section 45.8—Items 21-d, j, k, and l. The Public Counsellor of the State of Indiana requested that the period of retention with respect to payroll records, used or potentially useful in computing the proper pension accruals, be revised as follows:

1. Part 45.8, Item 21d, should be deleted and the following item substituted (or added):

Item No.	Description of records	Period to be retained
21d (1)	Employees' service records, as compiled in the annual censuses, and consisting of names, sex, salary and wage rates, occupational classifications, and similar data, and all changes therein.	Permanently.

2. The following item should be added:

Item No.	Description of records	Period to be retained
21d (2)	All mortality data hitherto collected and either used or useful in the computation of annual pension accrual rates, including mortality of active employees and pensioners.	Permanently.

3. The following item should be added:

Item No.	Description of records	Period to be retained
21d (3)	All service retirement data hitherto collected and either used or useful in the computation of annual pension accrual rates.	Permanently.

4. The following item should be added:

Item No.	Description of records	Period to be retained
21d (4)	All other statistical data used in the calculation of the annual pension accruals, as charged to Account 672, and necessary to the verification of the charges contained thereunder in Form M, Schedule 320, Operating Expense Accounts: 1935 to date.	Permanently.

Items j, k, and l should be amended by deleting, under the "period to be retained," the temporary periods of time there set down. The word "Permanently" should be substituted, in all cases. Cross references to Item 21d (1), (2), (3), and (4) should be made under each heading, namely, j, k, and l.

The comments accompanying the foregoing recommendation raise doubts as to the adequacy of either the presently effective or the proposed retention periods for pension data. The Commission desires to give this matter further consideration as it is believed that the inadequacies pointed out by the Public Counsellor of the State of Indiana apply primarily to current pension determinations which, when settled, may remove the need for permanent retention of all of these data. Since copies of the document were served on the interested parties and no adverse comments thereon have been received by the Commission, it is assumed that the permanent retention of these data is not objectionable at this time. Therefore, the foregoing recommendations have been adopted with minor modifications. At such time hereafter as it may appear that the permanent retention of these records is no longer necessary, we will entertain a proposal to shorten such retention period accordingly.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 22-f. This item pertains to contracts with labor unions or other organizations of employees relative to wage rates, hours, working conidtions, and similar matters. The period of retention is "6 years after expiration or cancellation." A. T. & T., U. S. I. T. A., and Western Union recommend that the period of retention be changed to read "3 years after expiration or cancellation." This is the period proposed for Item 6-g which pertains to the same records. Three years is the period prescribed by the regulations issued under the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act. Consequently, the retention period for this item in both parts has been so revised.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 25-a. This item pertains to general letters and other correspondence and memoranda related to services furnished under license agreements, general service contracts, or other arrangements for general accounting, engineering, financial, legal, patent, and other general services. The period of retention is "For the period prescribed for the record to which it relates." Item 128 (a) of § 42.91 prescribes the same retention period for correspondence. A. T. & T. states that experience has proven that such a rule is impracticable since it is impossible of application to most correspondence, memoranda and related attachments; that is, correspondence, etc., generally is not and cannot be definitely or practicably related to any particular other record. For example, studies and advice regarding work planning, methods, results, the training of employees, and many other matters can very seldom be associated with any particular record. The practical effect of such a rule has been generally to require the retention, at substantial expense, of quite extensive and constantly growing amounts of old, useless files of correspondence, etc. For this reason and the further important facts that (1) correspondence has usually only a short period of usefulness, even when it can be related to some other record, (2) any resulting action is recorded on other appropriate records, and (3) appropriate provision for retention of particular classes of correspondence, etc., has been made throughout the "List of Records" in proposed Part 45 under more than sixty items, the provisions of Item 25–b in proposed Part 45 are more properly applicable to general correspondence files. The carrier states further that the records covered by Item 25–a are those in the files of telephone carriers which furnish general services to other carriers. This item covers particularly such correspondence and memoranda in the files of the General Department of the A. T. & T. These records constitute, of course, part of the records of services furnished and, as such, should be retained for such period as may be required to permit consideration in the establishment of rates for telephone services. It is the carrier's opinion that a required period of retention for ten years should be ample for this purpose and that any other reasonable but definite term of years would be much more practicable and less burdensome than the rule provided for Item 25–a in proposed Part 45. The period of retention for this item in both Parts 45 and 46 has been changed to "10 years."

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 27–d—Reports of premature destruction. The period of retention proposed for this item is "6 years." A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. suggest that this period be changed to "Optional after expiration of period prescribed for records destroyed." Western Union suggests a similar revision. A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. support their suggestion by stating that under their proposal when records required to be retained permanently are prematurely destroyed, the record of destruction would be retained permanently, instead of only six years; also, there is no reason for retaining reports of premature destruction after the expiration of the retention period for the related records. The retention period for this item in both parts has been changed to "Optional after expiration of period prescribed for records destroyed."

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 46–b. This item pertains to contracts or agreements for joint ownership or joint use of communication plant. In Part 45 the retention period for subdivision "(1) Poles and minor items" under this item is "6 years after retirement" and for subdivision "(2) Major items" the period is "6 years after expiration of agreement." A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. suggest a retention period of "6 years after expiration or cancellation of agreement" for both subdivisions. A. T. & T. states that if the contracts are terminated, their further usefulness, if any, is not related to the life of the property, that if not terminated, the contract remains effective whether or not the plant is retired (by replacement or otherwise), and that Item 46–b (1) would be wholly impracticable to administer and would thus result in retention of large numbers of useless expired agreements. The subdivisions of this item in Part 45 have been deleted and the retention period revised to "6 years after expiration or cancellation." The retention period for Item 46–b in Part 46 has also been revised in the same manner.

Section 45.8—Items 48–l and 106–n; § 46.9—Items 48–k and 106–n. These items pertain to directives, authorizations, and orders from governmental authorities and related records not provided for elsewhere in the list of records. A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. suggest that the period of retention for these items should be the period prescribed by the related governmental requirements or, if there are no such requirements, retention should be optional. A. T. & T. states that these items cover primarily special records of the types that were maintained under the regulations prescribed by various war-time agencies of the Federal Government. (The records maintained to comply with requirements by regulatory commissions are covered elsewhere under Items 4, 10, 103, and 104.) A. T. & T. further states that the minimum retention period of 6 years provided for Items 48–l and 106–n is much longer than was required by the war-time governmental agencies for most of the voluminous special records maintained to comply with their requirements during and following the recent World War, and that the lengthy retention of voluminous records with only temporary usefulness is, of course, undesirable and expensive.

The retention period for these two items in Parts 45 and 46 has been revised to read: "Such period as may be prescribed by related governmental requirements; otherwise, optional." Consequently, the note following Item 106–n has been eliminated and its provisions included in the column "Period to be Retained" for Items 106–m and 106–n.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 55–h. A. T. & T. states that the shipping or delivery receipts covered by this item are not used as a basis for entries to accounts or other records, that they show only quantities and descriptions of material, and that they do not show prices or amounts. They are nearly always copies of the requisitions and are fully within the description of duplicate records contained in Item 26, except for the signature acknowledging receipt of material. They are matched and checked with the invoices, almost entirely within two months, after which they are seldom referred to. The carrier further states that they are as voluminous as the invoices and should not be retained longer than 1 year, which is the present requirement. U. S. I. T. A. also suggests a retention period of 1 year for this item. The retention period in both parts has been reduced from 6 years to 1 year.

Section 45.8—Items 84–a and 84–b; § 46.9—Items 81–a and 81–b. In Part 45, Item 84–a pertains to copies of advertisements or other records of advertising in newspapers, etc., and Item 84–b to other public information material. The corresponding items in Part 46 are Items 81–a and 81–b. U. S. I. T. A. suggests optional retention for both items since the invoices and payments thereof will be available from an analysis of the advertising accounts. A. T. & T. suggests that the retention period for Item 84–a be changed from 6 years to 3 years and that the period for Item 84–b be reduced from 6 years to optional or, at the most, 1 year. A. T. & T. states that these items include a substantial volume of routine and miscellaneous material, such as "help wanted" advertisements, notices of closing dates of directories, and announcements of organization changes, that records of amounts paid to publications and others for advertising and information services are contained in vouchers, and that a shorter required retention period for both of these items would permit the earlier destruction of useless material without any loss of significant data relative to advertising and informational activities. The retention period for Item 84–a in Part 45 and Item 81–a in Part 46 has been reduced from 6 years to 3 years and the retention period for Item 84–b in Part 45 and Item 81–b in Part 46 has been changed from 6 years to 1 year.

Section 46.9—Item 63–b (4). Western Union suggests the inclusion of the words "and to transportation carriers in support of settlements under contract" in the note following this item. This addition has been made and the note now reads:

NOTE: The furnishing of original filed messages to the United States Government in support of bills and to transportation carriers in support of settlements under contract shall not be considered a violation of these rules and regulations.

Section 46.9—Item 67. Western Union suggests that this item be revised as the provisions as proposed do not appropriately describe current records. Items 67–a and 67–b have been revised as suggested and now read as follows:

67. Transportation carrier passes:
a. Record of or copy of requests for transportation issued free or subject to reciprocal arrangements: 3 years.
b. Record of passes received: 3 years.

While this carrier suggests deletion of Items 67–c and 67–d, stating that it has no such records, these items are retained because of possible application to other carriers' records. In this connection attention is directed to § 46.1 (b).

Section 46.9—Item 68. This item has been revised in accordance with Western Union's suggestion to read as follows:

68. Receipt and delivery of telegraphic communications:
a. Register of messages filed, picked up and delivered, and charge slip memoranda: 6 months.
b. Messenger delivery sheets and delivery route lists: 6 months.
c. Call box directories and record of individualized after-hour and special delivery instructions, including unpack of coded addresses: Optional.

Western Union states that the above wording is a better description of the item and that the matter deleted is properly covered in proposed Item 63–a (4) and new Item 83–m.

Section 46.9—Item 70–c. Western Union states that since this item is substantially identical to Item 76–e of § 45.8, the period of retention should harmonize therewith, i. e., "1 year after payment or other disposition of account or accounts covered by each stub or other individual record. (M)." Both the description and the retention period for Item 70–c has been revised to read the same as Item 76–e in Part 45.

Section 46.9—Item 76–d. Summary settlements with clock manufacturer pertaining to division of collections and expense. Western Union suggests that the retention period for this item should be "6 years (M–3)" instead of "6 years after termination (M–E)" as these settlements are compiled monthly and differ not at all in principle with those in Item 75–f (Summary statements covering settlements with news sources) for which the retention period is "6 years (M–3)." The retention period for Item 76–d has been so revised.

"Section 46.9—Item 77–b. Western Union suggests that retention beyond three years should be optional with the carrier. Money order drafts and payees' receipts are of a volume running to ten million a year. If they are to have any value as payment proofs they must be filed with the applications which are subject to retention for only three years. Centralization of auditing in 1947 has accumulated over 20 million of these items and further annual accumulations for the six-year period as proposed will overwhelm available or procurable facilities. The limited need for evidence in support of money order payments beyond three years but within the governing statutory period could more economically be met by self-carried or commercial indemnity insurance. Western Union further states in this connection that in 25% of the States it has for years past carried self-insurance against claims for the period beyond six years but within their statutory limitations and has paid no claims of this character so far as there is record. The retention period for this item has been reduced from "6 years (M)" to "3 years (M)" and the cross-reference to Item 18–c omitted. Item 18 pertains to paid or cancelled checks and drafts and receipts for cash payments. Item 18–c reads "Other payments." The last-mentioned item for which the retention period is "6 years (M)" has been revised by adding the words "except as otherwise provided in this List of Records."

Section 46.9—Item 77–g. Item 77 pertains to telegraphic money orders. Item 77–g relates to summaries and detailed records incident to and resulting from authentication of payment of individual transactions. Item 77–a pertains to applications for transfer. Western Union contends that the period of retention for Item 77–g should conform with that for Item 77–a since the records described in Item 77–g have no reference or other value after applications are destroyed. The retention period for Item 77–g has been reduced to "3 years (M)" which is the retention period for Item 77–a.

Section 46.9—Item 78. Western Union suggests a revision of this item in substance as follows:

78. Remittance orders:
a. Record of orders sold and of drafts or checks issued in exchange for funds deposited, and summaries or other detailed records incident to accounting analysis and controls: Optional.
b. Drafts or checks sold or exchanged: 3 years.

In support of its suggestion the carrier states that:

While this service is suspended and may not be restored, it is nevertheless undesirable to inhibit its restoration with unnecessary precautions as prescribed in the drafted regulations. Item 78–a is a check against reporting of sales without value after drafts listed have cleared through banking channels usually within 15 days. Item 78–b is in the same category as money order drafts. Both Items 78–c and 78–d specified in the draft have no value following completion of the succeeding month's processing and controls and are included in 78–a as revised herein.

In view of the carrier's statement, and subsequent determination that the records described in foregoing Item 78–a relate to a collection service, the revision has been made as suggested.

Section 46.9—Item 83–m. Proposed Item 83–m has been redesignated Item 3–c and a new item suggested by Western Union, reading as follows, has been substituted: "Number sequence records of messages transmitted or otherwise handled."

The following modifications suggested by the foregoing respondents have not been adopted, or have been further modified, for the reasons stated:

Section 46.1 (d). This proposed paragraph reads as follows: "Unless otherwise specified in § 46.9, duplicate copies of records may be destroyed at any time: Provided, however, That such duplicate copies contain no significant information not shown on the originals and that precautions have been taken to assure the continued retention of the originals (or one true copy) for the full period required under these regulations. (See Item 26–a of § 46.9.)"

Western Union suggests that since the regulations are with regard to preservation rather than destruction of records and the term "copy" is susceptible of misconstruction, this paragraph should read as follows: "Unless otherwise specified in § 46.9 retention of duplicates of records, correspondence, reports, etc., is optional: Provided, however, That such duplicates contain no significant information not shown on the originals passing from the hands of the carrier."

It is not believed that the wording "duplicate copies" would be misconstrued or that any useful purpose would be served by referring to retention of records rather than destruction of records. The carrier's suggested revision also omits part of the proposed wording and substitutes "passing from the hands of the carrier." Presumably, Western Union had in mind instances in which records of plant which has been sold are transferred to the purchaser or the note following item 63–b (4) in § 46.9 which now states that "The furnishing of original filed messages to the United States Government in support of bills and to transportation carriers in support of settlements under contracts shall not be considered a violation of these rules and regulations." The phrase "passing from the hands of the carrier" should not be used in the general instructions as, in the case of sales of plant, the proposed regulations do not require the carriers to retain records of plant which has been sold and the note in the aforementioned item provides the necessary permission for furnishing the original filed messages to the United States Government and to transportation carriers; also, the aforementioned records constitute only a small portion of the carrier's records.

Section 45.4. It is recommended by A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. that the words "physical location of records" be omitted from this section with respect to the index of records. The carriers state that records are frequently moved from working quarters to storage space and that the requirement for showing the physical location of records would necessitate changing the index each time that records are moved. The carriers contend that the maintenance, in a carrier's offices, of a current record of the location and title of the immediate custodians of records, as a part of the prescribed index, would most effectively facilitate the inspection of the records by representatives of the Commission.

It is believed that the index should be maintained showing the physical location of records, in order that such records could be made easily available in the absence of the immediate custodian. Experience has shown that, unless the physical location of records is shown on the index, field investigations may be delayed.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 4–q—Retired securities and evidences of debt. The proposed period for paragraphs (1) and (2) of this item, covering cancelled stock certificates, bonds, notes, paid interest coupons, trust deeds, mortgages, or other evidences of debt, and deeds of release, is "Permanently when issued in exchange for property; otherwise, optional. (M)" A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. contend that, since all securities are issued for property either in the form of cash or other assets, as well as telephone plant, they would be required to retain permanently all retired securities. A. T. & T. has suggested that the word "property" be replaced by "telephone plant." A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. have suggested optional retention.

Pursuant to the above suggestions the retention period has been changed to read: "Permanently when issued in exchange for plant; otherwise, optional." It is believed that this change meets the chief objections of the carriers and at the same time requires permanent retention of those retired securities and evidences of debt that relate to plant and which are frequently needed to verify original cost and book cost.

Section 45.8—Item 6–a. This item reads as follows:

a. General service contracts and license agreements, such as for accounting, financial, engineering, legal, patent, and other general services.

A. T. & T. states that it is their understanding that the contracts and agreements covered by this item, which are to be retained permanently, are intended to include only those referred to in § 31.674 of the Commission's rules, and that in order to indicate clearly the nature of this item, the description should be changed to read:

a. General service contracts and license agreements for the furnishing of general services, as covered by § 31.674 of the F. C. C.'s rules.

The carrier contends that if this change is not made, the application of Item 6–a would be uncertain and might require permanent retention of various expired contracts that were considered to have been of a "general" nature.

Reference to other parts of the Commission's rules and regulations are avoided, so as to preclude revision of the preservation of records regulations when other parts are revised. Section 31.674 refers to the same types of general service contracts and license agreements as are listed in Item 6–a as it now reads. Therefore, it would seem that no useful purpose would be served by referring to the above-mentioned section. Furthermore, the carriers may request the Commission to grant relief in specific instances of unduly burdensome requirements. No revision has been made in the item.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Items 6–h and 46–a. In Part 45 both these items read as follows:

> Contracts or agreements relating to construction, purchase or other acquisition or sale, removal or other disposal of telephone plant.

A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. recommend revision of these items. A. T. & T. states that the retention period, "Same periods as prescribed for the records of property to which they relate," is indefinite. The carrier lists Items 36, 37, 39, 43, and 45 as the items pertaining to the records of property to which these contracts and agreements relate. It is suggested by the carrier that the retention period might be clarified by inserting the phrase "under items 36 and 37" after the word "prescribed" but that it would be difficult and often impracticable to determine when all the plant covered by a particular agreement has been retired or when the records of such plant have been superseded. Therefore, such a rule would require either the permanent retention of a substantial volume of useless expired agreements and related correspondence and memoranda (Item 6–m), or considerable work and expense to apply such a rule. A. T. & T. states further that Items 6–h and 46–a include contracts or agreements involved in several classes of transactions and it would be desirable to prescribe more definite retention periods related to the usefulness of the contracts or agreements rather than to other records. It is A. T. & T.'s understanding that all possible usefulness of these contracts or agreements would be adequately covered by providing the following subdivisions and related retention periods for Items 6–h and 46–a:

> (1) Contracts with predecessors for acquisition of telephone plant covered by paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 31.2–21 of F. C. C.'s rules: Permanently.
> (2) Other contracts or agreements: 6 years after expiration or cancellation.

U. S. I. T. A. recommends the following subdivisions:

> (1) Contracts for the acquisition of substantially complete operating systems: Permanently.
> (2) Other contracts and agreements: 6 years after expiration or cancellation.

Since many of the amounts involved in determination of original cost have not been verified by Commission representatives, complete plant records should be retained, whether or not such contracts expire or are canceled, for a reasonable period after plant is retired. Therefore, these items in both parts have been revised to read as follows:

> Contracts or agreements relating to construction, purchase or other acquisition, or sale, removal or other disposal of communication plant:
> (1) Contracts for the acquisition from predecessors of substantially complete operating systems: Permanently.
> (2) Other contracts and agreements: 6 years after retirement of property to which they relate.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Items 6–i, 14–e, and 19–e. These items consist of book or card records of (1) contracts, leases or agreements, (2) tax assessments, payments or accruals, and (3) trust fund transactions. A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. recommend that the retention period for these items be changed to "Optional." A. T. & T. states that the records covered by these items are not original records nor are they used as a basis for entries to accounts or other records, that they are informal memoranda or administrative aids of various design and usefulness provided to facilitate operations or reference to other records, and that the retention of these items should be "optional" so that superseded or discontinued cards, etc., may be destroyed when no longer useful.

It is not believed desirable to provide optional retention for these items unless the information is shown on other records. Therefore, the retention period has been revised to read: "6 years if data not included in other records; otherwise, optional."

Section 45.8—Item 12–a. A. T. & T. states that this item includes a substantial quantity of insurance policies and related records that cannot possibly have any usefulness after the expiration of the policies, except when claims have been filed thereunder. It is also stated that this lack of further usefulness applies particularly to policies covering automobiles, fire and other casualties, and burglary, and that since any company would, in any event, preserve any insurance policy and supporting papers as long as they might have any value or usefulness, all carriers should be permitted to destroy any such records when they determine that the records are no longer useful.

For the purpose of facilitating audits, investigations, and cost studies, these insurance policies provide a direct and valuable source of information. It should be noted that Western Union suggested additions to this item as set forth under the caption "Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Item 12. Insurance Records" (supra) which are found to be acceptable. Therefore, the retention period of "6 years after expiration of policies" has not been revised.

Section 46.9—Item 14–f—Records pertaining to collection or withholding of taxes from customers, employees, and others. The retention period for this item reads "As provided for Item 80." Western Union states that the reference in the period to be retained should be "Item 80–c." This revision has not been made as entire Item 80 pertains to taxes collected from customers and others.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Items 16–c and 16–d. A. T. & T. suggests that the retention period for Item 16–c with respect to check and draft registers, check stubs, copies of checks, and similar records and for Item 16–d with respect to statements from depositaries listing receipts, disbursements, and balances on deposit be changed to "1 year after preparation of record of related outstanding checks or drafts." Western Union recommends optional retention for Item 16–c. A. T. & T. states that the records listed in Items 16–c and 16–d have become quite voluminous, particularly those related to payrolls, that experience has shown that these records are used only for a few months, and that all information shown thereon is also available on other records, for example, on payrolls, payroll and voucher registers, employees' earnings records, the paid or cancelled checks or drafts, records of outstanding checks or drafts, and bank registers. The carrier also states that none of the records covered by Items 16–c and 16–d are required after the payment of the related checks or drafts (covered by Item 18); preparation of records of outstanding checks or drafts (Item 16–f), and the reconciliation of related bank accounts (Item 16–e). In further support of its contention, Western Union refers to Item 17–b (1) which pertains to transmittal forms or lists of items for payment. The period of retention proposed for Item 17–b (1) is "Optional after preparation of record of unpaid items or of outstanding checks or drafts." Western Union states that the aforementioned items can be, and essentially are amplifications of check and draft registers covered by Item 16–c and that the conditionally optional retention in this instance is in keeping with the need for the preservation of the items listed in Item 16–c.

The retention period of "6 years" has been modified to read "6 years if data not included in other records; otherwise, optional." It is believed that this modification will relieve those carriers that maintain other records (such as referred to by A. T. & T. and Western Union) of the burden of maintaining such voluminous records while retaining the six-year provision with respect to carriers that do not maintain other records.

Section 45.8—Item 18–a. A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. believe that the period of 6 years for paid or cancelled checks and drafts covering payment of salaries and wages should be reduced to not more than 4 years. A. T. & T. states that the additional 2 years' retention would serve no useful purpose and would require the preservation of paid checks and drafts for 104 additional weeks which would substantially increase their volume since salaries and wages of the majority of employees are paid weekly. A. T. & T. further states that the 6 years' retention period would require the storage of approximately fifty million more checks and drafts in Bell System telephone companies at the present time than would be required under a 4 years' retention period.

It is believed that, for the purpose of facilitating audits, investigations, and cost studies, a six-year period of retention would be more desirable inasmuch as at least a five-year coverage is generally required. Accordingly, the period of retention has not been reduced.

Section 46.9—Item 18–b. This item pertains to paid or cancelled checks and drafts and receipts for cash payments covering commissions. Western Union states that the term "commission" employed herein may be quite restricted as applied to telephone operations but as used by Western Union it comprehends payment for services of other carriers, individuals, and in a limited degree its employees, and that a clear definition would be desirable.

It does not seem necessary to define herein the word "commissions" which is appropriately defined in § 35.03–20 of the Commission's rules and regulations.

Section 45.8—Items 19–g, 21–b, and 21–l. A. T. & T. suggests that, in order to make Items 19–g, 21–b, and 21–l consistent, the phrase, "reports of changes therein and related authorizations," contained in Item 21–l, which relates to pension and annuity payrolls, be transferred to Item 21–b, which relates to payroll change reports. In view of the changes made pursuant to suggestions of the Public Counsellor of the State of Indiana (Items 21–d, j, k, and l) and in view of the further consideration that the Commission desires to give to the retention periods for pension data, the change has not been made.

Section 46.9 — Item 20 — Vouchers. Western Union states that excepting to an extremely limited extent it does not employ a voucher system, as such. Field office disbursements are made both in cash and by check and the receipt taken is a statutory safeguard rather than an account-detail. As a general practice these receipts are merely sorted into classification groups following which the total for each group is recorded on a monthly classification summary. These summaries prepared by offices are further summarized into State, district and division totals, the division summary being the medium for posting to the general ledger. No plant expenditures are included in these disbursements. Retention of "receipts," for six years as provided in paragraph 60–b of Section 91 of present Part 42 has governed this carrier's practice heretofore with respect to these receipts. This carrier believes that recognition should be given here, or in Item 18, to this condition, thus avoiding the restrictions which would otherwise follow through application of Item 20–b (6) which the carrier feels would require retention of "receipts" for 10 years.

It appears that receipts for cash payments have been confused with vouchers. Item 18–c of these regulations provides for the retention of the receipts mentioned by the carrier for 6 years. As the provisions of Item 20–b (6) would not apply to such receipts, no revision of that item seems necessary.

Section 45.8—Item 21–a. This item pertains to payroll sheets, registers, lists, ledges, etc. A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. suggest that the retention period for this item be changed from 10 years to 6 years as presently required by Item 63 (a) of § 42.91. A. T. & T. states that the proposed retention period of 10 years is a substantial increase from the present requirement of 6 years, considering the large and growing volume of such payroll records, that the Bell System companies generally have found that these records are never referred to after 4 or 5 years, and that all significant data of long-term value are shown on the employees' service records (Item 21–d) and the employees' earnings records (Item 21–j).

It is believed that the establishment of a six-year period would leave a narrow margin of precaution for records that the companies state are referred to after four or five years; furthermore, a retention period of 10 years is viewed as desirable in order to provide a source of information for employee turnover and other studies. Accordingly, the period of retention has not been changed.

Sections 45.8 and 46.9—Items 22–d and 22–e. Item 22–d pertains to studies, correspondence, and administrative reports covering wage practices and Item 22–e to studies, analyses, reports, summaries, memoranda, and correspondence relating to force requirements, employment, training, and other administration of employees and working conditions. The period of retention for these items is "6 years after supersedure or cancellation." A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. contend that the phrase "after supersedure or cancellation" is not applicable to the records described since they are seldom actually superseded or cancelled. A. T. & T. states that, since the retention period for the administrative reports referred to in these two items is covered by Items 100 and 101 and since the other records described are used only for administrative purposes, the retention period should be changed to read: "Reports, as provided for Items 100 and 101; correspondence, as provided for Item 25–b; other records, optional." U. S. I. T. A. recommends that the retention period be changed to optional since administrative reports in connection with personnel records will be retained by the company as long as they serve any useful purpose.

A. T. & T.'s recommendation has been adopted in full with respect to Item 22–e, and in part with respect to Item 22–d. The retention period for Item 22–d has been modified to read "6 years, except as provided in Item 25–b," thereby relieving the companies from retaining unnecessary correspondence. It appears desirable to retain the records relating to wage practices for a period sufficient to determine the validity of statements submitted to the Commission in connection with acquisitions of property with traffic. U. S. I. T. A.'s recommendation for optional retention has been met to the extent that the correspondence described in Item 22–d may be destroyed at the option of the company when it is not necessary for a proper or complete understanding of the other records, and items in paragraph 22–e may be destroyed at the option of the carrier unless prohibited by the provisions of Item 25–b (1) or Item 100.

Section 46.9—Item 24–b. Item 24–a pertains to certificates and reports of annual examinations and audits by public accountants and Item 24–b pertains to other reports of audits, examinations, and verifications. Western Union states that it is assumed that Item 24–b pertains to balance sheet and earnings audits of a subsidiary rather than so called field audits reports which are essentially inspections and verifications.

No change appears necessary as it is intended that Item 24–b include all reports with respect to audits, examinations, and verifications not listed in Item 24–a.

Section 45.8—Item 27–c—Index of records. The period of retention proposed is "6 years after expiration or supersedure." A. T. & T. and U. S. I. T. A. suggest that the period be changed to "Optional after expiration or supersedure." A. T. & T. states that they know of no reason for retaining an index of records after it has been superseded, that it cannot possibly assist in locating records that have been reclassified, relocated, or destroyed, and that only the currently active indexes have any usefulness.

The omission of an item from a current index would require reference to the superseded index. Since these indexes are not voluminous, it appears that the proposed period of "6 years after expiration or supersedure" will not be unduly burdensome. Consequently, the retention period has not been changed.

Section 46.9—Item 29—Summaries and property or other records maintained on tabulating cards or other machine-processed media. Western Union states that apparently the second word in the first line should be "of" instead of "and".

No change is desirable as it is intended that this item be applicable to all summaries maintained on tabulating cards and that the summaries not be limited to property.

Section 45.8—Item 70–g (2). This item pertains to contracts or agreements, with customers or others for extension of lines or other construction of plant, involving contributions or cost reimbursements. The period of retention is "Same periods as prescribed for the property to which they relate." A. T. & T. points to the same difficulties in attempting to apply such an indefinite rule as those discussed with respect to Items 6–h and 46–a. A. T. & T. states that, since this item covers contracts and related papers, the same retention period should be prescribed as suggested for Items 6–h and 46–a. Under that suggestion, if the contract should establish a long-term or continuing contractual relationship, the contract would be retained until 6 years after the expiration or cancellation of such relationship.

Since many of the amounts involved in determination of original cost have not been verified by Commission representatives, complete plant records should be retained, whether or not such contracts expire or are cancelled, for a reasonable period after plant is retired. Therefore, the retention period for this item has been changed to read: "6 years after retirement of the property to which they relate."

Section 46.9—Item 74—Messenger department delivery and pick-up records. Western Union calls attention to the fact that the provisions in this item are contained in Item 68 as proposed by the carrier and in Items 64–a and 82 of the notice of proposed rule-making.

As proposed Item 74 covered both message and errand service and Item 68 as revised covers only message service, there has been substituted for proposed Item 74 a new item reading as follows:

> 74. Errand service records: For the same periods prescribed under Item 68 for comparable records pertaining to messages.

Section 46.9—Item 76–e. Western Union recommends optional retention for this item following the principle provided for "schedules" in Item 69–c. Item 76 pertains to time services and 76–e thereof pertains to "Reporting schedules and other detail if summarized as provided in Item 76–d." Item 69 pertains to telegraph and cable office reports and 69–c to "Schedules supporting reports showing details essential to accounting analysis and for administrative purposes."

The respondent's recommendation has called attention to the inadvertent use of the word "Optional" in connection with Item 69–c, whereas the similarity between Items 69–c and 76–e appears to make a similar retention period desirable for these two items. As indicated in Item 69–c these records are "essential to accounting analysis." It is deemed desirable to retain them for three years. Accordingly, the correction has been made in Item 69–c rather than reducing the period proposed for Item 76–e.

In addition to the foregoing the Commission has made the following changes:

Sections 45.2 and 46.2—Designation of supervisory official. In order to make it permissible for a carrier to designate more than one supervisory official should such be deemed desirable, in both sections the words "an official" have been changed to "one or more officials."

Sections 45.4 and 46.4—Index of records. In order to clarify the original intent of this instruction, it has been revised in both Parts 45 and 46 to read as follows:

> Index of records. At each office of the carrier where records are kept or stored, such records as are herein required to be preserved shall be so arranged, filed, and currently indexed that they may be readily identified and made available to representatives of the Commission. In the general offices of the carrier a master index shall be available showing the physical location of the various classes of records, the periods to which such classes of records relate, and the locations, names, and titles of the custodians.

Minor changes, principally editorial in character, have been made in § 45.8 (Items 4–q, 6–c, 10–d, 44–l, 73–g, and 81–b (1)) and 46.9 (Items 3–b, 4–q, 6–c, 6–j, 10–d, 13–a, 44–a, 44–g, 69–b, 70–l, 75, 77, 83–a, and 83–d). These changes do not affect the substance of the rules as proposed.

These rule changes have been coordinated with the Committee on Accounts and Statistics of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners.

An appropriate order in conformity with this opinion will issue.

Order. At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 16th day of August 1950;

The Commission, having under consideration the matter of rescission of Part 42 (Preservation of Records) and the promulgation of Part 45 (Preservation of Records of Telephone Carriers) and Part 46 (Preservation of Records of Wire-telegraph, Ocean-cable, and Radiotelegraph Carriers) of its rules and regulations, the notice of proposed rule making adopted herein on September 28, 1949,[1] and the memorandum opinion with respect thereto adopted this day and herein incorporated by reference; and

It appearing, that authority for the issuance of these rules and regulations is contained in sections 4 (i) and 220 (e) of the Communication Act of 1934 as amended;

It is ordered, That Part 45 (Preservation of Records of Telephone Carriers), as set forth below, is hereby prescribed and promulgated as the regulations governing the preservation of records of communication common carriers subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission and engaged primarily in furnishing telephone service, effective October 1, 1950: Provided, however, That any such carrier may sooner adopt these rules if it so desires; and

It is further ordered, That Part 46 (Preservation of Records of Wire-telegraph, Ocean-cable, and Radiotelegraph Carriers), as set out below, is hereby prescribed and promulgated as the regulations governing the preservation of records of communication common carriers subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission and engaged primarily in furnishing wire-telegraph, ocean-cable, or radiotelegraph service, effective October 1, 1950: Provided, however, That any such carrier may sooner adopt these rules if it so desires; and

It is further ordered, That effective October 1, 1950, Part 42 (Preservation of Records) of the Commission's rules and regulations is rescinded.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 220, 48 Stat. 1078; 47 U. S. C. 220)

APPLICABILITY

§ 45.01 Applicability. This part is prescribed and promulgated as the regulations governing the preservation of records of communication common carriers, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, primarily engaged in furnishing telephone service.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

§ 45.1 Scope of the regulations in this part. (a) The regulations in this part apply to all accounts, records, memoranda, documents, papers, and correspondence prepared by or on behalf of the carrier as well as those which come into its possession in connection with the acquisition of property, such as by purchase, consolidation, merger, etc.

(b) The regulations in this part shall not be construed as requiring the preparation of accounts, records, or memoranda not required to be prepared by other regulations, such as the uniform systems of accounts, of the Commission.

(c) The regulations in this part shall not be construed as excusing compliance with any other lawful requirement for the preservation of records for periods longer than those prescribed in this part.

(d) Unless otherwise specified in § 45.8, duplicate copies of records may be destroyed at any time; Provided, however, That such duplicate copies contain no significant information not shown on the originals and that precautions have been taken to assure the continued retention of the originals (or one true copy) for the full period required under the regulations in this part. (See Item 26–a of § 45.8.)

(e) Records other than those listed in § 45.8 may be destroyed at the option of the carrier: Provided, however, That records which are used in lieu of those listed shall be preserved for the periods prescribed for records used for substantially similar purposes: And provided further, That retention of records pertaining to added services, functions, plant, etc., the establishment of which cannot be presently foreseen, shall conform with the principles promulgated in § 45.8.

§ 45.2 Designation of supervisory official. Each carrier subject to the regulations in this part shall designate one or more officials to supervise the preservation and the authorized destruction of its records.

§ 45.3 Protection and storage of records. The carrier shall protect records subject to the regulations in this part from damage from fires, floods, and other hazards and, in the selection of storage spaces, safeguard the records from unnecessary exposure to deterioration from excessive humidity, dryness, or lack of proper ventilation.

§ 45.4 Index of records. At each office of the carrier where records are kept or stored, such records as are herein required to be preserved shall be so arranged, filed, and currently indexed that they may be readily identified and made available to representatives of the Commission. In the general offices of the carrier a master index shall be available showing the physical location of the various classes of records, the periods to which such classes of records relate, and the locations, names, and titles of the custodians.

§ 45.5 Preservation of records on microfilm. (a) As indicated in § 45.8, certain records may be microfilmed and the film retained in lieu of the original records, provided the procedures prescribed in paragraphs (b) to (f) of this section are followed.

(b) Prior to photographing, the records shall be so prepared, arranged, classified, and identified as readily to permit the subsequent location, examination, and reproduction of the photographs thereof. Any significant characteristic, feature, or other attribute of the original records which photography would not reflect clearly (e. g., that the record is a copy or that certain figures thereon are red) shall be so indicated on the records at the time of such arrangement, classification, and identification. When a number of the records to be microfilmed have in common such a characteristic or attribute, an appropriate notation identifying the characteristic or attribute may be indicated in a statement at the beginning of the roll of film instead of on each individual record.

(c) Each roll of film shall include a microfilm of a certificate or certificates stating that the photographs are direct and facsimile reproductions of the original records and that they have been made in accordance with prescribed instructions. Such certificate or certificates shall be executed by a person or persons having personal knowledge of the facts covered thereby.

(d) The photographic matter on each roll shall commence and end with a statement as to the nature and arrangement of the records reproduced, the name of the photographer, and the date. Rolls of film shall not be cut. Supplemental or retaken film, whether of misplaced or omitted documents or of portions of a film found to be spoiled or illegible or of other matter, shall be attached to the beginning of the roll, and in such event the aforementioned certificate or certificates shall cover also such supplemental or retaken film and shall state the reasons for taking such film.

(e) All film stock shall be of approved permanent-record microcopying type of 16 mm. or 35 mm. size, either perforated or unperforated, such as meets the minimum specifications of the National Bureau of Standards. (Such film stock may be identified by a manufacturers' mark, a solid triangle after the word "safety" in the edge marking of the film.) The photographing and processing shall be such that reproductions on photographic paper can be made, similar in size without significant loss of clarity of detail, during the period prescribed in this part for the retention of the records concerned. The carrier shall be prepared to furnish, at its own expense, appropriate standard facilities for reading the microfilm. If the Commission so directs the carrier shall furnish photographic reproductions of records, the originals of which have been destroyed under the provisions of this instruction.

(f) The microfilms shall be indexed and retained in such manner as will render them readily accessible and identifiable. They shall be stored in such manner as to provide reasonable protection from hazards such as fire, flood, theft, etc. The films should be cared for in such a manner as to prevent cracking, breaking, splitting, etc.

§ 45.6 Destruction of records. The destruction of the records permitted to be destroyed under the provisions of the regulations in this part may be performed in any manner elected by the carrier concerned. Precautions should be taken, however, to macerate, or otherwise destroy the legibility of, records the content of which is forbidden by law to be divulged to unauthorized persons.

§ 45.7 Premature destruction. When any records are destroyed before the expiration of the prescribed period of retention, a certified statement listing, as far as may be determined, the records destroyed and describing the circumstances of accidental or other premature destruction shall be filed with the Commission within ninety (90) days from the date of discovery of such destruction. Discovery of loss of records is to be treated in the same manner as in the case of premature destruction.

§ 46.5 Preservation of records on microfilm. (a) As indicated in § 46.9, certain records may be microfilmed and the film retained in lieu of the original records, provided the procedures prescribed in paragraphs (b) to (f) of this section are followed.

(b) Prior to photographing, the records shall be so prepared, arranged, classified, and identified as readily to permit the subsequent location, examination, and reproduction of the photographs thereof. Any significant characteristic, feature, or other attribute of the original records which photography would not reflect clearly (e. g., that the record is a copy or that certain figures thereon are red) shall be so indicated on the records at the time of such arrangement, classification, and identification. When a number of the records to be microfilmed have in common such a characteristic or attribute, an appropriate notation identifying the characteristic or attribute may be indicated in a statement at the beginning of the roll of film instead of on each individual record.

(c) Each roll of film shall include a microfilm of a certificate or certificates stating that the photographs are direct and facsimile reproductions of the original records and that they have been made in accordance with prescribed instructions. Such certificate or certificates shall be executed by a person or persons having personal knowledge of the facts covered thereby.

(d) The photographic matter on each roll shall commence and end with a statement as to the nature and arrangement of the records reproduced, the name of the photographer, and the date. Rolls of film shall not be cut. Supplemental or retaken film, whether of misplaced or omitted documents or of portions of a film found to be spoiled or illegible or of other matter, shall be attached to the beginning of the roll, and in such event the aforementioned certificate or certificates shall cover also such supplemental or retaken film and shall state the reasons for taking such film.

(e) All film stock shall be of approved permanent-record microcopying type of 16 mm. or 35 mm. size, either perforated or unperforated, such as meets the minimum specifications of the National Bureau of Standards. (Such film stock may be identified by a manufacturers' mark, a solid triangle after the word "safety" in the edge marking of the film.) The photographing and processing shall be such that reproductions on photographic paper can be made, similar in size without significant loss of clarity of detail, during the period prescribed in these rules for the retention of the records concerned. The carrier shall be prepared to furnish, at its own expense, appropriate standard facilities for reading the microfilm. If the Commission so directs the carrier shall furnish photographic reproductions of records the originals of which have been destroyed under the provisions of this instruction.

(f) The microfilms shall be indexed and retained in such manner as will render them readily accessible and identifiable. They shall be stored in such manner as to provide reasonable protection from hazards such as fire, flood, theft, etc. The films should be cared for in such a manner as to prevent cracking, breaking, splitting, etc.

§ 46.6 Destruction of records. The destruction of the records permitted to be destroyed under the provisions of the regulations in this part may be performed in any manner elected by the carrier concerned. Precautions should be taken, however, to macerate, or otherwise destroy the legibility of, records the content of which is forbidden by law to be divulged to unauthorized persons.

§ 46.7 Premature destruction. When any records are destroyed before the expiration of the prescribed period of retention, a certified statement listing, as far as may be determined, the records destroyed and describing the circumstances of accidental or other premature destruction shall be filed with the Commission within ninety (90) days from the date of discovery of such destruction. Discovery of loss of records is to be treated in the same manner as in the case of premature destruction.

§ 46.8 Extension of period of retention of telegraph messages. Whenever a person having a bona fide interest in the retention of original messages enumerated in Item 63 of § 46.9 shall communicate in writing with the carrier having custody of the same, prior to the date of actual destruction of such messages, identifying the messages to be retained with sufficient particularity as to make segregation thereof feasible (e. g., the date of the message, the point of origin, the point of destination, the names of sender and addressee) the carrier so notified shall retain such messages for a period of six months in addition to the time prescribed with respect thereto in this part of the Commission's rules and regulations: Provided, however, That such period of retention shall not be required to be extended more than once under this section.

LIST OF RECORDS

§ 46.9 List of records. The following list of records shows the periods of time that designated records shall be preserved and, by the indicator (M), the records that may be preserved on microfilm in lieu of the original records. PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR, Part 934]

[Docket No. AO-83, A 14]

HANDLING OF MILK IN LOWELL-LAWRENCE, MASS., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT, AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Lowell-Lawrence, Massachusetts, marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 10th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing on the record of which the proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, was formulated, was conducted at Lawrence, Massachusetts, on June 26, 27, and 28, 1950 pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on June 13, 1950 (15 F. R. 3940).

The material issues of record related to:

(a) Whether the payments to producers should be blended in a market-wide uniform price.

(b) The provisions to be included in an order providing for a market-wide pool. The evidence on this issue involved:

(1) Definition of "producer", "handler", "producer-handler", "pool plant", "city plant", "country plant", "outside milk" and other terms.

(2) Assignment of classified milk and milk products to receipts from producers and other sources.

(3) Determination of price differentials applicable to Class I and Class II milk at various distances from the market.

(4) Determination of the uniform price to producers with appropriate differentials.

(5) Basis of assessment on milk received from other Federal order market.

Findings and conclusions. Upon the basis of the evidence adduced at the hearing and on the record thereof, it is hereby found and concluded that:

(a) Market-wide or dealer pool. The payments by handlers for milk purchased from producers should be blended into a composite uniform price reflecting the value of milk disposed of by all handlers in the market. The dealer pool in the market maintained reasonably uniform prices during the war years when milk supplies were generally short in the region. During those years a high percentage of the milk delivered by producers was used in Class I by all handlers. With the recent increase in supplies of milk in the Lowell-Lawrence market and in the surrounding area, handlers with a relatively high Class I utilization have been able to attract producers from the fringes of the supply area who previously had received prices reflecting considerably more excess milk. Meanwhile, producers nearer to the market have at times been unable to find a market for their milk except as excess milk through the facilities of the local producers cooperative association.

The incentive on the part of handlers purchasing milk on a dealer pool basis to reach out to distant points to purchase milk lies in the possibility that the handler can obtain his entire requirements for Class I use from a region in which producers generally receive a surplus price for a substantial part of their milk deliveries. Producers in such an area are willing to sell to the high Class I use handler even though that handler may charge excessive hauling rates for farm to plant transportation. The disparity in prices paid producers by different handlers in the Lowell-Lawrence market has created a situation in which unwarranted variations in prices paid to farmers for milk results in unequal cost of milk to handlers and consequent instability in the market.

The evidence in the record indicates that handlers have been reaching out for milk supplies beyond the former boundaries of the milkshed. Some of the expansion is necessary to meet increasing fluid milk requirements in the market. However, the record indicates that some handlers purchasing milk at certain points enjoy a substantial competitive advantage over other milk buyers.

The proposed market-wide pool will provide that all handlers in the Lowell-Lawrence market pay a uniform price to producers at similar locations.

The marked difference between the uniform blend price paid to producers supplying the Boston market and the prices paid to certain dealers in the Lowell-Lawrence market invites the Lowell-Lawrence handler to impose on his producers higher hauling charges. The Boston and Lowell-Lawrence milk supply areas are intermingled and the larger Boston market draws considerably more milk from this overlapping area. The proposed market-wide pool provisions are designed to bring about alignment of prices paid producers at competitive points in each of these markets.

(b) From the evidence it is concluded that the proposed amendment providing for a market-wide pool as hereinafter set forth, meets the needs of the Lowell-Lawrence market and will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. The following findings and conclusions are made with respect to the applicable provisions of the marketing agreement and order:

(1) Definitions. The term "producer" should be defined in order to identify those dairy farmers who are considered the regular source of supply for the market and to whom the uniform market blended price should be paid. Determination of producer status should be made on the basis of delivery of milk from the producer's farm to a pool plant. Dairymen who deliver milk to pool plants in such a way that the milk is not available regularly to the market should be identified as "dairy farmers for other markets". The proposed method of determining which plants are pool plants is discussed later in this section.

The term "handler" should be defined so as to identify the operator of a plant as the person responsible for reporting the receipts and use of milk and for making required payments on such milk. The proposed "pool handler" definition fixes this responsibility for payments to producers on the operator of a pool plant at which the milk is received from farmers. The exception to permit handlers to divert milk from the plant at which it is regularly received to another plant temporarily although the producer is maintained on the payroll of the diverting plant should be continued.

The market administrator should be advised of the diversion promptly. This enables the administrator to verify the diversion and maintain the necessary check on the weights and tests of milk diverted.

The definition of "producer-handler" together with the definitions of "producer" and "handler" should identify which transactions of a person operating in both capacities are to be regarded as producer transactions and which are handler transactions.

All bulk milk delivered from a farm to a handler's plant, regardless of whether the dairy farmer is also a handler, should be regarded as a delivery by a dairy farmer. It was suggested at the hearing that dairy farmers who are also handlers be permitted to deliver a limited quantity of milk to another handler for processing on a price exempt basis. Several producers who have milk processed by handlers on an exempt basis at the present time opposed any limitation on this privilege.

The proposed market-wide pool provides that all producers delivering bulk milk to handlers in the market receive the same uniform blended price. Several dairy farmers would be required to accept a blended price under this plan whereas they have been receiving the full Class I price.

None of these dairy farmers or any other dairy farmers or handlers indicated at the hearing any objection to the exemption from pooling requested by the dairy farmers who deliver bulk milk to handlers for processing and return to the same farmers. The number of persons and the quantity of milk affected by this type of transaction is small and is apparently considered no threat to market stability by the persons who would participate in the proposed market pool. It is concluded, therefore, that dairy farmers who deliver milk to handlers for packaging and return to them be exempt at this time from pooling on that quantity of milk. If the exempt milk does grow to a volume which threatens market stability, we can expect those producers and handlers who are participants in the market pool to request immediate amendment to the order to limit the exemption.

The term "exempt milk" should be defined to identify the quantity of milk packaged by a handler for a dairy farmer.

The definition of "pool plants" as those which meet specific requirements is necessary to establish their relation to the market as a regular or reserve supply. The determination of pool plant status is the essential part of the determination by which dairy farmers are to be included in the market-wide pool.

Pool plant status was proposed for all city plants provided that 10 percent of the plant's total receipts of fluid milk products were disposed of in the marketing area. The 10-percent requirement for pooling permits fringe area handlers to avoid pooling if they have only a small part of their business in the area. Applicable licensing requirements of the local health authorities are a further condition of pooling for all plants defined as city or country plants. The proposed method for qualifying city plants is similar to that effective in the Boston, Springfield and Worcester markets. No objection to these requirements for qualification was indicated at the hearing. The proposed basis for qualifying city plants as pool plants should be adopted.

The supply area for the Lowell-Lawrence market is intermingled with the Boston supply area both near the market and in the country plant area. Country plants supplying other New England markets are located in the same general area. Since the number of milk plants located within an economic distance for shipment of milk to the Lowell-Lawrence market far exceeds the number required to provide an adequate supply to consumers in the area, it is important to establish standards which will identify a plant which is primarily supplying the Lowell-Lawrence Class I milk market.

One proposal made at the hearing would qualify country plants substantially on the basis that 50 percent of the receipts from dairy farmers at such plant were shipped to city plants or directly to consumers in the market area during any of the months of October through February. Such a requirement would operate to include in the pool only country plants which are needed to supply Class I milk to the market in each of these five months to the extent of 50 percent of the plant receipts from dairy farmers.

Several witnesses opposed the condition that a country plant be required to ship 50 percent of its total receipts to the Lowell-Lawrence market during each of the months October through February in order to maintain pool plant status. One handler demonstrated that a plant which had shipped substantial quantities to the market on a regular basis would have been unable to qualify continuously under the 50-percent rule.

An alternative proposal that the handler satisfy a minimum requirement of 50 percent Class I milk at all plants was proposed by this handler. The counter proposal appears to contemplate a minimum Class I use which a handler would have to attain in order to participate in the pool. Utilization of only 50 percent of total milk receipts in Class I is far below the market average and appears to be unreasonably low except for a plant which functions only as a reserve supply for the market. The shipping requirement rather than the handler's Class I utilization appears to be the more reasonable method of determining which plants belong in the market pool.

The 50-percent figure may impose at times on certain handlers an obligation to ship unnecessary quantities of milk to the market in order to maintain qualification. Proponents of the 50-percent proposal observed that the handler could split his shipments with sales to the Springfield and Worcester markets. The reasonableness of this alternative is questionable in view of the distances between the markets and the fact that there is now no plant regularly supplying the Lowell-Lawrence market and either the Worcester or the Springfield market. Certain plants do supply the Lowell-Lawrence market and the Boston market but such plants are either Boston pool plants or receive only a Class II credit for milk sent to Boston.

In order to maintain price alignment between the Lowell-Lawrence and Boston markets, it is necessary to assure continued participation in the Lowell-Lawrence market of at least as much country plant milk as was supplied to the market during the first five months of 1950. In order to assure the continued inclusion of adequate country plant supplies in view of the increased receipts of milk at all plants in the region, the qualifying shipment percentage should be 30 percent for the months October through February.

The terms "city plant" and "country plant" are needed to differentiate the nearby plants which have direct distribution to consumers in the area and which are located within the direct distribution area from plants located in the marketing area. Plants located within 10 miles of the boundaries of the marketing area should be designated as "city plants". This area includes about the same territory as that covered by the current provisions of the order and will establish a fringe area of equal width at all points surrounding the area. The "city plant" area is described in the present order as that area within 20 miles of the City Halls in Lowell and Lawrence.

It was proposed at the hearing that the "city plant" area be extended to a 30-mile radius in order to include a plant located at Manchester, New Hampshire, which disposed of bulk and packaged fluid milk products to handlers in the marketing area. This plant has retail distribution in the Manchester area in sufficient quantity that it could not qualify for the Lowell-Lawrence pool under a requirement that 50 percent of its total receipts be shipped to the Lowell-Lawrence market during each of the months October through February. This plant, as its operations were described in the record, functions more like a country plant than a city plant with respect to the Lowell-Lawrence market. The record indicates that the plant could have qualified in 1949 and 1950 as a country plant under a requirement that 30 percent be shipped in the qualifying months to the Lowell-Lawrence market.

The 30-mile radius would include several urban areas not contiguous to the Lowell-Lawrence area in addition to Manchester. These noncontiguous urban areas are served by milk handlers who do not distribute regularly in the Lowell-Lawrence market. The privilege of participation in the market pool should not be extended to such handlers on the basis of only 10 percent of their sales being made in the area. The requirement that a "city plant" be located within 10 miles of the market area will extend that privilege to plants in a small area surrounding the market without including any large urban area which is not directly bordering on the defined marketing area.

The term "country plant" is needed for convenience in referring to plants which are not defined as "city plants."

The definition of "outside milk" proposed at the hearing and the proposed payments into the pool on outside milk would assure producers of receiving the Class I price for all Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area. It would permit also the disposition of surplus milk to plants in the marketing area or small quantities of milk to consumers without requiring the handler who made the disposition to pool all receipts at his plant. Milk disposed of in the marketing area from plants regulated by another Federal order would be subject to a payment into the Lowell-Lawrence pool only if the price applicable under the Lowell-Lawrence order were higher than the price applicable under the other Federal order.

(2) Assignment of classified products to various receipts. No change should be made in the general plan of milk classification. In adapting the order to a market-wide pool, it is necessary to provide specifically for the classification of milk received at pool plants from handlers regulated by other Federal orders. It is desirable to establish a system of assignment of receipts by each handler to allocate the volumes of Class I and Class II utilization between producer milk and nonproducer milk handled at the same plant.

This system of assignment of Class I milk to the plants of each handler with the bulk of the milk assigned to nearby plants, affects the amount deducted from the value of the pool in the form of transportation differentials. It appears reasonable to require handlers to pay for Class I milk on the basis of most economical movement of such milk to the market. However, since certain country plants regularly supply Class I milk to markets other than Lowell-Lawrence, such direct sales of Class I milk from country plants should be assigned to the country plant from which the disposition was made.

(3 Differentials applicable to Class prices at various locations. The schedule of price differentials on Class I milk proposed for plants located beyond 40 miles from the market is identical to the schedule of rates effective in the Springfield and Worcester markets. The rates are slightly higher than those established for the Boston market in recognition of the higher cost of transporting smaller quantities to these smaller markets. Each of these markets is slightly nearer the country milk plant supply area and thus the higher unit cost of transportation is offset by the shorter haul with resulting comparable cost of milk at the same country point.

There is at least one country plant supplying the Lowell-Lawrence market which is located outside the city plant area but less than 40 miles from the market. The present order provides for a Class I differential of 17 cents on all milk received at this plant. It was proposed that the differential be reduced to 10 cents. However, the representative of the cooperative association handler operating the plant testified that the established class prices less the 17 cents had not been returned to producer members recently. There is no indication, therefore, that the handler can pay the higher price proposed at this location. Furthermore, if the plant should shift to the Boston pool, it would be entitled to the full country plant deduction on Class I and Class II milk. The 17-cent differential should be continued on Class I milk received at the country plants located less than 41 miles from the city of Lawrence.

The Class II differential for country plants loated less than 41 miles from the market should be 2 cents under the proposed schedule as it is under the present order. Although the hearing proposal called for no differential for plants in this zone, no evidence was presented to support a change in the rate.

(4) Uniform price to producers. Provision should be made for a market-wide type of pool in order that all producers delivering milk to all handlers may receive a uniform price for all milk so delivered, irrespective of the uses made of such milk by the individual handler to whom it is delivered. This method of paying producers will require a producer settlement fund for making adjustments in payments by handlers so that the total sum paid by each handler shall equal the value of milk received by him and utilized in the classes for which prices are established by the proposed marketing agreement and order.

The uniform price paid to producers should reflect differentials for the location at which the milk is delivered and for the generally higher prices paid to producers located near the sales area.

Differentials which vary with the distance from the market of the plant at which a producer delivers his milk reflect the varying value of the product at different locations. To reflect this value difference, payments to producers in the Lowell-Lawrence area and in other New England markets are modified according to the schedule of differentials applicable to the Class I price. The amount of such differentials is discussed in connection with the previous issue.

A system of differentials to be paid producers located near to the marketing area similar to the plan in effect under the Boston Federal milk order was supported by the producers who proposed the amendment providing for a market-wide type of pool.

Most of the dairy farms in Massachusetts are close to urban centers. This probably explains why prices to Massachusetts farmers for milk sold wholesale average considerably more than the prices paid to Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont producers. The difference is usually more than transportation cost alone.

The nearby differential plan has been a part of the payment plan in the Boston milk order for many years. The nearby differential area for the Boston market completely surrounds the Lowell-Lawrence market. Producers in the area need not accept a price less than the Boston price including the nearby differential. The proposed differential plan is necessary in the Lowell-Lawrence market to reflect this customary differential.

The first differential area, or 46-cent zone, would extend 40 miles from the Lowell-Lawrence market and would overlap the Boston 41–80 mile zone at certain points. Certain witnesses at the hearing contended that the boundary of this differential area should correspond to the similar boundary of the 40-mile area from the Boston market. It is true that the Lowell-Lawrence handler will have a competitive buying advantage in this overlapping area. However, the record indicates that in this area there are many farms close together all supplying the Lowell-Lawrence market. No group of producers shipping to the Boston market was described. This is a normal supply area for the Lowell-Lawrence market and should continue to supply that market predominantly.

It was proposed and appears reasonable that the arc outlining the 80-mile distance from Boston should be used to measure the outside boundaries of the intermediate 23-cent differential zone.

Payments to producers should be made twice monthly with the option on the part of the handler to make a total payment in one amount not later than the 17th day after the end of the month. If the handler does not elect to make a final payment as early as the 17th day of the month following that in which the milk is delivered, he must make an advance payment on or before the 10th day of the month in which the milk is delivered and the final payment on the 25th day of the month of delivery. This practice is similar to that effective in other Federal order markets in New England.

(5) Basis of assessment. The basis of assessment should be modified to provide for assessing milk received from other Federal order plants in an amount equal to the assessment cost under the Lowell-Lawrence order less the assessment charged under the other Federal order. Other Federal order milk requires the additional expenditure of administrative funds for verification of handlers' reports. This added cost should not be imposed on handlers who purchase milk from producers but should be borne by handlers who purchase other Federal order milk.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. One brief was filed by a group of cooperative associations of producers.

The brief contained statements of fact, proposed findings and conclusions, and arguments with respect to the provisions of the proposed amendments. Every point covered in the brief was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the brief are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this recommended decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and amendment to the order. The following amendment to the order is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The amendment includes in addition to the substantive changes discussed in this decision republication of the entire order to permit renumbering the sections thereof and the redesignation of section headings in compliance with the applicable FEDERAL REGISTER regulations (1 CFR Part 1).

Recomended marketing agreement and order. The following order is recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. (g) Give each of the producers delivering to a plant as reported by the handler prompt written notice of their actual or potential loss of producer status for the first month in which the plant's status has changed or is changing to that of a nonpool plant.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 934.15 Classes of utilization. All milk and milk products received by a handler shall be classified as Class I milk or Class II milk. Subject to §§ 934.16, 934.17 and 934.18, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all fluid milk products the utilization of which is not established as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk shall be all fluid milk products the utilization of which is established:

(1) As being sold, distributed, or disposed of other than as or in milk; and other than as or in flavored milk or flavored skim milk, buttermilk, or cultured skim milk, for human consumption; and

(2) As plant shrinkage, not in excess of 2 percent of the volume handled.

§ 934.16 Classification of interplant movements of fluid milk products other than cream. Fluid milk products, except cream, moved to another plant from a pool plant or from the city plant of an association of producers shall be classified as follows:

(a) If moved to another pool plant, they shall be classified in the class to which they are assigned at the plant of receipt pursuant to §§ 934.25 and 934.26.

(b) If moved to a buyer-handler's plant, they shall be classified as Class I milk, unless Class II utilization is established.

(c) If moved to a producer-handler's plant, or to any unregulated plant except a plant subject to the Boston, Worcester, or Springfield orders, they shall be classified as Class I milk up to the total quantity of the same form of fluid milk products utilized as Class I milk at the plant to which they were moved.

(d) If moved to a plant subject to the Boston, Worcester, or Springfield orders, they shall be classified in the same class to which the receipt is assigned under such order.

(e) If moved to a regulated plant of a nonpool handler, except the city plant of an association of producers, or to any unregulated plant except a plant subject to the Boston, Worchester, or Springfield orders, they shall be classified as Class I milk if retransferred to either of these types of regulated or unregulated plants.

§ 934.17 Classification of interplant movements of cream, and of milk products other than fluid milk products. Cream and milk products other than fluid milk products moved from the regulated plant of a pool handler to another plant shall be classified as Class II milk.

§ 934.18 Responsibility of handlers in establishing the classification of milk. (a) In establishing the classification of any milk received by a handler from producers, the burden rests upon the handler who receives the milk from producers to account for the milk and to prove that such milk should not be classified as Class I milk.

(b) In establishing the classification of any pool milk received in the form of cream or milk products other than fluid milk products, or any other milk or milk products received by a handler which is not pool milk, the burden rests upon the receiving handler to account for such milk and milk products and to prove that such milk and milk products should not be classified as Class I milk.

DETERMINATION OF POOL PLANT STATUS

§ 934.20 Requirements for all pool plants. Each receiving plant shall be a pool plant during each month in which it meets the applicable requirements contained in § 934.21 or § 934.22, together with the following basic requirements:

(a) A majority of the dairy farmers delivering milk to the plant hold certificates of registration issued pursuant to Chapter 94, section 16C and 16G, of the Massachusetts General Laws.

(b) The handler operating the plant holds a license which has been issued by the milk inspector of a city or town in the marketing area, pursuant to Chapter 94, section 40, of the Massachusetts General Laws, or a majority of the dairy farmers delivering milk to the plant are approved by such an inspector as sources of supply for milk for sale in his municipality.

(c) The plant is operated neither as the plant of a producer-handler, nor as a pool plant pursuant to the provisions of the Boston, New York, Worcester, or Springfield orders.

(d) Any plant operated during the preceding months of October through February by the same handler, an affiliate of the handler, or any person who controls or is controlled by the handler, unless its operation was in the handler's capacity as a producer-handler, which was not a pool plant in each of the preceding months of October through February, shall not be a pool plant in the months March through September.

§ 934.21 Additional requirements for city pool plants. Each city receiving plant shall be a pool plant in each month in which at least 10 percent of its total receipts of fluid milk products other than cream is disposed of in the marketing area as Class I milk, or in which it is operated by an association of producers.

§ 934.22 Additional requirements for country pool plants. (a) Each country receiving plant shall be a pool plant in any month in which more than 30 percent of its total receipts of fluid milk products, other than cream, is disposed of as Class I milk directly to consumers in the marketing area or is shipped as milk to city plants at which more than 50 percent of the total receipts of fluid milk products, other than cream is disposed of as Class I milk.

(b) Any country plant which is a pool plant continuously from the effective date of this order through February 1951 and any country plant which thereafter is a pool plant continuously in each of the months from October through February shall be a pool plant continuously for the following months of March through September, regardless of the quantity then disposed of in the marketing area, if the handler's written request for pool plant status for such seven months' period is received by the market administrator before March 1 of that year. Changes in the identity of the handler operating the plant shall not affect the application of this paragraph.

ASSIGNMENT OF RECEIPTS TO CLASSES

§ 934.25 Assignment of pool handlers' receipts to Class I milk. For the purpose of computing the net quantity of each pool handler's Class I milk for which a value is to be computed pursuant to § 934.50, his receipts of milk and milk products shall be assigned to Class I milk in the following sequence:

(a) Receipts of exempt milk.

(b) Receipts from regulated plants under other Federal orders, which are assigned to Class I milk pursuant to § 934.27.

(c) Receipts of fluid milk products, other than cream and skim milk, from the regulated city plants of other handlers.

(d) Receipts of milk from producers at a handler's country plant equal to the volume of fluid milk products disposed of directly from the country plant as Class I milk outside the marketing area without being received at a city plant.

(e) Receipts of milk directly from producers at the handler's city plant.

(f) Receipts of outside milk at the handler's city plant.

(g) Receipts of fluid milk products, other than cream and skim milk, from the country pool plants of other handlers, in the order of the nearness of the plants to the City Hall in Lawrence.

(h) Receipts of milk from producers at the handler's country plants not previously assigned pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section in the order of the nearness of the plants to the City Hall in Lawrence.

(i) Receipts of outside milk at the handler's country plants, in the order of the nearness of the plants to the City Hall in Lawrence.

(j) Receipts of skim milk from regulated city plants and then from regulated country plants.

(k) All other receipts or available quantities of fluid milk products, from whatever source derived.

§ 934.26 Assignment of pool handlers' receipts to Class II milk. Each pool handler's receipts of milk and milk products which are not assigned to Class I milk pursuant to § 934.25 shall be assigned to Class II milk.

§ 934.27 Receipts from other Federal order plants. Receipts of fluid milk products from plants regulated by other Federal orders shall be assigned as follows:

(a) Receipts of fluid milk products from regulated plants under the Boston order shall be assigned to the class in which they are classified under that order.

(b) Receipts of fluid milk products, other than cream, from regulated plants under the Worcester or Springfield orders shall be assigned to Class I milk, unless the operators of the shipping plant and of the receiving plant file a joint written request to the market administrator for assignment to Class II milk of the fluid milk products so received. In such event, the fluid milk products shall be assigned to Class II milk up to the total Class II uses of fluid milk products other than cream at the receiving plant.

(c) Receipts from New York order pool plants shall be assigned to Class II milk except that receipts shall be assigned to Class I milk if classified in Classes I–A or I–B under the New York order.

REPORTS OF HANDLERS

§ 934.30 Pool handlers' reports of receipts and utilization. On or before the 8th day after the end of each month each pool handler shall, with respect to the milk products received by the handler during the month, report to the market administrator in the detail and form prescribed by the market administrator, as follows:

(a) The receipts of milk at each pool plant from producers, including the quantity, if any, received from his own production;

(b) The receipts of fluid milk products at each plant from any other handler, assigned to classes pursuant to §§ 934.25, 934.26 and 934.27;

(c) The receipts of outside milk and exempt milk at each plant; and

(d) The quantities from whatever source derived which were sold, distributed, or used, including sales to other handlers and dealers, classified pursuant to §§ 934.15, 934.16 and 934.17.

§ 934.31 Reports of nonpool handlers. Each nonpool handler shall file with the market administrator reports relating to his receipts and utilization of fluid milk products. The reports shall be made at the time and in the manner prescribed by the market administrator, except that any handler who receives outside milk during any month shall file the report on or before the 8th day after the end of the month.

§ 934.32 Reports regarding individual producers. (a) Within 20 days after a producer moves from one farm to another, or starts or resumes deliveries to any of a handler's pool plants, the handler shall file with the market administrator a report stating the producer's name and post office address, the date on which the change took place, and the farm and plant locations involved. The report shall also state, if known, the plant to which the producer had been delivering prior to starting or resuming deliveries.

(b) Within 15 days after the 5th consecutive day on which a producer has failed to deliver to any of a handler's pool plants, the handler shall file with the market administrator a report stating the producer's name and post office address, the date on which the last delivery was made, and the farm and plant locations involved. The report shall also state, if known, the reason for the producer's failure to continue deliveries.

§ 934.33 Reports of payments to producers. Each pool handler shall submit to the market administrator, within 10 days after his request made not earlier than 20 days after the end of the month, his producer payroll for such month, which shall show for each producer:

(a) The daily and total pounds of milk delivered with the average butterfat test thereof; and

(b) The net amount of such handler's payments to each producer with the prices, deductions, and charges involved.

§ 934.34 Maintenance of records. Each handler shall maintain detailed and summary records showing all receipts, movements, and disposition of milk and milk products during the month, and the quantities of milk and milk products on hand at the end of the month.

§ 934.35 Verification of reports. For the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any report made to the market administrator as required by this section or for the purpose of obtaining the information required in any such report where it has been requested and has not been furnished, each handler shall permit the market administrator or his agent, during the usual hours of business, to:

(a) Verify the information contained in reports submitted in accordance with this section;

(b) Weigh, sample, and test milk and milk products; and

(c) Make such examination of records, operations, equipment, and facilities as the market administrator finds necessary for the purpose specified in this paragraph.

§ 934.36 Retention of records. All books and records required under this order to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of three years to begin at the end of the calendar month to which such books and records pertain: Provided, That if, within such three-year period, the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that the retention of such books and records, or of specified books and records, is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or a court action specified in such notice, the handler shall retain such books and records, or specified books and records, until further written notification from the market administrator. The market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

MINIMUM CLASS PRICES

§ 934.40 Minimum Class I price at city plants. The minimum Class I price per hundredweight at city plants shall be determined for each month pursuant to this section. The latest reported figures available to the market administrator on the 25th day of the preceding month shall be used in making the following computations, except that if the 25th day of the preceding month falls on a Sunday or legal holiday, the latest reported figures available on the next succeeding work day shall be used:

(a) Divide by .98 the monthly wholesale price index for all commodities as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, United States Department of Labor, with the year 1926 as the base period.

(b) Divide by 3 the sum of the three latest monthly indexes of department store sales in the Boston Federal Reserve District adjusted for seasonal variations, as reported by the Federal Reserve System, with the years 1935–39 as the base period, and divide the result so obtained by 1.26.

(c) Compute an index of grain-labor costs in the Boston milkshed in the following manner:

(1) Compute the simple average of the four latest weekly average retail prices per ton of dairy ration in the Boston milkshed, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture, divide by 0.5044 and multiply by 0.6.

(2) Compute the weighted average of the monthly composite farm wage rates for the latest available month for Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Vermont, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture, divide by 0.5952, and multiply by 0.4. In computing the weighted average, weigh the respective rates as follows: Maine, 10; Massachusetts, 6; New Hampshire, 7; and Vermont, 77.

(3) Add the results determined pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(d) Divide by 3 the sum of the final results computed pursuant to the preceding paragraphs of this section. Express the result as a whole number by dropping fractions of less than one-half or by raising fractions of one-half or more to the next whole number. The result shall be known as the formula index.

(e) Subject to the succeeding paragraphs of this section, the Class I price per hundredweight at city plants shall be as shown in the following table:

If the formula index is more than 194, the price shall be increased at the same rate as would result from further extension of this table at the rate of extension in the six highest index brackets.

(f) The Class I price shall be 44 cents more than the price prescribed in paragraph (e) of this section if, under the provisions of the Boston order, less than 33 percent of the milk received by all pool handlers from producers during the 12-month period ending with the second preceding month was Class II milk, except that if the operation of this paragraph would cause the Class I price to be more than 88 cents above the Class I price for the same month of the preceding year, its application shall be limited to only such portion of the 44-cent increase as will result in a Class I price equal to the Class I price for the same month of the preceding year plus 88 cents.

(g) The Class I price shall be 44 cents less than the price prescribed in paragraph (e) of this section if, under the provisions of the Boston order, more than 41 percent of the milk received by all pool handlers from producers during the 12-month period ending with the second preceding month was Class II milk, except that if the operation of this paragraph would cause the Class I price to be more than 88 cents below the Class I price for the same month of the preceding year, its application shall be limited to only such portion of the 44-cent reduction as will result in a Class I price equal to the Class I price for the same month of the preceding year minus 88 cents.

(h) Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding paragraphs of this section, the Class I price for any of the months of March through June of each year shall not be higher than the Class I price for the immediately preceding month, and the Class I price for any of the months of September through December of each year shall not be lower than the Class I price for the immediately preceding month.

(i) The Class I price determined under the preceding paragraphs of this section shall be increased or decreased to the extent of any increase or decrease in the rail tariff for the transportation of milk in carlots in tank cars for mileage distances of 201-210 miles, inclusive, as published in the New England Joint Tariff M No. 6 and supplements thereto or revisions thereof. The adjustment shall be made to the nearest one-half cent per hundredweight, and shall be effective in the first complete month in which such increase or decrease in the rail tariff applies.

§ 934.41 Minimum Class II prices at city plants. The minimum Class II price per hundredweight at city plants shall be determined for each month pursuant to this section.

(a) Divide by 33.48 the weighted average price per 40-quart can of 40 percent bottling quality cream, f. o. b. Boston, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the month during which such milk is delivered, and multiply the result by 3.7.

(b) Multiply by 7.5 the average price per pound of roller process nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption, in carlots, f. o. b. Chicago area manufacturing plants, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the period from the 26th day of the preceding month through the 25th day of the month during which such milk is received.

(c) Add the results obtained in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, and from the sum subtract the amount shown below for the applicable month.

Month:	Amount (cents)
January and February	57.5
March and April	69.5
May and June	75.5
July	69.5
August and September	63.5
October, November, and December	57.5

§ 934.42 Country plant price differentials. In the case of receipts at country plants, the minimum prices determined pursuant to §§ 934.40 and 934.41 shall be subject to differentials based upon the zone location of the plant at which the Class I milk or Class II milk was received. The zone location of each plant shall be based on the distance ascertained by the market administrator as the shortest distance from the plant to the City Hall in Lawrence, over highways on which the highway departments of the governing States permit milk tank trucks to move, or on the railway mileage distance to Lawrence from the nearest railway shipping point for such plant, whichever is shorter. The applicable zone differentials shall be those set forth in the following table, as adjusted pursuant to § 934.43:

§ 934.43 Automatic changes in zone price differentials. In case the rail tariff for the transportation of milk in 40-quart cans in carlots of 200 or more cans or for the transportation of cream in 40-quart cans in carlots of 100–199 cans, as published in New England Joint Tariff M No. 6 and supplements thereto or revisions thereof, is increased or decreased, the zone price differentials set forth in § 934.42 shall be correspondingly increased or decreased in the manner and to the extent provided in this section. Such adjustment shall be effective beginning with the first complete month in which the changes in rail tariffs apply. If such rail tariff on milk is changed, the differentials set forth in Column B of the table shall be adjusted to the extent of any such change. If such rail tariff on cream is changed, the differentials set forth in Column C of the table shall be adjusted to the extent of any such change divided by 9.05. Adjustment shall be made to the nearest one-half cent per hundredweight.

§ 934.44 Use of equivalent prices in formulas. If for any reason a price, index, or wage rate specified by this order for use in computing class prices and for other purposes is not reported or published in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price, index, or wage rate determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the factor which is specified.

§ 934.45 Announcement of class prices. The market administrator shall make public announcements of the class prices, as follows:

(a) He shall announce the Class I price for each month on the 25th day of the preceding month, except that if such 25th day is a Sunday or legal holiday he shall announce the Class I price on the next succeeding work day.

(b) He shall announce the Class II price on or before the 5th day after the end of each month.

MINIMUM BLENDED PRICES TO PRODUCERS

§ 934.50 Computation of net value of milk used by each pool handler. For each month, the markct administrator shall compute in the following manner the net value of milk which is sold, distributed, or used by each pool handler:

(a) From the handler's total Class I milk, subtract all receipts which have been assigned to Class I milk pursuant to § 934.25 (a), (b), (c), (g), and (j);

(b) From the handler's total Class II milk, subtract all receipts which have been assigned to Class II milk pursuant to § 934.26, except receipts of milk from producers;

(c) Multiply the remaining quantities of Class I milk and Class II milk by the prices applicable pursuant to §§ 934.40 and 934.41;

(d) Add together the resulting value of each class;

(e) Add the total amount of the payment required from the pool handler pursuant to § 934.66; and

(f) Subtract the value obtained by multiplying the quantities assigned to Class I milk pursuant to § 934.25 (f), (i), and (k) by the price applicable pursuant to §§ 934.41 and 934.42.

§ 934.51 Computation of the basic blended price. The market administrator shall compute the basic blended price per hundredweight of milk delivered during each month in the following manner:

(a) Combine into one total the respective net values of milk, computed pursuant to § 934.50, for each pool handler from whom the market administrator has received at his office, prior to the 11th day after the end of such month, the report for such month and the payments required pursuant to § 934.61 (b) for milk received during each month since the effective date of the most recent amendment to this order;

(b) Add the total amount of payments required from handlers pursuant to § 934.65 and from buyer-handlers and producer-handlers pursuant to § 934.66;

(c) Add the amount of unreserved cash on hand at the close of business on the 10th day after the end of the month from payments made to the market administrator by handlers pursuant to §§ 934.61, 934.62, 934.65, 934.66, and 934.67;

(d) Deduct the amount of the plus differentials, and add the amount of the minus differentials, which are applicable pursuant to § 934.66;

(e) Divide by the total quantity of producer milk for which a value is determined pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and

(f) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents for the purpose of retaining a cash balance in connection with the payments set forth in §§ 934.61 and 934.62. This result, which is the minimum blended price for milk containing 3.7 percent butterfat received from producers at city plants, shall be known as the basic blended price.

§ 934.52 Announcement of blended prices. On the 12th day after the end of each month the market administrator shall mail to all pool handlers and shall publicly announce:

(a) Such of these computations as do not disclose information confidential pursuant to the act;

(b) The zone blended prices per hundredweight resulting from adjustment of the basic blended price by the differentials pursuant to § 934.64; and

(c) The names of pool handlers, designating those whose milk is not included in the computations.

PAYMENTS FOR MILK

§ 934.60 Advance payments. On or before the 10th day after the end of each month, each pool handler shall make payment to producers for the approximate value of milk received during the first 15 days of such month. In no event shall such advance payment be at a rate less than the Class II price for such month. The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to any handler who, on or before the 17th day after the end of the month, makes final payment as required by § 934.61 (a).

§ 934.61 Final payments. Each pool handler shall make payment for the total value of milk received during such month as required to be computed pursuant to § 934.50, as follows:

(a) On or before the 25th day after the end of each month to each producer at not less than the basic blended price per hundredweight, subject to the differentials provided in §§ 934.63 and 934.64, for the quantity of milk delivered by such producer; and

(b) To producers, through the market administrator, by paying to, on or before the 23d day after the end of each month, or receiving from the market administrator, on or before the 25th day after the end of each month, as the case may be, the amount by which the payments at the basic blended price adjusted by the plant and farm location differentials provided in § 934.64 are less than or exceed the value of milk as required to be computed for each such handler pursuant to § 934.50, as shown in a statement rendered by the market administrator on or before the 20th day after the end of such month.

§ 934.62 Adjustments of errors in payments. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments of any handler discloses errors made in payments pursuant to §§ 934.61 (b), 934.65, and 934.66, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 15 days, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is payable by the market administrator to any handler, the market administrator shall, within 15 days, make such payment to such handler. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment to any producer for milk delivered to any handler discloses payment to such producer of an amount less than is required by § 934.61 (a), the handler shall make up such payment to the producer not later than the time of making final payment for the month in which such error is disclosed.

§ 934.63 Butterfat differential. Each handler shall, in making payments to each producer for milk received from him, add for each one-tenth of 1 percent of average butterfat content above 3.7 percent, or deduct for each one-tenth of 1 percent of average butterfat content below 3.7 percent, an amount per hundredweight which shall be calculated by the market administrator as follows: Divide by 33.48 the weighted average price per 40-quart can of 40 percent bottling quality cream, f. o. b. Boston, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the period between the 16th day of the preceding month and the 15th day inclusive of the month during which such milk is delivered, subtract 1.5 cents, and divide the result by 10.

§ 934.64 Location differentials. The payments to be made to producers by handlers pursuant to § 934.61 (a) shall be subject to the Class I price differentials applicable pursuant to § 934.42, and to further differentials as follows:

(a) With respect to milk delivered by a producer whose farm is located more than 40 miles from the City Hall in Lawrence, but not more than 80 miles from the State House in Boston, there shall be added 23 cents per hundredweight, unless such addition gives a result greater than the Class I price pursuant to §§ 934.40 and 934.42 which is effective at the plant to which such milk is delivered, in which event there shall be added an amount which will give as a result such price.

(b) With respect to milk delivered by a producer whose farm is located not more than 40 miles from the City Hall in Lawrence, there shall be added 46 cents per hundredweight, unless such addition gives a result greater than the Class I price pursuant to §§ 934.40 and 934.42 which is effective at the plant to which such milk is delivered, in which event there shall be added an amount which will give as a result such price.

§ 934.65 Payments on outside milk. Within 23 days after the end of each month, handlers shall make payments to producers, through the market administrator, as follows:

(a) Each buyer-handler or producer-handler, whose receipts of outside milk are in excess of his total use of Class II milk after deducting receipts of cream, shall make payment on such excess quantity at the difference between the Class I and Class II prices pursuant to §§ 934.40, 934.41 and 934.42, effective for the location or freight mileage zone of the plant at which the handler received the outside milk.

(b) Each handler who operates an unregulated plant from which outside milk is disposed of to consumers in the marketing area without intermediate movement to another plant shall make payment on the quantity so disposed of. The payment shall be at the difference between the price pursuant to § 934.40 and the price pursuant to § 934.41 effective for the location or freight mileage zone of the handler's plant.

§ 934.66 Payments on Class I receipts from other Federal order plants. Within 23 days after the end of each month, each pool handler, buyer-handler, or producer-handler who received Class I milk from a New York, Boston, Worcester, or Springfield order regulated plant during the month shall make such payment to producers, through the market administrator, as results from the following computation:

(a) Adjust the price pursuant to § 934.40 effective for the location or freight mileage zone of the plant from which the Class I milk was received by the butterfat differential calculated pursuant to § 934.63.

(b) Adjust the zone Class I price applicable under the other Federal order (Class I–A or I–B in the case of a New York order plant) by the butterfat differential applicable under that order.

(c) If the adjusted Class I price calculated under paragraph (a) of this section exceeds the corresponding price calculated under paragraph (b) of this section, multiply the quantity of Class I receipts from the other Federal order plant by the difference in price.

§ 934.67 Adjustment of overdue accounts. Any balance due, pursuant to §§ 934.61, 934.62, 934.65, and 934.66, to or from the market administrator on the 10th day of any month, for which remittance has not been received in, or paid from, his office by the close of business on that day, shall be increased one-half of 1 percent, effective the 11th day of such month.

§ 934.70 Statements to producers. In making the payments to producers prescribed by § 934.61 (a), each pool handler shall furnish each producer with a supporting statement, in such form that it may be retained by the producer, which shall show:

(a) The month and the identity of the handler and of the producer;

(b) The total pounds and average butterfat test of milk delivered by the producer;

(c) The minimum rate or rates at which payment to the producer is required under the provisions of §§ 934.61, 934.63, and 934.64;

(d) The rate which is used in making the payment, if such rate is other than the applicable minimum rate;

(e) The amount or the rate per hundredweight of each deduction claimed by the handler, including any deduction claimed under §§ 934.71 and 934.72, together with a description of the respective deductions; and

(f) The net amount of payment to the producer.

PAYMENTS FOR MARKETING SERVICES

§ 934.71 Marketing service deductions for producers not members of a cooperative association. In making payments to producers pursuant to §§ 934.60 through 934.64, each handler shall, with respect to all milk delivered by each producer other than himself during each month, except as set forth in § 934.72, deduct 3 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the market administrator shall determine to be sufficient, and shall, on or before the 25th day after the end of each month, pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be expended by the market administrator only in providing for market information to, and for verification of weights, samples, and tests of milk delivered by, such producers. The market administrator may contract with an association or associations of producers for the furnishing of the whole or any part of such services to, or with respect to the milk delivered by, such producers.

§ 934.72 Marketing service deductions for members of a producers' cooperative association. In the case of producers who are members of an association of producers which is actually performing the services set forth in § 934.71, each handler shall, in lieu of the deductions specified in § 934.71, make such deductions from payments made pursuant to § 934.61 as may be authorized by such producers and pay, on or before the 25th day after the end of each month, such deduction to such associations.

PAYMENTS FOR ADMINISTRATION EXPENSE

§ 934.80 Expense of administration. Within 23 days after the end of each month, each handler shall make payment to the market administrator of his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this order, based on the handler's receipts of fluid milk products, other than cream, during the month. The payment shall be at the rate of 4 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, on the handler's receipts of milk from producers, including receipts from his own production, and his receipts of outside milk, except receipts of outside milk from other Federal order plants; and at the rate by which the rate applicable to milk received from producers exceeds the rate of assessment applicable under the other Federal order, on his receipts from other Federal order plants.

DURATION OF OBLIGATION

§ 934.81 Termination of obligation. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this order for the payment of money irrespective of when such obligation arose.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this order shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable.

Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this order, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this order shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or setoff by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 934.82 Effective time. The provisions of this order, or any amendments to its provisions, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 934.83.

§ 934.83 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this order or any provision thereof whenever he finds that it obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This order shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 934.84 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this order, there are any obligations arising under it, the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person, such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 934.85 Liquidation after suspension or termination. Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this order, the market administrator, or such person as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, and dispose of all funds and property then in his possession or under his control, together with claims for any funds which are unpaid or owing at the time of such suspension or termination. Any funds collected pursuant to the provisions of this order, over and above the amount necessary to meet outstanding obligations and the expenses necessarily incurred by the market administrator or such person in liquidating and distributing such funds, shall be distributed to the contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 934.86 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this order.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted, in duplicate, to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulation, Washington 25, D. C. All communications received prior to September 11, 1950, will be considered by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rule. Copies of such communications will be available after September 13, 1950, for perusal by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Section 50.13 (a) of the current Civil Air Regulations requires a primary flying school giving instruction in spinnable airplanes to provide at least 35 hours of flying in accordance with a curriculum approved by the Administrator. The curriculum, as set forth in Civil Aeronautics Manual 50, requires that each student receiving instruction in spinnable airplanes shall be given a minimum of at least 15 hours of dual instruction of which 8 hours shall be given prior to the student's first solo flight, and at least 13 hours of solo flight time.

The Institute of Aviation of the University of Illinois has requested permission to utilize a different curriculum having a total pilot time of 26 hours, 11 hours synthetic trainer time, and 8 hours flight observer time.

The curriculum as proposed by the University was developed as a result of the joint research efforts of the Aviation Psychology Laboratory of the Department of Psychology and the Institute of Aviation, both of the University of Illinois, and Link Aviation, Inc. of Binghampton, New York. It is their conclusion that the use of the preflight contact trainer and newly developed instructional techniques will result in a more proficient private pilot without increasing instructional costs or overall training time. Basically, the project proposes to do this by two methods: (1) Reducing the amount of flight time now required to teach the maneuvers comprising the private pilot flight test, and (2) utilizing the flight time thus freed to teach the advanced skills the private pilot needs to utilize his airplane competently.

The Bureau believes that the knowledge gained through such a program will be beneficial in the future formulation and revision of the Civil Air Regulations. It should be noted that this proposed regulation corresponds with the Board policy indicated in the promulgation of Special Civil Air Regulation SR-336 and will afford a further opportunity of evaluating the benfits of flight observer time in the curriculum. It permits the issuance of a private pilot rating without any endorsement based upon the flight time completed.

It is therefore proposed to promulgate a Special Civil Air Regulation to read as follows:

1. Contrary requirements of the Civil Air Regulations notwithstanding, the Administrator may issue or authorize the issuance of a pilot certificate with a private pilot rating to an individual who successfully completes a flight curriculum established by the Institute of Aviation of the University of Illinois: Provided, That such curriculum is approved by the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics and offers at least 17 hours of dual flight instruction in airplanes, 9 hours of solo flight, 8 hours of flight observer time, and 11 hours of preflight contact trainer time: Provided further, That the individual shall successfully accomplish the tests which are required for the issuance of a private pilot rating.

2. Time flown as an observer shall be logged as "dual instruction observer" and time in the preflight contact trainer shall be logged as "dual instruction-synthetic trainer." Flight time shall be credited as provided in § 43.44 except that a graduate of this course who passes his examination for a private pilot rating may credit 50 percent of the logged dual instruction observer and synthetic trainer time as "dual instruction time."

This regulation shall terminate September 15, 1951, unless sooner superseded or rescinded.

This regulation is proposed under authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-2448]

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS CO.

ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of August A. D. 1950.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company ("Michigan Consolidated"), a public-utility subsidiary of American Natural Gas Company, a registered holding company, having filed a declaration, pursuant to section 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") and Rule U-50 (a) (2) promulgated thereunder, with respect to the following transactions:

Michigan Consolidated proposes to enter into a credit agreement with certain banks hereinafter named which will commit such banks to lend to Michigan Consolidated, from time to time on demand prior to December 31, 1950, sums aggregating a maximum of $25,000,000 as follows:

National Bank of Detroit	$5,400,000
The National City Bank of New York	5,400,000
Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., New York	5,400,000
Mellon National Bank & Trust Co., Pittsburgh	5,400,000
The Detroit Bank	1,500,000
The Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit	1,500,000
Old Kent Bank, Grand Rapids, Mich	400,000

The credit agreement is to be executed as soon as practicable after authorization by the Commission, and the first borrowing is to be made promptly upon execution of the credit agreement. Each borrowing shall be pro rata from the respective banks in proportion to their commitments and shall be evidenced by separate notes bearing interest at the rate of 2¼ percent per annum and maturing February 20, 1951. At the option of the company and with the approval of the Commission, the notes are to be renewable upon the same terms and conditions for an additional term of six months from February 20, 1951. The notes are to be prepayable at any time in aggregate amounts of $2,500,000, or multiples thereof, without penalty, except that if prepayment is made out of the proceeds of other borrowings from banks not parties to the proposed credit agreement a penalty is to be paid at the rate of one-quarter of one percent per annum for the unexpired term of the notes being prepaid. A commitment fee is to be paid computed at the rate of one-half of one percent per annum on the average daily unused balance of the commitment from the date of the credit agreement to December 31, 1950 or until the entire $25,000,000 shall have been taken down, whichever shall occur first. The company may reduce the amount of the commitment to the amount then outstanding at any time without penalty.

The credit agreement is to contain certain limitations with respect to the payment of dividends by Michigan Consolidated, and with respect to mergers, consolidations, and the incurrence of other obligations by Michigan Consolidated and its subsidiary, Austin Field Pipe Line Company.

It is stated that the proceeds from the borrowings under the commitment are to be used to finance in part the construction requirements of the company, estimated at $51,000,000 during the years 1950 and 1951. It is further stated that as soon as practicable and prior to the maturity of the notes to be issued it is proposed to consummate a permanent financing program which, it is contemplated, will provide for the elimination of the notes and will include the issuance and sale, during 1950, of $20,000,000 of first mortgage bonds and $6,000,000 of common stock.

The declaration having been filed July 31, 1950 and notice of the filing thereof having been issued in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated under the act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing with respect to said declaration within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

Declarant having requested that an order, to become effective upon its issuance, be entered permitting said declaration to become effective, and according to the statement of declarant, it appearing that no regulatory authority other than the Securities and Exchange Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions; and

It appearing that the estimated fees and expenses, aggregating $3,500, including counsel fees of $1,000 payable to Sidley, Austin, Burgess & Smith and service company fees of $800 payable to American Natural Gas Service Company, are not unreasonable and should be approved; and

The Commission finding that the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied, that no adverse findings are necessary thereunder, that no basis appears for imposing any terms and conditions in connection with our order other than those specified in Rule U-24, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers to permit said declaration to become effective and to grant the request for acceleration of the effective date of this order:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, that said declaration be, and it hereby is, permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, and that this order shall become effective upon its issuance.

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the United States, including the act of August 29, 1916, 39 Stat. 619, 645, as President of the United States and as Commander in Chief of the armed forces of the United States, it is hereby ordered as follows:

9. The Secretary is authorized to furnish protection for persons employed or seeking employment in or with the transportation systems of which possession is taken hereunder, or which may be taken pursuant hereto; to furnish protection for such transportation systems; and to furnish equipment, manpower, and other facilities or services deemed necessary to carry out the provisions and to accomplish the purposes of this order.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VIII—Production and Marketing Administration (Sugar Branch), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter B—Sugar Requirements and Quotas

[Sugar Reg. 811, Rev. 2]

REQUIREMENTS FOR 1950

Basis and purpose. The revised determination set forth below is made pursuant to section 201 of the Sugar Act of 1948. The act requires that the Secretary shall revise the determination of sugar requirements at such times during the calendar year as may be necessary. It now appears that an increase in the estimate of requirements for the calendar year 1950 is necessary. The purpose of this revision is to make such determination conform to the requirements indicated on the basis of the factors specified in section 201 of the act.

Immediate availability of a part of the additional supply of sugar provided by this determination of sugar requirements is necessary to insure orderly marketing and to maintain a continuous and stable supply of sugar at prices that are not excessive to consumers. Therefore, in order effectively to carry out the purposes of the Sugar Act, it is necessary that the revision of the determination be made effective as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice, procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the revision of the determination made herein shall be effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Sugar Act of 1948 (61 Stat. 922, 7 U. S. C., Supp. I, 1100) and the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237, 5 U. S. C. 1001) Sugar Regulation 811, the determination of the amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in the continental United States for 1950, as amended, (14 F. R. 7751; 15 F. R. 4578) is hereby revised to read as follows:

§ 811.2 Sugar requirements, 1950. The amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in the continental United States for the calendar year 1950 is hereby determined to be 8,700,000 short tons, raw value.

Statement of bases and considerations. On July 13, 1950, it was announced that the quantity of sugar needed to meet requirements of consumers in the continental United States during the calendar year 1950 was 7,850,000 short tons, raw value. This was an increase of 350,000 tons, needed to meet an increase in demand reflected in distribution of 170,000 tons more sugar by June 30 in 1950 over 1949. Distribution from July 1 to August 12 indicates a continuation of such increase in demand, the quantity distributed exceeding that for the corresponding period of 1949 by about 525,000 short tons, raw value.

Since late June consumers have been purchasing sugar for the purpose of increasing their stocks in addition to meeting their requirements for current utilization. It is impossible to determine in advance to what extent consumers will undertake to add to their stocks. For 1941 when a similar purchasing movement was in effect throughout the year, distribution rose to nearly 1,200,000 tons over that of the previous year. It has been reported also that in many instances consumers have purchased sugar at prices in excess of the established market level. The quantity of 8,700,000 tons now provided is intended to meet the demands for utilization and stocks in 1950, and to assure that prices will not be excessive to consumers.

Except to the extent modified herein, the Statements of Bases and Considerations contained in the determinations dated December 22, 1949, and July 13, 1950, are unchanged.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of August 1950. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Secretary of Agriculture.

DETERMINATION AND PRORATION OF 1950 QUOTAS

Basis and purpose. The amendments herein are issued pursuant to section 202 of the Sugar Act of 1948 and are made for the purpose of giving effect to the revision of the determination of sugar consumption requirements made by the Secretary of Agriculture on August 23, 1950, and to prorate to domestic areas having sugar available a deficit in the quota for Cuba as increased pursuant to that action.

After providing for quotas in specific amounts for domestic sugar producing areas and the Republic of the Philippines, section 202 of the act provides that the difference between the sum of such quotas and the consumption estimate shall be prorated to foreign countries other than the Republic of the Philippines on the basis of stated percentages. Thus the statute states specifically how quotas are to be revised when there is a change in the estimate of consumption requirements.

The Sugar Act provides, also, that the quota for any domestic area, the Republic of the Philippines, Cuba or other foreign countries as established under the provisions of section 202 shall not be reduced by reason of any determination of a deficit. The proration to domestic areas made herein should permit the marketing of all supplies such areas are able to market.

In order to afford sellers of sugar in affected areas an adequate opportunity to market the additional sugar authorized by this amendment, and thereby protect the interests of consumers, it is essential that this amendment be made effective immediately. Therefore, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice, procedure and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interests. The amendments made herein shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Sugar Act of 1948 (61 Stat. 922, 7 U. S. C. Supp. I, 1100) and the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237, 5 U. S. C. 1001) Sugar Regulation 813 (14 F. R. 7753), as amended (15 F. R. 3861, 4676), establishing sugar quotas for 1950 is hereby amended as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 813.12 is changed to read:

§ 813.12 Basic quotas for other areas. There are hereby established, pursuant to subsections (b) and (c) of section 202 of the act, for foreign countries for the calendar year 1950 the following quotas:

Area:	Quotas in terms of short tons, raw value
Republic of the Philippines	982,000
Cuba	3,403,080
Other foreign countries	46,920

2. Paragraphs (c) and (d) are added to § 813.13 as follows:

§ 813.13 Determination and proration of area deficits. * * *

(c) Deficit in quota for Cuba. It is hereby determined, pursuant to subsection (a) of section 204 of the act, that for the calendar year 1950 Cuba will be unable by an amount of 400,000 short tons, raw value, to market the quota established for that area in § 813.12.

(d) Proration of deficit in quota for Cuba. An amount of sugar equal to the deficit determined in paragraph (c) of this section is hereby prorated, pursuant to subsection (a) of section 204 of the act as follows:

Area:	Additional quotas, short tons, raw value
Domestic beet sugar	100,000
Mainland cane sugar	46,861
Hawaii	98,594
Puerto Rico	150,545
Virgin Islands	4,000

3. Paragraph (a) of § 813.14 is changed to read as follows:

§ 813.14 Proration of quota for foreign countries other than Cuba and the Republic of the Philippines—(a) Basic prorations. The quota for foreign countries other than Cuba and the Republic of the Philippines is hereby prorated, pursuant to subsection (c) of section 202 of the act, among such countries as follows:

Country:	Prorations in pounds, raw value
Belgium	555,459
Canada	1,064,847
China and Hong Kong	543,769
Czechoslovakia	496,940
Dominican Republic	12,585,686
Dutch East Indies	398,953
Guatemala	632,074
Haiti	1,739,399
Honduras	6,478,421
Mexico	11,384,200
Netherlands	411,185
Nicaragua	19,290,505
Peru	20,976,080
Salvador	15,492,306
United Kingdom	661,828
Venezuela	547,332
Other countries	81,016
Subtotal	93,340,000
Unallotted reserve	500,000
Total	93,840,000

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

A. Basic quotas. The increase represented by the revision of the sugar requirements determination issued on August 1950, is prorated in its entirety to Cuba (98.64 percent) and Other Foreign Countries (1.36 percent) in accordance with subsection (c) of section 202 of the act, basic quotas for the domestic areas and for the Republic of the Philippines remaining at the levels fixed in subsections (a) and (b) of that section.

B. Deficit in quota for Cuba. The above amendment to § 813.12 includes an increase in the quota for Cuba amounting to 838,440 short tons, raw value, over the quota effective on July 21. The Commodity Credit Corporation owns in Cuba about 600,000 short tons. No other significant quantity of Cuban sugar is available for shipment to the continental United States against the increase in quota. Normal marketing of the current crop of Cuban sugar in each calendar year provides for a year-end carryover in Cuba for shipment during January and February to maintain refinery operations pending availability of new-crop sugar. For the ten years, 1940-49, year-end stocks in Cuba have averaged 634,000 short tons, the range being 324,000 to 1,804,000 tons. The United States market has depended upon these stocks and limited shipments of new crop sugar during January and February to the average (1941-50) extent of 499,000 short tons, raw value, the range of January-February receipts from Cuba during this period having been from about 320,000 tons to 782,000 tons. In keeping with this normal supply pattern, the Commodity Credit Corporation intends to retain in Cuba approximately 165,000 short tons to meet shipping requirements in early 1951 and other possible needs. Therefore, the quota for Cuba will not be filled by 400,000 short tons of sugar, raw value, and a deficit equal to this quantity in the 1950 quota for Cuba is determined.

Subsection (a) of section 204 of the act provides that such a deficit shall be prorated to the domestic producing areas on the basis of quotas then in effect. The amendment of paragraph (d) of § 813.13 sets forth the results obtained by prorating on the basis of existing quotas (a) the Cuban deficit and (b) a deficit in the resulting quota for the domestic beet sugar area to Puerto Rico (except as limited by its ability to market) and to the Virgin Islands. The mainland cane sugar area and Hawaii were excluded from the prorations pursuant to (b), above, because of their inability to market sugar in excess of the quotas established pursuant to (a) above. The quotas finally resulting will permit marketing in 1950, limited only by the practicability of shipping small "left-over" lots, of the entire inventory in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the entire inventory and prospective production in 1950 in Hawaii, and substantially more than the highest previous marketings in the current calendar year of new crop domestic beet sugar and mainland cane sugar.

After giving effect to the changes set forth in this amendment to Sugar Regulation 813; the quotas for all areas are as follows:

BASIC QUOTAS, PRORATION OF DEFICITS AND ADJUSTED QUOTAS FOR 1950

PUERTO RICO, 1950

Basis and purpose. This amendment is issued under section 205 (a) of the Sugar Act of 1948 (hereinafter called the "act") for the purpose of rescinding § 814.3 (15 F. R. 2400, 3982, 5153) which allots the 1950 sugar quota for Puerto Rico for consumption in the continental United States (including raw sugar transferred for further processing and shipment within the direct-consumption portion of such quota) and the 1950 sugar quota for local consumption in Puerto Rico among persons (1) whose Puerto Rican raw sugar is brought into the continental United States or who transfer such sugar for further processing and shipment to the continental United States as direct-consumption sugar, and (2) who market sugar for local consumption in Puerto Rico.

The sugar quota for Puerto Rico for consumption in the continental United States is referred to herein as "mainland quota" and allotments thereof are referred to as "mainland allotments". The sugar quota for consumption in Puerto Rico and allotments thereof are referred to respectively as "local quota" and "local allotments".

Amendment to § 813.13 issued on August 23, 1950,[1] increased the 1950 mainland quota for Puerto Rico to a total of 1,056,000 short tons, raw value. Section 812.3 (15 F. R. 19) established a local quota of 105,000 short tons, raw value. The sum of these quotas is 1,165,545 short tons raw value. January 1, 1950, inventories of Puerto Rican sugar not charged to 1949 quotas and 1950 production of sugar in Puerto Rico aggregate 1,390,000 short tons, raw value. Of this quantity about 220,000 short tons, raw value, have been shipped to other destinations leaving a total of about 1,170,000 short tons, raw value, theoretically available for shipment to the mainland, local marketing and December 31, 1950, stocks. However, between 4,000 and 5,000 short tons of sugar have been refined in excess of the quantity that may be sold for local consumption or brought to the mainland within the direct-consumption limitation of 126,033 short tons, raw value, some sugar is lost subsequent to production, and shipment is impractical for scattered small quantities until additional quantities are available from 1951 production. Processors in Puerto Rico, will, therefore, be unable to market on the mainland and in Puerto Rico in 1950 a quantity of sugar in excess of existing quotas. In these circumstances, no purpose would be served by continuing in force the allotments of the quotas.

In order to afford sellers of sugar in affected areas an adequate opportunity to market the increase in quota referred to above and thereby protect the interests of consumers, it is essential that this amendment be made effective immediately. Therefore, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice and procedure requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest. The amendment made herein shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by section 205 (a) of the act, § 814.3 is hereby rescinded.

Subchapter I—Determination of Prices

[Sugar Determination 873.3]

PART 873—SUGARCANE; FLORIDA

1950 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the Sugar Act of 1948 (hereinafter referred to as "act"), after investigation, and due consideration of the evidence presented at the public hearing held at Clewiston, Florida, on May 6, 1950, the following determination is hereby issued:

§ 873.3 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1950 crop of Florida sugarcane.

Processor-producers of sugarcane in Florida who apply for payments under the act shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the act with respect to the 1950 crop, if the requirements of this determination are met.

(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this section, the term:

(1) "Price of raw sugar" means the price of 96° raw sugar in New York (duty paid basis, delivered) as determined in prior years; except that if the Director of the Sugar Branch determines that such price does not reflect the true market value of sugar, because of inadequate volume or other factors, he may designate the price to be effective under this determination.

(2) "Standard sugarcane" means sugarcane containing 12.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice.

(3) "Net sugarcane" means sugarcane, as delivered by a producer to a processor-producer, from which has been deducted the weight of trash determined in the customary manner.

(4) "Salvage sugarcane" means sugarcane containing less than 9.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice.

(b) Basic price. (1) The basic price for standard sugarcane shall be not less than $1.10 per ton for each one cent of the average price of raw sugar determined in accordance with whichever of the following options is agreed upon:

(i) The simple average of the daily prices of raw sugar for the week in which the sugarcane is delivered; or

(ii) The simple average of the weekly prices of raw sugar for the period beginning October 13, 1950 through May 24, 1951.

(2) The basic price for salvage sugarcane shall be as agreed upon between the processor-producer and the producer.

(c) Conversion of net sugarcane to standard sugarcane. Except for salvage sugarcane, net sugarcane shall be converted to standard sugarcane by applying to the average sucrose content of all sugarcane delivered by a producer during the optional period agreed upon under paragraph (b) (1) of this section, the applicable quality factor in accordance with the following table:

10.0	.75
10.5	.80
11.5	.90
12.0	.95
12.5	1.00
13.0	1.05
13.5	1.10
14.0	1.15
14.5	1.20

[1] Intermediate points within the scale are to be in proportion. Points above 15.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice are to be in proportion to the immediately preceding interval.

(d) Molasses payment. On each ton of net sugarcane ground there shall be paid to the producer a molasses payment equal to three times the amount, if any, by which the average net liquidation from the disposal of blackstrap or final molasses exceeds 4.75 cents per gallon, f. o. b. sugarhouse tanks, during the twelve months period ending May 31, 1951.

(e) General. (1) The established customs and practices with respect to methods of sucrose analysis, deductions for frozen sugarcane because of decreased boiling house efficiency, fiber content determinations and deductions, and definitions of delivery points, delivery schedules and similar terms, as employed in connection with the purchase of the 1949 crop shall be employed in connection with the purchase of the 1950 crop.

(2) The processor-producer shall not reduce returns to the producer below those determined herein through any subterfuge or device whatsoever; except that nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed as prohibiting modifications of practices which may be necessary because of unusual circumstances, any such modification to be subject to review by the Director of the Sugar Branch in the event of changes alleged to be unfair to either the processor-producer or the producer.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

(a) General. The foregoing determination provides fair and reasonable prices to be paid by a processor-producer (i. e., a producer who is directly or indirectly a processor of sugarcane—hereinafter referred to as "processor") for sugarcane of the 1950 crop purchased from other producers. It prescribes the minimum requirements with respect to prices for sugarcane which must be met as one of the conditions for payment under the act. In this statement the foregoing determination, as well as determinations for prior years, will be referred to as "price determination," identified by the crop year for which effective.

(b) Requirements of the act. The act requires that in determining fair and reasonable prices public hearings be held and investigations made. Accordingly, on May 6, 1950, a public hearing was held at Clewiston, Florida, at which time interested persons presented testimony with respect to fair and reasonable prices for the 1950 crop of sugarcane. In addition, investigations have been made of the conditions relating to the sugar industry in Florida. In this price determination, consideration has been given to the testimony presented at the hearing and to information resulting from the investigations.

(c) Background. In the past practically all of the sugarcane produced by independent producers in Florida has been purchased by one processor. Prior to the enactment of the Sugar Act of 1937, such sugarcane was purchased according to terms of contracts negotiated annually between the parties. These contracts provided for a scale of payments based on the average price of raw sugar at New York and on the quality of the sugarcane measured by the sucrose in the crusher juice. In 1938 a five-year purchase contract was negotiated, but since its expiration in 1942 formal contracts have not been used.

Determinations of fair and reasonable prices for sugarcane in Florida have been issued for each crop beginning with the 1937 crop. The 1937 price determination generally approved the pricing structure contained in sugarcane purchase contracts between the processor and producers. During the period from 1937 through 1948 a number of significant changes were made in price determinations. The principal changes included the introduction of a clause in the 1941 price determination providing for producer participation in the net returns from molasses in excess of 6¾ cents per gallon; the revision of the basic pricing structure in the 1942 price determination to gear the prices payable for sugarcane in Florida to the scale of payments used in the western Louisiana sugarcane region; and the revision of the definition of standard sugarcane in the 1948 price determination to provide for the determination of the quality of the juice in sugarcane on the basis of normal juice rather than crusher juice, for a single par point for standard sugarcane instead of a par range, and for a premium and discount scale for sugarcane of varying qualities based on normal juice.

In the 1949 price determination the pricing structure was completely revised to provide for the sharing of total returns to the Florida sugarcane industry more in line with current production and manufacturing conditions. The following changes were made: (1) The basic price per ton of standard sugarcane was increased from $1.03 to $1.10 for each one cent of the average price of raw sugar and the scale of price factors related to lower sugar prices, provided in prior determinations, was eliminated; (2) the freight deduction to equalize settlements for sugarcane with those of western Louisiana was eliminated; (3) standard sugarcane was redefined as sugarcane containing 12.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice rather than 11 percent; (4) sugarcane quality factors used to convert net sugarcane to standard sugarcane were reduced by 0.15 at all levels of sucrose; (5) salvage sugarcane was defined as sugarcane containing less than 9.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice; and (6) the molasses payment per ton of net sugarcane was revised to provide for producer participation in the net returns from molasses above 4.75 cents per gallon rather than 6.75 cents per gallon, and for the computation of such payment on the basis of 3 gallons of molasses rather than 2.75 gallons.

(d) 1950 price determination. The 1950 price determination continues the pricing arrangements effective for the 1949 crop, except for the addition of a requirement that the conversion of actual sugarcane to standard sugarcane shall be made on the basis of the average sucrose content during the basic pricing period of all sugarcane (excluding salvage sugarcane) delivered by a producer. This change was made to conform the requirements of the determination to established settlement practices.

In examining the terms and conditions of the determination the Department had available a study of returns, costs, and related factors in the Florida sugar industry. The study, conducted early in 1950, covered the operations of all raw sugar mills and associated farming units and a representative number of independent producers. These data, for the purpose of this examination, were projected to the 1949 and 1950 crops by restating such data in the light of known or expected conditions for such crops in accordance with generally accepted methods. Based on such data, comparisons were made of the relative position of producers and processors with respect to returns, costs, profits, and returns on investments. This examination indicates that the prices payable for sugarcane as set forth in this determination are fair and reasonable.

At the public hearing a processor representative recommended that the standard sugarcane quality factor be decreased by 2 percent, rather than 1 percent, for each one-tenth decline in sucrose below 10.5 percent sucrose in normal juice. While careful consideration has been given to this recommendation, it has not been adopted. The quality scale prescribed in the 1949 price determination was based on the relationship of sugar recoveries at various levels of sucrose above and below the standard par sucrose point. An examination of the several factors influencing the division of returns resulting from this scale under conditions likely to prevail in 1950 indicates that it is equitable to continue the 1949 scale for the 1950 crop.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing price determination is fair and reasonable and will effectuate the price provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

[Sugar Determination 877.2, Amdt. 2]

PART 877—SUGARCANE; PUERTO RICO

1949-50 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the Sugar Act of 1948, the determination of fair and reasonable prices for the 1949-50 crop of Puerto Rican sugarcane, issued December 16, 1949, as Part 877, § 877.2 (14 F. R. 7614), as amended February 8, 1950 (15 F. R. 792), is hereby further amended by deleting § 877.2 (b) (3) and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

§ 877.2 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1949-50 crop of Puerto Rican sugarcane. • • •

(b) Basic payment. • • •

(3) If payment is made in cash, the processor-producer shall pay, or contract to pay, the producer a price for sugarcane determined by the money value of the raw sugar which would otherwise be delivered to the producer in accordance with subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, whichever is applicable. Such money value shall be determined from the average price of raw sugar for the settlement period converted to the f. o. b. mill price: Provided,

(i) That if during the calendar year 1950 marketing allotments are established for 1949-50 crop Puerto Rican sugar and the processor-producer is obligated to carry an inventory of raw sugar which is not marketable in 1950, the money value of sugarcane from which the producer's share of such carry-over inventory was made (such share to be calculated for each settlement period and, subject to adjustment after final data are available, to be the same percentage of the producer's share of raw sugar produced from his sugarcane during such settlement period as the carry-over inventory for the processor-producer is of the total raw sugar produced by the processor-producer) may be determined from the average price of raw sugar for the period January 1, 1951 through February 28, 1951, converted to the f. o. b. mill price, and further, by deducting storage, handling costs, insurance, personal property taxes levied on raw sugar, and other related costs actually incurred on such sugar for the period January 1, 1951 through February 28, 1951;

(ii) That if any 1949-50 crop raw sugar is sold to Commodity Credit Corporation for shipment to points other than the continental United States or in Puerto Rico, the money value of sugarcane from which the producer's share of such raw sugar was made (such share to be calculated for each settlement period and, subject to adjustment after final data are available, to be the same percentage of the producer's share of the raw sugar produced from his sugarcane during such settlement period as the quantity of raw sugar so sold by the processor-producer is of the total sugar produced by the processor-producer) may be determined on the basis of the actual price received for such raw sugar converted to the f. o. b. mill price, except that if such raw sugar is shipped on and after January 1, 1951, additional deductions may be made for storage, handling costs, insurance, personal property taxes levied on raw sugar, and other related costs actually incurred on such raw sugar on and after January 1, 1951; and

(iii) That if during the calendar year 1950 marketing allotments are rescinded and a processor-producer is permitted to market raw sugar in excess of the sum of his last effective marketing allotments and the quantity of raw sugar sold to Commodity Credit Corporation for shipment to points other than the continental United States or in Puerto Rico, the money value of sugarcane from which the producer's share of such excess raw sugar was made (such share to be the same percentage of the producer's share of raw sugar produced from his sugarcane as the quantity of excess raw sugar so marketed by the processor-producer is of the total raw sugar produced by the processor-producer) shall be determined on the basis of the average price of raw sugar for the marketing days within the thirty-day period (commencing with the first marketing day) immediately following the effective date of this amendment converted to the f. o. b. mill price.

Average prices of raw sugar for successive settlement periods shall be computed from (1) December 5, 1949, in the case of a two-week or four-week period; and (2) December 1, 1949, in the case of a fortnight or month: Provided, That if the commencement or ending of grinding at the mill does not coincide with the beginning or the ending of a regular settlement period, the average price of raw sugar for such period shall be computed (1) on the full settlement period, if grinding commenced during the first one-half or ended during the last one-half of such period; or (2) on the last one-half of the full settlement period if grinding commenced during the last one-half of such period; or (3) the first one-half of the full settlement period if grinding ended during the first one-half of such period.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment sets forth the method to be used in making settlements with producers for 1949-50 crop sugarcane from which was made the raw sugar marketed in excess of the sum of the last effective marketing allotments and the quantity of raw sugar sold to Commodity Credit Corporation for shipment to points other than continental United States or in Puerto Rico. It provides that settlement for such sugarcane shall be made on the basis of the average price of raw sugar for the marketing days within the thirty-day period (commencing with the first marketing day) immediately following the effective date of this determination converted to the f. o. b. mill price.

For past crops, determinations of fair and reasonable prices have provided that settlements for sugarcane from which was made the raw sugar marketable under prorations of deficits were to be based on the average price of raw sugar prevailing during the settlement period in which the sugarcane was delivered. This ruling coincided with the established method of settling for raw sugar in Puerto Rico and was deemed fair and reasonable under normal market conditions. Because of unusual conditions which have affected the marketing of raw sugar during this calendar year and which have resulted in raw sugar prices somewhat higher than those prevailing during the settlement period in which sugarcane was delivered, it would not be equitable to provide for settlements with producers for their share of marketings of 1950 crop raw sugar in excess of the sum of the last effective marketing allotments and the quantity of raw sugar sold to Commodity Credit Corporation on the same basis. Moreover, settlements with producers for their share of raw sugar sold in 1950 to Commodity Credit Corporation for shipment to points other than the continental United States or in Puerto Rico were based on the actual sales price received by the processor, a price considerably less than the price of raw sugar in the continental United States or Puerto Rico. This amendment is, therefore, deemed to be fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing amendment to the price determination will effectuate the price provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

[Sugar Determination 878.2, Amdt. 1]

1950 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the Sugar Act of 1948, the determination of fair and reasonable prices for the 1950 crop of Virgin Islands sugarcane, issued December 16, 1949, as Part 878, § 878.2 (14 F. R. 7616), is hereby amended by deleting the period at the end of § 878.2 (b) and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

§ 878.2 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1950 crop of Virgin Islands sugarcane. * * *

(b) Basic price. * * *: Provided, That if during the calendar year 1950 a processor-producer is permitted to market raw sugar in excess of the statutory quota for the Virgin Islands of 6,000 short tons, raw value, settlements with producers for their share of such excess raw sugar (such share to be the same percentage of the producer's share of raw sugar produced from his sugarcane as the quantity of excess raw sugar so marketed by the processor-producer is of the total raw sugar produced by the processor-producer) shall be determined on the basis of the average price of raw sugar for the marketing days within the thirty-day period (commencing with the first marketing day) immediately following the effective date of this determination, adjusted to an f. o. b. mill value.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment sets forth the method to be used in making settlements with producers for 1950 crop sugarcane from which was made the raw sugar marketed in excess of the statutory quota for the Virgin Islands of 6,000 short tons of sugar, raw value. It provides that settlements for such sugarcane shall be made on the basis of the average price of raw sugar for the marketing days within the thirty-day period (commencing on the first marketing day) immediately following the effective date of this amendment, converted to the f. o. b. mill value. Because of the unusual conditions which have affected the marketing of raw sugar during this calendar year and which have resulted in raw sugar prices somewhat higher than those prevailing during the settlement period in which sugarcane was delivered, it is deemed fair and reasonable to provide for producer participation in the price received for sugar marketed in excess of the statutory quota of 6,000 short tons.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing amendment to the price determination will effectuate the price provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

(a) Four-twelfths of the total new rubber (including natural rubber and all synthetic rubber, but excluding natural rubber latex) consumption by such person during the period beginning July 1, 1949, and ending June 30, 1950: Provided, however:

(2) To the extent that a person's August 1950 total new rubber consumption is less than 120 percent of his average monthly total new rubber consumption during the period beginning July 1, 1949, and ending June 30, 1950, his total allowable new rubber consumption during the last four months of 1950 shall be increased by an amount equivalent to such deficiency;

(3) In no one month, however, during the period beginning September 1, 1950, and ending December 31, 1950, shall any person consume more than 28 percent of his total allowable new rubber consumption for such four-month period.

(b) The maximum total natural rubber consumption by each person under paragraph (a) of this section shall be his maximum allowable total new rubber consumption less the total synthetic rubber acquired by him from all sources during the last four months of 1950.

(c) No person shall consume more new rubber than his maximum total new rubber consumption, computed as provided in paragraph (a) of this section; and no person shall consume more natural rubber than his maximum total natural rubber consumption, computed as provided in paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) The above provisions of this section shall not be applicable to orders manufactured for the Department of Defense; the consumption by any person of new rubber in orders manufactured for the Department of Defense during the last four months of 1950 shall be permitted in addition to his total allowable new rubber consumption during the last four months of 1950.

(e) The appeal procedure set forth in § 338.78 shall be applicable to the provisions of this section.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER SPECIFICATIONS

Pneumatic tire groups size and type	Percent GR-S of total natural rubber plus GR-S
	Minimum group average	Minimum individual tire
Group 1:
All 7.50 and down truck and bus tires, not including low platform trailer and wire tires	35	1
All 7.50 and down farm implement, garden implement and industrial tires	35	5
All passenger and motorcycle, front farm tractor and garden tractor tires	35	5
Group 2:
All rear farm tractor and all other farm implement tires, not including rice and cane spade grip tires	75	55

NOTE: The above group averages for Groups 1 and 2 may be reduced by not more than three (3) points, provided the aggregate, GR-S consumption in these groups equals the total amount of GR-S which would have been consumed if calculated on the above minimum group averages for groups 1 and 2.

(b) Tire tubes—(1) Reestablishment of GR–I specifications. In the event that the consumption of butyl (GR–I) by the entire industry indicates that the total annual consumption will be less than 15,000 long tons, specifications requiring the consumption of butyl (GR–I) in certain types and sizes of tire tubes will be reinstated in this order to the extent necessary.

(b) Markings on tire tubes. Every tube containing butyl (GR–I) synthetic rubber shall be marked by the manufacturer with one or more circumferential light blue stripes, applied on the base section of the tube, any one of which stripes shall be 3/16" minimum width. [Docket No. AO–208]

HANDLING OF MILK IN AKRON, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO A PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND A PROPOSED ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Akron, Ohio, on November 14–18, 1949, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on October 21, 1949

(14 F. R. 6523), upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Akron, Ohio, marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on June 19, 1950, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of filing such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 22, 1950 (15 F. R. 4009; F. R. Doc. 50–5396).

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (15 F. R. 4009, F. R. Doc. 50–5396) are hereby approved and adopted as the material issues and the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein, subject to the following revisions:

1. Delete the second paragraph beginning in column 1, 15 F. R. 4013, F. R. Doc. 50–5396, and substitute therefor the following:

Milk and milk products may be used at a later time in a class other than that of the original classification and if so used they should be reclassified in accordance with their final use. The major products subject to such reclassification are frozen cream and condensed skim milk and the order should specify that these products should return to producers the price for the class of ultimate use applicable during the month when such products were originally classified.

2. Delete the third sentence in the fifth paragraph beginning in column 2, 15 F. R. 4014, F. R. Doc. 50–5396, and substitute therefor the following: "Considering recent market experience of large purchases of outside milk when an ample supply of local milk was available, it is concluded that the proposed safeguard, based on the receipt of 25 percent or more of other source milk, should be provided in the low production months of October, November, December and January if such milk were not priced under another Federal milk marketing order."

Ruling on exceptions. Within the period reserved for filing exceptions to the recommended decision, exceptions were submitted on behalf of certain interested parties. These exceptions have been fully considered and to the extent to which the findings and conclusions of this decision are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively "marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Akron, Ohio, marketing area," and "order regulating the handling of milk in the Akron, Ohio, marketing area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of August 1950.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Akron, Ohio, Marketing Area

§ 915.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held November 14–18, 1949, at Akron, Ohio, upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order, regulating the handling of milk in the Akron, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined herein, are in the current of interstate commerce and directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk and its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler as his pro rata share of such expense, 4 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of (i) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk and (ii) milk from producers, including such handler's own production.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Akron, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of this order as set forth below:

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of as buttermilk, sweet or sour cream, or any mixture of cream and milk or skim milk containing more than 6 percent of butterfat, and (2) used to produce cottage cheese.

(c) Class III milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce ice cream, imitation ice cream, and other frozen desserts and mixes for similar products; frozen cream; butter; butter oil; cheese (other than cottage cheese); condensed milk; evaporated milk; nonfat dry milk solids; dry whole milk; and condensed or dry buttermilk; (2) dumped or disposed of for livestock feed; (3) in shrinkage of producer milk not in excess of 2 percent of the skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers: Provided, That for the purpose of computing shrinkage milk of a producer transferred from a fluid milk plant by diversion directly from such producer's farm to another fluid milk plant shall be excluded from the receipts at the fluid milk plant making such diversion and shall be included in the receipts at the fluid milk plant to which such milk is diverted; and (4) in shrinkage of other source milk.

§ 915.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk and in other source milk.

§ 915.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

(c) The prices applicable to skim milk or butterfat reclassified in condensed skim milk in storage or in frozen cream shall be the class prices applicable when such skim milk or butterfat was originally classified.

§ 915.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat transferred from a fluid milk plant shall be classified as Class I milk if transferred in the form of milk or skim milk and as Class II milk if transferred in the form of cream;

(a) To another fluid milk plant unless utilization in another class is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 6th day after the end of the month within which such transfer occurred: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to any class shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the receiving fluid milk plant after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 915.46, and any additional amounts of skim milk or butterfat so transferred shall be assigned in series to the next higher priced classes in which there is skim milk or butterfat remaining in the receiving fluid milk plant: And provided further, That if either or both fluid milk plants have received other source milk, the skim milk or butterfat so transferred shall be classified at both fluid milk plants so as to allocate the highest possible utilization to producer milk;

(b) To a plant, other than a fluid milk plant or a plant of a producer-handler, unless (1) utilization in another class is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the handler making such transfer and the receiver on or before the 6th day after the end of the month within which such transfer occurred, and (2) the receiver maintains books and records which show the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at his plant and which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verifying such reported utilization: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to any class shall be limited to the amount classified in such class in the receiving plant and any additional amounts of skim milk or butterfat so transferred shall be assigned in series to the next higher priced classes in which there is utilization in the receiving plant; and

(c) To a plant of a producer-handler.

§ 915.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the report of receipts and utilization submitted by each handler and shall compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk for such handler.

§ 915.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 915.45 the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class III milk the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 915.41 (c) (3);

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class in series beginning with the lowest priced class in which there is skim milk remaining, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk;

(3) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class the skim milk received from other fluid milk plants according to its classification as determined pursuant to § 915.44;

(4) Add to the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class III milk the pounds subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(5) If the pounds of skim milk remaining in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in the milk received from producers, subtract such excess skim milk from the pounds remaining in each class in series beginning with the lowest priced class in which there is skim milk remaining.

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 915.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 915.40 to 915.46, 915.50 to 915.51, 915.70 to 915.71, 915.80 to 915.87 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 915.61 Handlers subject to other orders. The provisions of this order, except §§ 915.10 (b) and 915.30 (b), shall not apply in the case of any handler who operates a plant from which a daily average of 600 pounds or more of Class I milk is disposed of on routes in the marketing area during the month and who is subject to the provisions of another marketing agreement or order issued under the act with respect to payment of minimum prices to producers (as defined under such other marketing agreement or order) for milk received directly from farms at such plant.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 915.70 Computation of value of milk. The value of the milk received during each month by each handler from producers shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts: Provided, That if the handler had excess skim milk or butterfat during such month there shall be added to the above values an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of such excess skim milk or butterfat in each class (as assigned to such class pursuant to § 915.46) by the applicable class prices: And provided further, That if a handler has received at his fluid milk plant during any of the months of October, November, December or January skim milk or butterfat in other source milk equal to 25 percent or more of the total receipts of skim milk or butterfat at such fluid milk plant during such month there shall be added to the above values an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in other source milk which are classified as Class I milk by:

(a) The difference between the price for skim milk or butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk and Class III milk, if such skim milk or butterfat was not priced under another Federal milk marketing order; and

(b) If such skim milk or butterfat was priced under another Federal milk marketing order, any amount by which the Class I price for skim milk or butterfat, respectively, pursuant to this order exceeds the price for the class in which such skim milk or butterfat was classified pursuant to such other Federal order.

Other source milk classified as Class I milk shall be deemed to be that received in the form of milk, skim milk, flavored milk or flavored milk drinks. In case other source milk was received in such form from more than one source, that which is classified as Class I milk shall be deemed to have been received from each source in the same proportion that the total other source milk in such form was received from each such source.

§ 915.71 Computation of the uniform price. For each month the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 915.70;

(b) Add an amount equal to not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(c) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 3.5 percent, or add if such average butterfat content is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 915.81 and multiplying the resulting figure by the hundredweight of such milk;

(d) Divide by the hundredweight of milk included in these computations; and

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price per hundredweight of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers.

§ 915.80 Time and method of payment. On or before the 15th day of each month, each handler shall make payment to each producer for milk received from him during the preceding month of an amount not less than that computed by multiplying the pounds of such milk by the uniform price computed pursuant to § 915.71, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 915.81: Provided, That with respect to milk received during such month from producers who have authorized a cooperative association to collect payment for them, the handler may, upon written request by such cooperative association, make payment to such cooperative association, on or before the 13th day after the end of the month during which such milk was received, of an amount not less than the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers in accordance with this section.

§ 915.81 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 915.80 the uniform price shall be adjusted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the milk of each producer varies from 3.5 percent, by adding for each one-tenth above 3.5 percent and subtracting for each one-tenth below 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying by 1.2 the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per ponnd at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the month, dividing the resulting sum by .10, and rounding to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 915.82 Producer - settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund, known as the "producer-settlement fund," into which he shall deposit payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 915.83 and 915.85 and out of which he shall make payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 915.84 and 915.85.

§ 915.83 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 12th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, each handler shall pay to the market administrator the amount by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers during such month as determined pursuant to § 915.70 is greater than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 915.80.

§ 915.84 Payment out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, the market administrator shall pay to each handler the amount by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers during such month as determined pursuant to § 915.70 is less than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 915.80, less any unpaid obligations of such handler to the market administrator pursuant to §§ 915.83, 915.85, 915.86 and 915.87: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this section, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds become available. No handler who has not received the balance of such payment from the market administrator shall be considered in violation of § 915.80 if he reduces his payments uniformly per hundredweight to all producers by an amount not in excess of the per hundredweight reduction in payment received from the market administrator. Such handler shall make such balance of payment to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making such payments pursuant to this section, next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

§ 915.85 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses errors resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler, (b) such handler from the market administrator, or (c) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

§ 915.86 Marketing services—(a) Deductions. Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers pursuant to § 915.80 with respect to all milk received from each producer (except milk of such handler's own production) at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct 4 cents per hundredweight of milk, or such amount not to exceed 4 cents as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, and on or before the 15th day after the end of the month during which such milk was received shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to sample, test, and check the weights of milk of such producers and to provide such producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator, or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) Deductions with respect to members of a cooperative association. In the case of producers whose milk is received at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producers are members, and for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the market administrator, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from payments to such producers pursuant to § 915.80 as may be authorized by the membership agreement or by-laws of such cooperative association, and on or before the 15th day after the end of the month during which such milk was received shall pay such deductions to the cooperative association, of which such producers are members, rendering such services: Provided, That such deductions shall not be made from payments made to a cooperative association pursuant to the proviso in § 915.80.

§ 915.87 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration hereof each handler, who received milk from producers, shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 12th day after the end of the month during which such milk was received 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not to exceed 4 cents as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, with respect to all receipts of (a) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk, and (b) milk from producers (including such handler's own production).

§ 915.88 Termination of obligation. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this order shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to a cooperative association, the name of such producers or cooperative association, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this order, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or wilful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this order shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 915.90 Effective time. The provisions hereof, or of any amendment hereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 915.91.

§ 915.91 Suspension or termination. Whenever the Secretary finds this order or any provision thereof obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall terminate or suspend the operation of this order or any such provision thereof.

§ 915.92 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this order there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 915.93 Liquidation. Upon the suspension of the provisions hereof, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidation agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidation agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 915.100 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions hereof.

§ 915.101 Separability of provisions. If any provision hereof, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions hereof, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

AUTHORITY: §§ 917.0 to 917.92 issued under 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 61 Stat. 202, 707; 62 Stat. 1247; 63 Stat. 1051.

§ 917.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 61 Stat. 202, 707; 62 Stat. 1247; 63 Stat. 1051), and the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Torrington, Wyoming, on May 4–6, 1950, upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the counties of Goshen, Laramie, Platte, Albany, Converse, Niobrara, Natrona, Johnson, Sheridan, Washakie, Big Horn, Park, Hot Springs, and Fremont in Wyoming, and the counties of Sioux, Scotts Bluff, Banner, Kimball, Cheyenne, Morrill, Box Butte, Dawes, Sheridan, Garden, Deuel, Keith, and Lincoln in Nebraska. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing, and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) All handling of potatoes grown in the production area is either in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects such commerce;

(2) This order, and all of the terms and conditions of this order, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to Irish potatoes produced in the production area specified in this order by establishing and maintaining such orderly marketing conditions therefor as will tend to establish, as prices to the producers thereof, parity prices and by protecting the interest of the consumer (i) by approaching the level of prices which it is declared in the act to be the policy of Congress to establish by a gradual correction of the current level of prices at as rapid a rate as the Secretary deems to be in the public interest and feasible in view of the current consumptive demand in domestic and foreign markets, and (ii) by authorizing no action which has for its purpose the maintenance of prices to producers of such Irish potatoes above the parity level, and (iii) by authorizing the establishment and maintenance of such minimum standards of quality and maturity, as will tend to effectuate such orderly marketing of such Irish potatoes as will be in the public interest;

(3) This order regulates the handling of potatoes grown in the production area in the same manner as, and is applicable only to the persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a proposed marketing agreement on which a hearing has been held;

(4) This order is limited in its application to the smallest regional production area that is practicable, consistent with carrying out the declared policy of the act; and the issuance of several orders applicable to any subdivision of the production area specified in this order would not effectively carry out the declared policy of the act; and

(5) The terms and provisions of this order prescribe, so far as practicable, such different terms, applicable to different parts of the production area, as are necessary to give due recognition to the differences in production and marketing of potatoes grown in the production area.

Order relative to handling. It is, therefore, ordered that on and after the effective time hereof the handling of potatoes, as defined in this order, shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of this order; and the terms and conditions of this order are as follows:

The administrative committee shall also transmit a report accompanying the budget showing the basis for its calculation of expenses and the proposed rate of assessment.

§ 917.41 Expenses. The administrative committee is authorized to incur such expenses as the Secretary, upon the basis of the aforesaid budget, or on the basis of other available information, finds may be necessary and appropriate during each fiscal year.

§ 917.42 Rate of assessment. The funds to cover such expenses shall be acquired by the levying on handlers of assessments which shall be at a rate fixed by the Secretary on the basis of the administrative committee's recommendation or other available information. Each handler who first ships potatoes shall pay assessments to the administrative committee, upon demand, which assessments shall be such handler's pro rata share of the expenses which will be appropriately incurred by such committee during each fiscal year. Such handler's share of such expenses shall be proportionate to the ratio between the total quantity of potatoes handled by him as the first handler thereof, during the applicable fiscal year, and the total quantity of potatoes handled by all handlers as the first handlers thereof, during the same fiscal year.

§ 917.43 Increasing rate of assessment. Upon recommendation of the administrative committee or upon a later finding relative to such committee's expenses or revenue, the Secretary may increase the rate of assessment to cover expenses which shall be appropriately incurred. Such increase shall be applicable to all potatoes handled during the given fiscal year.

§ 917.44 Accounting. All funds received by the administrative committee pursuant to any provision of this part shall be used solely for the purposes specified in this part and shall be accounted for in the following manner:

§ 917.45 Collection of funds. The administrative committee may, with the approval of the Secretary, maintain in its own name or in the name of its members, a suit against any handler for the collection of such handler's pro rata share of its expenses.

§ 917.46 Refunds. If, at the end of a fiscal year, it shall appear that assessments collected are in excess of expenses incurred, each handler entitled to a proportionate refund of the excess assessments shall be credited with such refund against the operations of the following fiscal year, unless he demands payment thereof, in which event such proportionate refund shall be paid to him.

REGULATION

§ 917.50 Marketing policy preparation. (a) At the beginning of each marketing season the administrative committee and the marketing committees shall hold a joint meeting to consider a proposed policy for the marketing of potatoes grown in the respective districts during such season. In developing such marketing policy the committees shall investigate relevant supply and demand conditions for potatoes and in such investigations shall give appropriate consideration to the following:

(1) Market prices for potatoes, including prices by grade, size, and quality in different packs;

(2) Supply of potatoes, by grade, size, and quality in the production area and in other production areas;

(3) The trend and level of consumer income; and

(4) Other relevant factors.

(b) Following such joint consideration of marketing policy, each marketing committee shall adopt a proposed policy for the marketing of potatoes grown in its district and prepare a report thereon.

§ 917.51 Marketing policy report. (a) Each marketing committee shall submit to the Secretary a report setting forth the aforesaid marketing policy, and a copy of such report shall be made available to the administrative committee. Each committee with the assistance of the administrative committee also shall notify producers and handlers of the contents of such reports.

(b) In the event it becomes advisable for a marketing committee to deviate from its marketing policy, because of changed supply and demand conditions, the administrative committee and the marketing committees shall formulate a new marketing policy in accordance with the manner previously outlined. Such marketing committee also shall submit a report thereon to the Secretary, also to the administrative committee, and notify, with the assistance of the administrative committee, producers and handlers of such revised or amended marketing policy.

§ 917.52 Recommendation for regulations; committee recommendations. Each marketing committee shall recommend regulation, for the district which it serves, to the Secretary whenever it finds that such regulation, as provided in § 917.53, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Each marketing committee also may recommend modification, suspension, or termination of any regulation in order to facilitate shipments of potatoes, grown in such district, pursuant to § 917.54.

§ 917.53 Issuance of regulations. The Secretary shall limit the shipment of potatoes whenever he finds from the recommendations and information submitted by any marketing committee, or from other available information, that such regulation would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Such limitation may:

(a) Regulate, in any or all portions of the production area, the shipment of particular grades, sizes, or qualities of any or all varieties of potatoes during any period; or

(b) Regulate the shipment of particular grades, sizes, or qualities of potatoes differently, for different varieties, for different portions of the production area, for different packs, or any combination of the foregoing during any period; or

(c) Regulate the shipment of potatoes by establishing, and maintaining in effect in terms of grades, sizes, or both, minimum standards of quality or maturity, or both.

§ 917.54 Modification, suspension, or termination. The Secretary shall modify, suspend, or terminate regulations issued pursuant to §§ 917.42, 917.53, or 917.65, or any combination thereof, in order to facilitate shipments of potatoes for one or more of the following purposes, whenever he finds, upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by any marketing committee for the district served by such committee, or from other available information, that such action will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act:

(a) For seed;

(b) For export;

(c) For distribution by the Federal Government;

(d) For manufacture or conversion into specified products;

(e) For livestock feed; and

(f) For other purposes which may be specified.

§ 917.55 Minimum quantity regulation. Each marketing committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may establish for any or all portions of the production area, served by such committee, minimum quantities below which shipments will be free from regulations issued or in effect pursuant to §§ 917.42, 917.43, 917.53, or 917.65 or any combinations thereof.

§ 917.56 Notification of regulation. The Secretary shall notify the administrative committee and marketing committees of each regulation issued, and modification, suspension, or termination thereof. The administrative committee with the assistance of the marketing committees shall give reasonable notice thereof to producers and handlers.

§ 917.57 Safeguards. (a) The administrative committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may prescribe adequate safeguards to prevent shipments pursuant to § 917.54 from entering channels of trade for other than the specific purpose authorized therefor, and rules governing the issuance and the contents of Certificates of Privilege if such certificates are prescribed as safeguards by such committee. Such safeguards may include requirements that:

(1) Handlers shall file applications with the administrative committee to ship potatoes pursuant to § 917.54;

(2) Handlers shall obtain inspection provided by § 917.65 or pay the aforesaid pro rata share of expenses, or both, in connection with potato shipments effected under the provisions of § 917.54; and

(3) Handlers shall obtain Certificates of Privilege from the administrative committee for shipments of potatoes effected or to be effected under the provisions of § 917.54.

(b) The administrative committee may rescind or deny Certificates of Privilege to any shipper if proof is obtained that potatoes shipped by him for the purposes stated in § 917.54 were handled contrary to the requirements applicable thereto.

(c) The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any safeguards prescribed and any certificates issued by the administrative committee pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(d) The administrative committee shall make reports to the Secretary, as requested, showing the number of applications for such certificates, the quantity of potatoes covered by such applications, the number of such applications denied and certificates granted, the quantity of potatoes shipped under duly issued certificates, and such other information as may be requested.

INSPECTION

§ 917.65 Inspection and certification. During any period in which shipments of potatoes are regulated pursuant to the provisions of §§ 917.42, 917.43, or 917.53, no handler shall ship potatoes unless, prior thereto, such shipment was inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal Inspection Service or such other inspection service as the Secretary shall designate. Each handler procuring inspection pursuant to this section shall make arrangements with the inspecting agency to forward promptly to the administrative committee a copy of the inspection certificate: Provided, That the regrading, resorting, repacking, or other further preparation of inspected potatoes for market shall invalidate prior inspection thereon and subsequent shipment of such potatoes after regrading, resorting, repacking, or other preparation for market shall not be effected unless, prior thereto, such shipment is inspected as provided in this section.

EXEMPTIONS

§ 917.70 Procedure. The administrative committee may adopt, subject to approval of the Secretary, the procedures pursuant to which certificates of exemption will be issued to producers and to handlers.

§ 917.71 Granting exemptions. (a) Such committee may issue certificates of exemption to any producer who applies for such exemption and furnishes adequate evidence to the committee that, by reason of a regulation issued pursuant to § 917.53, he will be prevented from handling, or causing to be handled, as large a proportion of his production as the average proportion of production handled, or caused to be handled, during the entire season (or such portion thereof as may be determined by the committee) by all producers in said applicant's immediate area of production and that the grade, size, and quality, or either thereof, of the applicant's potatoes, has been adversely affected by acts beyond the applicant's control and by acts beyond his reasonable expectation. Each such certificate shall permit the producer to handle, or cause to be handled, the amount of potatoes specified thereon. Such certificate shall be transferred with such potatoes at time of transportation or sale.

(b) Such committee may issue certificates of exemption to any handler who applies for such exemption and furnishes adequate evidence to the committee that, by reason of a regulation issued pursuant to § 917.53, he will be prevented from handling as large a proportion of his storage holdings of ungraded potatoes, acquired during or immediately following the digging season, as the average proportion of ungraded storage holdings (acquired as aforesaid) handled by all handlers in said applicant's immediate shipping area, and that the grade, size, and quality, or either thereof of the applicant's potatoes, has been adversely affected by acts beyond the applicant's control and by acts beyond his reasonable expectation. Each such certificate shall permit the handler to handle the amount of potatoes specified thereon. Such certificate shall be transferred with such potatoes at time of transportation or sale.

(c) The committee shall be permitted, at any time, to make a thorough investigation of any producer's or handler's claim pertaining to exemptions.

§ 917.72 Appeal. If any applicant for exemption certificates is dissatisfied with the determination by the committee with respect to his application, said applicant may file an appeal with the committee. Such an appeal must be taken promptly after the determination by the committee from which the appeal is taken. Each applicant filing an appeal shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the committee for a determination on the appeal. The committee shall thereupon reconsider the application, examine all available evidence, and make a final determination concerning the application. The committee shall notify the appellant of the final determination and shall furnish the Secretary with a copy of the appeal and a statement of considerations involved in making the final determination.

§ 917.73 Records and reports of exemptions. (a) The administrative committee shall maintain records of all applications submitted for exemption certificates, of all exemption certificates issued, of the respective quantity of potatoes covered by each such exemption certificate, of the amount of potatoes shipped under exemption certificates, and of appeals submitted for reconsideration of applications, and such additional information as may be requested by the Secretary. Periodic reports on such records shall be compiled and issued by the administrative committee upon request of the Secretary.

(b) The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any procedure and any exemptions granted pursuant to § 917.70, 917.71, or 917.72, or any combination thereof.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 917.80 Reports. Upon the request of the administrative committee, with approval of the Secretary, every handler shall furnish to such committee, in such manner and at such time as may be prescribed, such information as will enable the administrative committee and the marketing committees to exercise their powers and perform their duties under this part. The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, or rescind any requests for reports made pursuant to this section.

§ 917.81 Compliance. Except as provided in this part, no handler shall ship potatoes, the shipment of which has been prohibited by the Secretary in accordance with provisions of this part, and no handler shall ship potatoes except in conformity to the provisions of this part.

Each and every order, regulation, decision, determination or other act of each such committee shall be subject to the continuing right of the Secretary to disapprove of the same at any time. Upon such disapproval, the disapproved action shall be deemed null and void, except as to acts done in reliance thereon or in compliance therewith prior to such disapproval by the Secretary.

§ 917.83 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare above his signature attached to this subpart and shall continue in force until terminated in one of the ways hereinafter specified.

(b) The Secretary may terminate or suspend the operation of any or all of the provisions of this subpart whenever he finds that such provisions do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(c) The Secretary shall terminate the provisions of this subpart at the end of any fiscal year whenever he finds that such termination is favored by a majority of producers who, during the preceding fiscal year, have been engaged in the production for market of potatoes: Provided, That such majority has, during such year, produced for market more than fifty percent of the volume of such potatoes produced for market; but such termination shall be effective only if announced at least 30 days prior to the end of the then current fiscal year.

(d) The provisions of this subpart shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing them cease to be in effect.

§ 917.85 Proceedings after termination. (a) Upon the termination of the provisions of this subpart, the then functioning members of the administrative committee shall continue as trustees, for the purpose of liquidating the affairs of such committee and the marketing committees, of all the funds and property then in the possession of or under control of such committees, including claims for any funds unpaid or property not delivered at the time of such termination. Action by said trusteeship shall require the concurrence of a majority of the said trustees.

(c) Any person to whom funds, property, or claims have been transferred or delivered, pursuant to this section, shall be subject to the same obligations imposed in this part.

§ 917.86 Effect of termination or amendment. Unless otherwise expressly provided by the Secretary, the termination of this subpart, or of any regulation issued pursuant to this subpart, or the issuance of any amendments to either thereof, shall not (a) affect or waive any right, duty, obligation, or liability which shall have arisen or which may thereafter arise in connection with any provision of this subpart or any regulation issued under this subpart, or (b) release or extinguish any violation of this subpart or of any regulations issued under this subpart, or (c) affect or impair any rights or remedies of the Secretary or of any other person with respect to any such violation:

§ 917.87 Duration of immunities. The benefits, privileges, and immunities conferred upon any person by virtue of this subpart shall cease upon the termination of this subpart, except with respect to acts done under and during the existence of this subpart.

§ 917.88 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any person, including any officer or employee of the Government, or name any bureau or division in the United States Department of Agriculture, to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 917.89 Derogation. Nothing contained in this part is, or shall be construed to be, in derogation or in modification of the rights of the Secretary or of the United States to exercise any powers granted, by the act or otherwise, or, in accordance with such powers, to act in the premises whenever such action is deemed advisable.

§ 917.90 Personal liability. No member or alternate of the administrative committee or any marketing committee, or any employee or agent of the administrative committee, shall be held personally responsible, either individually or jointly with others, in any way whatsoever, to any handler or other person for errors in judgment, mistakes, or other acts, either of commission or omission, as such member, alternate, employee, or agent, except for acts of dishonesty.

§ 917.91 Separability. If any provision of this subpart is declared invalid, or the applicability thereof to any person, circumstance, or thing is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of this subpart, or the applicability thereof to any other person, circumstance, or thing, shall not be affected thereby.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

PRIMARY FLYING SCHOOL FLIGHT CURRICULUM

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Pursuant to authority delegated by the Civil Aeronautics Board to the Bureau of Safety Regulation notice is hereby given that the Bureau will propose to the Board an extension of Special Civil Air Regulation SR-336 in substance as hereinafter set forth.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rules by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulation, Washington 25, D. C. All communications received by September 29, 1950, will be considered by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rules. Copies of such communications will be available after October 4, 1950, for perusal by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

Currently effective Special Civil Air Regulation SR-336 provides for the issuance of an air agency certificate with a primary flying school rating to an applicant who will, in lieu of the requirements of § 50.13 (a) of the Civil Air Regulations, provide at least 55 hours of flight training of which not less than 10 hours shall be solo flight time, not less than 15 hours dual instruction time, and not less than 30 hours flight instruction time with the student acting in the capacity of an observer. The student undergoing such instruction will obtain only a total of 25 hours while actually manipulating the controls of an airplane. Thus, this Special Civil Air Regulation substitutes 30 hours of controlled observer time for 10 hours of pilot time. Special Civil Air Regulation SR-336 terminates October 18, 1950.

Information received by this Bureau indicates that approximately 46 schools have been approved by the Administrator to provide training in accordance with the provisions of Special Civil Air Regulation SR–336, but that only a very few have actually commenced training. We also understand that additional schools are desirous of instituting this type of training.

We have been advised that none of the students who have matriculated into these courses have completed their training, and that therefore the Administrator has not had sufficient time in which to evaluate the results thereof. Nor is it anticipated that the Administrator will have time to make such an evaluation prior to the termination date of Special Civil Air Regulation SR–336.

Accordingly, it is proposed to postpone the termination date of Special Civil Air Regulation SR–336 until October 18, 1951. It is anticipated that within such time the Administrator will be able to accumulate sufficient data on which to make a determination with respect to the continuance of this type of training.

It is also proposed to permit a graduate of this course of training, who passes his examination for a private rating, to credit not more than 10 hours of the "dual instruction observer" time as dual instruction flight time and to obtain a private pilot rating without any endorsement based upon the flight time completed.

This Special Civil Air Regulation is proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

ESTABLISHMENT, PURPOSE, FUNCTION, ORGANIZATION AND PROCEDURES

The following description of the establishment, purpose, functions, organization, and procedures of the National Bureau of Standards supersedes the material formerly published in the codification section of the FEDERAL REGISTER as Part 250 (11 F. R. 326); Part 251 (11 F. R. 326, 13 F. R. 321); Part 252 (11 F. R. 327, 12 F. R. 5866, 13 F. R. 2508); Part 253 (11 F. R. 327–329, 12 F. R. 5866, 13 F. R. 321, 13 F. R. 2508); and Part 254 (11 F. R. 329–330, 13 F. R. 2508).

SECTION I. Establishment. The National Bureau of Standards was established by act of Congress dated March 3, 1901 (31 Stat. 2449; 15 U. S. C. 271).

SEC. II. Purpose and functions—1. Basic functions. a. The National Bureau of Standards is the principal agency of the Federal Government for fundamental research in physics, mathematics, chemistry, and engineering. It is responsible for the custody and maintenance of the national standards of physical measurement in terms of which all working standards in research laboratories and industry are calibrated, and carries on necessary research leading to improvement in such standards and methods of measurement. It also has a general responsibility for basic research in physics, mathematics, chemistry, and engineering, and for development of improved methods for testing materials, mechanisms, and structures. It determines physical constants and properties of materials, tests and calibrates standard measuring apparatus and reference standards, and studies technical processes.

b. A large part of the work of the Bureau is concerned with the development of specifications for, and the testing of, materials, supplies (other than foods and drugs) and equipment for the Federal Government; the invention and development of devices to serve special needs of the Government; and with rendering advisory service to, and performing specialized functions for, other Government agencies on scientific and technical problems. Cooperation is extended to States, industries, and national organizations in the development of standard specifications and standard engineering and safety codes.

c. The services to the public include the furnishing of information regarding Bureau research and testing activities which is available for publication, furnishing of standard samples of chemicals, metals, and other materials, and the testing of materials and equipment and calibration of instruments when such services are in the public interest and are not available of sufficient accuracy elsewhere.

2. Research Associate Plan. Many research projects at the Bureau originate in requests from industrial groups and are carried on in cooperation with the organizations primarily interested. The Research Associate Plan, inaugurated soon after World War I, was devised to further this cooperation, and provides a satisfactory method for assisting an industrial group in the solution of a problem of interest directly to that industry and directly or indirectly to the general public, but in which the Government is not sufficiently concerned to bear the entire cost. Under this plan an industrial or technical group may send to the Bureau one or more research men or women to work on the group's problem under the technical direction of Bureau staff members, with the supporting group paying the salaries of these "Research Associates". The results of their work become public property and are published in the Bureau's Journal of Research or in the technical press. As many as 100 Research Associates, sponsored by 20 or more groups, have been stationed at the Bureau at one time.

3. Federal specifications. The Federal Specifications Board, under the chairmanship of the Director of the National Bureau of Standards, acting in cooperation with the staff of the Federal Supply Service of the General Services Administration, is charged with the responsibility of the preparation, revision, and amendment of purchase specifications promulgated by the Federal Supply Service for supplies used by the Executive departments and agencies. This function is discharged through the operation of 78 Federal Specifications Technical Committees.

4. Weights and measures. The United States was a signatory to the treaty under which the International Bureau of Weights and Measures was created in 1875. The National Bureau of Standards has participated in the affairs of the International Bureau, the International Conference on Weights and Measures, and the International Committee, which is an executive agency for the International Conference. Through its Office of Weights and Measures the National Bureau of Standards promotes uniformity in laws, rules, regulations, and general administrative procedures of State and local weights and measures jurisdictions, and in the specifications, tolerances, and testing methods for commercial weighing and measuring devices. As a part of this activity, the Bureau conducts an annual National Conference on Weights and Measures. This office also performs calibrations of weighing scales, force-measuring devices, railway master scales and test weight cars, and conducts research and evaluation of multiple weighing devices and techniques.

SEC. III. Organization—1. Office of the Director—a. Purpose and functions. The Director is appointed by the President and is responsible for administering the affairs of the Bureau under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce, in accordance with the statutes, executive orders, rules and regulations of the Department of Commerce, and rules and regulations of the regulatory agencies of the Federal Government.

b. SEC. IV. Procedures. In general, no formal procedures are prescribed for obtaining service from the National Bureau of Standards.

1. Information. Information on technical and scientific subjects within its field of work is supplied by the Bureau by means of publications, by correspondence, and by personal interviews with inquirers. All such service is given without charge, except that publications can be supplied free only to reference libraries or in answer to requests for information on specific problems. The regular method of distributing publications is through sales by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

2. Calibrations and tests for Government agencies. Comparisons and calibrations of instruments or standards of measurement and work related thereto which may be carried on for the benefit of, or at the request of other Federal agencies or State governments shall be performed without charge within the limits of funds appropriated therefor; tests, investigations, and related work incident thereto, whether for developing commodity specifications, acceptance of commodities, or as information for use by regulatory or enforcement agencies when performed for other Federal agencies and the District of Columbia, shall be performed in most instances on a reimbursement basis or by advance of funds under the working fund method. Requests for such calibrations or tests should be made in writing to the Bureau but no special form is required.

3. Tests for the public. The Bureau is authorized by law to perform services within its field "for any scientific society, educational institution, firm, corporation, or individual within the United States engaged in manufacturing or other pursuits requiring the use of standards or standard measuring instruments", provided that in each case of such service a fee shall be charged sufficient to cover the cost of the service rendered as set forth in 15 CFR, Supps., Parts 200–215. The policy of the Department of Commerce, however, has been to undertake testing for the public only when satisfactory service cannot be obtained from other laboratories. Tests for the public are therefore limited almost entirely to those involving comparison of laboratory standards or instruments with the national standards. A compilation of tests performed for the public and the fee charged has been published in NBS Circular 483 which is available for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

Requests for such tests should be made in writing to the National Bureau of Standards, Washington 25, D. C., specifying by test fee schedule number the test desired.

4. Research for Government agencies. On request from any government agency the Bureau will carry out needed investigations which are within its field of work and for which it has facilities. When the Bureau is unable to perform such work within the limits of its direct appropriations any department or independent establishment having funds available for scientific investigations may transfer to the Bureau such sums as may be necessary to carry on such investigations.

5. Research Associate Plan. Arrangements for carrying on an investigation under the Research Associate Plan (see sec. 11, par. 2) are made by conference with the organizations supporting the project and recorded by an exchange of letters. Funds contributed for such projects are not handled by the Bureau but are usually deposited with and disbursed by some appropriate organization, such as the National Research Council.

6. Transcript services. The Bureau is authorized to furnish transcripts of its studies and records, and certification of its printed and processed publications, to any person, firm or corporation, upon receipt of a written request, provided that a fee for such service be charged sufficient to cover the cost of the service rendered as set forth in 15 CFR, Part 225. Requests for such transcripts or certifications should be in writing, and should provide sufficient information to enable the Bureau to identify properly the specific study, record, or publication referred to.

7. Standard samples. The Bureau is authorized to furnish, upon request, standard samples of substances to be used in the analysis and physical measurement of materials, provided that a fee shall be charged sufficient to cover the cost of the standard sample, as set forth in 15 CFR, Supps., Part 230. A compilation of the standard samples available, and the fee charged, is contained in NBS Circular 398, and Supplement thereto, which is available for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

Requests for such samples should be made in writing to the National Bureau of Standards, Washington 25, D. C., specifying the number of the sample desired.

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO.

ORDER POSTPONING HEARING

AUGUST 22, 1950.

On August 11, 1950, Phillips Petroleum Company (Phillips) filed a motion for a continuance of the hearing in this proceeding until January 2, 1951, upon the grounds that its preparation for the hearing would involve increased work by reason of the adoption by the Commission of its Order No. 154, and also upon the further grounds that its principal witnesses are key employees of vital importance in the production of war materials. A postponement for some time will be necessary because certain members of the Staff of the Commission will not be available for the hearing now set to commence on September 11, 1950. The Commission finds:

(1) The grounds asserted by Phillips for a continuance of the hearing in this proceeding upon the basis of the adoption by the Commission of its Order No. 154 are without merit, and its motion in this respect for a continuance should be denied.

(2) Since it is not convenient for principal witnesses of Phillips to be prepared for the hearing now set for September 11, 1950, and certain essential members of the Staff of the Commission assigned to this case are engaged in other proceedings and also require a postponement of the hearing now set for September 11, 1950, at Bartlesville, Oklahoma, a short continuance is necessary.

The Commission orders:

(A) The motion for continuance of hearing filed by Phillips on August 11, 1950, upon the grounds that the adoption by the Commission of its Order No. 154 increased the amount of work involved in the preparation of this case be and the same is hereby denied.

(B) The hearing in the above-entitled matter be and it is hereby postponed from September 11, 1950, to October 9, 1950, at the same time and place heretofore specified by our order.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 54-173]

PHILADELPHIA CO. AND STANDARD GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE OF FILING OF AMENDMENTS TO PLAN AND NOTICE AND ORDER RECONVENING HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of August 1950.

I. On October 28, 1949, Standard Gas and Electric Company ("Standard Gas"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of Standard Power and Light Corporation, also a registered holding company, filed with this Commission, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), an Amended Plan for Simplification of Corporate Structure of the Philadelphia Company System ("Plan"). Philadelphia Company ("Philadelphia") is a subsidiary of Standard Gas and is also a registered holding company. For a statement of the various transactions there proposed, all interested persons are referred to said Plan, which is on file in the offices of the Commission, or to Holding Company Act Release No. 9493, where the proposed transactions are summarized.

On March 1, 1950, Standard Gas filed certain amendments to the Plan, and thereafter various applications and declarations, designed to carry into effect Steps 1 and 1A of the Plan, as then amended, were filed with the Commission by Standard Gas and certain of its subsidiaries. As a result thereof, there have since been consummated, pursuant to orders of the Commission, the transactions described in said Steps 1 and 1A, namely, (1) the combination of the gas properties in Philadelphia's holding company system under the ownership of Equitable Gas Company ("Equitable") and the issuance by Equitable to Philadelphia of $17,500,000 principal amount of Twenty-Year 3⅜% Sinking Fund Debentures of Equitable ("Equitable Debentures") and additional shares of the Common Stock of Equitable, and (2) the sale by Philadelphia of all of the Common Stock of Equitable and the application of the proceeds therefrom, to the extent required, to the redemption and retirement of the entire funded debt of Philadelphia, consisting of $36,109,000 principal amount of Collateral Trust Sinking Fund Bonds and Collateral Trust Series Notes. For a more complete statement of these transactions, all interested persons are referred to Holding Company Act Release No. 9766.

Upon the completion of the transactions described in Steps 1 and 1A of the Plan, as amended, Philadelphia held the aforementioned $17,500,000 principal amount of Equitable Debentures and a balance of approximately $8,200,000 remaining from the proceeds realized from the sale of the Equitable Common Stock after payment of principal and premiums in retiring Philadelphia's funded debt. Thereafter, Philadelphia sold at competitive bidding $11,000,000 principal amount of the Equitable Debentures and applied the proceeds, to the extent necessary, to the redemption of its $6 Cumulative Preference Stock, aggregating 100,000 shares, at the redemption price of $110 per share plus accrued and unpaid dividends. For a more complete statement of these transactions all interested persons are referred to Holding Company Act Release No. 9939.

II. Notice is hereby given that on July 12, 1950, further amendments, dated July 11, 1950, to the Plan, as amended, were filed by Standard Gas. These amendments supersede the previously filed amendments of March 1, 1950, except as to the aforesaid Steps 1 and 1A thereof, which have been consummated. All interested persons are referred to said further amendments, which are on file in the offices of the Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized below:

Steps 2 and 3 of the Plan, as now amended, relate primarily to changes in the capital structure of Duquesne Light Company ("Duquesne"), Philadelphia's electric utility subsidiary. In brief, Step 2 now provides for the creation by Duquesne of a new class of Preferred Stock, par value $50 per share, in the authorized amount of $40,000,000. This Preferred Stock will be issued in an aggregate amount of $35,000,000 par value in two series. One series, bearing a dividend rate of 4 percent and aggregating in amount $27,500,000 par value ("4 percent Series Preferred Stock"), will be sold to Philadelphia, and the other series, aggregating in amount $7,500,000 par value ("Public Series Preferred Stock"), will be sold at competitive bidding pursuant to the provisions of Rule U-50, promulgated under the Act, with the bidding thereon to determine the dividend rate.

Duquesne will apply the proceeds from the sale to Philadelphia of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock, together with general corporate funds and the proceeds of a bank loan to be obtained for the purpose, to the redemption and retirement of the presently outstanding $27,500,000 par value of its 5 percent Cumulative First Preferred Stock at the redemption price of $110 per share plus accrued dividends. In addition, Duquesne will eliminate from its authorized capital stock all of its authorized First Preferred Stock, including the 5 percent Cumulative First Preferred Stock being redeemed, and all of its authorized Participating Preferred Stock, none of which is issued and outstanding.

Duquesne will also issue and sell, at competitive bidding pursuant to the provisions of Rule U-50, $12,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, Series due August 1, 1980, with the coupon rate thereof to be determined by the bidding.

The consideration to be paid by Philadelphia to Duquesne in connection with the purchase of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock will consist of $27,200,000 in cash plus all of the outstanding capital stock of Cheswick and Harmar Railroad Company, a railroad whose principal business is the transportation of coal mined by Duquesne. Of the cash required by Philadelphia approximately $8,200,000 will be derived from the remaining balance of the proceeds realized from the aforementioned sale of Equitable Common Stock and the balance will be secured from bank loans. The bank loans will consist of $17,500,000 of 2 percent notes maturing in one year with options on Philadelphia's part, subject to receipt of this Commission's approval, to renew for two successive one-year periods at an interest rate of 2½ percent.

Step 3 of the Plan, as now amended, provides that upon consummation of the transactions included in Step 2, Philadelphia will invest in or contribute to Duquesne such amount, if any, as may be required in order that the common stock equity of Duquesne at the time shall be at least 30 percent of Duquesne's total capitalization and surplus.

The transactions included in Steps 2 and 3, as above summarized, have been authorized by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and were approved by this Commission by order dated August 21, 1950. For a more complete statement of said transactions, all interested persons are referred to Holding Company Act Release No. 10044.

Step 4 of the Plan, as now amended, provides for the following action:

The presently outstanding Preferred Five Percent Stock of Philadelphia ("5 Percent Preferred Stock"), the Six Percent Cumulative Preferred Stock of Philadelphia ("6 Percent Preferred Stock"), and the 6 Percent Cumulative Preferred Stock of The Consolidated Gas Company of the City of Pittsburgh ("Consolidated Preferred Stock"), all of which stocks are noncallable, will be retired by Philadelphia by the delivery in exchange therefor of securities and cash as follows:

(1) For each share of 5 percent Preferred Stock the holder will receive $11 in cash, plus cash in an amount equal to dividends accrued and unpaid to the effective date of Step 4.

(2) For each share of 6 percent Preferred Stock the holder will receive one share of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock of Duquesne and cash in an amount as yet undetermined. Such amount will be determined and notice thereof will be mailed to record holders of the 6 percent Preferred Stock, in advance of the hearing on Step 4, hereinafter ordered. Dividends will be adjusted by paying to each holder of 6 percent Preferred Stock the amount by which dividends accrued and unpaid on such stock to the effective date of this Step 4 exceed, or by deducting from the cash otherwise payable to such holder the amount by which such dividends are less than, dividends accrued to such effective date on the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock to be received in exchange for such 6 percent Preferred Stock.

(3) For each share of Consolidated Preferred Stock the holder will receive a portion of a share of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock of Duquesne. The amount will be determined, and notice thereof will be mailed to record holder of the Consolidated Preferred Stock, in advance of the hearing on Step 4. Dividends will be adjusted as follows: If Step 4 is consummated at a time when accrued dividends at the rate of 4 percent per annum on the Consolidated Preferred Stock exceed dividends accrued on the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock to be received in exchange therefor, exchanging holders will receive cash in an amount equal to such excess. If, on the other hand, dividends accrued to the effective date of Step 4 on such 4 percent Series Preferred Stock exceed the dividends of the Consolidated Preferred Stock to be exchanged therefor, the distribution of such 4 percent Series Preferred Stock in exchange for Consolidated Preferred Stock will be deferred until the end of the current quarterly dividend period for the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock, at which time a cash adjustment on the basis above stated will be made in favor of exchanging holders of Consolidated Preferred Stock: Provided, however, That holders of such Consolidated Preferred Stock may elect to receive their 4 percent Series Preferred Stock prior to the end of such current quarterly dividend period by paying to Philadelphia the amount by which dividends accrued thereon to the date of exchange exceed dividends accrued to such date on the exchanged Consolidated Preferred Stock. No certificates for fractional shares of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock will be issued, but in lieu thereof the holder of shares of Consolidated Preferred Stock will receive cash in an amount bearing the same proportion to $50 as the fraction of a share of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock, to which he would otherwise be entitled, bears to one full share of such stock, unless he shall elect to have Philadelphia round out to a full share the amount of 4 percent Series Preferred Stock which he is to receive, charging him for the necessary additional fractional interest on the basis of the market price for such stock. Philadelphia will render such service without fee or commission.

On the effective date of Step 4, Philadelphia will deposit with an exchange agent the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock and cash necessary to make the above-described exchanges, whereupon the holders of 5 percent and 6 percent Preferred Stock and Consolidated Preferred Stock shall cease to have any rights as stockholders of those companies and shall be entitled only to receive new securities and/or cash as aforesaid. Pending surrender of the certificates of the 5 percent and 6 percent Preferred Stocks and the Consolidated Preferred Stock the exchange agent will receive all dividends paid or payable on the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock. After five years from the date of deposit by Philadelphia of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock, and cash, no more exchanges will be permitted, all of the rights of the holders of securities to be exchanged, as provided above will cease, and any 4 percent Series Preferred Stock or cash remaining with the exchange agent will be turned over to Duquesne. Not more than 60 nor less than 30 days prior to the expiration of each of the first five years after the consummation of Step 4, Philadelphia will give notice by mail and by publication that the rights of the holders of unexchanged 5 percent and 6 percent Preferred Stock of Philadelphia and Consolidated Preferred Stock will so terminate and expire.

It is stated that Duquesne will endeavor to procure the listing of its new Preferred Stock, 4 percent Series and Public Series, upon a national securities exchange within a reasonable time.

Step 5 of the Plan, as now amended, provides that the $5 Cumulative Preference Stock of Philadelphia will be retired by Philadelphia by the delivery in exchange therefor of cash and/or securities. Standard Gas proposes to file a further amendment to the Plan, setting forth the precise allocations of cash and/or securities to be made to the holders of such stock and specifying the procedural details in connection with the distribution of such cash and/or securities and the retirement of such stock.

The funds required by Philadelphia for the cash payments necessary to carry out Steps 4 and 5 will be obtained from the balance of the proceeds of the sale of the above mentioned $11,000,000 principal amount of Equitable Debentures now remaining in its hands, from the sale of the $6,500,000 principal amount of Equitable Debentures which Philadelphia now retains, from the proceeds of the sale of any of the 4 percent Series Preferred Stock not used for the purposes of Step 4, and/or from a bank loan.

Philadelphia will pay such fees and expenses in connection with the Plan and all amendments thereto as the Commission may award, allow or allocate, other than fees and expenses in connection with the changes in the capital structure of Duquesne and the issuance of the 4 percent Series and Public Series Preferred Stock and First Mortgage Bonds by Duquesne, which shall be paid by Duquesne.

Consummation of the Plan as now amended is subject to further conditions, among which are the obtaining of all necessary approvals from regulatory agencies having jurisdiction, the securing of satisfactory tax rulings, and the entry by an appropriate court of a decree or order to enforce and carry out the terms of the Plan or any portion thereof.

III. The Commission being required by the provisions of section 11 (e) of the act, before approving any plan submitted thereunder, to find after notice and opportunity for hearing that the plan, as submitted or as modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby; and it appearing appropriate that notice be given and the hearing with respect to the Plan be reconvened, and that the Plan, as now amended, shall not become effective except pursuant to further order of the Commission:

It is ordered, That the hearing in these proceedings be reconvened, before the hearing officer heretofore designated, on September 26, 1950, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., at the offices of the Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. On that date the hearing room clerk in Room 193 will designate the room in which such reconvened hearing shall proceed.

It is further ordered, That any person desiring to be heard in or to intervene in these proceedings and who has not previously appeared herein, shall file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before September 22, 1950, his request or application therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

The Division of Public Utilities of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the Plan, as now amended, and that upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

(1) Whether the Plan, as now amended or as it may hereafter be amended, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act;

(2) Whether the Plan, as now amended or as it may hereafter be amended, is fair and equitable to the holders of the outstanding securities of Philadelphia and to all other persons whose interests in or whose claims against Philadelphia by reason of holdings of securities or otherwise may be affected thereby;

(3) Whether the incurring of a further bank loan by Philadelphia, in connection with Step 4 or Step 5 of the Plan, if such action is ultimately proposed, is appropriate, and whether its terms, when fixed, would meet the applicable standards of the act;

(4) Whether the terms and conditions of the sale by Philadelphia of $6,500,000 principal amount of Equitable Debentures or of an undetermined amount of 4 percent Series Preferred Stock, or both, if such action is ultimately proposed, would meet the applicable standards of the act, including section 12 (d) thereof;

(5) Whether the fees, expenses and other remuneration which may be claimed for services rendered in connection with these proceedings are for necessary services and are reasonable in amount, and whether the proposed allocation thereof is appropriate;

(6) Whether the accounting treatment to be accorded the proposed transactions is appropriate and in conformity with sound accounting principles and the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts for Public Utility Holding Companies;

(7) Whether and to what extent the Plan, as now amended or as it may hereafter be further amended, should be required to be modified, or to have terms and conditions imposed, to insure adequate protection of the public interest and the interests of investors and consumers and to prevent circumvention of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder;

It is further ordered, That particular attention be directed at said reconvened hearing to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve a copy of this notice and order by registered mail on all persons having heretofore entered an appearance in these proceedings, and on Standard Power and Light Corporation, The Federal Power Commission, and the City of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and that notice of said reconvened hearing shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to persons on the mailing list for releases issued under the act, and that further notice shall be given to all persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That Standard Gas shall give further notice of said reconvened hearing to all stockholders of Philadelphia and to the holders of the Consolidated Preferred Stock (insofar as the identity of such security holders is known or available), by mailing to each of said persons, at his last known address, at least 15 days prior to the date of said reconvened hearing, a copy of this notice and order.

By the Commission.

UNITED GAS CORP. AND ELECTRIC BOND AND SHARE CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of August A. D. 1950.

Notice is hereby given that Electric Bond and Share Company ("Bond and Share"), a registered holding company, and its gas-utility subsidiary, United Gas Corporation ("United"), have filed a joint application-declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. The application-declaration states that the contract proposed to be entered into shall not become effective until approved by the Commission or until that Commission shall have advised the companies that it is without jurisdiction with respect to the proposed contract. The nature of the proposed transaction is summarized as follows:

United and Bond and Share have entered into a contract with National Research Corporation ("National"), a non-affiliated company engaged in industrial research. Under the terms of the contract, National is to engage in certain research work in an effort to develop new processes or products based on natural gas and its constituents. Such services are to be performed by National at cost plus certain amounts for overhead as specified in the contract. The duration of the contract is to be until December 31, 1955.

Under the terms of the contract, United and Bond and Share will each contribute 50 percent of the costs of such research. The rights of the parties in all results of the work subject to the agreement are 40 percent each for Bond and Share and United, and 20 percent for National.

The contract provides that Bond and Share and United, between them, are committed to expend in each year on work to be done by National the following amounts:

1950-- $12,500 times the number of full calendar months remaining in 1950 subsequent to the effective date of the agreement.

1951-- $150,000 times the number of full calendar months remaining in 1950 subsequent to the effective date of the agreement.

1952-- $200,000 times the number of full calendar months remaining in 1950 subsequent to the effective date of the agreement.

1954-- $250,000 times the number of full calendar months remaining in 1950 subsequent to the effective date of the agreement.

1955-- $250,000 times the number of full calendar months remaining in 1950 subsequent to the effective date of the agreement.

The contract provides that on or before October 1 of each year, National will submit a budget for the work to be done in the succeeding calendar year. If United and Bond and Share by December 1 of each year agree upon a program involving a budget of at least the amount shown in the above commitment for the succeeding calendar year then such program shall be adopted. If United and Bond and Share cannot agree upon such program then National is to proceed with the work and the amount of the budget for the succeeding calendar year shall be the amount set forth for such year in the above commitment.

The application-declaration states that expenditures by United and Bond and Share for any calendar year aggregating in excess of $1,000,000 will not be made unless the companies shall have given the Commission at least ten days prior notice of their intention to make such expenditure, and (1) no notice shall have been given to the companies by the Commission within such ten day period that an application or declaration need be filed with respect to such expenditures, or that the Commission shall have given notice within such ten day period that no application or declaration is required; or (2) an application or declaration filed by the companies with respect to the transactions shall have been granted or permitted to become effective by order of the Commission.

United and Bond and Share further state that the transactions contemplated under the contract are limited to the actual research work to be done by National and the expenditure of funds by United and Bond and Share in connection with such research work, as distinguished from the commercial exploitation of any patents or inventions resulting from such research work, either by way of licensing under such patents, or by way of organizing a corporation or other joint venture for the purpose of using or working such patents.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 7, 1950, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matters, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application-declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after September 7, 1950, said application-declaration may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

they may not be taken over any baited place. As used in this section "baiting" shall mean the placing, exposing, depositing, distributing, or scattering of shelled, shucked, or unshucked corn, wheat, other grain, salt, or other feed so as to constitute for such birds a lure, attraction, or enticement to, on, or over the area where hunters are attempting to take them, and "baited place" shall mean any place where, at any time during the open seasons on such birds, shelled, shucked, or unshucked corn, wheat or other grain, salt, or any other feed whatsoever that may attract such birds is directly or indirectly placed, exposed, deposited, distributed or scattered. Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to propagating, scientific, or other operations in accordance with the terms of permits issued pursuant to § 6.8, or to the taking of birds over properly shocked corn and standing crops of corn, wheat, or other grain or feed, and grains found scattered solely as a result of normal agricultural harvesting.

(c) No person over 16 years of age may take migratory waterfowl unless at the time of such taking he has on his person an unexpired Federal migratory-bird hunting stamp, validated by his signature written across the face thereof in ink. Persons not over 16 years of age may take migratory waterfowl without such stamp.

3. Section 6.4 is amended to read as follows:

§ 6.4 Open seasons, bag limits, and possession of certain migratory game birds. (a) During the open seasons prescribed and except as hereinafter provided in this section ducks, geese, brant, and coot may be taken daily from one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset, and rails, gallinules, woodcock, mourning or turtle doves, white-winged doves, and band-tailed pigeons from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The hour for the commencement of hunting of waterfowl and coot on the first day of the season, including each first day of the split seasons, shall be 12 o'clock noon.

(b) A person may take in any one day during the open seasons prescribed therefor not to exceed the numbers of migratory game birds herein permitted, which numbers shall include all birds taken by any other person who for hire accompanies or assists him in taking such birds. When so taken, such birds may be possessed in the number specified in this section, except that no person on the opening day of the season may possess any migratory game birds in excess of the applicable daily limits.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to permit the taking of migratory birds on any reservation or sanctuary established under the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of February 18, 1929 (45 Stat. 1222), or on any area of the United States set aside under any other law, proclamation, or Executive order for use as a bird, game, or other wildlife reservation, breeding ground, or refuge except so far as may be permitted by the Secretary of the Interior under existing law, or on any area designated as a closed area under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act.

The bag limit for scoters and elders is 10 a day singly or in the aggregate of all kinds, and not more than 20 singly or in the aggregate of all kinds in possession.

Provided, however, That whenever the Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service shall find that emergency State action to prevent forest fires in any extensive area has resulted in the shortening of the season during which the hunting of any migratory game bird is permitted and that a compensatory extension or reopening of the hunting season for such birds will not result in a diminution of the abundance of birds to any greater extent than that contemplated for the original hunting season, the hunting season for the birds so affected may, subject to all other provisions of this subchapter, be extended or reopened by the Director upon request of the chief officer of the agency of the State exercising administration over wildlife resources. The Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service shall fix the length of the extended or reopened season, which in no event shall exceed the number of days during which hunting has been so prohibited, and he shall publicly announce the extended or reopened season.

4. Section 6.6 paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Possession. Within the maximum possession limits prescribed by § 6.4 migratory game birds lawfully taken within a State or transported or imported in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section, may be possessed in any State, District of Columbia, Alaska, or Puerto Rico during the open season where taken and for an additional 90 days next succeeding the said open season.

For the purposes of these regulations the ownership and possession of birds legally taken by any hunter shall be deemed to have ceased when such birds have been delivered by him to (1) a post office, (2) a common carrier, or (3) a locker, storage plant, or similar facility for transportation to some person other than the hunter or a member of the hunter's immediate household. As used in this section, "locker, storage plant, or similar facility" includes only those facilities as are engaged in the business of receiving and handling birds and keep and make available for inspection by any officer authorized to enforce these regulations at any reasonable time records showing the names and addresses of both the consignors and the consignees of such birds.

5. Section 6.10, including its title, is amended to read as follows:

§ 6.10 Revocation of certain existing permits. Permits which were issued prior to July 1, 1949, which bear no expiration date, and which authorize the possession of waterfowl for propagating purposes or the taking of migratory birds for scientific purposes, not including permits to band birds, are hereby revoked as of November 1, 1950.

As previously indicated in notices published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1950, and August 8, 1950, pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act of June 11, 1946 (60 Stat. 238), the breeding habits of many species of migratory birds, particularly waterfowl, are such that a comprehensive analysis of the various factors affecting the current year's abundance and distribution of such birds should not be considered earlier than the first week of August of each year. At the same time such notices stated that information then available regarding the distribution and abundance of doves, rails, and gallinules, and waterfowl in certain geographical areas, permitted the inclusion in those notices of schedules showing the proposed September open seasons, and related bag and possession limits, on such birds. The information contained in the schedules also was furnished to appropriate State game officials and to the public by publication in widely distributed newspapers and other publications and by other means. The open seasons, daily bag and possession limits, and other limitations specified in the notice of July 7, as modified by the notice of August 8, now have been included without change in the above amendments. In these circumstances, it has been determined that the public interests will best be served if those portions of § 6.3, Means by which migratory game birds may be taken, and § 6.4, Open seasons, bag limits, and possession of certain migratory game birds, relating to (1) rails and gallinules; (2) doves (white-winged, mourning or turtle); (3) band-tailed pigeons; (4) waterfowl in Alaska; (5) scoter, eider, and old squaw ducks in Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, and Rhode Island become effective September 1, 1950. The remainder of the amendments, which particularly affect waterfowl and are related to seasons beginning later than September 30, 1950, become effective October 1, 1950.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of the Interior to be affixed, this 24th day of August 1950.

[SEAL] OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Secretary of the Interior.

AND WHEREAS upon consideration it appears that approval of the foregoing amendments will effectuate the purposes of the aforesaid Migratory Bird Treaty Act:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by section 3 of the said Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918, do hereby approve and proclaim the foregoing amendments.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 28th day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-fifth.

[SEAL]

HARRY S. TRUMAN

By the President:

DEAN ACHESON,

AUTHORITY: §§ 3.1 to 3.40 issued under 60 Stat. 755-775; 42 U. S. C. 1801-1819.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 3.1 Purpose. Contracts entered into by the United States Atomic Energy Commission, and subcontracts entered into under such contracts, usually contain a "disputes article" providing that disputes arising under the contract or subcontract which are not disposed of by mutual agreement shall be decided in the first instance by the representative of the Commission duly authorized to supervise and administer performance of the work under the contract. The typical "disputes clause" further provides that the contractor or subcontractor may make an appeal in writing to the designated representative or representatives of the Commission, whose decision shall be final. The General Manager of the Commission is the designated representative to decide finally all appeals arising under the "disputes articles" of commission contracts and subcontracts. The Commission has established an Advisory Board of Contract Appeals to assist the General Manager in his discharge of this responsibility by hearing the appeal and recommending to the General Manager appropriate disposition of the appeal. The rules of procedure contained in this part are designed to provide an orderly and expeditious means for handling such appeals.

§ 3.2 Scope. The rules contained in this part set forth the procedures which will be followed by the Advisory Board of Contract Appeals, United States Atomic Energy Commission, in arriving at a recommendation to be made to the General Manager of the Commission concerning the disposition of an appeal from a decision of a contracting officer in the matter of a contract dispute arising under the disputes article of a prime contract or subcontract.

§ 3.3 Definitions. (a) "Board" shall mean the Advisory Board of Contract Appeals of the Atomic Energy Commission, or any member or members thereof designated administratively by the Advisory Board of Contract Appeals to make a recommendation to the General Manager concerning the disposition of a specific appeal.

(b) "Contracting Officer" shall mean the representative of the Commission who, under the contract, has the responsibility for determining the dispute in the first instance and from whose decision the appeal has been taken.

(c) "Party" or "Parties" shall mean the contractor (or subcontractor) and the contracting officer as defined in this part, as the text may indicate.

PRELIMINARY PROCEEDINGS

§ 3.10 Initial determination. In disposing of a contract dispute other than by mutual agreement, the contracting officer shall furnish directly to the contractor a statement in writing of his decision, together with specific findings of fact and a copy of the rules contained in this part.

§ 3.11 Appeal. An appeal from the decision of the contracting officer shall be taken by filing a notice of appeal and three copies thereof with the contracting officer within 30 days after receipt by the contractor of the contracting officer's decision, unless the contract provides a different time within which such an appeal may be taken, in which case the time prescribed in the contract shall prevail.

§ 3.12 Notice of appeal. The notice of appeal need not follow any prescribed form and may be in the form of a letter addressed to the contracting officer, but it should indicate the decision from which the appeal is being taken, the date of the decision, and the contract number. The notice of appeal should be dated and signed by the contractor, and, if the contractor desires to appear or be represented at a hearing before the Board, should contain a request that such a hearing be held. Argument in support of the appeal should not be incorporated in the notice of appeal.

§ 3.13 Transmittal of notice of appeal. When the notice of appeal has been received, the contracting officer will endorse the date of its receipt on the original and promptly forward to the Atomic Energy Commission Advisory Board of Contract Appeals, Washington 25, D. C., the original and two copies, together with three copies of the decision, findings of fact and supporting data, three copies of all correspondence, and other data relevant to the dispute.

§ 3.14 Notification of parties by the Board. Upon receipt of the material referred to in § 3.13, the Board will so notify the contractor and the contracting officer and will notify them of the member or members of the Board designated to handle the appeal.

§ 3.15 Request for hearing. If a hearing has not been requested in the notice of appeal, the contracting officer when so notified may request that a hearing be held by forwarding such a request in writing to the member or members of the Board designated to handle the appeal.

§ 3.16 Consideration by Board without hearing. If a hearing has not been requested in the notice of appeal or by the contracting officer, the Board will proceed to a recommendation on the basis of the record then before it, together with such a brief as the contractor may desire to submit and a reply brief submitted by the contracting officer. The Board will instruct the parties with respect to the time within which such briefs must be submitted and served upon the other parties.

§ 3.17 Notice of hearing. If the notice of appeal contains a request for a hearing, the Board will fix the time when and the place where such hearing will be conducted and will give the contractor at least 15 days' notice thereof in writing. In fixing a time and place for a hearing, the Board will consider the convenience of the parties. Ordinarily, hearings will be held at the location of the office of the Commission administering the contract, but may be held in Washington, D. C., or such other place as shall be determined by the Board.

HEARINGS

§ 3.20 Absence of parties. In the event of the unexcused absence of a party at the time and place set for a hearing, the hearing will proceed and the appeal will be deemed as having been submitted without oral testimony or argument on behalf of that party.

§ 3.21 Recording of hearings. The proceedings at hearings will be recorded and transcribed. One copy of the transcript of the proceedings will be furnished the contractor without cost to the contractor.

§ 3.22 Scope of the proceedings. At a hearing the Board shall receive evidence and arguments presented by or on behalf of the parties. The appeal will be considered de novo and independent findings of fact will be made, although the findings of fact of the contracting officer may be adopted by the Board in whole or in part.

§ 3.23 Conduct of hearings. The hearings before the Board will be informal, with no fixed form of procedure, and the manner in which facts are found and conclusions reached shall be a matter for the discretion of the Board; and the Board may limit or otherwise control the issues presented by the appeal and the extent of the evidence, testimony or argument presented as it shall see fit. However, the following general rules will apply:

(a) The parties may present to the Board a signed stipulation setting forth any agreed facts or stating the matters in dispute.

(b) Unless dispensed with by the Board, all testimony offered shall be received under oath. Attention of the witness shall be invited to 18 U. S. C. 1001 or 18 U. S. C. 1621, as appropriate.

(c) Ordinarily, the contractor will be expected to proceed with the affirmative presentation.

(d) Testimony and evidence may be submitted without regard to the formal rules of evidence, but shall, nevertheless, be subject to a determination by the Board with respect to propriety or relevance. Such determination may be made when the testimony or evidence is offered, or the testimony or evidence may be received subject to future determination by the Board.

(e) All witnesses shall be subject to the cross-examination, and also to examination by the Board.

(f) In the discretion of the Board, and upon application in advance of the hearing and with notice to the opposing party, evidence may be submitted in affidavit form.

(g) The parties may be represented at a hearing by any authorized person.

(h) All hearings will be so conducted as to ensure compliance with the security regulations and requirements of the Commission, and the Board may take whatever steps may be deemed appropriate to assure the common defense and security pursuant to the provisions of the Atomic Energy Act of 1946.

(i) Briefs shall be submitted to the Board and served upon the parties in accordance with instructions transmitted by the Board to the parties, and the Board may request preliminary briefs or statements describing the basis for the appeal and the questions involved in advance of a hearing.

DECISIONS

§ 3.30 Findings and recommendation. The Board will make specific findings of fact and conclusions, recommending a disposition of the appeal. Such findings, conclusions and recommendations shall be transmitted by the Board to the General Manager of the Commission.

§ 3.31 Disposition by the General Manager. If the recommendation of the Board is concurred in by the General Manager (or the Deputy General Manager acting on behalf of the General Manager), such concurrence, together with the findings and conclusions of the Board, shall be transmitted to the parties. If the General Manager (or the Deputy General Manager acting on behalf of the General Manager) does not concur in the recommendation of the Board, he shall make such disposition of the appeal as he deems appropriate.

MISCELLANEOUS

§ 3.40 Modification of rules. The rules contained in this part are intended to render the contract appeal procedure just and simple and to prevent unjustifiable expense and delay. They may be relaxed or modified by the Board in the interests of justice and the expeditious settlement of disputes.

Dated in Washington, D. C., this 23d day of August 1950.

SUMNER T. PIKE,
Acting Chairman.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Civil Air Regs., Amdt. 20-8]

PART 20—PILOT CERTIFICATES

STUDENT AND PRIVATE PILOT CITIZENSHIP REQUIREMENTS AND DURATION OF PILOT CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 20 provides that an applicant for a student pilot certificate or a pilot certificate with a private rating shall be a loyal citizen of the United States or of a friendly foreign government not under the domination of or associated with any government with which the United States is at war.

While the United States is still legally at war with certain nations, current history indicates that the test of official war status is not necessarily a sound one and there does not appear to be any cogent reason why the citizenship requirements for the issuance of a student pilot certificate or a pilot certificate with a private rating should not be the same as for other airman certificates; that is, to require that an applicant shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal student, private, or commercial pilot privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. Moreover, this provision should work to the advantage of the United States in its international relations by encouraging foreign governments who are not now issuing airman certificates to United States citizens to do so on a reciprocal basis.

With respect to individuals who are granted pilot certificates in accordance with reciprocal agreements or otherwise on a reciprocal basis, we consider it advisable to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal treatment should be modified or terminated. Accordingly, this amendment requires that all student pilot certificates and pilot certificates with private and commercial ratings issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 20 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 20, as amended) effective September 27, 1950.

1. By amending § 20.3 to read as follows:

§ 20.3 Citizenship. An applicant for a student pilot certificate shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal student pilot privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government.

2. By amending § 20.21 to read as follows:

§ 20.21 Citizenship. An applicant for a pilot certificate with a private rating shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal private pilot privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government.

3. By amending § 20.51 to read as follows:

§ 20.51 Duration. (a) A student pilot certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 24 months after the date of issuance.

(b) A pilot certificate with a private or commercial rating issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board.

(c) A student pilot certificate or a pilot certificate with a private or commercial rating issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(d) A limited pilot certificate shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(e) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(f) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

4. By rescinding § 20.53.

5. By adding § 20.57 to read as follows:

§ 20.57 Termination of certificates. All student pilot certificates and pilot certificates with private or commercial ratings issued to individuals other than United States citizens prior to September 27, 1950, shall expire on September 26, 1951, but they may be reissued with a duration of 12 months without further demonstration of technical competence.

PART 21—AIRLINE TRANSPORT PILOT RATING

DURATION AND TERMINATION OF CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 21 provides that an airline transport pilot certificate may be issued to a citizen of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal airline transport pilot privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. However, we consider it advisable with respect to such individuals to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal agreements should be modified or terminated.

Accordingly, this amendment requires that all airline transport pilot certificates issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 21 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 21, as amended) effective September 27, 1950:

1. By amending § 21.24 to read as follows:

§ 21.24 Duration. (a) An airline transport pilot certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board. A certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(b) A temporary airline transport pilot certificate shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 3 months after the date of issuance.

(c) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

2. By rescinding § 21.27, Surrender, and insert a new § 21.27 to read as follows:

§ 21.27 Termination of certificates. All airline transport pilot certificates issued to individuals other than United States citizens prior to September 27, 1950, shall expire on September 26, 1951, but they may be reissued with a duration of 12 months without further demonstration of technical competence.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 602, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008, 62 Stat. 1216, 49 U. S. C. 551, 552)

PART 22—LIGHTER-THAN-AIR PILOT CERTIFICATES

STUDENT AND PRIVATE CITIZENSHIP REQUIREMENTS AND DURATION OF CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 22 provides that an applicant for a student lighter-than-air pilot certificate, a private or commercial lighter-than-air pilot certificate, or a free balloon pilot certificate shall be a loyal citizen of the United States or of a friendly foreign government not under the domination of or associated with any government with which the United States is at war.

While the United States is still legally at war with certain nations, current history indicates that the test of official war status is not necessarily a sound one and there does not appear to be any cogent reason why the citizenship requirements for the issuance of lighter-than-air pilot certificates or free balloon pilot certificates should not be the same as for other airman certificates; that is, to require that an applicant shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal lighter-than-air pilot privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. Moreover, this provision should work to the advantage of the United States in its international relations by encouraging foreign governments who are not now issuing airman certificates to United States citizens to do so on a reciprocal basis.

With respect to individuals who are granted airman certificates in accordance with reciprocal agreements or otherwise on a reciprocal basis, we consider it advisable to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal treatment should be modified or terminated. Accordingly, this amendment requires that all lighter-than-air and free balloon pilot certificates issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 22 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 22, as amended) effective September 27, 1950:

1. By amending § 22.10 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Citizenship. An applicant shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal lighter-than-air pilot privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government.

2. By amending § 22.21 to read as follows:

§ 22.21 Duration. (a) A student lighter-than-air pilot certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 24 months after the date of issuance.

(b) A private or commercial lighter-than-air pilot certificate or free balloon pilot certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board.

(c) A student lighter-than-air pilot certificate, a private or commercial lighter-than-air pilot certificate, or a free balloon pilot certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months from the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(d) The Administrator or his authorized representative may issue a temporary lighter-than-air pilot certificate for a period of not to exceed 3 months from date of issuance, subject to the terms and conditions specified therein by the Administrator.

(e) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(f) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

3. By adding a new § 22.26 to read as follows:

PART 26—AIRCRAFT OPERATORS

DURATION AND TERMINATION OF CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 26 provides that an applicant for an aircraft operator certificate shall be a loyal citizen of the United States or of a friendly foreign government not under the domination of or associated with any government with which the United States is at war.

While the United States is still legally at war with certain nations, current history indicates that the test of official war status is not necessarily a sound one and there does not appear to be any cogent reason why the citizenship requirements for the issuance of an aircraft operator certificate should not be the same as for other airman certificates; that is, to require that an applicant shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal aircraft operator privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. Moreover, this provision should work to the advantage of the United States in its international relations by encouraging foreign governments who are not now issuing airman certificates to United States citizens to do so on a reciprocal basis.

With respect to individuals who are granted aircraft operator certificates in accordance with reciprocal agreements or otherwise on a reciprocal basis, we consider it advisable to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal treatment should be modified or terminated. Accordingly, this amendment requires that all aircraft operator certificates issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 26 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 26, as amended) effective September 27, 1950:

1. By amending § 26.3 to read as follows:

§ 26.3 Citizenship. An applicant for an aircraft operator certificate shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal aircraft operator privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government.

2. By amending § 26.21 to read as follows:

§ 26.21 Duration. (a) An aircraft operator certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 24 months after the date of issuance.

(b) An aircraft operator certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(c) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

3. By rescinding § 26.53.

4. By adding § 26.57 to read as follows:

§ 26.57 Termination of certificates. All aircraft operator certificates issued to individuals other than United States citizens prior to September 27, 1950, shall expire on September 26, 1951, but they may be reissued with a duration of 12 months without further demonstration of technical competence.

(b) A mechanic certificate or a factory mechanic rating issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

PART 26—AIR-TRAFFIC CONTROL-TOWER OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 26 provides that an air-traffic control-tower operator certificate may be issued to a citizen of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal air-traffic control-tower operator privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. However, we consider it advisable with respect to such individuals to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal agreements should be modified or terminated.

Accordingly, this amendment requires that all air-traffic control-tower operator certificates issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 26 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 26, as amended) effective September 27, 1950:

1. By amending § 26.18 to read as follows:

§ 26.18 Duration. (a) An air-traffic control-tower operator certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board. A certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(b) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

2. By adding a new § 26.21 to read as follows:

§ 26.21 Termination of certificates. All air-traffic control-tower operator certificates issued to individuals other than United States citizens prior to September 27, 1950, shall expire on September 26, 1951, but they may be reissued with a duration of 12 months without further demonstration of technical competence.

PART 27—AIRCRAFT DISPATCHER CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 27 provides that an aircraft dispatcher certificate may be issued to a citizen of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal aircraft dispatcher privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. However, we consider it advisable with respect to such individuals to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal agreements should be modified or terminated.

Accordingly, this amendment requires that all aircraft dispatcher certificates issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 27 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 27, as amended) effective September 27, 1950.

1. By amending § 27.12 to read as follows:

§ 27.12 Duration. (a) An aircraft dispatcher certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board. A certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(b) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

2. By rescinding § 27.18.

3. By adding a new § 27.22 to read as follows:

PART 33—FLIGHT RADIO OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

DURATION OF CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 33 provides that a flight radio operator certificate, regardless of the individual to whom issued, shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board, and it also provides that a certificate issued to an individual other than a United States citizen shall have a duration of 12 months subject to renewal. This inconsistency resulted from an inadvertent omission from revised Part 33 of the phrase "issued to a United States citizen" in the first sentence of § 33.7 (a), which was intended to specify the duration of certificates issued only to United States citizens. This amendment will correct this inconsistency by providing that a flight radio operator certificate issued to a United States citizen shall have an indefinite duration. No change is made with respect to the duration of a certificate issued to an individual other than a United States citizen.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 33 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 33) effective September 27, 1950:

By amending § 33.7 to read as follows:

§ 33.7 Duration. (a) A flight radio operator certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board. A certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(b) A temporary flight radio operator certificate shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 3 months after the date of issuance.

(c) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

PART 33—FLIGHT RADIO OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

FLIGHT RADIO OPERATOR QUALIFICATIONS AND COURSES

The following interpretations and policies are hereby adopted:

§ 33.31-1 Qualifications for flight radio operator certificate; experience (CAA policies which apply to § 33.31 (a))—(a) Change in radio operator license requirements. In May 1949 the international standards for licensing aviation personnel became binding on the member States of ICAO. Such States, prior to this date, could permit air crewmen other than pilots to serve in their respective capacities without airman certificates. Those States which did not require air crewmen to hold certificates prior to May 1949 can now issue certificates in accordance with the international standards, or validate certificates of other member States which meet the international requirements. For this reason, it appears that certain member States may decide to have their crewmen hold certificates or licenses issued by other member States rather than institute procedures to issue their own certificates. In view of this, it appears extremely desirable that the U. S. be in a position to issue flight radio operator airman certificates to citizens of other member States, if those States so desire.

As originally written, Part 33 of the Civil Air Regulations permitted only those U. S. citizens holding second class, or higher, radiotelegraph operator licenses issued by the FCC to apply for the U. S. flight radio operator certificate. It will be noted that the recent amendment to Part 33 now makes it possible for certain eligible foreign citizens to apply for the U. S. airman certificate should they so desire. This amendment does not affect U. S. citizens in any way but permits the U. S. through the Civil Aeronautics Administration, to fulfill its reciprocity agreements by issuing certificates to citizens of other countries with which the U. S. has reciprocity in the issuance of such certificates. Although the U. S. has had reciprocal agreements with numerous foreign governments in the issuance of flight radio operator certificates, the CAA could not issue airman certificates to applicants other than U. S. citizens because of the prerequisite that applicants must hold a Federal Communications Commission radio operator license which is available to U. S. citizens only. There are no changes in the requirements that any individual serving on an aircraft of U. S. registry with radio station licensed by the FCC must hold the appropriate radio operator license as well as the CAA flight radio operator airman certificate.

§ 33.31-2 Requirements for approved flight radio operator courses (CAA policies which apply to § 33.31 (b))—(a) General. Graduates of a flight radio operator course approved by the Administrator are deemed to have met the experience requirements for the certificate. This means that they are accepted on equal terms with an applicant who has met the minimum experience requirements. For these reasons, it is essential that the requirements for approved flight radio operator courses include adequate training facilities and sufficient coverage of the subject to insure acceptable proficiency of flight radio operators who apply for certification as graduates of an approved course.

(b) Application for approval. The agency or applicant desiring approval of a flight radio operator course must submit to the local agent three copies of the course outline, a description of the facilities and equipment to be used, and a list of instructors with their qualifications, together with a letter to the Administrator requesting approval.

(c) Training course outline. It is not mandatory that the training course outline have the subject headings arranged exactly as listed in the following example. Any arrangement of general headings and subheadings will be satisfactory provided all the subject material listed herein is included. Each general subject of the outline shall be broken down in detail, showing items to be covered.

Additional subjects, such as international law, flight hygiene, advanced aircraft electrical systems, flight navigation, or others not closely associated with flight radio operating, may not be included in hourly requirements of the approved training outline. If an operator desires to add such subjects to a training course outline, they shall be separated from the required flight radio operator subjects, and the time devoted thereto shall not be applied toward meeting the established time minimums.

(1) Format of training outline. The ground course outline and the flight course outline shall be combined in one loose-leaf binder and shall include a table of contents divided into two parts—ground course and flight course. Each part of the table of contents must contain a list of the major subjects, together with hours allotted to each subject and the total classroom and flight hours.

(2) Ground course outline.

(2) Change in name. An approved course changed in name but not changed in ownership shall remain valid if the change is reported by the approved course operator to the local agent who will issue a letter of approval under the new name.

(3) Change in location. An approved course shall remain in effect even though the approved course operator changes location if the change is reported without delay by the operator to the local agent who will inspect the facilities to be used in the new location and, if they are found to be adequate, issue a letter of approval showing the new location.

(k) Cancellation of approval. Failure to meet or maintain any of the standards set forth herein for the approval or operation of an approved flight radio operator course shall be considered sufficient reason for discontinuing approval of the course.

If an operator should desire voluntary cancellation of his approved course, a letter requesting cancellation should be directed to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics through the local agent.

§ 33.32–1 Qualifications for flight radio operator certificate; knowledge (CAA policies which apply to § 33.32 (a))—(a) CAA–FCC joint written examination. Effective February 15, 1950, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) amended Title 47, Part 13, Rules Governing Commercial Radio Operators, by adding under § 13.21 a new Element 7, Aircraft Radiotelegraph. This means that a radio operator may not serve on U. S. aircraft employing radiotelegraphy unless he has completed a supplementary FCC written examination and code test (if he does not hold a first-class radiotelegraph license), or has served as a flight radio operator on U. S. aircraft employing radiotelegraphy.

The written examination subjects included in Element 7 of Part 13 of the FCC, Rules and Regulations, are the same as those subjects incorporated in § 33.32 (a) of the Civil Air Regulations; therefore, it becomes necessary to coordinate examining procedures between FCC and CAA to avoid overlapping or duplication between respective regulations pertaining to the flight radio operator. The CAA and FCC through appropriate coordination have designed a single written examination which will meet the flight radio operator knowledge requirements of the amended Civil Air Regulation, the FCC aircraft radiotelegraph endorsement, and those standards established by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). The written examination will be revised at periodic intervals with CAA and FCC personnel coordinating such revisions.

Although the flight radio operator written examination is a combined FCC–CAA examination, FCC policies do not permit that agency to delegate any part of its aircraft radiotelegraph examining functions to another agency such as CAA; therefore, to avoid taking duplicate examinations, U. S. citizens desiring to apply for the written examination should do so at a field office of the FCC. The written examination consists of one hundred questions of the multiple-choice type on the following subjects: (1) Civil Air Regulations and the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) procedures; (2) Theory and Operation of Aircraft Radio Equipment; (3) Radio Navigation of Aircraft; (4) Aircraft Radio Operating Procedures.

Upon satisfactory completion of the examination together with code tests, if the applicant does not hold a radiotelegraph first-class license, the FCC will insert their aircraft radiotelegraph endorsement on the operator's license. The CAA will accept a license so endorsed as evidence that the holder meets the knowledge requirements and code proficiency for a flight radio operator airman certificate. If the applicant meets the requirements of Part 33 of the Civil Air Regulations, the CAA will conduct the practical examination and issue the airman certificate.

To comply with reciprocity provisions as set forth in Part 33 of the Civil Air Regulations, an eligible foreign citizen desiring to take the U. S. airman certificate examination for flight radio operators may apply at any CAA international field office or U. S. district office located near international airports used by foreign flag air carriers. Agents in these offices will administer both the written and practical tests and issue the airman certificate.

These interpretations and policies shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 34—FLIGHT NAVIGATOR CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 34 provides that a flight navigator certificate may be issued to a citizen of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal flight navigator privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. However, we consider it advisable with respect to such individuals to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal agreements should be modified or terminated.

Accordingly, this amendment requires that all flight navigator certificates issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 34 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 34, as amended) effective September 27, 1950.

1. By amending § 34.11 to read as follows:

§ 34.11 Duration. (a) A flight navigator certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board. A certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(b) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

2. By adding a new § 34.19 to read as follows:

§ 34.19 Termination of certificates. All flight navigator certificates issued to individuals other than United States citizens prior to September 27, 1950, shall expire on September 26, 1951, but they may be reissued with a duration of 12 months without further demonstration of technical competence.

PART 35—FLIGHT ENGINEER CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of August 1950.

Currently effective Part 35 provides that a flight engineer certificate may be issued to a citizen of a foreign government which grants or has undertaken to grant reciprocal flight engineer privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government. However, we consider it advisable with respect to such individuals to provide a means of determining whether such certificates should continue in force in the event that the reciprocal agreements should be modified or terminated.

Accordingly, this amendment requires that all flight engineer certificates issued to foreign nationals pursuant to existing reciprocal agreements have a duration of 12 months. However, it also provides that such certificates may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence on the part of the holders thereof.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 35 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 35, as amended) effective September 27, 1950.

1. By amending § 35.11 to read as follows:

§ 35.11 Duration. (a) A flight engineer certificate issued to a United States citizen shall remain in effect until surrendered, suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated by order of the Board. A certificate issued to an applicant other than a United States citizen shall remain in effect for a period no longer than 12 months after the date of issuance, but it may be reissued without further demonstration of technical competence.

(b) After revocation, and upon request after suspension, the certificate shall be returned to the Administrator.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny or defeat the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the Administrator, or the Board to impose any authorized sanction, including revocation of the certificate, for a violation of the act or of the Civil Air Regulations occurring during the effective period of the certificate.

2. By rescinding § 35.13.

3. By adding a new § 35.20 to read as follows:

§ 35.20 Termination of certificates. All flight engineer certificates issued to individuals other than United States citizens prior to September 27, 1950, shall expire on September 26, 1951, but they may be reissued with a duration of 12 months without further demonstration of technical competence.

[Supp. 6]

INTERPRETATION OF ACROBATIC FLIGHT

The following interpretations are hereby adopted:

§ 43.48–1 Interpretation of acrobatic flight (CAA interpretations which apply to § 43.48). Acrobatic flight, insofar as it concerns the wearing of parachutes, shall be deemed to exist when any maneuver intentionally performed results in the following:

(a) A bank in excess of 60° relative to the horizon, or

(b) A nose up or nose down attitude in excess of 30° relative to the horizon.

An example of the application of this interpretation is that parachutes are not required when stalls, lazy eights, etc., are performed within these limits, while these same maneuvers performed with attitudes in excess of the limits would require the wearing of parachutes. Stalls as practiced for the private pilot flight test normally would not exceed the prescribed limits.

Consideration must be given to the fact that these limits are not intended to insure that all maneuvers which could be performed within them are also within the safe operating limits of the aircraft. It is reasonably certain that a prolonged full power descent in a nose down attitude of less than 30° would exceed placarded speeds, and that sudden full application of elevators at cruising speed could produce stresses sufficient to cause structural failure.

This interpretation is intended only to define the circumstances under which parachutes must be worn in accordance with § 43.48, and does not in any way modify the definition of acrobatic flight as it applies to other sections of the CAR.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 301, 52 Stat. 985, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 451)

This interpretation shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

A notice of intention shall be inserted by the rectifier in each copy of Form 237, after the description of the spirits or wines, as follows:

The above described spirits (or wines), rectified pursuant to Form 122, serial number ------, dated ----------, 19---, are to be bottled (or were packaged) especially for export with benefit of drawback.

When the process of manufacturing spirits or wines in accordance with the provisions of § 176.20 has been completed, the rectifier shall note on Form 237 the quantities of distilled spirits, or wines, or both (calculated on a proof-gallon basis as to spirits and on a wine-gallon basis as to wines) used in manufacturing the spirits or wines. If commercial flavoring extracts, containing alcohol, not prepared by the rectifier on his rectifying premises, are used in manufacturing the spirits or wines, the rectifier shall also show on Form 237, as to each kind of flavoring material, the quantity thereof in wine gallons, the percentage of alcohol by volume in such flavoring extracts, and whether drawback under section 3250 (1), Internal Revenue Code, has been or will be claimed on the alcohol contained therein. The rectification tax and wine tax, if due, will then be paid and Form 237 disposed of in accordance with the applicable provisions of Part 190 of this chapter (Regulations 15). The additional copy of Form 237 will be forwarded to the district supervisor with the original copy of Form 237. Upon completion of the bottling or packaging operations, the storekeeper-gauger shall supervise the deposit of the spirits or wines in the export storage room, except as provided in § 176.22.

(1) Each package of distilled spirits or wines filled by rectifiers for export with benefit of drawback shall be marked and branded in accordance with the provisions of § 176.31.

All of the information indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines of the form, and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto, and as required by this part, shall be furnished. Forms 1582 and 1582-A must be verified under oath by the exporter or his authorized agent: Provided, That if the forms officially prescribed for such use contain therein provision for verification by a written declaration that such claims are made under penalties of perjury, such claims shall be verified by the execution of such declaration and such declaration so executed shall be in lieu of the oath required herein for verification. Where Form 1582 or 1582-A is signed by an agent, proper power of attorney authorizing the agent to execute the claim for the exporter must be filed with the district supervisor.

DRAWBACK ON DISTILLED SPIRITS EXPORTED IN DISTILLER'S ORIGINAL PACKAGES

REQUIREMENTS GOVERNING EXPORTATION

§ 176.70 Application to export. Any person desiring to export spirits upon which the tax has been paid as provided by law, must at least six hours prior to the time for inspecting, gauging, and lading the packages intended for export, on which he shall desire to claim a drawback of internal revenue taxes, present to the collector of customs for the port of entry from which such exportation is to be made, an application in triplicate on Form 1629, setting forth his intention to export the articles described therein, specifying the whole number of packages, the marks and serial numbers thereon, the kind of spirits, the taxable gallons at time of withdrawal from bond and the amount of tax paid thereon, as shown by the marks and stamps; the name, location, and number of the distillery, plant, or warehouse from which the spirits were withdrawn upon payment of tax, and the name of the vessel at which the spirits are to be inspected and gauged, and by which, and the port to which, the spirits are intended to be exported.

§ 176.71 Entry for exportation. The entry for exportation shall be in triplicate on Part 2 of Form 1629, and shall contain the name of the person applying to export; the name of the distiller; the number and location of the distillery at which the spirits were distilled; the name, number, and location of the distillery or warehouse from which the spirits were withdrawn upon payment of tax; and the name of the vessel by which, and the name of the port to which, the spirits are to be exported. And the entry shall specify the whole number of packages, the marks and serial numbers thereon, the kind of spirits, the number of proof gallons; and the amount of tax on such spirits shall be verified by the oath of the owner of the spirits and that the tax has been paid thereon and that they are truly intended to be exported to the port designated therein and are not to be relanded within the limits of the United States.

§ 176.73 Inspection, gauging, and lading. The lading of such spirits on board the vessel shall be only after the receipt of an order signed by the collector of customs and directed to a customs gauger (inspector) and after each package shall have been distinctly marked or branded by the gauger, "For export from U. S. A.," and "_____, 19____, from port of _____, _____; to port of _____, _____," (supplying the date of inspection and gauging and the names of the respective ports), and the tax-paid stamps thereon have been scalped and obliterated by the gauger. The packages shall be inspected, gauged, and marked prior to lading by the gauger so designated, in accordance with these regulations. The customs gauger shall make a full return of such inspection and gauging on Form 696 modified to such extent as may be necessary, showing by whom each package of such spirits was distilled; the serial number of the package and by the tax-paid stamp attached thereto, the proof and quantity of such spirits according to the withdrawal gauge marks on each package, and the quantity in proof and taxable gallons, as per the gauge then made by him. He shall also certify that the spirits are the same kind as shown by the marks on the packages.

DRAWBACK CLAIM AND CUSTOMS PROCEDURE

§ 176.80 Entry for export. Upon conclusion of the foregoing proceedings, the collector of customs will deliver Form 1629 to the exporter for execution of Part 2, "Entry for Internal Revenue Drawback on Spirits in Distillers' Original Packages." Such entry will cover the merchandise described by the customs gauger and inspector. The exporter's affidavit in respect to such entry in Part 2 will be subscribed and sworn to before the collector of customs or other officer authorized to administer oaths and having an official seal: Provided, That if the form officially prescribed for such entry contains therein a provision for verification by a written declaration that such entry is made under penalties of perjury, such entry shall be verified by the execution of such declaration, and such declaration so executed shall be in lieu of the oath required herein for verification. Where Form 1629 is signed by an agent, proper power of attorney authorizing the agent to execute the claim for the exporter must be filed with the district supervisor.

(53 Stat. 338, as amended, 375, 63 Stat. 667; 26 U. S. C. 2887, 3176, 3809)

FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH LAW AND REGULATIONS

§ 176.91 Disallowance of claim. In case of failure of the exporter to comply in all respects with the law and regulations relative to the exportation of distilled spirits with benefit of drawback, the claim for drawback will be disallowed. Drawback will not be allowed for taxes claimed to have been paid on distilled spirits exported in packages not stamped, or upon which the name of the distiller, the district, the date of payment of the tax, and number of proof gallons have not been branded or marked, as required by law and the provisions of this part.

2. The purposes of these amendments are:

(a) To make editorial changes to conform to Regulations 11 "Bottling of Tax-paid Distilled Spirits" (26 CFR Part 189), Regulations 15 "Rectification of Spirits and Wines" (26 CFR Part 190), and the Gauging Manual (26 CFR Part 186) as revised pursuant to the act of February 21, 1950 (Public Law 448, 81st Congress), effective September 1, 1950; and

(b) To prescribe, in lieu of an oath, a declaration subject to the penalties of perjury for the following forms:

Form 1582 "Claim for Internal Revenue Drawback on Distilled Spirits Exported, and Entry for Exportation Thereof"

Form 1582–A "Claim for Internal Revenue Drawback on Bottled Wines Exported, and Entry for Exportation Thereof"

Form 1629 "Claim for Internal Revenue Drawback on Distilled Spirits Exported in Distillers' Original Packages, and Entry for Exportation Thereof."

3. It is found that compliance with the notice and public-rulemaking procedure of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1001 et. seq.) is unnecessary in connection with the issuance of these amendments for the reason that the changes made are of a liberalizing and administrative nature.

4. This Treasury decision shall be effective September 1, 1950.

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. The 1950 edition of the Gauging Manual (26 CFR Part 186; 15 F. R. 4787), effective September 1, 1950, will not be available in book form for distribution until sometime after that date. Accordingly, pending its receipt, Tables 1 through 7 of the 1938 edition of the Gauging Manual (26 CFR Part 186; 5 F. R. 1215) will be followed in gauging spirits, except, that in order to conform to the 1950 edition, Tables 2 and 3 of the 1938 edition will be modified by dropping the fractional gallons beyond the first decimal if less than 0.05, or by adding as 0.1 if 0.05 or more. Fractional gallons beyond the first decimal, ascertained through use of Table 4, will likewise be dropped if less than 0.05, or will be added as 0.1 if 0.05 or more.

2. It is found that compliance with the notice and public rule-making procedure of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) is unnecessary in connection with the issuance of these regulations for the reason that they are of an administrative character.

3. This Treasury decision shall be effective September 1, 1950.

TITLE 44—PUBLIC PROPERTY AND WORKS

Chapter VI—Department of Commerce

[Foreign Excess Property Order 1, as Amended Aug. 23, 1950]

PART 601—DISPOSAL OF FOREIGN EXCESS PROPERTY

IMPORTATION INTO THE UNITED STATES OF NON-AGRICULTURAL FOREIGN EXCESS PROPERTY

Sections 601.1 to 601.6 and §§ 601.21 to 601.26 (Foreign Excess Property Orders 1 and 2) are hereby amended and consolidated into one order, designated Foreign Excess Property Order 1, to read as follows:

Sec.
601.1 Scope of this part.
601.2 Definitions.
601.3 Foreign excess property sold by Government on and after July 1, 1949.
601.4 Foreign excess property sold by Government before July 1, 1949.
601.5 Applications to Secretary of Commerce for authority to import.
601.6 Exception in favor of scrap metal.
601.7 Approval of applications by Secretary of Commerce.
601.8 Notice to applicants and to collectors.
601.9 Appeals.
601.10 Communications.

AUTHORITY: §§ 601.1 to 601.10 issued under sec. 402, 63 Stat. 398; 41 U. S. C. Sup. 272. Interprets or applies Reg. 8, Feb. 10, 1950, Secy. State 15 F. R. 845.

§ 601.1 Scope of this part. This part explains the conditions under which foreign excess property may be imported into the United States. There are certain exceptions to the general prohibition against importation which apply to excess property sold abroad by the United States Government or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949, but which do not apply to such excess property sold abroad by the Government on or after July 1, 1949. Hence it is essential to know the date on which the property was sold by the Government or any agency thereof in order to determine whether or not it may be imported into the United States.

§ 601.2 Definitions. For the purposes of this part:

(a) Excess property means any property (except any agricultural commodity, food, or cotton or woolen goods) originally under the control of any Federal agency, which is not required for its needs and the discharge of its responsibilities, as determined by the head thereof.

(b) Foreign excess property means any excess property located outside the continental United States, Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, including such property which has been sold by the Government or any of its agencies and is outside the continental United States, Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Any excess property which was sold by the Government before July 1, 1949, and at the date of sale was located on Guam or other Pacific insular possessions of the United States (which include Samoa, Swain's Island, Baker Island, Howland Island, Jarvis Island, Johnstone Island, Sand Island, Kingman Reef, Kure Island, Midway Islands, and Wake Island) is not considered to be foreign excess property and is not subject to the restrictions of this part regarding sale and importation. However, excess property sold by the Government on or after July 1, 1949, which at the time of its sale was located on Guam or other Pacific insular possessions of the United States is considered foreign excess property and is subject to the restrictions of this part regarding sale and importation. Property which was originally owned by the Government and was sold by the Government as foreign excess property retains its status as foreign excess property no matter how many times it has changed ownership.

§ 601.3 Foreign excess property sold by the Government on and after July 1, 1949. (a) Section 402, Title IV, Public Law 152, 81st Congress (Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949), approved June 30, 1949, is applicable to the sale of foreign excess property by the Government on and after July 1, 1949, and the importation thereof. It has no application to the sale and importation of such property sold by the Government before July 1, 1949. Section 402 reads in part as follows:

SEC. 402. Foreign excess property may be disposed of (a) by sale, exchange, lease or transfer, for cash, credit or other property, with or without warranty, and upon such terms and conditions as the head of the executive agency concerned deems proper; but in no event shall any property be sold without a condition forbidding its importation into the United States, unless the Secretary of Agriculture (in the case of any agricultural commodity, food, or cotton or woolen goods) or the Secretary of Commerce (in the case of any other property) determines that the importation of such property would relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country.

(b) Effect of section 402 of Public Law 152. Pursuant to section 402 of Public Law 152, approved June 30, 1949, on and after July 1, 1949, a sale of foreign excess property by the United States Government or any agency thereof must contain a condition prohibiting its importation into the United States, unless the Secretary of Commerce, in the case of non-agricultural property, determines that the importation of such property would relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country.

(c) Applications to the Secretary of Commerce under section 402 of Public Law 152. Any person who has purchased foreign excess property from the Government or from any party who in turn had purchased it from the Government on or after July 1, 1949, or who proposes to purchase it, may apply to the Secretary of Commerce for a determination as specified in section 402 of Public Law 152. If the Secretary makes a favorable determination the property may be imported notwithstanding the prohibition against importation made a condition of the sale by the Government. The application to the Secretary shall be made as provided in § 601.5.

§ 601.4 Foreign excess property sold by the Government before July 1, 1949. (a) Section 508.15 of Chapter V of this title (FLC Regulation 8), issued by the Secretary of State, as amended February 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 845), is applicable to the importation of foreign excess (referred to in § 508.15 as "surplus") property sold by the Government or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949. It has no application to property sold by the Government on or after July 1, 1949, which is controlled by section 402 of Public Law 152. Section 508.15 of Regulation 8 reads as follows:

§ 508.15 Importations into the United States. Surplus property sold in foreign areas by the Government or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949, shall not be imported into the United States in the same or substantially the same form in which it was exported from the United States if such property was originally produced in the United States and is readily identifiable as such, except to the extent that the Secretary of Commerce or his delegated representative specifically authorizes such importation upon determination that the importation would relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country: Provided, however, That the prohibition of this section shall not apply to the importation of such property (a) for the purpose of reconditioning for reexport, or (b) by a veteran (or member of the Armed Forces) upon certification by him that the importation is being made for his personal use, or (c) if sold primarily for and imported for use as scrap metal and the importer furnishes an undertaking in a form and an amount to be prescribed by the Treasury Department to insure that none of the property will be diverted from use as scrap metal. Nothing in this section shall prevent the importation of property in transit to a point in the United States on or before June 30, 1949, in accordance with the provisions of § 508.56 (FLC Regulation 8, Order 6 (14 F. R. 1283): Provided further, That, for the purposes of this section, foreign areas shall not include Guam or other Pacific insular possessions. Nothing in this section shall prevent surplus property which is owned by a Government agency from being brought into the continental United States, its territories or possessions.

(b) Effect of § 508.15 of Regulation 8. Second 508.15 of Regulation 8 applies only to property sold by the United States or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949. Pursuant to § 508.15 such property may be imported into the United States (1) if it was originally produced in the United States and is readily identifiable as such and is not in substantially the same form in which it was exported from the United States (The intent of this clause is to prohibit the importation of any item of property which has not been so mutilated as to make it incapable of being used for other than scrap purposes.): (2) if the importation is made for the purpose of reconditioning for reexport upon supplying the bond required by the Bureau of Customs; (3) if the importation is made by a veteran or member of the Armed Forces upon his certification that it is for his personal use; (4) if sold primarily for and imported for use as scrap metal upon supplying the bond required by the Bureau of Customs, and (5) if the property is of the type and kind listed on Schedule A of Order 6 of Regulation 8 (44 CFR 508.56, 14 F. R. 1283) and was in fact in transit to the United States on or before June 30, 1949. Any foreign excess property sold by the Government or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949, which meets any of these conditions may be imported without first making application to the Secretary of Commerce. The Collector of Customs at the port of entry will determine whether the property is admissible under any of the foregoing conditions, but in case of doubt will first consult with the Foreign Excess Property Officer.

(c) Applications to Secretary of Commerce under § 508.15 of Regulation 8. Section 508.15 of Regulation 8 provides one further exception to the prohibition against importation, namely, if the Secretary of Commerce or his delegated representative specifically authorizes the importation upon determination that the importation would relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country. Consequently, in respect to property sold by the Government or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949, and which does not qualify for importation under any of the conditions in § 508.15 of Regulation 8, summarized in clauses (1) to (5) of paragraph (b) of this section, the importer or proposed importer may apply to the Secretary of Commerce for a determination that the importation would relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country. If the Secretary of Commerce makes such determination the property may be imported. Any such application shall be made to the Secretary of Commerce as provided in § 601.5.

(d) Property sold before July 1, 1949, by Government on Guam or other Pacific insular possessions of the United States exempt from import restrictions of § 508.15 of Regulation 8. Section 508.15 of Regulation 8, as amended February 10, 1950, provides that "foreign areas" shall not include Guam or other Pacific insular possessions (of the United States) as listed in § 601.2 (b). Consequently the restrictions on importation in § 508.15 of Regulation 8 do not apply to excess property sold by the Government or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949, if the property at the time of such sale was physically located on Guam or other Pacific insular possessions of the United States. Such property may be imported into the United States upon submitting proof satisfactory to the Collector of Customs at the port of entry that (1) the property was sold before July 1, 1949, by the Government or any agency thereof and (2) at the time of such sale the property was physically located on Guam or other Pacific insular possessions.

§ 601.5 Applications to the Secretary of Commerce for authority to import. Pursuant to section 402 of Public Law 152 (as to foreign excess property sold by the United States Government or any agency thereof on or after July 1, 1949, or which has not yet been so sold by the Government); and pursuant to § 508.15 of Regulation 8 (as to foreign excess property which has been sold by the United States Government or any agency thereof before July 1, 1949, and which does not qualify for importation under any of the conditions in § 508.15 of Regulation 8, summarized in clauses (1) to (5) of paragraph (b) of § 601.4) an importer or any person proposing to import such property may make application to the Secretary of Commerce for a determination that the importation of specified property would relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country.

(a) How to make application. Application shall be made by the party proposing to make the importation or who has executed or will execute the United States Customs entry, by letter in duplicate addressed to the Foreign Excess Property Officer, Office of Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: FEP Order 1. The applicant must supply the information called for by subparagraphs (1) to (8) of paragraph (c) of this section. An incomplete application will be returned without action and will not be acted upon until complete information has been supplied. Where any information requested is not applicable, the applicant must so state, explaining why the particular information is not applicable to his case.

(b) Penalties. (1) The applicant will be subject to the criminal penalties for any wilful misrepresentations provided for in section 1001, Title 18 (Crimes) of the United States Code.

(2) Any person importing foreign excess property for which an authorization by the Secretary of Commerce is required, who has not secured such authorization will be subject to the penalties provided for in the Customs laws of the United States.

(c) Contents of the application—(1) Name and address. Name of applicant and the address of his principal place of business.

(2) Exact location of the property. The exact location of the property and, if it is still owned by the United States Government, whether it is in control of the Army, Navy, Air Force or other agency.

(3) Date of sale by Government. If the property has already been sold, the date on which the property was sold by the United States Government or any agency thereof either to the applicant or to the person from whom the applicant has bought or proposes to buy the property.

(4) Party from whom applicant bought or will buy property. If the applicant has bought or proposes to buy the property from any person other than the United States Government or agency thereof, the name and address of such person and a copy of the applicant's purchase contract, if any.

(5) Description of the property. A detailed description of the property, giving as far as practicable for each item the make, type and quantity and any identifying marks.

(6) Proposed date and port of importation. If the property has not yet reached a United States port of entry, the proposed date and port of importation into the United States, and, if known, the name of the ship.

(7) Bureau of Customs data. If the property is held in a United States Customs warehouse, or otherwise in the control of the Bureau of Customs, Treasury Department, full particulars as to the status of the property, including type of Customs entry and identifying Customs numbers and symbols.

(8) Domestic shortage of property. The statement of the applicant that importation of the property would relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country, together with his reasons and such supporting supply-demand data and other evidence as he may be able readily to procure, such as: reasons why in his judgment the domestic demand for the property is not attributed solely to the price at which the property will be offered as compared with the price of similar property of new domestic production; signed statements of consumers or dealers who have found difficulty in locating supplies of similar new property, or of manufacturers who have been unable to fill orders for such property; production and consumption statistics (indicating source), etc. Such statement should indicate the area in which the applicant proposes to sell the property and the class of purchasers (retailers, wholesalers, etc.) which he proposes to sell.

(9) Signing of application. Where the applicant is a partnership, firm or corporation, the application must be signed personally by a partner or duly authorized officer.

§ 601.6 Exception in favor of metal scrap. No authorization under this part is required and no application need be filed hereunder for the importation of foreign excess property in the form of scrap metal or imported for sale or use as scrap metal since the Secretary of Commerce has determined that the importation of scrap metal would be beneficial to the economy of this country; Provided: The importer furnishes an undertaking in a form and an amount prescribed by the Treasury Department to insure that none of the property will be diverted from use as scrap metal.

§ 601.7 Approval of applications by Secretary. The authority of the Secretary under section 402 of PL 152 and FLC Regulation 8 has been delegated by him to the Foreign Excess Property Officer of the Office of Industry and Commerce. Applications to the Secretary will be approved by the Foreign Excess Property Officer if, upon the facts submitted and other evidence available to him, he determines that the importation would (a) relieve domestic shortages or (b) otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country.

§ 601.8 Notice to applicants and to Collectors of Customs. The applicant will be notified by the Foreign Excess Property Officer in writing of the action taken on his application. Where the property is in transit to a point in the United States or is in control of the Collector of Customs at a port of entry, the appropriate Collector will be given a copy of the action taken on the application so that he may permit or deny entry of the property accordingly.

§ 601.9 Appeals. Where an application is denied by the Foreign Excess Property Officer in whole or in part the applicant may appeal to the Appeals Board of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce. Appeal should be taken by letter in triplicate addressed to the Appeals Board, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: FEP Order 1. The only ground for appeal which the Appeals Board will consider is that the Foreign Excess Property Officer erred in determining that the importation would not relieve domestic shortages or otherwise be beneficial to the economy of this country. If, following the denial of his application, the applicant has developed new evidence not previously submitted to the Foreign Excess Property Officer, he should present such new evidence to that Officer for further consideration by him before undertaking an appeal. If the applicant so requests, the Appeals Board will grant him a hearing at the office of the Board at the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

§ 601.10 Communications. All communications concerning this part shall, unless otherwise stated be addressed to the Foreign Excess Property Office, Office of Industry and Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: FEP Order 1.

Issued this 23d day of August 1950.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Civil Aeronautics Administration

[14 CFR, Part 61]

SCHEDULED AIR CARRIER RULES

MECHANICAL HAZARD AND DIFFICULTY REPORTS

Notice is hereby given that adoption of the following rules is contemplated. All interested persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration by the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics in connection with the proposed rules shall send them to the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Office of Aviation Safety, Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 61.341–1 Mechanical hazard and difficulty reports (CAA rules which apply to § 61.341)—(a) Daily mechanical reports. Whenever a failure, malfunctioning, or other defect is detected in flight or on the ground in an aircraft or aircraft component which may reasonably be expected by the air carrier to cause a serious hazard in the operation of any aircraft, notice thereof shall be transmitted through the air carrier's principal maintenance base to the Civil Aeronautics Administration maintenance agent-in-charge assigned to the air carrier.

NOTE: Failures, malfunctionings, or other defects required to be reported under this part comprise generally the following basic items:

Fire hazards.

Structural hazards.

Serious system or component malfunctioning or failure.

Unsafe procedures or conditions, and

Defects in design or quality of parts and materials found installed on aircraft or intended for such installation.

Such daily reports shall be required only where mechanical hazards have been detected; shall cover the 24-hour period from midnight to midnight of each day; and shall be transmitted to the assigned maintenance agent of the Civil Aeronautics Administration before noon of the following working day, except that reports for Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays may be submitted not later than noon of the following Mondays.

Such reports may be transmitted in a manner and on a form convenient to the air carrier's system of communications and procedures.

(1) Guide for preparation of daily reports. Whenever practicable, the following guide for each aircraft category should be used by the air carrier in the preparation of the daily reports:

(i) Category, "N" identification of aircraft, airline and trip number.

(ii) Emergency procedure effected (unscheduled landing, dumped fuel, etc.).

(iii) Nature of condition (fire, structural failure, etc.).

(iv) Identification of part and system involved.

(v) Apparent cause of trouble (wear, cracks, design, personnel error, etc.).

(vi) Disposition (repaired, replaced, aircraft grounded, etc.).

(vii) Brief narrative summary to supply any other pertinent data required for more complete identification, determination of seriousness, etc.

The daily reports should not be withheld pending presentation of all specific details pertaining to such items of information. As soon as the additional information is obtained it may be submitted as a supplement to the report.

The rules requiring daily reports of mechanical hazards will become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(b) Monthly report of mechanical difficulties—(1) General. The following procedures are to be utilized in compliance with the requirement of a monthly report of chronic mechanical difficulties.

(2) Scope of report. The monthly report of chronic mechanical difficulties will be compiled by the Civil Aeronautics Administration from information furnished daily by the scheduled air carriers to the assigned Aviation Safety Agents. This report will include all aircraft occurrences due to known or suspected malfunctions or mechanical difficulties which result in an interruption to a scheduled flight or a change of aircraft. The information required for the report shall be furnished to the CAA in the form of a daily summary of such occurrences. Any mechanical malfunction or suspected malfunction occurring in flight or on the ground during scheduled operation which results in a change in the aircraft schedule, regardless of cause, shall be included in the summary. The daily summary of mechanical delays, which is prepared for internal use by the air carriers, will in almost all cases, contain the information necessary for this requirement. Submission of copies of this report will be satisfactory, provided it contains sufficient information as outlined below. In some cases it may be necessary to make slight modifications or add further information if this report is to be used. The daily submission of information for compilation of the monthly chronic report does not affect, in any way, the reporting of items covered under the Daily Mechanical Report.

The summary shall also include the number of engines removed prematurely because of mechanical trouble, listed by make and model, and the number of propeller featherings for any reason indicating the flight attitude at the time of feathering, such as take-off, climb, cruise, etc. A statement of cause is not required with the numerical report of engine removals and propeller featherings.

(3) Submission. The period covered by each daily summary shall be for the preceding 24 hours during which reports of pertinent occurrences are received by the air carrier's main base. No daily summary will be submitted for those periods during which no interruptions to schedule were experienced; however, engine removal and propeller feathering data should be included in the next summary submitted. Each summary should be identified numerically to maintain continuity.

(4) Format. The daily summary shall include as much as possible of the following data that apply to the individual occurrences reported:

(i) Identification of the daily summary, including a consecutive serial number of the summary, name of operator, and date of occurrence of the items reported.

(ii) Type and CAA identification of aircraft to which each item pertains.

(iii) Brief statement describing or identifying the difficulty experienced. This statement shall identify the parts and system involved and any available related information, where possible, which can reasonably be expected to add to the value of the report from an informative or analytic standpoint. Desirable information would include, where possible, such items as corrective action, extraordinary conditions, whether or not difficulty was induced by personnel error or other extraneous occurrence, and recommendations.

[SEAL] DONALD W. NYROP,

[Docket No. 9774]

AERONAUTICAL SERVICES; AIRDROME ADVISORY LAND STATIONS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amendment of Part 9, Rules and Regulations Governing Aeronautical Services, to provide for Airdrome Advisory Land Stations.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. It is proposed to amend Part 9, the Commission's Rules and Regulations Governing Aeronautical Services, by implementing the existing rules so as to provide for Airdrome Advisory Land Stations.

3. The purpose of the proposed rule is to fill a gap in communication facilities presently available to private aircraft, especially in small airports, by providing a means of communication between the airport operator and the aircraft above, whereby the airmen could ascertain the available airport facilities, the weather along the route, and similar data necessary for safe flight operations. In addition, the proposed rules would enable communication, for the above stated purpose, between private aircraft themselves while in flight. The within proposal was coordinated with the appropriate interested Government agencies.

4. The proposed amendment is set forth below.

5. The authority for the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 303 (a), (b), (c), (e), (l), and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. Any interested person may file with the Commission on or before October 2, 1950, a written statement or brief in support, opposition, or urging modification of the proposed amendment. The Commission will consider such comments before taking action in this matter. If any comments are received which appear to warrant the holding of an oral argument, a notice of the time and place therefor will be given.

7. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished to the Commission.

Adopted: August 23, 1950.

Released: August 24, 1950.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

(b) Airdrome advisory land stations shall not be used for the control of aircraft at an airdrome.

§ 9.1005 Operator requirements. (a) An airdrome advisory land station shall be operated, when transmitting during the normal rendition of service, by a person holding a commercial radio operator license or permit of any class except an aircraft radiotelephone operator authorization.

(b) Aircraft radio stations. Aircraft radio stations using radiotelephony when transmitting during the normal rendition of service shall be operated by persons holding any class of commercial radio operator license or permit or an aircraft radiotelephone operator authorization.

[Administrative Order 402]

SHOE MANUFACTURING AND ALLIED INDUSTRIES

AMENDING OUTSTANDING SPECIAL TEMPORARY CERTIFICATES AUTHORIZING EMPLOYMENT OF LEARNERS AT SUBMINIMUM WAGE RATES

In accordance with the provisions of section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended (sec. 14, Stat. 1068; 29 U. S. C. 214), and Part 522, General Learner Regulations (29 CFR, Part 522), special temporary certificates authorizing employment of learners in the Shoe Manufacturing and Allied Industries at wages lower than the minimum wage established under section 6 of the act have been issued to employers in the industry. Such certificates were based upon evidence which indicated that issuance of such certificates was necessary in order to prevent curtailment of employment opportunities. Each of the certificates issued contained an expiration date of August 25, 1950. It now appears that extension of the expiration date of such certificates to October 15, 1950, is necessary in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment.

Accordingly, pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, and Part 522, issued thereunder, all outstanding special temporary certificates now in effect authorizing the employment of learners in the Shoe Manufacturing and Allied Industries at less than the minimum wage rate established under section 6 of the act are hereby amended by extending the expiration date from August 25, 1950, to October 15, 1950, or until modified or rescinded by order of the Administrator. All other terms and conditions specified in such certificates are continued in effect until the new expiration date.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of August 1950.

In accordance with Public Law 277 of the 81st Congress (approved August 30, 1949), notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has received a request from the Postmaster General (Docket No. 4632) for certification that the proposed air star route, hereinafter described, does not conflict with the development of air transportation as contemplated under the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

All relevant matter in communications bearing the above docket number received on or before September 25, 1950, will be considered by the Board before taking final action on the request of the Postmaster General.

[Docket No. G-1464]

UNITED NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 24, 1950.

Take notice that on August 16, 1950, United Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a Pennsylvania corporation with its principal place of business in Oil City, Pennsylvania, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the merger and consolidation of the following companies: United Natural Gas Company, Ridgway Natural Gas Company, St. Marys Natural Gas Company, Smethport Natural Gas Company, and Mercer County Gas Company into a new corporation to be known as United Natural Gas Company, with its principal place of business in Oil City, Venango County, Pennsylvania.

Applicant, a wholly owned subsidiary of National Fuel Gas Company, a New Jersey corporation, alleges that many of the leases and gas lines of these companies are in close proximity to each other, that the supply of natural gas in the fields from which they have been securing their supplies of gas in northwestern Pennsylvania has been greatly diminished and that there is a growing dependence upon Applicant for a supply of gas, that the general purpose of the proposed merger and consolidation of these companies is the more efficient and economical operation of the various properties and the continuation of satisfactory service to their customers, and that the merged and consolidated corporation, by reason of such merger and consolidation will not acquire any additional franchise rights to supply gas to the public in any locality where the several merging and consolidating companies do not already by virtue of their respective charters enjoy such franchise rights, that, by reason of such merger and consolidation, Applicant will not become invested with any new or additional franchise rights to furnish gas to the public in any locality wherein similar service is now being rendered by any other public service company, and that the effect of said merger and consolidation will be that the merged and consolidated corporation, United Natural Gas Company, will own and operate the facilities and render the service heretofore rendered by the several merging and consolidating companies.

Applicant states that as of June 30, 1950, the physical property of the merging and consolidating companies was carried on the books of the several companies in the following amounts:

United Natural Gas Co	$35,792,876
Ridgway Natural Gas Co	2,227,924
St. Marys Natural Gas Co	1,742,521
Smethport Natural Gas Co	438,950
Mercer County Gas Co	53,727

Applicant states further that the authorized capital stock of the merged and consolidated corporation shall be $29,308,000, divided into 1,172,320 shares of no par value but with a stated value of $25.00 each, of which there shall be issued 1,116,000 shares having a stated value of $27,900,000.

The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection. Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) before the 12th day of September 1950.

AMERICAN NATURAL GAS CO.

ORDER GRANTING AND PERMITTING TO BECOME EFFECTIVE APPLICATION-DECLARATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 24th day of August 1950.

American Natural Gas Company ("American Natural"), a registered holding company, having filed an application-declaration, pursuant to section 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder, and having, on August 7, 1950, filed an amendment thereto with respect to the following transactions:

American Natural proposes to issue and sell to its stockholders up to 304,486 additional shares of its authorized but unissued common stock without par value. The application-declaration, as amended, states that on or about August 28, 1950, the additional stock will be offered to common stockholders of American Natural of record as of the close of business on or about August 24, 1950, at a price of $22.00 per share. Such stockholders are to have the right to subscribe for one share of such additional common stock for each ten shares held, and the further Conditional Purchase Privilege of subscribing for such shares of such additional common stock as are not purchased pursuant to the exercise of subscription rights. If there are insufficient shares to satisfy all elections to purchase under the Conditional Purchase Privilege, the available shares will be allotted among those exercising the Conditional Purchase Privilege proportionately to the rights they have exercised.

One right will attach to each share of common stock of American Natural outstanding on the record date. Transferable Warrants are to be issued to evidence the rights and the accompanying Conditional Purchase Privilege. The Warrants will expire at 3:00 p. m., e. d. s. t., on September 14, 1950. The exercise of ten rights will be required to purchase one share of additional common stock, and no fractional shares will be issued. Rights to purchase less than one share may be used in combination with similar rights sufficient in the aggregate to represent one or more whole shares. An arrangement is to be entered into with National City Bank of New York, New York, Agent, under which the holder of a Warrant, when forwarding or presenting it for exercise of his rights, may place an order, without charge, either to purchase such additional rights (not more than 9) as are necessary for subscription to one full share of stock, or for the sale of rights (not more than 9) in excess of those necessary for subscription to a full share of stock. It is stated that rights may be purchased and sold through the usual investment channels and that arrangements are to be made for the admission of the rights to trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

American Natural requests approval of the acquisition of shares of its own common stock in connection with stabilizing activities for the purpose of facilitating the offering. Stabilizing transactions, if any, are to be effected by the purchase of common stock on the New York Stock Exchange, in the open market or otherwise. Such transactions, if commenced, may be terminated by the company at any time, and in any case not later than the expiration date of the Warrants. Such transactions are to result at no time in American Natural acquiring a long position in shares of its common stock in excess of 30,448 shares. Shares acquired in connection with stabilizing transactions are to be disposed of through ordinary brokerage transactions on the New York Stock Exchange.

The net proceeds from the proposed sale of common stock will be added to the corporate funds of American Natural and used for corporate purposes, principally additional investments in common stocks of its subsidiaries.

Notice of the filing of said application-declaration, having been given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated under the act, and the Commission having received no request for a hearing with respect to said application-declaration, as amended, within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

American Natural having requested that an order, to become effective upon its issuance, be entered on or before August 24, 1950 granting and permitting said application-declaration, as amended, to become effective; and

The record being incomplete with respect to the fees and expenses to be incurred and paid in connection with the proposed transactions; and

The Commission finding that the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied, that no adverse findings are necessary thereunder, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said application-declaration, as amended, be granted and permitted to become effective, subject to a reservation of jurisdiction with respect to fees and expenses, and that the request for acceleration of the effective date of this order be granted;

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said application-declaration, as amended, be, and it hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, and subject to a reservation of jurisdiction with respect to fees and expenses, and that this order shall become effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

PART 331—PROCESSING DIRECT LOANS

SUBPART A—COUNTY OFFICE ROUTINE

LOANS TO OWNERS OF NEWLY IRRIGATED FARMS AND TO HOMESTEAD ENTRYMEN

Subpart A of Part 331 in Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (13 F. R. 9410), is amended to add §§ 331.12 and 331.13 as follows:

§ 331.12 Deferment of first installment for repayment of Farm Ownership loans made to owners of newly irrigated farms within Federal reclamation projects. (a) Public Law 361, 81st Congress, authorizes the deferment of the first installment for the repayment of any loan made under Title I of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, as amended, to the owner of a newly irrigated farm within a Federal reclamation project. All policies, procedures, and delegations of authority which apply to direct Farm Ownership loans will be observed in processing such loans to the owners of such farms, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section.

(b) When a Farm Ownership loan is made for the purchase, enlargement, or development of a newly irrigated farm within a Federal reclamation project, the first installment on the loan may be deferred one year from the first March 31 following the date of the borrow's loan check provided that the present debt-paying capacity of the farm as indicated on Form FHA–14, "Farm and Home Plan," makes such deferment necessary because of the time required to develop the land or reorganize the farm operation.

(c) For the purposes of this section, the following shall be deemed to be newly irrigated farms:

(1) A farm within a Federal reclamation project which will be converted from predominantly dry land farming operations, including land which has not been previously farmed because of a lack of irrigation, to predominantly irrigated farming with the proceeds of a Farm Ownership loan.

(2) A farm the irrigable acreage of which has been irrigated by water from a Federal reclamation project for not more than three full irrigation seasons next preceding the date of application for a Farm Ownership loan, which farm has not yet produced the first cash crop for market.

(3) A farm within a Federal reclamation project which is to be made up of a tract presently owned which has been operated predominantly as an irrigated farm but which needs enlargement and substantial additional irrigation development with the proceeds of a Farm Enlargement loan in order to be an economic family-size farm-management unit.

(d) If the farm is a newly irrigated farm within a Federal reclamation project and the County Supervisor determines that deferment of the first installment is justified in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, the following exceptions to existing procedures will apply to the preparation of forms:

(1) When preparing Form FHA–190, "Promissory Note," delete the words "thirty-nine" which appear on line 9 concerning number of installments and insert the words "thirty-eight." The amount of the annual installment to be inserted in line 9 will be computed by multiplying the amount of the loan by .05106.

(2) In completing Form FHA–190 and preparing Form FHA–497, "Notification of First Payment Date," in connection with the closing of the loan, the year of the first installment will be the year next succeeding the year of the first March 31 following the date of the borrower's loan check, and the amount of the first installment, not to exceed 5.106 percent of the loan, will be determined in accordance with the applicable provisions of § 331.11.

(Sec. 41, 60 Stat. 1066; 7 U. S. C. 1015. Interprets or applies secs. 1, 3, 44, 48, 60 Stat. 1072, 1074, 1069, 1070, sec. 1, 62 Stat. 534, sec. 1, Pub. Law 361, 81st Cong., 63 Stat. 863; 7 U. S. C. 1001, 1003, 1018, 1022, 1006a)

§ 331.13 Making Farm Ownership loans to homestead entrymen. (a) Public Law 361, 81st Congress, authorizes the making of direct Farm Ownership loans to eligible homestead entrymen on unpatented public lands, including public land within Federal reclamation projects and in Alaska, for any purpose authorized by and in accordance with the provisions of title I of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, as amended. It also authorizes the deferment of the first installment, as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, for the repayment of any such loan.

(b) When a Farm Ownership loan is made to a homestead entryman, the first installment on the loan may be deferred one year from the first March 31 following the date of the borrower's loan check provided that the present debt paying capacity of the farm as indicated on Form FHA–14, "Farm and Home Plan," makes such deferment necessary because of the time required to develop the land or reorganize the farm operation.

(c) The extension of financial assistance authorized in paragraph (a) of this section will be facilitated through the cooperation of the Farmers Home Administration, the Bureau of Land Management, and the Bureau of Reclamation.

(d) Consistent with Farm Ownership policy, loans to homestead entrymen will include sufficient funds to put the farm in livable and operable condition at the outset, to provide needed water facilities, and when necessary, to provide for refinancing (1) the outstanding balances of any existing mortgages against the entryman's interests in the farm, (2) any construction or operation and maintenance charges, or irrigation district charges against the land which are due at the time of loan closing, (3) the outstanding balance of any land leveling contract between the entryman and the Bureau of Reclamation, and (4) any taxes legally assessed against the farm which are due at the time of loan closing. If any items other than those specified above are to be refinanced, the prior approval of the Administrator will be required on an individual case basis.

(e) Existing Farm Ownership policies, procedures, and loan approval authorities pertaining to the processing of direct Farm Ownership loans will be complied with except as provided in paragraphs (e), (f), and (g) of this section.

(1) An application for a Farm Ownership loan from a homestead entryman entering public land not within a reclamation project will be considered only after the entryman has selected a farm and received his allowance of entry from the Bureau of Land Management. The original document showing allowance of entry must be attached to Form FHA–197, "Application for FHA Services."

(2) An application for a Farm Ownership loan from a homestead entryman entering public land within a reclamation project will not be considered until after the entryman has received a certificate of eligibility from the Bureau of Reclamation and has selected a farm. If at the time of making application for a Farm Ownership loan the entryman has received his allowance of entry from the Bureau of Land Management, he will attach the original of such document to Form FHA–197. If the entryman has not yet received his allowance of entry, a copy of his certificate of eligibility must be attached to Form FHA–197. However, the Farm Ownership loan docket will not be submitted to the State Field Representative for approval until the original document showing allowance of entry has been received from the applicant and placed in the loan docket.

(3) At the time of making application for a Farm Ownership loan, the homestead entryman will authorize the Farmers Home Administration in writing to secure from the Bureau of Land Management or the Bureau of Reclamation any available information concerning his application for homestead or reclamation entry which may be used by the Farmers Home Administration in determining his eligibility for a Farm Ownership loan. This information will be treated as confidential by the Farmers Home Administration. The signed authorization will be attached to the County Supervisor's written request to the Superintendent of the Reclamation Project or the Manager of the District Land Office for information about the homestead entryman which will be used in determining his eligibility for a Farm Ownership loan. It will not be necessary for the County Supervisor to request the Bureau of Reclamation or the Bureau of Land Management to furnish such information in those instances in which the applicant has resided for several years in the general vicinity of the entry and the needed information can be obtained locally.

(f) Except as provided in this paragraph, loan docket forms including Form FHA–190, and Form FHA–643, "Farm Development Plan," will be prepared and distributed in accordance with §§ 331.1 to 331.11.

(1) If the County Supervisor determines that deferment of the first installment is justified in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, Form FHA–190 will be prepared to provide for such deferment. In such a case, delete the words "thirty-nine" which appear on line 9 concerning number of installments and insert the words "thirty-eight." The amount of the annual installment to be inserted in line 9 will be computed by multiplying the amount of the loan shown on line 5 by .05106.

(2) A copy of Form FHA–643 will be prepared in every case for the Bureau of Land Management. When the entryman's farm is located within a reclamation project, any land development items listed on Form FHA–643 must be consistent with the over-all plans for development of the reclamation project. Consequently, when Form FHA–643 provides for the leveling of land or the installation of farm distribution and surface drainage systems, another copy will be prepared for the Bureau of Reclamation. If the land development plans for the unit conflict with the over-all plans for development of the reclamation project, officials of the Bureau of Reclamation will so advise the County Supervisor, and the County Supervisor will initiate any necessary changes in Form FHA–643 by change-order in accordance with § 324.44 of this chapter.

(3) The entryman-applicant will be required to furnish and pay for a certified statement prepared by a qualified attorney which will include the attorney's findings with respect to any outstanding land leveling contracts and any other claims of any kind on record against the entry. This certified statement will be included in the loan docket. When there is an outstanding land leveling contract, the applicant's copy of such contract will also be included in the loan docket. The copy of the contract will be returned to the applicant after the loan is closed.

(g) Except as provided in this paragraph, Farm Ownership loans to homestead entrymen will be closed in accordance with § 331.11.

(1) Special mortgage forms will be received with the closing instructions from the representative of the Office of the Solicitor.

(2) In completing Form FHA–190 and preparing Form FHA–497 in connection with the closing of the loan when the first installment on the loan is to be deferred, the year of the first installment will be the year next succeeding the year of the first March 31 following the date of the borrower's loan check, and the amount of the first installment, not to exceed 5.106 percent of the loan, will be determined in accordance with the applicable provisions of § 331.11.

GENERAL

§ 725.211 Basis and purpose. The regulations contained in §§ 725.211 to 725.228, are issued pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and govern the establishment of 1951 farm acreage allotments and normal yields for Burley and flue-cured tobacco. The purpose of the regulations in §§ 725.211 to 725.228 is to provide the procedure for allocating, on an acreage basis, the national marketing quota for Burley and flue-cured tobacco for the 1951–52 marketing year among farms and for determining normal yields. Prior to preparing the regulations in §§ 725.211 to 725.228, public notice (15 F. R. 4750) was given in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237). The data, views, and recommendations pertaining to the regulations in §§ 725.211 to 728.228, which were submitted have been duly considered within the limits permitted by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

§ 725.212 Definitions. As used in §§ 725.211 to 725.228, and in all instructions, forms, and documents in connection therewith the words and phrases defined in this section shall have the meanings herein assigned to them unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires.

(a) Committees. (1) "Community committee" means the group of persons elected within a community as the community committee of the Production and Marketing Administration to assist in administering the Production and Marketing Administration programs within the community.

(2) "County committee" means the group of persons elected within a county as the county committee of the Production and Marketing Administration to assist in administering the Production and Marketing Administration programs within the county.

(3) "State committee" means the group of persons designated as the State committee of the Production and Marketing Administration, charged with the responsibility of administering Production and Marketing Administration programs within the State.

(b) Farm. "Farm" means all adjacent or nearby farm land under the same ownership which is operated by one person, including also:

(1) Any other adjacent or nearby farm land which the county committee, in accordance with instructions issued by the Assistant Administrator for Production, Production and Marketing Administration, determines is operated by the same person as part of the same unit with respect to the rotation of crops and with workstock, farm machinery, and labor substantially separate from that for any other lands; and

(2) Any field-rented tract (whether operated by the same or another person) which, together with any other land included in the farm, constitutes a unit with respect to the rotation of crops.

A farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling is situated, or if there is no dwelling thereon it shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(c) New farm. "New farm" means a farm on which tobacco will be produced in 1951 for the first time since 1945.

(d) Old farm. "Old farm" means a farm on which tobacco was produced in one or more of the five years 1946 through 1950.

(e) Cropland. "Cropland" means farm land which in 1950 was tilled or was in regular crop rotation, excluding (1) bearing orchards and vineyards (except the acreage of cropland therein), (2) plowable noncrop open pasture, and (3) any land which constitutes or will constitute, if tillage is continued, a wind erosion hazard to the community.

(f) Community cropland factor. "Community cropland factor" means that percentage determined by dividing the total cropland for all old farms in the community in 1950 into the total of the 1950 tobacco acreage allotment for such old farms: Provided, That, if it is determined that the cropland factors for all communities in the county are substantially the same, the county committee, with the approval of the State committee, may consider the entire county as one community.

(g) Acreage indicated by cropland. "Acreage indicated by cropland" means that acreage determined by multiplying the number of acres of cropland in the farm by the community cropland factor.

(h) Operator. "Operator" means the person who is in charge of the supervision and conduct of the farming operations on the entire farm.

(i) Person. "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate or trust or other business enterprise or other legal entity, and whenever applicable, a State, a political subdivision of a State, or any agency thereof.

(j) Tobacco. "Tobacco" means Burley tobacco, type 31, or flue-cured tobacco, types 11, 12, 13, and 14, as classified in Service and Regulatory Announcement No. 118 (7 CFR, Part 30) of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, or both as indicated by the context.

(k) Acre of tobacco. "Acre of tobacco" means 43,560 square feet of land devoted to tobacco by being uniformly covered with tobacco plants notwithstanding that the width of the rows of tobacco may vary from the width of rows which are customary for the kind of tobacco involved and without regard to interplanted crops.

§ 725.213 Extent of calculations and rule of fractions. All acreage allotments shall be rounded to the nearest one-tenth acre. Fractions of fifty-one thousandths of an acre or more shall be rounded upward, and fractions of five-hundredths of an acre or less shall be dropped. For example, 1.051 would be 1.1 and 1.050 would be 1.0.

§ 725.214 Instruction and forms. The Director, Tobacco Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, shall cause to be prepared and issued such forms as are necessary, and shall cause to be prepared such instructions as are necessary, for carrying out the regulations in this part. The forms and instructions shall be approved by, and the instructions shall be issued by, the Assistant Administrator for Production, Production and Marketing Administration.

§ 725.215 Applicability of §§ 725.211 to 725.228. Sections 725.211 to 725.228 shall govern the establishment of farm acreage allotments and normal yields for tobacco in connection with farm marketing quotas for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1951, in the case of Burley tobacco, and July 1, 1951, in the case of flue-cured tobacco.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS AND NORMAL YIELDS FOR OLD FARMS

§ 725.216 Determination of 1951 preliminary acreage allotments for old farms. The preliminary acreage allotment for an old farm shall be the 1950 allotment with the following exceptions:

(a) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in each of the three years 1948–50 was less than 75 percent of the farm acreage allotment for each of such years, the preliminary allotment shall be the larger of (1) the largest acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in any one of such three years, or (2) the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1946–50: Provided, That any such preliminary allotment shall not exceed the 1950 allotment for such farm or be less than 0.1 acre: And provided further, That the preliminary allotment may be increased to as much as the 1950 allotment if the county committee determines that failure to harvest as much as 75 percent of the allotted acreage during any one of the three years 1948–50 was due to service in the armed forces on the part of labor regularly engaged in producing tobacco on the farm prior to entry into the armed forces.

(b) If no 1950 allotment was established for the farm, the preliminary allotment shall be the smaller of (1) the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1946–50, or (2) the acreage obtained by multiplying the farm's average acreage for the five years 1946–50 by the ratio of the farm's actual yield to the 1949 county average yield: Provided, That such preliminary allotment shall not be less than 0.1 acre.

(c) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in 1950 exceeded the 1950 allotment by more than 10 percent, the preliminary allotment shall be the 1950 allotment plus the smaller of (1) one-fifth of the excess acreage, or (2) the acreage obtained by multiplying one-fifth of the excess acreage by the ratio of the farm's actual yield to the 1949 county average yield.

(d) The preliminary allotment shall not exceed 80 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm.

(e) The preliminary allotments determined under paragraph (b) or (c) of this section shall not exceed the smallest of (1) 90 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland, except that, if the farm on which the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in 1950 exceeded the 1950 allotment is the only farm in the county on which tobacco is grown, the community cropland factor of the nearest community in which tobacco is grown shall be used in determining the acreage indicated by cropland, (2) 20 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm in the case of flue-cured, or (3) the acreage capacity of curing barns located on the farm and suitable for curing tobacco, which in the case of flue-cured tobacco shall be 3.5 acres per barn: Provided, That no preliminary allotment shall be reduced below the 1950 allotment because of these factors.

§ 725.217 1951 old farm tobacco acreage allotment. The preliminary allotments calculated for all old farms in the State pursuant to § 725.216 shall be adjusted uniformly so that the total of such allotments plus the acreage available for adjusting acreage allotments for old farms pursuant to § 725.218 shall not exceed the State acreage allotment: Provided, That in the case of Burley tobacco, any farm acreage allotment shall be increased if necessary to the smaller of (a) the 1950 allotment, or (b) 0.9 acre.

§ 725.218 Adjustment of acreage allotments for old farms. The farm acreage allotment for an old farm may be increased within the limits stated in paragraph (e) of § 725.216, such limits to be applied to the sum of the preliminary allotment and the increase under this section, if the community committee, with the approval of the county committee, finds that the preliminary acreage allotment is relatively small on the basis of the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; and other cash crops produced on the farm, or that reduction of such allotment under paragraph (a) of § 725.216 was the result of abnormal weather conditions or plant bed diseases: Provided, however, That any allotment may be increased above the limits stated in paragraph (e) of § 725.216 if the community committee and the county committee find that the preliminary allotment is relatively smaller in relation to the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco on the farm than the preliminary allotments for other old farms in the community which are similar with respect to such factors. The acreage available for increasing allotments under this section shall not exceed one-half of one percent of the total acreage allotted to all tobacco farms in the State for the 1950–51 marketing year.

§ 725.219 Reduction of acreage allotment for violation of the marketing quota regulations for a prior marketing year. (a) If tobacco was marketed or was permitted to be marketed in any marketing year as having been produced on the acreage allotment for any farm which in fact was produced on a different farm, the acreage allotments established for both such farms for 1951 shall be reduced, except that such reduction for any such farm shall not be made if the county committee determines that no person connected with such farm caused, aided, or acquiesced in such marketing.

(b) The operator of the farm shall furnish complete and accurate proof of the disposition of all tobacco produced on the farm at such time and in such manner as will insure payment of the penalty due and in the event of refusal or failure for any reason to furnish such proof, the acreage allotment for the farm shall be reduced, except that if the farm operator establishes to the satisfaction of the county and State committees that failure to furnish such proof of disposition was unintentional on his part and that he could not reasonably have been expected to furnish accurate proof of disposition, reduction of the allotment will not be required if the failure to furnish proof of disposition is corrected and payment of all additional penalty is made.

(c) Any reduction shall be made with respect to the 1951 farm acreage allotment, provided it can be made prior to the delivery of the marketing card to the farm operator. If the reduction cannot be so made effective with respect to the 1951 crop, such reduction shall be made with respect to the farm acreage allotment next established for the farm. This section shall not apply if the allotment for any prior year was reduced on account of the same violation.

(d) The amount of reduction in the 1951 allotment shall be that percentage which the amount of tobacco involved in the violation is of the respective farm marketing quota for the farm for the year in which the violation occurred. Where the amount of such tobacco involved in the violation equals or exceeds the amount of the farm marketing quota the amount of reduction shall be 100 percent. The amount of tobacco determined by the county committee to have been falsely identified or for which satisfactory proof of disposition has not been furnished shall be considered the amount of tobacco involved in the violation. If the actual production of tobacco on the farm is not known, the county committee shall estimate such actual production, taking into consideration the condition of the tobacco crop during production, if known, and the actual yield per acre of tobacco on other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar: Provided, That the estimate of such actual production of tobacco on the farm shall not exceed the harvested acreage of tobacco on the farm multiplied by the average actual yield on farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar. The actual yield of tobacco on the farm as so estimated by the county committee multiplied by the farm acreage allotment shall be considered the farm marketing quota for the purposes of this section. In determining the amount of tobacco for which satisfactory proof of disposition has not been shown in case the actual production of tobacco on the farm is not known, the amount of tobacco involved in the violation shall be deemed to be the actual production of tobacco on the farm, estimated as above, less the amount of tobacco for which satisfactory proof of disposition has been shown.

(e) If the farm involved in the violation is combined with another farm prior to the reduction, the reduction shall be applied to that portion of the allotment for which a reduction is required under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section.

(f) If the farm involved in the violation has been divided prior to the reduction, the reduction shall be applied to the allotments for the divided farms as required under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

§ 725.220 Reallocation of allotments released from farms removed from agricultural production. The allotment determined or which would have been determined for any land which is removed from agricultural production for any purpose because of acquisition by any Federal, State, or other agency having a right of eminent domain shall be placed in a State pool and shall be available to the State committee for use in providing equitable allotments for farms owned or purchased by owners displaced because of acquisition of their farms by such agencies. Upon application to the county committee, within five years from the date of such acquisition of the farm, any owner so displaced shall be entitled to have an allotment for any other farm owned or purchased by him equal to an allotment which would have been determined for such other farm plus the allotment which would have been determined for the farm so acquired: Provided, That such allotment shall not exceed 20 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm in the case of Burley tobacco, and 50 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm in the case of flue-cured tobacco.

The provisions of this section shall not be applicable if (a) there is any marketing quota penalty due with respect to the marketing of tobacco from the farm or by the owner of the farm at the time of its acquisition by the Federal, State, or other agency; (b) any tobacco produced on such farm has not been accounted for as required by the Secretary; or (c) the allotment next to be established for the farm acquired by the Federal, State, or other agency would have been reduced because of false or improper identification of tobacco produced on or marketed from such farm.

§ 725.221 Farms divided or combined. (a) If land operated as a single farm in 1950 will be operated in 1951 as two or more farms, the 1951 tobacco acreage allotment determined or which otherwise would have been determined for the entire farm shall be apportioned among the tracts in the same proportion as the acreage of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco in each such tract in such year bore to the total number of acres of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco on the entire farm in such year, except that if the farm to be divided in 1951 resulted from a combination of two separate and distinct farms prior to a combination in 1946 or any subsequent year, the allotment may be divided among such farms in the same proportion that each contributed to the farm acreage allotment: Provided, That with the recommendation of the county committee and approval of the State committee, the tobacco acreage allotment determined for a tract under the provisions of this paragraph may be increased or decreased by not more than the larger of one-tenth acre or 10 percent of the 1951 acreage allotment determined for the entire farm with corresponding increases or decreases made in the acreage allotment apportioned to the other tract or tracts.

(b) If two or more farms operated separately in 1950 are combined and operated in 1951 as a single farm, the 1951 allotment shall be the sum of the 1951 allotments determined for each of the farms composing the combination or, in the case of Burley tobacco, if smaller, the allotment determined or which would have been determined for the farm as constituted in 1951.

(c) If a farm is to be divided in 1951 in settling an estate, the allotment may be divided among the various tracts in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, or on such other basis as the State committee may prescribe.

§ 725.222 Determination of normal yields. The normal yield for any old farm shall be that yield which the county committee determines is normal for the farm taking into consideration (a) the yields obtained on the farm during the five years 1945–49, (b) the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco on the farm; and (c) the yields obtained on other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to such factors.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS AND NORMAL YIELDS FOR NEW FARMS

§ 725.223 Determination of acreage allotments for new farms. The acreage allotment, other than an allotment made under § 725.220, for a new farm shall be that acreage which the county committee determines is fair and reasonable for the farm taking into consideration the past tobacco experience of the farm operator; the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco: Provided, That the acreage allotment so determined shall not exceed in the case of Burley tobacco 50 percent of the allotments for old Burley farms which are similar with respect to land, labor and equipment available for the production of tobacco, crop-rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco; and in the case of flue-cured tobacco, the smaller of (a) 15 percent of the cropland in the farm including land from which a cultivated crop was harvested in 1950 or (b) 75 percent of the allotment for old flue-cured tobacco farms which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco, crop-rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section a tobacco acreage allotment shall not be established for any new farm unless each of the following conditions has been met:

(1) The farm operator shall have had experience in growing the kind of tobacco for which an allotment is requested either as a share cropper, tenant, or as a farm operator during two of the past five years: Provided, however, That a farm operator who was in the armed services during World War II shall be deemed to have met the requirements hereof if he has had experience in growing the kind of tobacco for which an allotment is requested during one year either within the five years immediately prior to his entry into the armed services or since his discharge from the armed services.

(2) The farm operator shall live on and be largely dependent for his livelihood on the farm covered by the application.

(3) The farm covered by the application shall be the only farm owned or operated by the owner or farm operator for which a Burley or flue-cured tobacco allotment is established for the 1951-52 marketing year; and

(4) The farm will not have a 1951 allotment for any kind of tobacco other than that for which application is made hereunder.

The acreage allotments established as provided in this section shall be subject to such downward adjustment as is necessary to bring such allotments in line with the total acreage available for allotment to all new farms. One-half of one percent of the 1951 national marketing quota shall, when converted to an acreage allotment by the use of the national average yield, be available for establishing allotments for new farms. The national average yield shall be the average of the several State yields used in converting the State marketing quota into State acreage allotments.

§ 725.224 Time for filing application. An application for a new farm allotment shall be filed with the county committee prior to February 1, 1951, unless the farm operator was discharged from the armed services subsequent to December 31, 1950, in which case such application shall be filed within a reasonable period prior to planting tobacco on the farm.

§ 725.225 Determination of normal yields. The normal yield for a new farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is normal for the farm as compared with yields for other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar.

MISCELLANEOUS

§ 725.226 Determination of acreage allotments and normal yields for farms returned to agricultural production. (a) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of §§ 725.211 to 725.225, the acreage allotment for any farm which was acquired by any Federal, State, or other agency having the right of eminent domain for any purpose and which is returned to agricultural production in 1951 or which was returned to agricultural production in 1950 too late for the 1950 allotment to be established, shall be determined by one of the following methods:

(1) If the land is acquired by the original owner, any part of the acreage allotment which was or could have been established for such farm prior to its retirement from agricultural production which remains in the State pool (adjusted to reflect the uniform increases and decreases in comparable old farm allotments since the farm was acquired) may be established as the 1951 allotment for such farm by transfer from the pool, and if any part of the allotment for such land was transferred by the original owner through the State pool to another farm now owned by him, such owner may elect to transfer all or any part of such allotment (as adjusted) to the farm which is returned to agricultural production.

(2) If the land is acquired by a person other than the original owner, or if all of the allotment was transferred through the State pools to another farm and the original owner does not now own the farm to which the allotment was transferred, the farm returned to agricultural production shall be regarded as a new farm.

(b) The normal yield for any such farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is reasonable for the farm as compared with yields for other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar.

§ 725.227 Approval of determinations made under §§ 725.211 to 725.226. The State committee will review all allotments and yields and may correct or require correction of any determinations made under §§ 725.211 to 725.226. All acreage allotments and yields shall be approved by the State committee and no official notice of acreage allotment shall be mailed to a grower until such allotment has been approved by the State committee.

§ 725.228 Application for review. Any producer who is dissatisfied with the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota established for his farm, may, within fifteen days after mailing of the official notice of the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota, file application with the county committee to have such allotment reviewed by a review committee. The procedures governing the review of farm acreage allotments and marketing quotas are contained in the regulations issued by the Secretary (7 CFR, Part 711) which are available at the office of the county committee.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 28th day of August 1950. Witness my hand and seal of the Department of Agriculture.

GENERAL

§ 726.211 Basis and purpose. The regulations contained in §§ 726.211 to 726.228, are issued pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and govern the establishment of 1951 farm acreage allotments and normal yields for fire-cured, dark air-cured, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco. The purpose of the regulations in §§ 726.211 to 726.228 is to provide the procedure for allocating, on an acreage basis, the national marketing quota for fire-cured, dark air-cured, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco for the 1951–52 marketing year among farms and for determining normal yields. Prior to preparing the regulations in §§ 726.211 to 726.228, public notice (15 F. R. 4750) was given in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237). The data, views, and recommendations pertaining to the regulations in §§ 726.211 to 726.228, which were submitted have been duly considered within the limits permitted by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

§ 726.212 Definitions. As used in §§ 726.211 to 726.228, and in all instructions, forms, and documents in connection therewith the words and phrases defined in this section shall have the meanings herein assigned to them unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires.

(a) Committees. (1) "Community committee" means the group of persons elected within a community as the community committee of the Production and Marketing Administration to assist in administering the Production and Marketing Administration programs within the community.

(2) "County committee" means the group of persons elected within a county as the county committee of the Production and Marketing Administration to assist in administering the Production and Marketing Administration programs within the county.

(3) "State committee" means the group of persons designated as the State committee of the Production and Marketing Administration, charged with the responsibility of administering Production and Marketing Administration programs within the State.

(b) Farm. "Farm" means all adjacent or nearby farm land under the same ownership which is operated by one person, including also:

(1) Any other adjacent or nearby farm land which the county committee, in accordance with instructions issued by the Assistant Administrator for Production, Production and Marketing Administration, determines is operated by the same person as part of the same unit with respect to the rotation of crops and with workstock, farm machinery, and labor substantially separate from that for any other lands; and

(2) Any field-rented tract (whether operated by the same or another person) which, together with any other land included in the farm, constitutes a unit with respect to the rotation of crops.

A farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling is situated, or if there is no dwelling thereon it shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(c) New farm. "New farm" means a farm on which tobacco will be produced in 1951 for the first time since 1945.

(d) Old farm. "Old farm" means a farm on which tobacco was produced in one or more of the five years 1946 through 1950.

(e) Cropland. "Cropland" means farm land which in 1950 was tilled or was in regular crop rotation, excluding (1) bearing orchards and vineyards (except the acreage of cropland therein), (2) plowable noncrop open pasture, and (3) any land which constitutes or will constitute, if tillage is continued, a wind erosion hazard to the community.

(f) Community cropland factor. "Community cropland factor" means that percentage determined by dividing the total cropland for all old farms in the community in 1950 into the total of the 1950 tobacco acreage allotment for such old farms: Provided, That, if it is determined that the cropland factors for all communities in the county are substantially the same, the county committee, with the approval of the State committee, may consider the entire county as one community.

(g) Acreage indicated by cropland. "Acreage indicated by cropland" means that acreage determined by multiplying the number of acres of cropland in the farm by the community cropland factor.

(h) Operator. "Operator" means the person who is in charge of the supervision and conduct of the farming operations on the entire farm.

(i) Person. "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate or trust or other business enterprise or other legal entity, and whenever applicable, a State, a political subdivision of a State, or any agency thereof.

(j) Tobacco. "Tobacco" means fire-cured tobacco, types 21, 22, 23, and 24; dark air-cured tobacco, types 35 and 36; or Virginia sun-cured tobacco, type 37, as classified in Service and Regulatory Announcement No. 118 (7 CFR, Part 30) of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, or all such kinds of tobacco as indicated by the context.

§ 726.213 Extent of calculations and rule of fractions. All acreage allotments shall be rounded to the nearest one-tenth acre. Fractions of fifty-one thousandths of an acre or more shall be rounded upward, and fractions of five-hundredths of an acre or less shall be dropped. For example, 1.051 would be 1.1 and 1.050 would be 1.0.

§ 726.214 Instructions and forms. The Director, Tobacco Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, shall cause to be prepared and issued such forms as are necessary, and shall cause to be prepared such instructions as are necessary, for carrying out the regulations in this part. The forms and instructions shall be approved by, and the instructions shall be issued by, the Assistant Administrator for Production, Production and Marketing Administration.

§ 726.215 Applicability of §§ 726.211 to 726.228. Sections 726.211 to 726.228 shall govern the establishment of farm acreage allotments and normal yields for tobacco in connection with farm marketing quotas for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1951.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS AND NORMAL YIELDS FOR OLD FARMS

§ 726.216 Determination of 1951 preliminary acreage allotments for old farms.—(a) Fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco. The preliminary acreage allotment for an old farm shall be the 1950 allotment with the following exceptions:

(1) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in each of the three years 1948–50 was less than 75 percent of the farm acreage allotment for each of such years, the preliminary allotment shall be the larger of (i) the largest acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in any one of such three years, or (ii) the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1946–50: Provided, That any such preliminary allotment shall not exceed the 1950 allotment for such farm or be less than 0.1 acre: And provided further, That the preliminary allotment may be increased to as much as the 1950 allotment if the county committee determines that failure to harvest as much as 75 percent of the 1950 allotted acreage during any one of the three years 1948–50 was due to service in the armed forces on the part of labor regularly engaged in producing tobacco on the farm prior to entry into the armed forces.

(2) If no 1950 allotment was established for the farm, the preliminary allotment shall be the smaller of (i) the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1946–50, or (ii) the acreage obtained by multiplying the farm's average acreage for the five years 1946–50 by the ratio of the farm's actual yield to the 1949 county average yield: Provided, That such preliminary allotment shall not be less than 0.1 acre.

(3) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in 1950 exceeded the 1950 allotment by more than 10 percent, the preliminary allotment shall be the 1950 allotment plus the smaller of (i) one-fifth of the excess acreage, or (ii) the acreage obtained by multiplying one-fifth of the excess acreage by the ratio of the farm's actual yield to the 1949 county average yield.

(4) The preliminary allotment shall not exceed 80 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm.

(5) The preliminary allotments determined under subparagraphs (2) or (3) of this paragraph shall not exceed the smaller of (i) 90 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland, except that, if the farm on which the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in 1950 exceeded the 1950 allotment is the only farm in the county on which tobacco is grown, the community cropland factor of the nearest community in which tobacco is grown shall be used in determining the acreage indicated by cropland, or (ii) the acreage capacity of curing barns located on the farm and suitable for curing tobacco: Provided, That no preliminary allotment shall be reduced below the 1950 allotment because of these factors.

(b) Virginia sun-cured tobacco. The preliminary acreage allotment for an old farm shall be the 1950 allotment with the following exceptions:

(1) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in each of the three years 1948–50 was less than 75 percent of the 1950 farm acreage allotment, the preliminary allotment shall be the larger of (i) the largest acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in any one of such three years, or (ii) the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1946–50: Provided, That any such preliminary allotment shall not exceed the 1950 allotment for such farm or be less than 0.1 acre: And provided further, That the preliminary allotment may be increased to as much as the 1950 allotment if the county committee determines that failure to harvest as much as 75 percent of the allotted acreage during any one of the three years 1948–50 was due to service in the armed forces on the part of labor regularly engaged in producing tobacco on the farm prior to entry into the armed forces.

(2) If no 1950 allotment was established for the farm, the preliminary allotment shall be the smaller of (i) the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1946–50, or (ii) the acreage obtained by multiplying the farm's average acreage for the five years 1946–50 by the ratio of the farm's actual yield to the 1949 county average yield: Provided, That such preliminary allotment shall not be less than 0.1 acre.

(3) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in 1950 exceeded the 1950 allotment by more than 10 percent, the preliminary allotment shall be the

1950 allotment plus the smaller of (i) one-fifth of the excess acreage, or (ii) the acreage obtained by multiplying one-fifth of the excess acreage by the ratio of the farm's actual yield to the 1949 county average yield.

(4) The preliminary allotment shall not exceed 80 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm.

(5) The preliminary allotments determined under subparagraphs (2) or (3) of this paragraph shall not exceed the smaller of (i) 90 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland, except that, if the farm on which the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in 1950 exceeded the 1950 allotment is the only farm in the county on which tobacco is grown, the community cropland factor of the nearest community in which tobacco is grown shall be used in determining the acreage indicated by cropland, or (ii) the acreage capacity of curing barns located on the farm and suitable for curing tobacco: Provided, That no preliminary allotment shall be reduced below the 1950 allotment because of these factors.

§ 726.217 1951 old farm tobacco acreage allotment. The preliminary allotments calculated for all old farms in the State pursuant to § 726.216 shall be adjusted uniformly so that the total of such allotments plus the acreage available for adjusting acreage allotments for old farms pursuant to § 726.218 shall not exceed the State acreage allotment.

§ 726.218 Adjustment of acreage allotments for old farms. The farm acreage allotment for an old farm may be increased within the limits stated in subparagraphs (5) of paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 726.216, such limits to be applied to the sum of the preliminary allotment and the increase under this section, if the community committee, with the approval of the county committee, finds that the preliminary acreage allotment is relatively small on the basis of the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; and other cash crops produced on the farm, or that reduction of such allotment under subparagraphs (1) of paragraph (a) or (b), whichever is applicable, of § 726.216 was the result of abnormal weather conditions or plant bed diseases: Provided, however, That any allotment may be increased above the limits stated in subparagraph (5) of paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 726.216 if the community committee and the county committee find that the preliminary allotment is relatively smaller in relation to the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco on the farm than the preliminary allotments for other old farms in the community which are similar with respect to such factors. The acreage available for increasing allotments under this section shall not exceed one percent of the total acreage allotted to all tobacco farms in the State for the 1950–51 marketing year.

§ 726.219 Reduction of acreage allotment for violation of the marketing quota regulations for a prior marketing year. (a) If tobacco was marketed or was permitted to be marketed in any marketing year as having been produced on the acreage allotment for any farm which in fact was produced on a different farm, the acreage allotments established for both such farms for 1951 shall be reduced, except that such reduction for any such farm shall not be made if the county committee determines that no person connected with such farm caused, aided, or acquiesced in such marketing.

(b) The operator of the farm shall furnish complete and accurate proof of the disposition of all tobacco produced on the farm at such time and in such manner as will insure payment of the penalty due and in the event of refusal or failure for any reason to furnish such proof, the acreage allotment for the farm shall be reduced, except that if the farm operator establishes to the satisfaction of the county and State committees that failure to furnish such proof or disposition was unintentional on his part and that he could not reasonably have been expected to furnish accurate proof of disposition, reduction of the allotment will not be required if the failure to furnish proof of disposition is corrected and payment of all additional penalty is made.

(c) Any reduction shall be made with respect to the 1951 farm acreage allotment, provided it can be made prior to the delivery of the marketing card to the farm operator. If the reduction cannot be so made effective with respect to the 1951 crop, such reduction shall be made with respect to the farm acreage allotment next established for the farm. This section shall not apply if the allotment for any prior year was reduced on account of the same violation.

(d) The amount of reduction in the 1951 allotment shall be that percentage which the amount of tobacco involved in the violation is of the respective farm marketing quota for the farm for the year in which the violation occurred. Where the amount of such tobacco involved in the violation equals or exceeds the amount of the farm marketing quota the amount of reduction shall be 100 percent. The amount of tobacco determined by the county committee to have been falsely identified or for which satisfactory proof of disposition has not been furnished shall be considered the amount of tobacco involved in the violation. If the actual production of tobacco on the farm is not known, the county committee shall estimate such actual production, taking into consideration the condition of the tobacco crop during production, if known, and the actual yield per acre of tobacco on other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar: Provided, That the estimate of such actual production of tobacco on the farm shall not exceed the harvested acreage of tobacco on the farm multiplied by the average actual yield on farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar. The actual yield of tobacco on the farm as so estimated by the county committee multiplied by the farm acreage allotment shall be considered the farm marketing quota for the purposes of this section. In determining the amount of tobacco for which satisfactory proof of disposition has not been shown in case the actual production of tobacco on the farm is not known, the amount of tobacco involved in the violation shall be deemed to be the actual production of tobacco on the farm, estimated as above, less the amount of tobacco for which satisfactory proof of disposition has been shown.

(e) If the farm involved in the violation is combined with another farm prior to the reduction, the reduction shall be applied to that portion of the allotment for which a reduction is required under paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section.

(f) If the farm involved in the violation has been divided prior to the reduction, the reduction shall be applied to the allotments for the divided farms as required under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

§ 726.220 Reallocation of allotments released from farms removed from agricultural production. The allotment determined or which would have been determined for any land which is removed from agricultural production for any purpose because of acquisition by any Federal, State, or other agency having a right of eminent domain shall be placed in a State pool and shall be available to the State committee for use in providing equitable allotments for farms owned or purchased by owners displaced because of acquisition of their farms by such agencies. Upon application to the county committee, within five years from the date of such acquisition of the farm, any owner so displaced shall be entitled to have an allotment for any other farm owned or purchased by him equal to an allotment which would have been determined for such other farm plus the allotment which would have been determined for the farm so acquired: Provided, That such allotment shall not exceed 20 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm.

The provisions of this section shall not be applicable if (a) there is any marketing quota penalty due with respect to the marketing of tobacco from the farm or by the owner of the farm at the time of its acquisition by the Federal, State, or other agency; (b) any tobacco produced on such farm has not been accounted for as required by the Secretary; or (c) the allotment next to be established for the farm acquired by the Federal, State, or other agency would have been reduced because of false or improper identification of tobacco produced on or marketed from such farm.

§ 726.221 Farms divided or combined. (a) If land operated as a single farm in 1950 will be operated in 1951 as two or more farms, the 1951 tobacco acreage allotment determined or which otherwise would have been determined for the entire farm shall be apportioned among the tracts in the same proportion as the acreage of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco in each such tract in such year bore to the total number of acres of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco on the entire farm in such year, except that if the farm to be divided in 1951 resulted from a combination of two separate and distinct farms prior to a combination in 1946 or any subsequent year, the allotment may be divided among such farms in the same proportion that each contributed to the farm acreage allotment: Provided, That with the recommendation of the county committee and approval of the State committee, the tobacco acreage allotment determined for a tract under the provisions of this paragraph may be increased or decreased by not more than the larger of one-tenth acre or 10 percent of the 1951 acreage allotment determined for the entire farm with corresponding increases or decreases made in the acreage allotment apportioned to the other tract or tracts.

(b) If two or more farms operated separately in 1950 are combined and operated in 1951 as a single farm, the 1951 allotment shall be the sum of the 1951 allotments determined for each of the farms composing the combination.

(c) If a farm is to be divided in 1951 in settling an estate, the allotment may be divided among the various tracts in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, or on such other basis as the State committee may prescribe.

§ 726.222 Determination of normal yields. The normal yield for any old farm shall be that yield which the county committee determines is normal for the farm taking into consideration (a) the yields obtained on the farm during the five years 1945–49, (b) the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco on the farm, and (c) the yields obtained on other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to such factors.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS AND NORMAL YIELDS FOR NEW FARMS

§ 726.223 Determination of acreage allotments for new farms. The acreage allotment, other than an allotment made under § 726.220, for a new farm shall be that acreage which the county committee determines is fair and reasonable for the farm taking into consideration the past tobacco experience of the farm operator; the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco: Provided, That the acreage allotment so determined shall not exceed 75 percent of the allotments for old tobacco farms which are similar with respect to land, labor and equipment available for the production of tobacco, crop-rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section a tobacco acreage allotment shall not be established for any new farm unless each of the following conditions has been met:

(a) The farm operator shall have had experience in growing the kind of tobacco for which an allotment is requested either as a share cropper, tenant, or as a farm operator during two of the past five years: Provided, however, That a farm operator who was in the armed services during World War II shall be deemed to have met the requirements hereof if he has had experience in growing the kind of tobacco for which an allotment is requested during one year either within the five years immediately prior to his entry into the armed services or since his discharge from the armed services.

(b) The farm operator shall live on and be largely dependent for his livelihood on the farm covered by the application.

(c) The farm covered by the application shall be the only farm owned or operated by the owner or farm operator for which a fire-cured, dark air-cured or Virginia sun-cured tobacco allotment is established for the 1951–52 marketing year; and

(d) The farm will not have a 1951 allotment for any kind of tobacco other than that for which application is made hereunder.

The acreage allotments established as provided in this section shall be subject to such downward adjustment as is necessary to bring such allotments in line with the total acreage available for allotment to all new farms. One-half of one percent of the 1951 national marketing quota shall, when converted to an acreage allotment by the use of the national average yield, be available for establishing allotments for new farms. The national average yield shall be the average of the several State yields used in converting the State marketing quota into State acreage allotments.

§ 726.224 Time for filing application. An application for a new farm allotment shall be filed with the county committee prior to February 1, 1951, unless the farm operator was discharged from the armed services subsequent to December 31, 1950, in which case such application shall be filed within a reasonable period prior to planting tobacco on the farm.

§ 726.225 Determination of normal yields. The normal yield for a new farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is normal for the farm as compared with yields for other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar.

MISCELLANEOUS

§ 726.226 Determination of acreage allotments and normal yields for farms returned to agricultural production. (a) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of §§ 726.211 to 726.225, the acreage allotment for any farm which was acquired by any Federal, State, or other agency having the right of eminent domain for any purpose and which is returned to agricultural production in 1951 or which was returned to agricultural production in 1950 too late for the 1950 allotment to be established, shall be determined by one of the following methods:

(1) If the land is acquired by the original owner, any part of the acreage allotment which was or could have been established for such farm prior to its retirement from agricultural production which remains in the State pool (adjusted to reflect the uniform increases and decreases in comparable old farm allotments since the farm was acquired) may be established as the 1951 allotment for such farm by transfer from the pool, and if any part of the allotment for such land was transferred by the original owner through the State pool to another farm now owned by him, such owner may elect to transfer all or any part of such allotment (as adjusted) to the farm which is returned to agricultural production.

(2) If the land is acquired by a person other than the original owner, or if all of the allotment was transferred through the State pools to another farm and the original owner does not now own the farm to which the allotment was transferred, the farm returned to agricultural production shall be regarded as a new farm.

(b) The normal yield for any such farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is reasonable for the farm as compared with yields for other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar.

§ 726.227 Approval of determinations made under §§ 726.211 to 726.226. The State committee will review all allotments and yields and may correct or require correction of any determinations made under §§ 726.211 to 726.226. All acreage allotments and yields shall be approved by the State committee and no official notice of acreage allotment shall be mailed to a grower until such allotment has been approved by the State committee.

§ 726.228 Application for review. Any producer who is dissatisfied with the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota established for his farm, may, within fifteen days after mailing of the official notice of the farm acreage allotment and marketing quota, file application with the county committee to have such allotment reviewed by a review committee. The procedures governing the review of farm acreage allotments and marketing quotas are contained in the regulations issued by the Secretary (7 CFR Part 711) which are available at the office of the county committee.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 28th day of August 1950. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

F. R. 5058) that consideration was being given to proposals regarding the expenses and the fixing of the rate of assessment for the 1950–51 fiscal year under the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 40, as amended (7 CFR Part 940; 15 F. R. 5001) regulating the handling of peaches grown in the County of Mesa in Colorado, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended.

After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice which were submitted by the Administrative Committee (established pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order), it is hereby found and determined that:

§ 940.202 Expenses and rate of assessment for the 1950–51 fiscal year—(a) Expenses. Expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Administrative Committee, established pursuant to the provisions of the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, for the maintenance and functioning of such committee, in accordance with the provisions thereof, during the fiscal year beginning March 1, 1950, will amount to $6,750.00.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment, which each handler shall pay as his pro rata share of the aforesaid expenses in accordance with the applicable provisions of said amended marketing agreement and order is hereby fixed at one cent ($0.01) per bushel basket of peaches, or its equivalent of peaches in other containers or in bulk, shipped by such handler during said fiscal year.

It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to postpone the effective time hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (1) the rate of assessment in accordance with the provisions of the amended marketing agreement and order, is applicable to all peaches shipped during the aforesaid fiscal year; (2) such shipments are subject to the regulatory provisions of Peach Order 2 (7 CFR 940.302; 15 F. R. 5069); and (3) it is essential that the specification of the assessment rate be issued immediately so that the aforesaid assessments may be collected and thereby enable said Administrative Committee to perform its duties and functions in accordance with said amended marketing agreement and order.

As used in this section, the terms "handler," "shipped," "shipments," "peaches," and "fiscal year" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order.

AUTHORITY: §§ 975.0 to 975.97 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753 as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c.

§ 975.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Cleveland, Ohio, on February 13–15, 1950, upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping the milk covered by this order, as amended) of more than 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area, refused or failed to sign the marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area; and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order, further amending the said order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order, further amending the said order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of its approval and who, during May 1950 (said month having been determined to be a representative period), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

ORDER RELATIVE TO HANDLING

It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

§ 975.50 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. Skim milk and butterfat contained in milk, skim milk, and cream, or used to produce milk products, received from all sources by each handler at his (a) pool plant(s) and (b) nonpool plant(s) engaged in the manufacture of ice cream or ice cream mix and located within the marketing area, shall be classified separately (as skim milk or butterfat) pursuant to the following provisions of this section.

§ 975.51 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 975.53 and 975.54, skim milk and butterfat described in § 975.50 shall be classified by the market administrator on the basis of the following classes of utilization:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat:

(1) Disposed of in fluid form as milk; skim milk or buttermilk (except for livestock feed); flavored milk or flavored milk drinks; or eggnog;

(2) Transferred as any item included in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph from a pool plant to the plant of a producer-handler, or transferred as any such item to a nonpool plant located more than 265 miles from the Public Square in Cleveland, Ohio, by shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator.

(3) Accounted for as any item not listed under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph or as Class II milk or Class III milk; or

(4) Such shrinkage on milk received from producers computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of § 975.52 which is in excess of 2 percent of such receipts.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat used to produce sweet or sour cream; any milk product not specified in Class I milk or Class III milk and containing 8 percent or more of butterfat; ice cream, imitation ice cream, and other frozen desserts and mixes for such products (liquid or powdered); or cottage cheese.

(c) Class III milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce butter; butter oil; cheese (except cottage cheese); bulk condensed skim milk or whole milk (sweetened or unsweetened); evaporated or condensed milk (or skim milk) in hermetically sealed cans; casein; nonfat dry milk solids, dry whole milk; condensed or dry buttermilk; whey; powdered malted milk; lactose; and skim milk or buttermilk disposed of for livestock feed;

§ 975.52 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in milk received from producers and in other source milk received in the following manner: Provided, That milk of producers transferred by a handler to another handler and received at the latter's pool plant, or nonpool plant engaged in the manufacture of ice cream or ice cream mix and located within the marketing area, without first having been received for purposes of weighing and testing in the transferring handler's pool plant shall be included in the receipts at such plant of the second handler for the purpose of computing his plant shrinkage and shall be excluded from the receipts at the pool plant of the transferring handler in computing his plant shrinkage.

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, by (1) combining the shrinkage thereof for all pool plants operated by the handler, and (2) combining in a separate sum the shrinkage thereof for all nonpool plants operated by him to which any skim milk or butterfat has been transferred from any of his pool plants;

(b) Prorate the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) (2) of this section, in such nonpool plants between (1) skim milk or butterfat, respectively, transferred from any of his pool plants, and (2) skim milk or butterfat, respectively, received from all other sources;

(c) Add to the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) of this section, the shrinkage on skim milk or butterfat, respectively, transferred from the handler's pool plant(s) to his nonpool plant(s) computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section; and

(d) Prorate the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section between that in milk received from producers and in other source milk at his pool plants, after deducting from the total receipts therein the receipts from pool plants other than his own.

§ 975.53 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat transferred from a pool plant shall be classified as follows:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred as any item listed in paragraph (a) (1) of § 975.51, and as Class II milk if transferred as cream, to the pool plant of another handler, unless utilization in another class is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 8th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transfer was made: Provided, That if either or both pool plants have received other source milk, such transfers shall be classified by the market administrator at both plants so as to return the highest-valued class utilization to milk of producers: Provided further, That if transfers are made from a pool plant to more than one other pool plant any other source milk involved in such transfers shall be prorated by the market administrator among the transferee pool plants on the basis of the percentage which the other source milk transferred bears to the total quantity of transfers made pursuant to this subparagraph from the transferor plant.

(b) As Class I milk if transferred as any item listed in paragraph (a) (1) of § 975.51 and as Class II milk if transferred as cream, to a nonpool plant (except a plant described in paragraph (a) (2) of § 975.51), unless (1) other utilization is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the transferring handler and the receiver on or before the 8th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transfer was made, (2) the receiver maintains books and records showing utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at his plant which are made available to the market administrator for audit, and (3) such receiving plant had actually used not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk or butterfat in the use indicated in such statement: Provided, That if such nonpool plant had not actually used an equivalent amount of skim milk or butterfat in such indicated use, the remaining pounds shall be classified in the next lower-priced available class of utilization as if the classes of utilization set forth in § 975.51 were applicable to such nonpool plants; or

(c) As Class I milk if transferred as bulk milk and as Class II milk if transferred as bulk cream to (1) a manufacturer of soup, candy or bakery products for use in such manufacturing operations, or (2) any retail establishment which disposes of milk in fluid form.

§ 975.54 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk unless the handler who first received such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat classified (except that classified pursuant to paragraph (a) (2) of § 975.51) in one class shall be reclassified if used or reused by such handler or by another handler in another class: Provided, That skim milk and butterfat used to produce cream may be reclassified to Class III milk if such cream is disposed of to a nonhandler and used by such nonhandler in the manufacture of butter and the receiver complies with the requirements of paragraph (b) (2) and (3) (except the proviso) of § 975.53.

§ 975.55 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk for such handler.

§ 975.56 Allocation of butterfat classified. The pounds of butterfat remaining after making the following computations shall be the pounds in each class allocated to milk received from producers:

(a) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat in Class III milk (other than butterfat in butter), the pounds of butterfat shrinkage allowed pursuant to paragraph (c) (2) of § 975.51;

(b) For the delivery periods of October, November, December, and January, subtract from the pounds of butterfat in Class I milk, the smaller of the following:

(1) The pounds, if any, by which the butterfat in milk received from producers and pool plants is less than 110 percent of the pounds of butterfat in such handler's milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk and flavored milk drink classified as Class I milk (exclusive of any reconstituted skim milk) pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) of § 975.51, not including such Class I milk transferred to pool plants or to nonpool plants; or

(2) The pounds of butterfat in other source milk received.

(c) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat in other source milk, the pounds deducted pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section;

(d) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, after making the deduction pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization, the pounds of butterfat remaining in other source milk after making the deduction pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section;

(e) Subtract from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers in such classes pursuant to § 975.53; and

(f) Add to the remaining pounds of butterfat in Class III milk (other than butterfat in butter), the pounds subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; or if the remaining pounds of butterfat in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization.

§ 975.57 Allocation of skim milk classified. Allocate the pounds of skim milk in each class to milk received from producers in a manner similar to that prescribed for butterfat in § 975.56.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 975.60 Basic formula price. The basic formula price per hundredweight of milk to be used in determining the Class I milk price for each delivery period, pursuant to § 975.61, shall be the highest of the prices per hundredweight of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content computed by the market administrator pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section.

(a) The average of the basic (or field) prices ascertained to have been paid per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the delivery period at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator by the Department of Agriculture or by the companies indicated below:

(1) Multiply by 6 the average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter for the delivery period as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the Chicago market.

(2) Add an amount equal to 2.4 times the simple average as published by the Department of Agriculture of the prices determined per pound of "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wis., for the trading days that fall within the delivery period.

(3) Divide by 7 and to the resulting amount add 30 percent; and then multiply by 3.5.

(c) The price per hundredweight computed by adding together the plus amounts pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) From the average price of butter as computed in paragraph (b) (1) of this section, subtract 3 cents, add 20 percent of the resulting amount, and then multiply by 3.5; and

(2) From the simple average of the weighted averages of the carlot prices per pound of spray and roller process nonfat dry milk solids in barrels for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the delivery period by the Department of Agriculture, deduct 5.5 cents, multiply by 8.5 and then multiply by 0.965.

§ 975.61 Class I milk prices. The respective minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant, for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association, during the delivery period, which is classified as Class I milk, shall be as follows as computed by the market administrator:

(a) Add to the basic formula price the following amount for the delivery period indicated:

January, February, September, October, November, December	1.15

(b) The price of butterfat shall be the amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section multiplied by 20: Provided, That in no event shall the price of butterfat pursuant to this subparagraph be less than the price of butterfat computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of § 975.62.

(c) The price of skim milk shall be computed by (1) multiplying the price of butterfat pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section by 0.035; (2) subtracting such amount from the amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section; (3) dividing such net amount by 0.965; and (4) rounding off to the nearest full cent.

§ 975.62 Class II milk prices. The respective minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant, for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association, during the delivery period, which is classified as Class II milk, shall be as follows as computed by the market administrator:

(a) The price of butterfat shall be the average price of butter as computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of § 975.60 multiplied by 125: Provided, That the price per hundredweight of butterfat used to produce ice cream or ice cream mix shall be the Class III price for butterfat.

(b) The price of skim milk shall be the simple average (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of the carlot prices per pound of spray process nonfat dry milk solids in barrels for human consumption at Chicago for the weeks ending within the delivery period as reported by the Department of Agriculture, less 5.5 cents, multiplied by 8.5.

§ 975.63 Class III milk prices. The respective minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association during the delivery period, which is classified as Class III milk, shall be as follows, as computed by the market administrator:

(a) The price per hundredweight of butterfat shall be the average price of butter as computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of § 975.60 multiplied by 120: Provided, That the price per hundredweight of butterfat used to produce butter or contained in shrinkage pursuant to paragraph (c) (2) of § 975.51 shall be such price less $5.00.

(b) The price per hundredweight of skim milk shall be the weighted average of the carlot prices per pound of roller process nonfat dry milk solids in barrels for human consumption f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published for the delivery period by the Department of Agriculture less 5.5 cents, multiplied by 8.5: Provided, That the price of skim milk used to produce evaporated or condensed milk (or skim milk) in hermetically sealed cans shall be determined by (1) subtracting 8 cents from the price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of § 975.60 and then subtracting an amount computed by multiplying by 0.035 the price of butterfat computed prior to the proviso in paragraph (a) of this section, and (2) dividing the result so obtained by 0.965.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 975.70 Computation of pool value for each handler operating a pool plant. Subject to the location adjustment provided by § 975.71, the pool value for each delivery period for each handler operating a pool plant shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the applicable prices for skim milk and butterfat in each class pursuant to §§ 975.61, 975.62 and 975.63 the skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers according to their classification pursuant to §§ 975.56 and 975.57, and adding together the resulting amounts: Provided, That if such handler, after subtracting all receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, other than in milk received from producers has a utilization of skim milk or butterfat greater than has been accounted for in milk received from producers, there shall be added a further amount equal to the quantity of such excess of skim milk or butterfat multiplied by the applicable prices: And provided also, That such handler shall be credited at the difference between the applicable class prices for skim milk and butterfat and the highest of the Class III prices for skim milk and butterfat, respectively, with respect to milk or cream disposed of in fluid form during April, May, June, or July, to a manufacturer of soup, candy, or bakery products for use in such manufacturing operations.

§ 975.71 Location adjustments to handlers. With respect to the actual weight of (a) milk, cream, or any other item named in Class I milk and Class II milk which is moved directly to the marketing area from a pool plant located outside the marketing area, and (b) Class I milk and Class II milk disposed of outside the marketing area from a pool plant so located, there shall be deducted, in the computation of the handler's pool value, the following amount per hundredweight thereof applicable for the location of such plant by shortest highway distance from the Public Square in Cleveland, Ohio, such distance to be determined by the market administrator:

Not more than 30 miles	0
More than 30 miles but not more than 45 miles	15
More than 45 miles but not more than 60 miles	17
More than 60 miles but not more than 75 miles	19
More than 75 miles but not more than 90 miles	21
Within each 15-mile zone thereafter an additional 1 cent.

Provided, That such adjustment shall be limited to an amount of milk, cream, or other item so moved which could be derived from the milk received from producers at such plant.

§ 975.72 Obligation to the producer-settlement fund for certain handlers operating nonpool plants. (a) For each delivery period the obligation to the producer-settlement fund for each handler (except a producer-handler) who operates a nonpool plant out of which a route is operated which extends into the marketing area, shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the respective prices for skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat disposed of as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, or flavored milk drink within such delivery period on each such route, and subtracting therefrom an amount computed by multiplying such volume of skim milk and butterfat by the higher of the prices for skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class III milk.

(b) For each delivery period, the obligation to the producer-settlement fund for each handler who operates a nonpool plant and supplies milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, or flavored milk drink to a plant designated as a pool plant pursuant to paragraph (a) of §975.30, which latter plant received within such delivery period less than 50 percent of its total receipts of skim milk and butterfat from producers or from other pool plants, shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the difference between the respective prices for skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk and Class III milk, the amount of such receipts from such nonpool plant which are Class I milk at the receiving pool plant.

§ 975.73 Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute the "uniform price" per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. the marketing area, received from producers by:

(a) Combining into one total the pool values computed under § 975.70 for all handlers who reported pursuant to § 975.40 for such delivery period, except those in default in payments required pursuant to § 975.84 for the preceding delivery period;

(b) Adding an amount representing the monies received in payment of obligations computed under § 975.72;

(c) Adding the aggregate of the values of all allowable location adjustments computed at the maximum rates for the appropriate zones as set forth in § 975.81;

(d) Adding an amount representing not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(e) Subtracting, if the weighted average butterfat test of all milk received from producers represented by the values included in paragraph (a) of this section is greater than 3.5 percent or adding, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total hundredweight of butterfat represented by the variance of such weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent, by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 975.82 multiplied by 1,000;

(f) Dividing by the hundredweight of milk received from producers represented by the values included in paragraph (a) of this section; and

(g) Subtracting not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

§ 975.74 Notification. The market administrator shall notify:

(a) On or before the 14th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler who operates a pool plant of:

(1) The amounts and pool values of his skim milk and butterfat in each class and the totals of such amounts and values;

(2) The uniform price;

(3) The amount due such handler from the producer-settlement fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-settlement fund, as the case may be; and

(4) The totals of the minimum amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 975.80, 975.84, 975.86, 975.87, 975.88 and 975.89.

(b) On or before the 14th day after the end of each delivery period each handler described in § 975.7 (b) of:

(1) The pounds of his skim milk and butterfat in milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, and flavored milk drink subject to the provisions of this section; and

(2) The amount due the producer-settlement fund from each such handler.

PAYMENTS

§ 975.80 Time and method of payment. (a) Except as provided by paragraph (b) of this section, on or before the 20th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler (except a cooperative association) shall pay each producer for milk received from him within such delivery period, not less than an amount of money computed by multiplying the total pounds of such milk by the uniform price, less the location adjustment pursuant to § 975.81 and adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to § 975.82: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such delivery period pursuant to § 975.85 he may reduce such payments uniformly per hundredweight for all producers, by an amount not in excess of the per hundredweight reduction in payment from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

(b) On or before the 19th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler shall pay a cooperative association not a handler, with respect to milk of producers for which it has received written authorization to collect payment, a total amount not less than the sum of the individual amounts otherwise payable to such producers pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) On or before the 15th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler shall pay a cooperative association which is a handler, with respect to skim milk and butterfat received by him from a pool plant operated by such cooperative association, not less than an amount computed by multiplying the minimum prices for skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in each class, subject to the applicable location adjustment provided by § 975.71, by the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in each class pursuant to §§ 975.56 and 975.57.

§ 975.81 Location adjustments to producers. In making payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 975.80 a handler may deduct, with respect to all milk received from producers at a plant located outside the marketing area, not more than the following respective amount per hundredweight of milk applicable for the location of such plant by shortest highway distance from the Public Square in Cleveland, Ohio, such distance to be determined by the market administrator:

Mileage zone	Cents per hundredweight
Not more than 30 miles	0
More than 30 miles but not more than 45 miles	15
More than 45 miles but not more than 60 miles	17
More than 60 miles but not more than 75 miles	19
More than 75 miles but not more than 90 miles	21

Within each 15-mile zone thereafter an additional 1 cent.

§ 975.82 Butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 975.80 there shall be added to or subtracted from, the uniform price per hundredweight, for each one-tenth of 1 percent of such butterfat content in milk above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, a butterfat differential computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Multiply the hundredweight of butterfat in each class computed pursuant to § 975.56 by the applicable minimum price for butterfat in such class computed pursuant to §§ 975.61, 975.62 and 975.63;

(b) Add into one total the butterfat values obtained in paragraph (a) of this section and divide such total by the total hundredweight of butterfat in all classes computed pursuant to § 975.56 to determine a weighted average price for butterfat;

(c) Subtract from the weighted average price per hundredweight of butterfat computed in paragraph (b) of this section a weighted average price per hundredweight of skim milk computed as follows:

(1) Multiply the hundredweight of skim milk computed in each class pursuant to § 975.57 by the respective minimum price for skim milk in such class computed pursuant to §§ 975.61, 975.62 and 975.63; and

(2) Add into one total the skim milk values so obtained for all classes and divide such total by the total hundredweight of skim milk in all classes computed pursuant to § 975.57; and

(d) Divide by 1,000 the price of butterfat resulting pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section and round off to the nearest tenth of a cent.

§ 975.83 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund, known as the "producer-settlement fund," into which he shall deposit all payments made pursuant to § 975.84 and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to § 975.85.

§ 975.84 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 16th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler:

(a) Whose pool value is required to be computed pursuant to § 975.70, shall pay to the market administrator the amount by which such pool value for such delivery period is greater than the total minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 975.80; and

(b) Whose obligation is required to be computed pursuant to § 975.72, shall pay to the market administrator such obligation for such delivery period.

§ 975.85 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 18th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall pay to each handler the amount by which such handler's pool value pursuant to § 975.70 is less than the total minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 975.80, less any unpaid obligations of such handler to the market administrator pursuant to §§ 975.84, 975.86, 975.87, or 975.89. Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments to all such handlers pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds become available.

§ 975.86 Expense of administration. As his prorata share of the expense incurred pursuant to paragraph (d) of § 975.22, each handler shall pay the market administrator on or before the 16th day after the end of each delivery period, three cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, to be announced by the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of such delivery period, with respect to all receipts within the delivery period, of milk from producers at pool plants (including such handler's own production), of other source milk at pool plants, except that used in the manufacture of ice cream or ice cream mix, and of other source milk on which payment is required pursuant to § 975.72: Provided, That such payment shall not be made with respect to any milk subject to a payment required under the provision for expense of administration of any other Federal milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for any fluid milk marketing area.

§ 975.87 Marketing services. Except as set forth in § 975.88 each handler in making payments to producers pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 975.80, with respect to all milk received from each producer (except milk of such handler's own production) at a plant, not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct four cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, to be announced by the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of each delivery period; and, on or before the 16th day after the end of such delivery period, shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be expended by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of the milk of such producers and to provide such producers with market information; such services to be performed in whole or in part by the market administrator, or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

§ 975.88 Cooperative association. In the case of producers whose milk is received at a plant, not operated by a cooperative association of which such producers are members, and for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in § 975.87, as determined by the market administrator, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in § 975.87, such deductions from payments required pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 975.80 as may be authorized by such producers, and pay such deductions on or before the 16th day after the end of each delivery period to the cooperative association rendering such services of which such producers are members.

§ 975.89 Adjustment of accounts.—(a) Payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses adjustments to be made, for any reason, which result in monies due (1) the market administrator from such handler, (2) such handler from the market administrator, or (3) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

(b) Overdue accounts. Any unpaid obligation of a handler or of the market administrator pursuant to §§ 975.84, 975.85, 975.86, 975.87, 975.88 or 975.89 (a) shall be increased one-half of one percent on the first day of the calendar month next following the due date of such obligation and, on the first day of each calendar month thereafter until such obligation is paid.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 975.90 Application of provisions.—(a) Exempt milk. Milk received at a plant of a handler, the handling of which the Secretary determines to be subject to the pricing and payment provisions of any other Federal milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for any fluid milk marketing area shall not be subject to the pricing and payment provisions hereof.

(b) Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to herein as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association which is not a handler and which is authorized to collect payment for such milk.

§ 975.91 Effective time. The provisions hereof, or of any amendment hereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 975.92 Suspension or termination. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds that this order, or any provision thereof, obstructs or does not tend to effecuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of this order or any such provision thereof.

§ 975.93 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this order, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 975.94 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions hereof, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

§ 975.95 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions hereof.

§ 975.96 Separability of provisions. If any provision hereof, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions hereof, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

§ 975.97 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this order for the payment of money irrespective of when such obligation arose, except an obligation involved in an action instituted before August 1, 1949, under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or before a court.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this order shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers; the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this order, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this order to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

[Hazardous-Occupations Order 7, Amdts.]

OCCUPATIONS INVOLVED IN OPERATION OF POWER-DRIVEN HOISTING APPARATUS

Since the effective date of Hazardous-Occupations Order No. 7, effective September 1, 1946 (11 F. R. 7719), available information indicates that work in occupations which require riding on a manlift involves considerable accident hazard. The purpose of the amendments set forth below is to add such occupations to the occupations which have been found to be particularly hazardous for employment of minors between 16 and 18 years of age or detrimental to their health or well-being.

On January 12, 1950, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (15 F. R. 175) that the Secretary of Labor proposed to amend § 422.7 (a) (2) and § 422.7 (b) in the manner hereinafter set forth. Interested parties were given 30 days notice within which to submit data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto. The notice period has expired and all relevant matter has been carefully considered. This material discloses no substantial reason for revision of the proposed order.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority vested in me by section 3 (l) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. and Sup.; 201 et seq.) and Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1946 adopted pursuant to the Reorganization Act of 1945 (59 Stat. 613) and in accordance with the procedure governing determinations of hazardous occupations (29 CFR part 421), § 442.7 (a) (2) is amended to read as follows:

1. Section 422.7 (a) (2) is amended to read as follows:

§ 422.7 Occupations involved in the operation of power-driven hoisting apparatus—(a) Findings and declaration of fact. • • •

(2) Work which involves riding on a freight elevator or on a manlift. (Where employees are customarily transported to their work place at the beginning and end of scheduled work periods in a freight elevator operated by an assigned operator, such riding shall not be considered as work within the intent of this paragraph.)

2. Section 422.7 (b) is hereby amended by adding subparagraph (6) as follows:

(b) Definitions. • • •

(6) The term "manlift" shall mean a device intended for the conveyance of persons which consists of platforms or brackets mounted on, or attached to, an endless belt, cable, chain or similar method of suspension; such belt, cable or chain operating in a substantially vertical direction and being supported by and driven through pulleys, sheaves or sprockets at the top and bottom.

These amendments shall become effective September 30, 1950.

(Sec. 3, 52 Stat. 1061, 11 F. R. 7873, 60 Stat. 1095; 29 U. S. C. 203, 5 U. S. C. 133y-16)

MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Secretary of Labor.

[Hazardous-Occupations Order 8]

PART 422—OCCUPATIONS PARTICULARLY HAZARDOUS FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS BETWEEN 16 AND 18 YEARS OF AGE OR DETRIMENTAL TO THEIR HEALTH OR WELL-BEING

OCCUPATIONS INVOLVED IN OPERATION OF POWER-DRIVEN METAL FORMING, PUNCHING, AND SHEARING MACHINES

On January 12, 1950, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (15 F. R. 175) that the Secretary of Labor proposed to adopt a hazardous-occupations order as therein set forth providing that for the purposes of section 3 (l) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, the occupations of operator of or helper on certain power-driven metal forming, punching, and shearing machines are particularly hazardous for the employment of minors between 16 and 18 years of age or detrimental to their health or well-being. The notice provided for a 30-day period within which interested persons were permitted to submit data, views and arguments pertaining thereto. The notice period has expired and all relevant material, including the reports of investigation, has been carefully considered. This material indicates that in addition to the exemption for apprentices as provided in the proposed order, some provision should be made for exemptions to be granted upon a finding by the Secretary of Labor that the employment of the minor or minors conforms substantially to Federal apprenticeship standards. Accordingly, the order has been revised to permit an exemption for minors, other than apprentices, upon an application to the Secretary of Labor showing that the minor or minors are employed in an apprenticeable trade under a written agreement for organized training which meets the standards prescribed for such exemption. The revised order also provides for a minor change in § 422.8 (a) designed to clarify the description of the safety devices necessary to exempt a pressing or punching machine from coverage of the order.

Now, therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in me by section 3 (l) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. and Sup., 201 et seq.) and Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1946 adopted pursuant to the Reorganization Act of 1945 (59 Stat. 613) and in accordance with the procedure governing determinations of hazardous occupations (29 CFR Part 421), I, Maurice J. Tobin, Secretary of Labor, hereby adopt the following finding, declaration and order, designated as Hazardous Occupations Order No. 8;

§ 422.8 Occupations involving the operation of power-driven metal forming, punching, and shearing machines—(a) Finding and declaration of fact. The occupation of operator of or helper on the following power-driven metal forming, punching and shearing machines is particularly hazardous for the employment of minors between 16 and 18 years of age or detrimental to their health or well-being, and employment in such occupations is therefore prohibited under section 12 of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended:

(1) All rolling machines, such as beading, straightening, corrugating, flanging, or bending rolls; and hot or cold rolling mills.

(2) All pressing or punching machines, such as punch presses except those provided with full automatic feed and ejection and with a fixed barrier guard to prevent the hands or fingers of the operator from entering the area between the dies; power presses; and plate punches.

(3) All bending machines, such as apron brakes and press brakes.

(4) All hammering machines, such as drop hammers and power hammers.

(5) All shearing machines, such as guillotine or squaring shears; alligator shears; and rotary shears.

(b) Definitions. As used in this section:

(1) The term "operator" shall mean one who operates a forming, punching, or shearing machine by performing such functions as setting up the machine, starting and stopping it, placing the work in the machine and removing the finished work from the machine, and performing other related functions in connection with its operation.

(2) The term "helper" shall mean one who assists in the operation of a forming, punching, or shearing machine by helping place the work in or remove it from the machine.

(3) The term "forming, punching, and shearing machines" shall mean power-driven metal-working machines, other than machine tools, which change the shape of or cut metal by means of tools, such as dies, rolls, or knives which are mounted on rams, plungers, or other moving parts. Types of forming, punching, and shearing machines enumerated in this section are the machines to which the designation is by custom applied.

(c) Exemptions. This order shall not apply to the employment of apprentices in the occupations herein declared particularly hazardous; Provided, That (1) the apprentice is employed in a craft recognized as an apprenticeable trade, (2) the work of the apprentice in the occupations herein declared hazardous is incidental to the apprentice training, is intermittent and for short periods of time, and is under the direct and close supervision of a journeyman as a necessary part of such apprentice training, and (3) the apprentice is registered by the Bureau of Apprenticeship of the United States Department of Labor as employed in accordance with the standards established by that Bureau, or is registered by a State agency as employed in accordance with the standards of the State apprenticeship agency recognized by the Bureau of Apprenticeship, or is employed under a written apprenticeship agreement under conditions which substantially conform to such Federal or State standards as determined by the Secretary of Labor.

In addition to the exemption for apprentices provided in the foregoing paragraph, upon application to the Secretary of Labor, an exemption may be granted for minors employed under a written agreement for organized training which provides for at least 4,000 hours of employment in a craft recognized as an apprenticeable trade and under conditions which the Secretary of Labor finds to conform substantially to Federal apprenticeship standards, provided that the work of the minor in the occupations herein declared hazardous is incidental to his training, is intermittent and for short periods of time, and is under the direct and close supervision of a journeyman.

(d) Higher standard. This section shall not justify noncompliance with any Federal or State law or municipal ordinance establishing a higher standard than the standard established therein.

Effective date. This order shall become effective October 30, 1950.

(Sec. 3, 52 Stat. 1061, Reorg. Plan No. 2 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7873, 60 Stat. 1095; 29 U. S. C. 203, 5 U. S. C. 133y-16)

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of August 1950.

Secretary of Labor.

AUTHORITY: §§ 578.1 through 578.25a issued under R. S. 161; 5 U. S. C. 22; statutory provisions interpreted or applied are cited to text in parentheses.

DERIVATION: AR 600-45, June 27, 1950.

§ 578.1 General—(a) Purpose. The primary purpose of the decorations system is to provide tangible evidence of public recognition of acts of heroism performed and valuable services rendered. Military decorations are awarded in recognition of and as a reward for heroic, extraordinary, outstanding, and meritorious acts, achievements, and services, and such visible evidence of recognition is cherished accordingly by the recipients. Awards of decorations, when properly utilized, are potent incentives to greater effort and are instrumental in building and maintaining morale.

(b) Standards. Decorations are primarily intended to recognize acts, achievements, and services in time of war; therefore, the standards established during a war period cannot be applied in time of peace without depreciating the value of decorations.

(c) Successive awards. The award of a military decoration will not be made to recognize the continuation of the same or similar type services as those which have been previously recognized by the award of a decoration for meritorious service.

(d) Interim awards. The award of an appropriate lesser military decoration may be made in recognition of an act, achievement, or service pending final action on a recommendation for a higher award. Each such lesser award will be revoked simultaneously with the award of a higher military decoration for the same act.

(e) Duplication of awards. Not more than one military decoration will be awarded for the same act, achievement, or period of meritorious service, except that a decoration may be awarded for an act of heroism performed within a period which has been recognized by the award of a decoration for meritorious service.

(f) Duplication of issue. Not more than one of each military decoration will be issued to any one individual, but for each succeeding award of the same decoration an Oak Leaf Cluster will be issued in lieu thereof, except in cases of succeeding awards of the Legion of Merit and Medal of Freedom to foreigners, and posthumous awards of the Purple Heart as hereinafter prescribed. This paragraph will not be interpreted as precluding the issue of replacements as prescribed in § 578.8.

(g) Determination of status. The status, whether military or civilian, at the time of the act, achievement, or service will serve to establish the eligibility of an individual for the type of award of military decoration.

(h) Conversion awards. Awards of certain decorations on the basis of existing letters, certificates, and/or orders, as hereinafter authorized, will be made only upon application of the individuals concerned to The Adjutant General, Washington 25, D. C.

(i) Character of service. No decoration shall be awarded or presented to any individual whose entire service subsequent to the time of the distinguished act, achievement, or service shall not have been honorable.

(a) To military personnel.

(1) Medal of Honor.
(2) Distinguished-Service Cross.
(3) Distinguished-Service Medal.
(4) Silver Star.
(5) Legion of Merit.
(6) Distinguished-Flying Cross.
(7) Soldier's Medal.
(8) Bronze Star Medal.
(9) Air Medal.
(10) Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.
(11) Purple Heart.

(b) To civilian personnel.

(1) Distinguished-Service Cross.
(2) Silver Star.
(3) Bronze Star Medal.
(4) Air Medal.
(5) Purple Heart.
(6) Medal for Merit.
(7) Medal of Freedom.

§ 578.3 Awards of decorations—(a) General. Decorations are awarded by the President, the Secretary of the Army, or by designated commanders. A commander to whom authority has been delegated to award decorations is authorized to make awards only to individuals who were assigned or attached to his command at the time of the act, achievement, or service, and to individuals eligible to receive a decoration who were physically present within his command under competent orders for acts of heroism performed within his command. Authority to award decorations, when delegated to commanders will not be further delegated except when specifically authorized. Whenever authority to award a decoration has not been specifically delegated, the recommendation will be forwarded through command channels to The Adjutant General for final action. No decoration will be awarded for meritorious service performed by an officer in time of peace until the organizational assignment in which the service was rendered has been terminated, nor will an award be made to any officer above the grade of captain solely for service in an administrative position. Length of service of an individual or termination of assignment of a commander will not in itself justify a peacetime award.

(b) By whom awarded. Awards of the Medal of Honor and Medal for Merit are made by the President; awards of all other military decorations will be made by the Secretary of the Army, except as follows:

(1) During a period of military operations against an armed enemy, and for a period of 1 year thereafter, authority to award military decorations is delegated as follows:

(i) The Distinguished-Service Cross, Silver Star, Distinguished-Flying Cross, Soldier's Medal, Bronze Star Medal, Air Medal, and Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant may be awarded to members of the Armed Forces of the United States by the commanding general of any separate force outside the continental United States or by subordinate commanders to whom he may delegate this authority: Provided, That the authority will not be delegated to any commander below the grade of major general: And further provided, That no award will be made to a member of the Navy or Air Force without the concurrence of respective senior Navy or Air Force commander present.

(ii) The Legion of Merit may be awarded only by commanders specifically designated by the Secretary of the Army.

(iii) The Purple Heart may be awarded to members of the Armed Forces of the United States by the commanding general of any separate force outside the continental United States who is in the grade of major general or higher or by any field-grade officer to whom he may delegate the authority.

(iv) The Distinguished-Service Cross, Silver Star, Distinguished-Flying Cross, Soldier's Medal, Bronze Star Medal, and Air Medal may be awarded by the commanders indicated in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph to members of the armed forces of friendly foreign nations, provided the grade of the recipient is below that equivalent to United States colonel, and that concurrence has been secured from the senior field commander of the recipient's force whose grade at the time of concurrence was equivalent at least to the grade of United States brigadier general.

(v) The Distinguished-Service Cross and Silver Star may be awarded by the commanding general of a United States Army force in a theater of operations to officers and members of crews of ships of the United States Merchant Marine serving under his jurisdiction.

(vi) The Purple Heart may be awarded by the commanding general of any separate force outside the continental United States who is in the grade of major general or higher, or by any field-grade officer to whom he may delegate the authority, to officers and members of crews of ships of the United States Merchant Marine serving within the area of his command, to civilian citizens of the United States serving with the Army, and to civilian citizens of the United States whose presence within the command has been approved (examples: War correspondents, Red Cross and USO personnel, etc.)

(vii) The Medal of Freedom may be awarded by the commanding general of a theater of operations whose grade is that of a major general or higher, in recognition of an achievement or service performed by a civilian within the territorial limits of his command.

(viii) Except as indicated above, all recommendations for awards to civilians will be forwarded through command channels to The Adjutant General for approval by the President.

(2) Other than during a period of military operations against an armed enemy and for a period of 1 year thereafter, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant may be awarded by a commanding general in the grade of lieutenant general or higher, or by a major general commanding an army, to any member of the Armed Forces of the United States below the grade of major, but only when the period of service for which the award is made exceeds 6 months. The commanding generals of the United States Army, Pacific, United States Army, Caribbean; United States Army, Alaska, and Military District of Washington are considered to be commanding an "Army" within the meaning of this section.

(3) The President has sole authority to award the Medal for Merit.

(4) United States military decorations will not be awarded to foreign personnel for peacetime service, except that the Legion of Merit may be awarded to members of the armed forces of foreign nations and the Medal of Freedom may be awarded to foreign civilians.

(c) Posthumous awards. In the event an individual who has distinguished himself or herself dies before the making of an award of a decoration to which entitled, the award may nevertheless be made and the decorations and/or device presented to the next-of-kin as indicated by the records of the Department of the Army, in the following precedence: Widow or widower, eldest son, eldest daughter, father, mother, eldest brother, eldest sister, or eldest grandchild. Posthumous awards made by commanders outside the continental United States will be forwarded to The Adjutant General as prescribed in § 578.6 (b) (2) (i).

§ 578.4 Recommendations—(a) By whom submitted. A recommendation for the award of a decoration may be submitted by any individual having knowledge of an act, achievement, or service believed to warrant the award of a decoration.

(b) Disapprovals. Whenever a recommendation for the award of a decoration is disapproved, the disapproving officer will indicate the specific reason or reasons for such action. The disapproval of a recommendation by an officer subordinate to the commander having authority to award the decoration will not alone constitute authority for the return of the recommendation to the initiator, except that recommendations for an award for meritorious service which describe only performance of normal duty in time of peace will be automatically disapproved and returned to the initiator.

(c) Consideration for lower awards. All recommendations which have been finally disapproved by the commander having authority to award the decoration recommended will be considered by that commander for the awards of a lower appropriate decoration which, if approved, will be awarded in lieu thereof.

(d) Time limits. No military decoration will be awarded to any person after more than 3 years from the date of the act, achievement, or service justifying an award, or unless the recommendation was submitted through military channels within 2 years from the date of said act, achievement, or service, except:

(1) Recommendations for awards of military decorations for acts, achievements, and service performed between 7 December 1941 and 2 September 1945, inclusive, which are submitted through official channels prior 3 May 1951.

(2) Recommendations for awards of military decorations in cases where prior similar recommendations have been acted upon by commanders who had authority to approve the awards, provided the requests for reconsideration or upgrading are submitted within any of the time limits prescribed above and that such requests are accompanied by new and material evidence in support thereof.

(3) Requests for the award of appropriate military decorations based on existing orders, letters, or certificates and for the exchange of military decorations as may be authorized by the regulations of this part.

(e) Lost recommendations. Whenever a recommendation has been initiated and placed in official channels within the time limits prescribed above and has become lost, the certificate of an officer or affidavit of an enlisted man to that effect, accompanied by a copy of the recommendation or, if a copy is not available, a statement of the substance of the original recommendation, may be accepted and the case considered on its merits.

§ 578.5 Announcements of awards—(a) Current awards. Each current award of a United States military decoration will be announced in general orders by the commander authorized to make the award.

(b) Conversion awards. Decorations which are awarded on the basis of existing orders, letters, or certificates will not be announced in general orders, but will be published in appropriate letter orders by authorized commanders.

§ 578.6 Presentation—(a) Medal of Honor. Whenever practicable, all persons to whom the Medal of Honor has been awarded will be ordered or invited to Washington, D. C., where presentation will be made by the President. The presentation ceremony, which normally will be in the presence of appropriate high dignitaries and officers, will be simple and without attendant troops or music. Whenever the Medal of Honor is awarded posthumously or when the recipient has died prior to the presentation, the next-of-kin may, at the discretion of the President, be invited to Washington, D. C., for presentation by him. In event presentation to such next-of-kin is not made by the President, it will be made by such person as may be designated by him, acting as his personal representative.

(b) Decorations other than Medal of Honor. (1) Presentations to military personnel will be made with formal and impressive ceremony.

(2) Presentations to United States military personnel will be made by the commanders who awarded the decorations or by officers personally designated by them, except:

(i) In cases where decorations have been awarded posthumously, or to persons who have died prior to presentation, or to persons missing in action, by commanders outside the continental United States, the orders announcing the award, together with the citation and other appropriate related papers will be forwarded to The Adjutant General, who will cause presentation to be made to next-of-kin.

(ii) In any case where the recipient is no longer assigned to his command, the commander making the award will forward the orders announcing the award, together with the citation and other appropriate related papers, for presentation by the present commander of the recipient.

(3) Presentations to former military personnel and to the next-of-kin residing within the continental United States will be made by the respective commanders having jurisdiction over the army areas in which such persons reside, or by officers designated by them. Nothing in §§ 578.1 through 578.25a will be construed as precluding the propriety of pinning a military decoration on the clothing of former military personnel and civilian next-of-kin, although the actual wearing of the decoration by such person may not be authorized.

(4) The Medal for Merit will be presented to respective civilian recipients by the President, or at his direction.

(5) All military decorations other than the Medal for Merit awarded to civilian citizens of the United States will be presented in the same manner as prescribed in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(6) Decorations awarded to foreign civilians and to members of the armed forces of foreign nations will be presented by or at the direction of the commander authorized to make the award.

(7) Decorations which have been awarded on the basis of existing orders, letters, or certificates will not normally be presented with formal ceremony. However, if a formal presentation is desired, nothing in §§ 578.1 through 578.25a will be construed as precluding such ceremony, provided no expense to the Government is incurred by reason thereof.

§ 578.7 Record. Each award of a military decoration will be noted in the military records of the respective recipient and in the unit history of his organization in manner prescribed by current regulations.

§ 578.8 Replacement. Whenever a decoration and/or appurtenance shall have been lost, destroyed, or rendered unfit for use, without fault or neglect on the part of the person to whom it was awarded, replacement shall be made without charge therefor.

(40 Stat. 871; 10 U. S. C. 1416)

§ 578.9 Engraving. Each Medal of Honor will be engraved on the reverse with the grade, name, and organization of the recipient and all other United States military decorations will be engraved on the reverse with the name of the recipient. Normally, engraving will be accomplished prior to presentation; however, whenever a decoration which has not been engraved has been presented, the recipient will be advised of his privilege to forward the decoration requesting that it be appropriately engraved. The cost of engraving such decoration, except those issued for exhibition purposes as indicated in § 578.10 (b), whether an original issue or replacement, will be borne by the Department of the Army.

§ 578.10 Exhibition—(a) Governmental agencies. Upon approval by the Secretary of the Army, samples of military decorations may be furnished, without charge, for one display at the headquarters of each army and higher field commander, in the offices of the chiefs of governmental agencies not under military jurisdiction where opportunity for the public to view the display is assured, and in each office of the Department of the Army, the functions of which include matters pertaining to decorations.

(b) Civilian institutions. Upon approval by the Secretary of the Army, samples of military decorations may be furnished at cost price (including the cost of engraving, packing, and shipment), to museums, libraries, historical, numismatic, and military societies and institutions of such public nature as will assure an opportunity for the public to view the exhibits under circumstances beneficial to the Army. All decorations furnished to civilian institutions for exhibition purposes will be engraved with the words "For Exhibition Purposes Only."

§ 578.11 Medal of Honor—(a) To whom awarded. The Medal of Honor is awarded, in the name of Congress, to each person who, while an officer or enlisted person of the Army, shall have distinguished himself or herself conspicuously by gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his or her life above and beyond the call of duty in action involving actual conflict with an enemy.

(b) Standards. The deed performed must have been one of personal bravery of self-sacrifice above and beyond the call of duty, so conspicuous as to clearly distinguish the individual for gallantry and intrepidity above his or her comrades and must have involved risk of life or performance of more than ordinarily hazardous service, the omission of which would not justly subject the person to censure for shortcoming or failure in the performance of duty. Incontestable proof of the performance of the service will be exacted and each recommendation for the award of this decoration will be considered on the standard of extraordinary merit.

(c) Description. A gold-finished bronze star, one point down, 1 9/16 inches in diameter with rays terminating in trefoils, surrounded by a laurel wreath in green enamel, suspended by two links from a bar bearing the inscription "Valor" and surmounted by an eagle grasping laurel leaves in one claw and arrows in the other. In the center of the star is the head of Minerva surrounded by the inscription "United States of America." Each ray of the star bears an oak leaf in green enamel. On the reverse of the bar are stamped the words "The Congress To." The medal is suspended by a hook to a ring fastened behind the eagle. The hook is attached to a light-blue moired silk neckband, 1 3/16 inches in width and 21 3/4 inches in length, behind a square pad in the center made of the ribbon with the corners turned in. On the ribbon bar are 13 white stars arranged in the form of a triple chevron, consisting of two chevrons of 5 stars and one chevron of 3 stars.

(d) Medal of Honor roll. Each former member of the Army who has attained the age of 65 years to whom the Medal of Honor has been awarded for gallantry or intrepidity in action against the enemy, shall, upon written application, have his name recorded on a roll designated as the "Army and Navy Medal of Honor Roll," provided such person was honorably discharged from the service by muster-out, resignation, or otherwise, and each such person, whose name has been entered on said roll, shall be certified to the Veterans Administration as being entitled to receive a special pension of $10 per month, for life, payable quarterly by said Administration. The payment of this special pension shall be in addition to and shall not deprive the special pensioner from any other pension, benefit, right, or privilege to which he or she is or may thereafter be entitled.

§ 578.12 Distinguished-Service Cross—(a) To whom awarded. The Distinguished-Service Cross is awarded to any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States, shall have distinguished himself or herself by extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy.

(b) Standards. The act or acts of heroism performed must have been so notable and have involved risk of life so extraordinary as to set the individual apart from his or her comrades.

(c) Description. A cross of bronze 2 inches in height and 1 13/16 inches in width with an eagle on the center and a scroll below the eagle bearing the inscription "For Valor." On the reverse, the center of the cross is circled by a wreath. (40 Stat. 870; 10 U. S. C. 1406)

§ 578.13 Distinguished-Service Medal—(a) To whom awarded. The Distinguished-Service Medal is awarded to any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States, shall have distinguished himself or herself by exceptionally meritorious service to the Government in a duty of great responsibility.

(b) Standards. (1) The term "duty of great responsibility" will be interpreted to mean a duty of such a character that exceptionally meritorious service therein has contributed in a high degree to the success of a major command, installation, or project. The performance must be such as to merit recognition for service which is clearly exceptional. Superior performance of normal duty will not alone justify an award of this decoration.

(2) In time of peace, the award of this decoration will be made only to responsible heads and will be limited to duty of marked international or national significance performed under unusually complicated or frequently hazardous conditions. Few awards of this decoration will be made for duty performed entirely in time of peace.

(3) The accomplishment of the duty should have been completed prior to submitting a recommendation, or if the person being recommended has been transferred prior to completion, the accomplishment must have progressed to what may be clearly determined to be an exceptional degree.

(4) This decoration will not be awarded to persons other than members of the Armed Forces of the United States for peacetime service. Awards may be made to persons other than members of the Armed Forces of the United States for wartime services, but only under exceptional circumstances and with the express approval of the President, in each individual case.

(c) Description. The coat of arms of the United States in bronze surrounded by a circle of dark-blue enamel 1 1/2 inches in diameter, bearing the inscription "For Distinguished Service MCMXVIII." (40 Stat. 870; 10 U. S. C. 1407, 1408)

§ 578.14 Silver Star—(a) To whom awarded. The Silver Star is awarded to any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army, has distinguished himself or herself by gallantry in action not warranting the award of the Medal of Honor or Distinguished-Service Cross, and to any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army, received a citation for gallantry in action published in orders issued at the headquarters of a force commanded by a general officer.

(b) Standards. (1) The required gallantry, while of lesser degree than required for the award of the Medal of Honor or Distinguished-Service Cross, must nevertheless have been performed with marked distinction.

(2) Awards may be made, upon application, to those individuals who, prior to 7 December 1941, have been cited for gallantry in action in orders as indicated in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Description. A bronze star 1 1/2 inches in circumscribing diameter. In the center thereof is a 3/16-inch diameter raised silver star, the center lines of all rays of both stars coinciding. § 578.15 Legion of Merit—(a) To whom awarded. The Legion of Merit is awarded to any member of the Armed Forces of the United States or of a friendly foreign nation who shall have distinguished himself or herself by exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services.

(b) Standards—(1) Armed Forces of United States. (i) The performance must have been such as to merit recognition for service which was clearly exceptional. Superior performance of normal duties will not alone justify an award of this decoration.

(ii) In time of peace, the award of this decoration will be made only to key individuals and will be limited to duty of marked international or national significance performed under unusually complicated or frequently hazardous conditions in cases where the services of such individuals have contributed in a high degree to the success of the project. Few awards of this decoration will be made for duty performed entirely in time of peace.

(iii) The accomplishment of the duty should have been completed prior to submitting a recommendation, or if the person being recommended has been transferred prior to completion, the accomplishment must have progressed to what may be clearly determined to be an exceptional degree.

(iv) Awards will be made without reference to degree and, for each such award, the Legion of Merit (Legionnaire) will be issued.

(2) Armed forces of friendly foreign nations. (i) The performance of outstanding services must have been such that it may be clearly determined that the individual has distinguished himself or herself by exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance thereof.

(ii) Awards of this decoration in the degrees of Chief Commander and Commander are comparable to awards of the Distinguished-Service Medal and the standards prescribed in § 578.13 (b) (1), (2), and (3) shall be applied in considering such awards.

(iii) Awards of this decoration in the degrees of Officer and Legionnaire are comparable to awards of the Legion of Merit to members of the Armed Forces of the United States and the standards prescribed in subparagraphs (1) (i), (ii), and (iii) of this paragraph shall be applied in considering such awards.

(iv) Each award will be made in one of the following degrees, which are listed in order of rank:

(b) Commander.

(d) Legionnaire.

(v) For each succeeding award of this decoration, the award will be in the same or higher degree as the previous award. A succeeding award in a lower degree is not authorized.

The reverse is engraved with the words "United States of America."

(2) Commander. A five-pointed American white star of heraldic form bordered in purplish-red enamel 2 1/4 inches circumscribing diameter with 13 white stars on a blue field emerging from a circle of clouds; backing the star, a laurel wreath with pierced, crossed arrows pointing outward between each arm of the star and wreath. (56 Stat. 662; 10 U. S. C. 1408b; E. O. 9260, 29 Oct. 1942, 7 F. R. 8819)

§ 578.16 Distinguished-Flying Cross—(a) To whom awarded. The Distinguished-Flying Cross is awarded to any member of the Armed Forces of the United States and of friendly foreign nations who, while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States, shall have distinguished himself or herself by heroism or extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight.

(b) Standards. The performance of the act of heroism must be evidenced by voluntary action in the face of great danger above and beyond the line of duty while participating in aerial flight. The extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight must have resulted in an accomplishment so exceptional and outstanding as to clearly set the individual apart from his comrades, none of whom have been recognized for the identical achievement.

§ 578.17 Soldier's Medal—(a) To whom awarded. The Soldier's Medal is awarded to any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States, shall have distinguished himself or herself by heroism not involving actual conflict with an armed enemy.

(b) Standards. The same degree of heroism is required as that for an award of the Distinguished-Flying Cross. The performance must have involved personal hazard or danger and the voluntary risk of life under conditions other than those involving conflict with an armed enemy. Awards will not be made solely on the basis of having saved a life. The award of this decoration will be limited to members of the Armed Forces of the United States and of friendly foreign nations.
